ROCK VIEW

New Edition plays ball; the Lords get spooked

By Marianne Meyer

ATTENTION SPORTS FANS — New Edition's latest clip, "My Secret," features basketball greats Earvin "Magic" Johnson, Bob McAdoo and Mitch Kupchak of the Los Angeles Lakers, along with members of the Portland Trail Blazers. The unique video — the first to use professional sports footage shot specifically for a music video — was taped before, during and after a Lakers vs. Trail Blazers game at the Los Angeles Forum in April.

Earvin "Magic" Johnson

Although all New Edition members are born and bred Boston Celtics fans, the quintet still got a thrill out of meeting the hoop-hitters, especially Johnson. "The Magic Man is something else," said the Edition's frequent lead singer Ralph Tresvant. Johnson, for his part, confessed that making the video clip was harder than he anticipated. "This is fun," he observed, "but I'm glad I earn my living playing basketball."

MADNESS JUST THE SAME — In their latest video, the Lords of the New Church insist there's a "Method to My Madness." But with these guys, you can never be too sure. The clip, which was shot in a small English hamlet where Merlin the Magician was once said to live, shows the ruins of a 14th-century castle whose original lord was lynched for engaging in "unnatural vices." Luckily for the morals of TV viewers everywhere, the Lords' unnatural vices (of which there are rumored to be many) were kept under wraps. But that lurid green apparition that makes a clip cameo is I.R.S. Records chairman and band manager Miles Copeland. "Method to My Madness" was written for him. Copeland's line is an inspired bit of typecasting. "Now don't be telling any secrets," he sings, "this record's got to sell!"

Newsy Notes From SMS

by Student Government Representatives

The eighth grade students of Southern Middle School traveled by chartered buses to Baltimore on June 3. Places of interest that they visited were Fort McHenry, the Constellation, the National Aquarium and other attractions.

A real treat was shared by several students and instructor, Louis Newcomb. Docked at the harbor was the "H.M.S. Brazen." This ship entertained guests only on Sunday, June 2. After much persuading, however, the students were not only invited on board, but were given a special guided tour of the ship by one of the sailors. Crystal O'Brien was even permitted to sit in the Captain's chair. The overwhelmed students took many photographs (where permitted) and were the envy of fellow students and chaperones.

Teacher chaperones for the event were Louis Newcomb, Brook Green, Michelle Gnegy, Cindy Mahoney, Judy Roderick, and Patti McLaughlin. Parent chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Frankhouser, Janice Hanline, Eddy Polce, Alice Rodeheaver, and Lois Few.

Students were commended by the tour guides for their "excellent bahavior."

The final dance of the year was held Saturday, June 8, in the cafetorium. The dance was sponsored by the band. Disc jockey was John Martin and a door prize was awarded.

Student Government gives a farewell and "thank you" to all participants and officers for the year. Much was accomplished this year through this organization: furnishing plants and benches for the school lobby, numerous school decorating events, sponsorship of a foreign orphan through the Christian Children's Fund, hall monitoring, the spring semi-formal dance, the eighth grade trip, Newsy Notes, and more.

The yearbook staff has done an outstanding job on the yearbooks. This job required a lot of effort and patience in preparation. The staff would like to take this opportunity to extend special thanks to Jostens Yearbook Company, Patti McLaughlin, Doug Buckley, Jack Rickman, and everyone who has waited patiently for the yearbooks to arrive. The yearbook staff this year consisted of four sixth graders and five seventh graders. They are Tracy Teagarden, Tracie Ellis, Missy Davis, Jennifer Thorn, Chris McNamee, Tara Wildesen, Leslie Liller, Darlene Sliger, and Jimmy Jackson.

The Southern Middle School Model Club announced its contest winners at an awards ceremony in the Media Center on June 4.

Ben Thorn, advisor for the club, explained that Mr. Layman and Mr. Kaley, judges for the contest, had looked especially for good appearance, and more involved construction with smaller parts.

Ron Swiger, 7A-2, won first prize, receiving a medal and first place certificate, in addition to a participation certificate.

Brian Callis, 8A-2, won second place, receiving a medal and certificate, in addition to a participation certificate.

Sean Gee, 7A-2, won third place, receiving a medal and certificate, in addition to a participation certificate.

Brian Griffin, 7A-3, won fourth place, receiving a medal and certificate.

Mr. Thorn explained that Mr. Rickman and Mrs. Massi, assistants for participation, had looked for good basic workmanship in helping determine participants with the club display in the Media Center and in the contest.

Ben Thorn, Chris Arnold, Rick Miller, Dave Armstrong, and Bill Hamm were participants and received participation certificates.

The Annual Southern Middle School Band Concert was held Friday, June 7, in the school cafetorium. A variety of music was presented, ranging from 15th century Purcell to present day rock and the sounds of Michael Jackson and Lionel Richie. The eighth grade awards were presented. Winners of the awards this year were Courtney Smith and Scott Clever.

A band tutoring program will be offered this summer through the Board of Education and the Summer School-Community Centers Program. The program will be available to all band students attending Southern Middle School. It will begin Tuesday, July 9, and continue through August 15, meeting every Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to noon, in the bandroom of Southern Middle School. There is no charge for participating in this program. All materials will be provided, but each student must provide his or her own instrument unless arrangements have been made through Mrs. Clever.

This is the final edition of Newsy Notes for the 1984-85 school year. Poetry written by Wes Lovelace's Gifted and Talented students will be published throughout the summer weeks.

It's pretty hard to take an auto trip without hitting a DETOUR. Sooner or later that smooth, straight road ends, and there's only one way to go . . . at least for a while.

Has your life hit a detour? The days go by and things seem to be going smoothly. We think we have the right answers. The road ahead looks clear . . . as far as we can see. Then one day we're faced with a crisis that rocks our confidence and patience. This is when our faith and strength is tested.

In such a situation, we must have a reservoir of strength and a place where we can regain our faith and our sense of balance. In the church or synagogue you will discover peace and hope that will guide you back to the mainstream of successful living.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE NET YOU CARRY

June 30, 1985
Devotional Reading: Micah 7:14-20

Background Scripture: Micah 7

Micah lived in a terrible era. Wherever he looked there was crime, violence, dishonesty and conspiracy. Our response to his gloomy view may be that in every age these factors are present to some degree.

But Micah's pessimism goes beyond that: "The godly man has perished from the earth, and there is none upright among men; they all lie in wait for blood, and each hunts his brother with a net" (7:2). Not only does Micah find the people of Israel doing evil, but he finds them doing it "diligently." "The prince and the judge ask for a bribe," says Micah. In other words, at all levels of society evil is rampant.

PLACE NO TRUST

The result, says Micah, is a society in which distrust is the norm, not the exception. "Put no trust in a neighbor, have no confidence in a friend; guard the doors of your mouth from her who lies in your bosom" (7:5) In short, trust no one, because no one is trustworthy.

The reason for this climate of distrust is that life in Israel has become largely a matter of "every man for himself." When one is concerned only with "looking out for number one," truth, integrity, and honor are in short supply. If I alone am important to me, then in order to protect and further myself I can and will do anything I must. No ties, no relationships can be allowed to get in the way of what I want, of what I think is good for me: "the son treats the father with contempt, the daughter rises up against her mother, the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law; a man's enemies are the men of his own house" (7:6).

Micah might well be describing the day in which we live as well as his own. A recent report revealed that the majority of violent acts in our society are against family members and friends. Similarly, many crimes of larceny are committed by people who are known to their victims. As in Micah's day, some times our enemies are within our own homes and neighborhoods.

HUNTING OUR BROTHER

The key to all of this evil, according to Micah, is selfishness, wanting and pursuing what others have (or seem to have). "Each," says Micah, "hunts his brother with a net."

Before you reject Micah's analogy, consider that there are many different kinds of nets with which we may hunt our brother. There is the net of deceit that is often regarded as "just plain good business." There is the net of "cutting corners," of manipulation (which is often called "finesse"), of expediency, exploitation, and scores of other harmful practices that are justified for the sake of "getting what's coming to me."

Look into your own hands. Is that a net you're carrying?

His other art includes drawings, paintings, sculpture, and book works, using crayons, wax, and water colors. Tovah works with his father, artist, Mathew Plevyak.

Revival Scheduled At Bethesda Church Of The Brethren

Revival services will be held at the Bethesda Church of the Brethren, seven miles south of Grantsville on Route 495, from Sunday, July 7 to Friday, July 12, with services every evening at 7:30.

Various speakers will be scheduled, with special music each evening. Stories for children will also be featured. Pastor Connell T. Chaney invites everyone to attend.

On Dean's List

Bucknell University has announced the Dean's List for outstanding student scholarship during the second semester of the 1984-85 academic year. Among those students named to the list is H. Vernon Leighton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Leighton, Oakland.

The average of a student's grades in all his courses each semester must equal 3.5 or higher to be named to the Dean's List.

CCC Reunion Set For July 13

Civilian Conservation Corps veterans, families and friends are invited to bring a picnic and gather at Patapsco Valley State Park for a reunion on Saturday, July 13. Beginning at 10 a.m., the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service will host the 9th picnic reunion at the Hollofield area of Patapsco Valley State Park, Ellicott City. A brief formal program will be held at 1 p.m. with Senator John C. Coolahan, 12th District of Maryland, as the keynote speaker.

In Maryland, more than 32,000 men served as CCC enrollees in the 30 CCC camps. They built 274 bridges and 3,500 erosion controll dams, planted one million trees and shrubs, restored the wall of Fort Frederick, reconstructed the Washington Monument near Boonsboro and built numerous recreational facilities in parks and forests across the state.

The CCC was one of the early efforts to conserve and improve parklands and open space across the nation. The Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service seeks to recognize the accomplishments of the CCC veterans and sponsors a reunion each year. CCC veterans throughout the country as well as veterans from Maryland and their friends are encouraged to bring mementos to show and share.

Patapsco Valley State Park is located at 8020 Baltimore National Pike, Maryland Route 40 in Baltimore County, and can be reached from the 695 Beltway, exit 15 west.

Social Security Claimants Urged To Report Changes

People in the area who receive Social Security checks have an important responsibility to report any event that could affect their right to or the amount of their check, Elaine Watson, Social Security district manager in Cumberland, said recently.

A report can be made by telephone, mail or in person and should include the following information: name of person, what is being reported, date it happened, signature, address, and the claim number under which benefits are being paid (a nine-digit number followed by a letter).

Mrs. Watson said the following events should be reported:

- A person goes outside the United States.
- Imprisonment for commission of a felony.

Dependents and survivors should also report:

- Divorce or annulment of marriage.
- Marriage.
- Adoption of child.
- Child leaves the care of a parent.
- Child nearing 18 is full-time high school student or disabled.
- Change in school attendance for student 18-19.
- A person becomes unable to manage funds.
- A person dies.

More information about reporting can be obtained at the Cumberland Social Security office, located at the Country Club Mall, Winchester and Vocke Roads, LaVale. The office is open Monday through Friday from 8:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., except National holidays. The telephone number is 729-3333. Free booklets are available which explain reporting responsibilities in greater detail.

Braeden claims he's not a sophisticated star

By Gillian George

Eric Braeden

Eric Braeden, the sophisticated and sexy actor who plays the enigmatic Victor Newman on "The Young and the Restless," is aware people find him attractive. But the German-born actor laughs heartily when discussing the subject because he finds the adulation amusing — especially since he's been happily married to the same woman for 18 years. He's also a doting dad to a 15-year-old son. And when it comes to his early show-biz roots, Braeden claims he was anything but sophisticated.

"I was raised, along with my three brothers, in the West German village of Gladenbek, and the only thing I cared about was sports," he recalls. "When I was 17, my high school won the German National Youth Championship in track and field, and I decided to try for a sports scholarship at an American university."

Braeden arrived at the home of a cousin in Galveston, Texas, but left, he says, "because it just didn't feel right." He then hitchhiked "to the only other German I knew in the United States, a friend who had a ranch in Montana. I was excited because, ever since I was a small boy, I had watched movies and dreamed about becoming a cowboy. I must say, however, that the reality of getting up to mend fences before dawn every day fell a bit short of my fantasy," he adds, "so I quit and got a partial scholarship to Montana State University."

When his money ran out, Braeden took a number of odd jobs before he and a friend decided to make a documentary about Idaho's Salmon River. The film was his entry to Hollywood: Several years later, Braeden starred in the ABC series "The Rat Patrol," working under his real name, Hans Gudegast.

But when the actor paid his first visit to a movie set, it was almost his last. "It was in 'Operation Eichmann,'" he remembers, "and there were major script rewrites. The day we were about to shoot, I was too green to figure out the difference between the new pages and the old. I was in total panic until a script lady came over to help me out. But just as I was set to memorize the lines, I was called on the set. I was petrified, the camera jammed and the director yelled 'Cut.'

"So I ended up having a half-hour to memorize what I was supposed to say," the actor adds. "It was a close thing, I tell you."

Fike Family Memorial Dedication Held By Maple Spring Church, Eglon

Editor's note: Linda Benson, editor of The Preston County Journal in Kingwood, W. Va., has given us permission to reprint her story, which appeared in that paper, about Peter Fike and the Fike Family Monument which was recently dedicated at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren at Eglon, W. Va.

On Sunday, May 26, there was a homecoming of the Eglon Congregation of the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren and a dedication of a memorial to Peter Fike.

People from West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, the Shenandoah Valley in Virginia, Ohio, Missouri and Michigan attended the services, which were designed to recognize one of the founding families in the community and the influence of that family on church activities.

Peter Fike was born November 3, 1794. In May of 1854 he and his family moved to the Eglon community.

Peter and his wife Magdalene Arnold Fike were devout members of the German Baptist Church, now the Church of the Brethren. Fike envisioned establishing a church group composed of other like minded individuals in his community.

With potential membership growing Fike felt the need for regular preaching services in the area. As a result Thomas Clark from Bayard was called to begin keeping a regular preaching schedule in the community. The services were usually conducted in the home of Peter Fike. Other ministers also did occasional preaching in the area.

Actual organizing of the church took place when John Kline came through the mountains of Western Virginia on one of his preaching tours. Through the leadership of Elder Kline a meeting was conducted at the Peter Fike home. At that time a minister and deacon were elected.

There is no official record of this first council meeting but it can be determined as the date of organization of what is now the Eglon Congregation of the Church of the Brethren, according to family and church genealogists.

If Peter Fike helped establish the Church of the Brethren in the area, he also helped establish many of the families that currently populate the Eglon community. Although not many still keep the Fike name, many are descendants of Peter and Magdalene Fike.

Peter and Magdalene had 10 children, 89 grandchildren, 307 great grandchildren and have approximately 15,000 descendants living today, according to Edwin Fike, the family genealogist.

Although Peter moved to the area in 1854 the family had been in the United States for many years and Peter was in fact the fourth generation of the Fike family in this country.

Although the family was well established in this country its members held on to old traditions. The Fikes spoke German until they came to the Eglon area. They learned English when they moved to Eglon because that was the language of most people in the community.

Peter was a farmer and many of his descendants currently live on farms in the area where Peter settled. Because they were of a "plain" faith there are no pictures of Peter and Magdalene, who considered photographs vanity.

Over the years the family has produced college presidents, teachers and at least 105 ministers. One of Peter's descendants, J. Rogers Fike, is currently pastor at the Maple Springs church.

The idea of erecting a memorial to the family and church patriarch came from Edwin Fike, who saw a similar memorial in Philippi.

The memorial lists pertinent data about Peter and Magdalene, their children and their children's husbands and wives.

It is placed in the Maple Spring Church Cemetery near the graves of many of their descendants. Only one of the Fikes' 10 children is not buried in the community.

The dedication of the memorial and the homecoming of the congregation were designed as a time to share information and stories about the past that has helped shape the current Eglon community and the lives of the Fike descendants.

Bible School Set At Cherry Glade

Vacation Bible School will be held at the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church, located four miles from Accident on the Accident-Bittinger Road, July 8 through 12, from 9:15 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. The theme will be "Declare God's Glory", and everyone is welcome to attend.

Maryland Parks Getting Facelifts

Forest, Park and Wildlife Service Chief of Operations David L. Hathway reports that Service personnel are preparing to spend an additional $500,000 over the normal budgeted amount to make repairs to park buildings, roads, equipment and facilities. "State parks are very important to Maryland for the recreational opportunities they provide to residents and as an attraction for out-of-state visitors," stated Hathway. "Vacationers provide a tremendous economic stimulus to Maryland."

According to a recent survey by the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development, 65 percent of the non-residents surveyed, liked Maryland's mountains, parks and lakes most. This exceeded even the numbers for Baltimore City and Ocean City.

"We are very pleased with the funds and the commitment to upgrade our infrastructure" states Hathway. "Many of our park buildings and facilities date back to the 1930's and many more were constructed during the 1960's. They must be maintained if we are to have facilities the public can enjoy."

Private contractors will be asked to bid on $300,000 worth of maintenance projects while another $100,000 will be used to purchase supplies for park personnel to do the work. The remaining $100,000 will be used to replace radios that are obsolete so that first rate communication equipment will be available in the parks for the safety of park visitors.

State Guard Conference Held At Frederick

The First Battalion, First Brigade of the new Maryland State Guard recently hosted a commanders conference at the Frederick Armory, Frederick. The First Brigade's area of responsibility includes most of Maryland west of Baltimore, and the First Battalion has Military Police Security Companies located in Frederick, Highfield, Hagerstown, Cumberland and Oakland. Attending the conference from the Oakland Company was Commander Lt. Andrew Wolfe.

Although State Guard units meet in National Guard Armories, the State Guard is a separate volunteer organization under command of the Governor. Its mission is to replace the National Guard when the National Guard is called to active duty, and back up the National Guard during emergencies declared by the Governor. The eligible age for the State Guard is from 16 to 75. Male and female personnel are being recruited at all National Guard Armories.

There is a limited number of vacancies for officers and non-commissioned officers in the Maryland State Guard. Prior military experience is not required for enlistment. For more information, persons may contact Commander Wolfe, of the Military Police Security Company in Oakland, at 334-3057.

Oh buoy! Simon Le Bon gets ready to set sail

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Simon Le Bon, lead singer of the rockin' and rollin' Duran Duran, takes the lead in many things — including boat races.

Simon Le Bon

In September, it's anchors aweigh when Le Bon participates in the 1985 Whitbread Round the World Race, a 27,000 mile sail that is marked by danger. Singing Simon has entered his as-yet unnamed 76-foot yacht. It will hold a crew of 18 and be captained by Skip Novak, a veteran of the last two Whitbreads.

The race is sectioned into four legs — from Auckland, New Zealand to Punta del Este, Uruguay and from there to Portsmouth, England. Simon will participate in two legs, including the perilous waters of Cape Horn.

Dennis Hopper ("Easy Rider") has received the obligatory six-figure advance from Doubleday to pen his life story ... Remember Charo? The blond bombshell is taping her new nightclub act for cable TV ... Two of Michael Jackson's pet deer became proud parents of a baby buck. Does this make M.J. a grandpa? ... Word is out that it's a best bet Wayne Newton will buy the Dunes Hotel in Las Vegas.

Michael Jackson

There was a near-crisis during the Roberta Flack-George Benson Radio City Music Hall concert earlier this month. Just as the show began, the hall's huge flame-retardant curtain started to smoulder. It seems a lamp had been placed a bit too close to it. Firefighters and extinguishers did their thing, the 8 p.m. concert began at 9 p.m. and everyone was happy. And safe.

C&P To Expand Electronic Bill Payment System

The C&P Telephone Company of Maryland has announced plans to expand its bill reporting and processing to a fully—electronic system. As a result, the company will be asking its payment agenices to convert to an electronic form of bill payment reporting by the end of 1985.

Although many of the payment agencies currently use a manual payment reporting system, C&P believes the electronic system will substantially improve service to those customers who pay their telephone bills at agency locations, according to C&P spokesman Leroy Fisher.

"There are some problems with manual reporting which can make it a source of customer annoyance," said Fisher. "It is slow and inconsistent. Manual reporting can cause a payment to take up to eight business days to be recorded on Company records. This has occasionally resulted in C&P's interrupting a customer's service for non-payment when, in fact, the payment had been made on time at a manual reporting location."

The electronic reporting system, called Mechanized Payment Remittance (MPR), enables C&P to credit the customer's account within two business days.

In addition to being faster, MPR is more accurate and less expensive to administer than the manual system. "We feel that implementing MPR will not only reduce the chances for error and improve our service to customers," Fisher continued, "it will also eliminate unnecessary expense."

Currently, nearly 600,000 telephone bills — 38% of C&P's monthly bills — are paid through payment agencies. There are a total of more than 1,300 locations throughout the state acting as agents on behalf of C&P, and almost one-third of that number currently use the MPR system.

C&P has notified all of its present payment agencies of the Company's planned conversion and has provided them with information describing the MPR system. This will help them determine if they wish to convert, and thus be able to continue acting as authorized payment agencies for C&P.

PET BOA CONSTRICTOR — Ms. Vicki Plevyak, of Rock Lodge Road, McHenry, brought her boa constrictor, Steward, to visit the students of Accident Elementary School on Thursday, June 13. Ms. Plevyak purchased Steward from a pet store in Pittsburgh, Pa. when he was a baby. He is now several years old and over seven feet long. The fifteen-pound reptile prefers to stay in his aquarium, not disturbing anyone or having anyone disturb him. Ms. Plevyak raises white rats for Steward to suffocate and swallow whole. Steward visited Ms. Plevyak's son Tovah's kindergarten class, as well as other interested classes in the elementary school. Pictured above with Ms. Plevyak and Steward are, left to right, Chris Turney, Barry Savage, Trent Thomas, Jennifer Dolan, and Cara Collingwood, all fifth grade students of Mrs. Rosanne Sherwood.

Medal Awarded Posthumously To Sp4 D.K. Janoske

Sp4 Debra K. Janoske, a native of Oakland, was recently awarded a Meritorious Service Medal posthumously in a solemn ceremony at the office of Col. Carroll M. Fyffe, commander, Headquarters, U.S. Army Garrison, Fort Ritchie.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hershman, 810 Chestnut Street, Oakland, accepted their daughter's award.

Sp4 Janoske received the Meritorious Service Medal for her service as a military pay specialist in the Finance and Accounting Office, Headquarters and Headquarters Company, Headquarters Command, 193rd Infantry Brigade (Panama) from June 28, 1983 to January 22, 1985.

She died January 22 in a military aircraft accident while performing her duties for the Finance and Accounting Office from her duty station in Panama.

The accompanying certificate signed by John O. Marsh, Jr., Secretary of the Army, cited Sp4 Janoske's performance: "In this position of responsibility, she contributed significantly to the overall accomplishments of the Brigade. She consistently demonstrated sound judgment, outstanding professional abilities, initiative and resourcefulness which served as an example for others to emulate. Sp4 Janoske's conspicous performance of duty is in the finest tradition of military service and reflects great credit upon herself, the 193rd Infantry Brigade (Panama) and the United States Army."

"She loved her job," said her mother JoAnn.

She joined the U.S. Army in November 1982 because she wanted to travel, according to her mother.

"She called home every two weeks and she always volun-

PATRIOTISM is alive and well in Grantsville as shown by these 4-H'ers who particicated in the well-attended Grantsville Day parade Friday evening. Patriotism is on the upswing throughout the United States, as evidenced in the campaign to restore the Statue of Liberty in the New York City harbor. The 4-H'ers' float tells parade viewers to 'Keep Your Torch Burning With 4-H", but they could just as well be celebrating the Statue of Liberty which symbolizes our nation's enduring virtues of liberty, justice and compassion for all people. The thought is particularly timely as U.S. citizens observe the Fourth of July tomorrow. Grantsville Days festivities were held Thursday through Sunday and more pictures and information will be appear in next week's issue of The Republican. Photo by Craig Phillips

"RETURNING TO LIFE" and planning to speak in Mountain Lake Park next week is the third president of the United States and the author of the Declaration of Independence, Thomas Jefferson. In reality, the role of Jefferson will be played by none other than his great great great great great grandson, Rob Cole, a resident of (where else?) Charlottesville, Va. Cole has received national acclaim for his impersonation of his famous grandfather and even possesses Jefferson's profile, flaming red hair, freckles, and six foot, two inch frame. His program is slated for Saturday, July 13, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Mountain Lake Park Assembly Hall, located along G Street. Tickets, which are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children, may be purchased at Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy, The Republican Newspaper Office, or at the door.

Sewage Treatment Plant For Oakland To Become A Reality

A sewage treatment plant for the town of Oakland will soon become a reality. An announcement last week by Robert Boal, councilman in charge of the sewer project, stating that the town has received clear title to the Sterling Treatment Plant and the adjoining McIntire property opened the door for development to begin.

The final contracts were signed by the town in February, but obtaining clear titles resulted in a four-month delay. After the town's attorney, Robert Watson, procured clear titles for the 13.12 acre treatment plant and 8.21 acres of the McIntire property, the Oakland Town Council and Mayor H.D. Swartzentruber gave the go-ahead for continuation of the plans.

The $295,500 Sterling property includes two existing lagoons and various small buildings, along with some existing equipment. It does not include, however, Sterling Processing's large factory building, which was not needed by the town for sewage treatment. The McIntire property, costing $12,500, will be used to construct two more lagoons, including an innovative nitrification lagoon.

According to Boal, once the clear titles were acquired, the project was turned over to Morgan France of Franklin Associates for redesigning. Redesigning is required by the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene and the Environmental Protection Agency to slightly down-size the plant since it will not be treating any industrial waste from the Sterling Corporation.

The redesign will include raising the depth of both existing lagoons, and replanning one of the new lagoons, so that it is not quite so close to the B & O Railroad tracks. A 60-day contract for the redesign was signed and approved by the mayor and council at the end of May, and delivered to Franklin Associates in mid June. It is due to be completed by mid August.

According to information released by Boal, Watson, and

Penn Alps Sets Eighth Annual Summerfest

The eighth Annual Summerfest and Quilt Show is slated for July 11, 12 and 13, from 11:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. The Summerfest will be held in the Spruce Forest on the Penn Alps grounds, and the Quilt Show in Grantsville Fire Hall.

Situated just east of Grantsville, on the Old National Pike (now alternate Rt. 40), the Penn Alps campus, with its summer "artisans at work," is easily accessible. This increasingly popular arts and crafts festival is an integral part of Penn Alps, which is celebrating its 25th summer season this year, and plans to move another early log house to the grounds in the fall in celebration of this milestone.

During the three-day festival some 45 artisans and craftsmen (many chosen from among Penn Alps' 1600 producers) will be working in several log houses and frame buildings of early vintage, and in some 20 specially constructed booths scattered among the trees of the Spruce Forest west of the parking lot. Participation is by invitation only, with most of the artisans coming from within a hundred-mile radius, in keeping with the consistent effort of Penn Alps to promote local talent.

As a result of a constant search for quality workmanship, some 12 new participants will be demonstrating their craft this year. Demonstrations will vary from spinning and weaving to rope-making and tinsmithing; from knitting and rug-braiding to glass-blowing

Ninth Graders Pull Up Scores On State Test

The percentage of this year's ninth graders who passed the Maryland Functional Citizenship Test administered this spring almost doubled from last year, reported Al Ringer, assistant superintendent of instruction, at the June 13 meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education.

Ringer said that 81 percent of the Garrett County ninth graders this year passed the test which is required of them to graduate from high school.

The results were an improvement over last year, Ringer noted, when ninth graders took the test as a practice run that did not count on their records. In that trial run, 42.6 percent of the students passed.

Ninth graders across the state showed improvements in the test scores as 58.6 percent statewide scored passing grades. Over 48,800 ninth graders took the test in the state.

Last year, the percent of students statewide scoring passing grades was 42.1.

The citizenship test is one of four that all public school students must pass to graduate as part of the statewide Project Basic program. Those who do not pass a test in ninth grade receive remedial instruction to help them pass in succeeding years.

EPA Charges Peat Operation With Violating Clean Water Act

The Environmental Protection Agency has issued an order against a Garrett County peat harvesting company which could slow down its operation during peak harvest months.

Kenneth Buckel, director of Garrett Processing and Packaging which operates at a bog in the northern part of the county, said Tuesday that he received the order Monday which charged the company with violating the federal Clean Water Act by harrowing or raking the peat. Consequently, the company has been ordered to stop harrowing.

Buckel, and members of the company board, believe the order is a result of pressure by the Sierra Club which has filed suit in a federal district court and the Garrett County Circuit Court seeking to stop the company's harvesting activities.

The harrowing process essentially rakes the peat to allow it to dry before removal from the area it is produced which is in the peat bog in The Glades, an area considered by the Sierra Club to be historically and biologically significant.

The order came from William T. Wisniewski, assistant regional administrator for policy and management, in the Philadelphia district EPA office.

Buckel said only one of the other nine peat operations under the jurisdiction of the Philadelphia office has received the order, and many believe the other was issued the order to fend off claims that EPA was picking on the Garrett operation.

The order might not stop the company from harvesting the peat, but it could slow it down, indicated Buckel. He said he is exploring alternative ways to dry the peat. Buckel noted that the warm, dry summer months are the peak harvest months for peat; other seasons in the year are either too wet or cold.

Buckel said the company, and all other peat harvesting operations in the United States, harrow peat. The company has followed the same procedure since its inception 22 years ago, but this is the first time its methods have been questioned, Buckel explained.

He added that the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, which has observed the peat harvesting operation, has always maintained the company does not need to obtain the federal grading and filling permit.

The EPA officials say the peat company must apply for a federal grading and filling permit because the harrowing process constitutes filling a waterway.

Local board members say EPA is nit-picking and point out that the company is not filling the bog with peat, because the peat is naturally produced in the bog. EPA officials reportedly interpret harrowing as filling because the peat which might be flung upward in the process might fall in the waterways.

EPA officials also say that smoothing out lumps of peat can be interpreted as grading and leveling and requires the federal permit.

Roads Workers Say "Yes" To New Contract

A two-year contract was approved by Garrett County Roads Employees Friday which included a 6% salary increase for both years realized, according to the Board of Garrett County Commissioners, who announced the vote at a press conference yesterday.

A condition of the contract includes a revision of the Roads Department medical plan beginning January 1, 1986, which requires a mandatory second medical opinion before certain operations. A pre-admission determination must also be made before an employee enters the hospital.

Employees also relinquished the old method of sick leave which, in the past, permitted workers to accumulate sick leave over the year and buy it back from the county at the end of the year. In exchange for the sick leave benefit, the new contract will include a long-term disability insurance.

County Clerk Robert Fousek said he felt the union negotiations "went smoothly and were very successful."

"We feel the Roads employees are deserving of the new contract and that it's fair to the taxpayers of Garrett County," said Commisioner Ernest Gregg.

The Commissioners are confident that the new contract will result in a substantial savings for the county with the revised medical benefits.

Commissioners Submit Additional Capital Improvement List To DNR

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners announced yesterday that they have submitted a list of additional capital improvements for the county's state parks to Dr. Torry C. Brown, secretary of the Department of Natural Resources.

The list of capital improvements came about as a result of a meeting late last year with the Commissioners, County Clerk Robert Fousek, Fred Eskew and Frank Oslislo, DNR representatives, Delegate George Edwards and Senator John Bambacus.

At that late December meeting "a central theme surfaced which leads to a mutual goal of improving relationships between the DNR and Garrett County officials and, in particular, to restore an attitude of cooperation between the governmental bodies in regard to natural resource issues," stated a letter which accompanied the list of capital improvements sent by the Commissioners.

Eskew, at the meeting, stated that the DNR could "possibly take the lead in improving relationships by entertaining recommendations by the Garrett County Commissioners for further capital improvements in our state parks and include these recommendations on future capital budget requests."

The Commissioners noted that one of the stated goals in the Garrett County Development Plan is to "increase and diversify facilities and areas to improve the attractiveness of Garrett County as a year-round location for recreation and tourism."

The DNR reviewed the text of the Garrett County Development Plan before formal adoption by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners. Within its comments, DNR agreed with the Plan's contention that "additional facilities at appropriate locations" were needed, and that the "parks that were developed in Civil Conservation Corps days offer the potential for expansion or modification.

The Commissioners urged the DNR to give careful consideration to the suggested capital improvements because it "constituted a realistic and logical expansion of state park facilities. They also urged the DNR to fulfil construction of the already approved capital

"THE LIGHT AT THE END OF A LONG TUNNEL", is how Oakland Councilman Robert Boal describes the current stage of the Oakland Treatment Plant project. The town has obtained clear titles for the Sterling Treatment Plant and the adjoining McIntire property, and after all these years of planning, the development can begin. Oakland officials met with design engineer, Morgan France, at the Sterling Treatment Plant early this week to look over the redesign. Glotfelty Pleads Guilty To Illegal Drug Distribution

A 23-year-old Oakland man pled guilty in the Garrett County Circuit Court June 27 to distribution of marijuana.

Jack A. Glotfelty admitted to selling 23.9 grams of marijuana, worth $80, to Mike King, a parole officer, on March 27, 1984.

Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Glotfelty and set bond at $50,000 which he transferred from a pending case against Glotfelty, also drug related.

A charge of possession of marijuana was not prosecuted.

Patriots To Perform At Friendsville Summer Festival

The John Hanson Patriots, a Fife and Drum Corps from Indian Head, will be a highlight of the parade in Friendsville on August 3 beginning at noon.

The Patriots travel throughout the East Coast area to participate in such parades as the St. Patrick's Day parade in Washington, D.C., the July 4 parade at Harve de Grace, and the Flag Day ceremonies at Annapolis.

This Corps has performed twice at Disney World. In the fall and winter they attend musters (a gathering of Fife and Drum Corps) where they cultivate friendships and perform, as at the Army's Old Guard Fife and Drum muster in Fort Myer, Va.

This group also performs at schools where they do a program of narration and music. They explain and demonstrate how music was used during the Revolutionary War, describe their uniform, and explain how it was used and how important the uniform was at that time. The Patriots will present this program on the school grounds as part of the opening ceremonies.

The John Hanson Patriots were organized in May 1969 and have 20 performing members. There are two associate directors: Larry Smith, a music teacher in Charles County, and John Painter, with the U.S. Defense Department in Indian Head.

Parade trophies will be awarded in the following categories: antique car, antique truck, antique farm machinery, antique household implements, children's entries (decorated bike, animal costume, best use of theme), best fire department, best float, best use of theme, and Grand Marshal award for greatest input. A prize of $25 will be awarded to the best marching/twirling unit.

People interested in participating in the parade should contact Lucile Sines at 746-5798 or Joe Sessa at 746-5545.

Old-time crafts will again be featured at Summer Festival V. Some of the crafts include handmade quilts, old time rope making, spinning and knitting, bee keeping, furniture refinishing and chair canning, maple sugar making, toie painting and tin ware.

People wishing to participate in this area should contact Sara Sines at 746-5847.

This project is partially funded by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland Arts Council.

Celestine E. Whetsell, 27, was injured when she was thrown from the motorcycle operated by her husband, Lawrence E. Whetsell, 29.

Tfc. R. M. Hershberger, who investigated the accident, said Whetsell was operating the cycle westbound on Route 50 and failed to negotiate a sharp left turn, causing the vehicle to leave the roadway and overturn. The cycle slid along the guardrails, ejecting Mrs. Whetsell from the rear of the vehicle.

Whetsell, who was also treated and later released from the local hospital, was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

In a separate accident, a Swanton man was also charged with DWI this past weekend by the Maryland State Police.

Rodney G. Guthrie, 18, was charged with DWI by Tfc. D. G. Broadwater following a mishap on the Swanton Hill Road early Friday morning.

Broadwater said the 12:50 a.m. mishap occurred when Guthrie, who was operating a 1970 GMC pickup, ran off the roadway and struck an unoccupied 1979 Ford van owned by Ronald Friend, Swanton. The Guthrie vehicle reportedly struck the Friend vehicle in the rear, causing considerable damage.

Guthrie was also charged with negligent driving.

County Treasurer Notes Changes In Vehicle Tag Fees

Garrett County Treasurer Arzella Parsons announced yesterday that due to the passage of Maryland Senate Bill No. 762 an additional $1.00 fee will be added to registration fees for motor vehicle tags, effective July 1, 1985.

She explained that the additional $1.00 fee will be returned to the Motor Vehicle Administration to offset costs of a new computerized system, which will include a print-out machine in the Garrett County Treasurer's Office.

Parsons also noted that she has been given the authority to up her office's fee to a minimum of $1.00, but said the rate will remain the same as in the past, $.25. If persons mail in their registration fees, they are not required to pay the additional $.25, but they are required to pay the $1.00 fee instituted by the state.

In September of 1986, the state will begin the rotation system of distributing vehicle tags every six months to prevent the influx of tags being purchased at one time of the year. Instead of the normal registration cards, the new system will incorporate the use of the new computers to dispense new tags.

The Treasurer said as she receives more information on the new computer system she will pass that on to the public via local media.

Over 40 Meet To Discuss '89 Whitewater Event

The first organizational meeting for the 1989 International Whitewater Championships was held Tuesday, June 25, at Garrett Community College with approximately 40 persons attending. The meeting was conducted by Tom Jones, director of the Garrett County Development Corporation, and Cindy Kutchman, director of the Garrett County Promotion Council.

Those attending represented government officials from Garrett and Allegany Counties, local business owners, local law enforcement representatives, local news reporters and private citizens. The main purpose of the meeting was to outline objectives and financial planning of the promotion and planning of the Whitewater Championships.

This will be the first time ever an event of this nature will be held in the United States and only the second time it has been held in the Western Hemisphere.

Jones expressed a wish for the group, in the near future, to form an interjurisdictional group to promote and conduct the event that would be "separate entity" from the Promotion Council. It is likely that such a group will be formed at the next meeting which is tentatively scheduled for August. More interested parties are being sought to support and promote the event. A mailing list is presently being compiled and interested persons may be included by calling the Promotion Council at 334-3888.

Discussion tasks set for the group at the next meeting will include establishing an identity for the group, organizing development, fund raising, a local promotion and professional assistance in implementing and developing a plan.

A timetable of future whitewater events at the Savage River include a training camp to be held in October of this year, the proposed Pan American Cup competition to be held in August, 1986, the proposed U.S. team trials to be held in the spring of 1987, the Pre-World Championships scheduled for June 12-26, 1988, the proposed U.S. team trials to be held in the spring of 1989, and finally, the World Championships scheduled for June 11-25.

"Fun Day" Slated For July 4 At DCL State Park

The second Annual Deep Creek Lake State Park Fun Day will take place on July 4. This will be a day of family activities for all ages beginning with sign up at 10 a.m. and events starting at 11 a.m. and running through until 6 p.m. A family picnic will be held at 6 p.m., followed by a campfire program with awards given for winners of the day's activities.

Events will include: a three-legged race, sack race, crab race, ping-pong water race, fill the Coke can, watermelon seed spitting contest, greased watermelon battle, and a sand castle building competition. Ribbons will be awarded for first, second, and third place in each age category.

The campfire program will follow at 8 p.m., at the amphitheater, weather permitting, or in the garage building in case of rain. The program will begin with the presentation of awards for the day's events, followed by the National Geographic film, "Animals Nobody Loved".

The Saturday campfire program is scheduled for 8:30 p.m., in the garage building, and will feature a short film titled, "Fluffy the Ostrich". After the film, a slide program will be presented by Gus Johnson, titled "Birds of Garrett County".

The public is welcome to all state park activities.

Oakland Mayor, Council Approve FY '86 Budget

The Oakland Mayor and Town Council met on Monday, July 1, with the bulk of the meeting taken up by budget matters.

Tax bills were mailed July 1, and the council stressed that a three-percent discount will be given if bills are paid by November 30.

Mark Marucci met with council on behalf of his neighbors at the intersection of Eighth and High Streets to discuss the possibility of installing a four-way stop sign. He was told by council that the matter would be referrd to Jim Werdebaugh, street superintendent, and Police Chief John Sines for consideration and implementation.

A revenue sharing budget hearing was conducted by council, with the decision made to allocate the entire amount this fiscal year to the town water department.

Council also agreed to adopt the entire town budget for fiscal year 1986.

A bid for installation of a water line on Mason Street was awarded to Robert Ridder.

An Abuse Of Power . . .

A local, private business continues to be harassed and raked over the coals by powerful, nationwide organizations and government agencies and we are furious about it.

The Environmental Protection Agency has now claimed that the Garrett Processing and Packaging Corporation, located near Bittinger, is operating in violation of the Clean Water Act by harrowing, or raking, the peat that it harvests. The EPA, in our opinion, is grossly misinterpreting the law and, we believe, has attacked Garrett Processing because of pressure from individuals belonging to the Nature Conservancy and the Sierra Club.

One will recall that the Nature Conservancy went away quite angry a few years ago when it was out-bid by the local company at an auction of the property now in question. In April the Sierra Club filed suit against the company, the Department of Natural Resources, and the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, claiming that the peat company was operating without certain necessary permits.

The Sierra Club suit is claiming that harrowing the peat causes some particles of peat to fly up into the air and those particles may come down in nearby waterways and change the composition of the water! The EPA also claims that the company needs a permit for grading and filling because, when the peat is scooped out of the bog and then harrowed so it will dry, a few particles of peat probably fall back into the scoop site, thus constituting filling!

This company has harvested peat for the past 22 years without all of this pressure from the government. Why has all of this happened just in the past few months? One of the owners of the company is a noted, expert biologist, who has authored textbooks and can be considered an environmentalist. Two other owners are also involved with environment, one with the health department and another with years of experience in soil conservation. They are not ignorant, ruthless people who have no respect for the environment.

It is also interesting to note that out of nine other peat operations in the same EPA district (Philadelphia), all of which harrow the peat, only one has received a similar charge from the EPA and that also occurring in the past few weeks. Why have the other peat companies not been charged with the same violation? We believe that the other operation was cited simply so the EPA could state that the Garrett County company "was not the only one so charged."

Water tests taken this week in waterways fed by the local bog indicate that the quality of the water as to suspended solids and acidity level (ph) is well within the guidelines set by the state. Where is the pollution, EPA? Remember, we are not talking about acid mine drainage or nuclear waste here, but former plant and animal life.

We submit that the Garrett Processing and Packaging Corporation has been targeted by members of the Nature Conservancy and Sierra Club who are going to pull out all the stops to take control of this bog. The company has already been forced to spend large sums of money for legal counsel and certainly cannot afford to go on this way indefinitely against these agencies that do have huge resources.

The power and influence wielded by the EPA and these organizations is frightening and there should be some means of constraint. We sincerely hope that our state and federal representatives go to bat for this small, local company struggling to stay alive against a seemingly invincible force. There are many other bogs which have the same exact plant and animal life as this one which can be saved, and will not result in the elimination of over a dozen jobs in the process.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I feel it is time for the sheriff's department to either confirm or reject the rumor moving through the area concerning a local man who was convicted and sentenced to five years in prison for selling and distributing cocaine.

Rumor has it that Vaughn Winters never went to prison, but is in the local jail being released each day on some kind of a work-release program.

If the above is not true, the department should tell us. If it is true, then I feel we should be told why.

Most of us feel if this is true, then the recent drug-bust is a total waste of taxpayers money because it too will possibly end up with a similar program.

Most people are for very strict penalties when it comes to drug dealers. We wonder why the courts are not of the same opinion. After all, it is possibly our children these people are selling their drugs to. Why not put them away for quite a few years?

I feel especially sorry for the lawmen who put in so many hours (with their lives in danger) to see their cases not fully dealt with.

Some answers, please!

Name withheld

Editor's Note: After a little research, this is what we have found: Vaughn Winters is, in fact, serving his sentence in the Garrett County Jail and is on work release.

Garrett County Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer in June granted a motion by Leo Dunn, Winters' attorney, for a modification of Winters' sentence to assign him to the Garrett County Jail and to allow work release. Winters, although assigned to go to a state facility, was still being housed in the Garrett County Jail when the motion was filed and granted.

Winters asked for work release to allow him to continue operating his 15-year-old excavation business, particularly this summer when he expects to employ 20 people and will be doing excavation work as well as utility hookup connections in the Deep Creek Lake area.

His work release schedule involves departing from the jail at 6 a.m. and returning at 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday. He will be under the supervision of the Department of Probation and Parole while away from the jail.

Winters asked to be allowed to use his own vehicle to drive to the different sites where his crews were working, but was denied. Instead, he is to be transported. The judge also denied a request to allow Winters to leave the jail on Sundays.

As part of the work release agreement, Winters pays $5 each working day for his lodgings at the jail.

In answer to the question why Winters was granted work release, Judge Thayer stated, "In cases where a person has been convicted of a non-violent type of crime and has been committed to the Division of Corrections or to the Garrett County Jail, I prefer that they earn their keep rather than to be wards of the county taxpayers."

Thayer pointed out that by continuing to earn wages, inmates with families can prevent their families from requiring welfare. The program also helps reduce the costs of keeping a prisoner in the jail.

Thayer added that drug-related offenders have routinely been granted work release.

To the Editor:

I understand Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey is taking some flack from a few fellow Democratic party members because he is openly supporting Chief Deputy M. Van Evans to fill out the term of sheriff, left vacant by the untimely and tragic death of the late Sheriff Frank Finch.

I feel John made a wise decision, based on a man's qualifications as well as the desire of the late sheriff to have Van fill his shoes. No, it was not a politically based decision and I applaud John for his common sense, foresight and good judgment. I am a registered Republican, but I'll cross party lines any time to vote for a man who takes such a stand.

To me, this is just one more of many reasons the position of sheriff should be an appointed position, not an elected one. Law enforcement is not good politics. My father, a Republican, hired Frank, a Democrat, to be a deputy years ago because he felt he was qualified to do the job.

Frank Finch was an excellent, experienced and well-qualified sheriff. He chose Van Evans to be his chief deputy - next in command. And although Frank was a strong Democrat, he expressed many times the need for Van to fill his shoes if anything ever happened to him.

For a change, Garrett Countians and Governor Hughes, let's let common sense prevail and not party affiliation.

Most sincerely,
Pam Ashby

To the Editor:

Last week, June 30, marked more than the end of another fiscal year at Garrett Community College. It marked the last day of employment for five faculty members—three whose contracts were not renewed and two who resigned because of differences with the administration.

Since these men have not been recognized publicly for their contributions to the college or thanked for their years of service, I wish to do so now, on behalf of the majority of my colleagues at the college, many citizens of the community and the many students whose lives they have helped to shape.

Former Athletic Director and Chairperson of the Health and Physical Education Division, Dr. Dennis Fearnow has given 14 years of service to Garrett Community College. As one of the original full-time faculty, he was there when the impossible dream to have a college in this community first became a reality. Under his leadership, the smallest college in the Maryland JUCO developed first rate inter-collegiate athletic and intramural programs. The men he has coached in baseball and basketball have respected him for his ability and admired him for the rare qualities of leadership he possesses.

Assistant Professor of Building Construction Technology Donald Carstens has been a "father figure" to many students at the college, as well as a respected instructor, during his eleven years on the faculty. He has always had time to help a student, whether the need be a mathematics problem or a rental lease.

In his eight years at Garrett, Dr. Paul Deal developed the Veterinary Technology Program into one of the best in the area. Each year his students have scored near the top on the national examination for registering veterinary technicians. His supervision of the Animal Shelter has provided highly professional practical experience for the students and a much needed service for the county.

Hugh Trimble, Assistant Professor of Wildlife Management, is another long-time faculty member who will be missed at the college and in the community. For ten years, his students at Garrett have benefitted from excellent instruction in the classroom and valuable field experience he incorporated in his courses. He has always been respected for his high standards and his fairness.

Newest in terms of service of the men who have left is Tom Bosley, former Instructor of Physical Education and head basketball coach. During his three years at Garrett, he has given this community many exciting moments of good basketball, along with a feeling of pride and community spirit we had never before achieved. His influence has started many young men on the road to higher education, and his personal interest in each of them has made for lasting relationships.

These men have all represented more than a commitment to excellence in their professions; they have embodied intangible human qualities of integrity, dedication, decency and compassion that we try to instill in our students. As they leave now to pursue other employment, we wish them well, wherever their future endeavors take them. But more than that, we thank them for those good years, and for a job well done. They will be missed at the college and in the community.

To the Editor:

We have read your paper for quite a few years and have admired your opinions on our problems both local and national.

Your editorial in June 20, 1985, on the children's views of world hunger was surely timely and very moving.

Through the years your paper has always noticed children and made them feel important.

If all papers and people in public offices would do more of this I'm sure our America will continue to have the love and respect of all nations.

Sincerely yours,

To the Editor,

Did you see the rainbow over the new United Methodist parsonage in Swanton Monday evening at sunset? Wendell Hartman said it was a double one. Another Swanton resident said he was taking his truck to the top of Backbone Mt. to get a better view. Five-year-old Holly Wilson said it was the first one she ever saw and just had to look and look at it.

The rainbow shined so gloriously bright over our new parsonage, it was as if God was blessing it. In God's holy word, the Bible, Genesis 9:8-17, God tells us this mighty bow represents his covenant that "the water shall no more become a flood to destroy all flesh."

I just wanted to thank God for this wonderful sign and tell everyone that our new pastor, Rev. Richard Ogden and his wife, Rose, are out every evening cutting wood at the new parsonage and welcome people to stop by for a chat.

Sincerely,
A member of the Otterbein United Methodist Church

To the Editor:

Must we kill someone before we stop the speeding coal trucks on Chestnut Ridge Road? On Monday, June 17, my daughter and three companions were on their way back to school when they were forced off the road by a coal truck.

The car overturned and only a miracle saved their lives. The sad part was, the driver did not even stop to see if they were all right.

Please, let's stop them before you are forced to report a fatal tragedy of this type in your paper.

Braskey Gets Flack From Party Members

Reportedly, Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey received some negative comments from fellow Democratic party members when he came out in support of Chief Deputy M. Van Evans to fill out the term of sheriff, vacated by the death of Sheriff Franklin G. Finch.

In a letter to Governor Harry Hughes last week, Braskey recommended the appointment of Evans and stated, "It is with much sadness that I write to you concerning the appointment of a new sheriff to replace the late Sheriff Frank Finch. I considered Sheriff Finch not only a good sheriff but also a very good friend. It is times like this that politics and political parties should be forgotten and we must do what is best not only for the Sheriff's Department of Garrett County but for all the people of our county."

An informed source said this morning that the Democratic State Central Committee has been meeting over the past week to review candidates to submit for approval by the governor. The source also stated that the governor "strongly wants to appoint a democrat."

Judge Convicts Sweene In Drug Possession Case

Garrett County Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer has ordered a pre-sentence investigation for a 53-year-old McHenry man who was convicted on a possession of cocaine charge in Garrett County Circuit Court Monday.

Paul L. Sweene had requested a jury trial, but before jurors were selected Monday, he waived his right and elected for Judge Thayer to try the case. The jurors were dismissed, but were to be paid for appearing for the trial.

The judge convicted Sweene on the charge after a two and one-half hour trial in which six officers from the Maryland State Police were called to the stand by State's Attorney James Sherbin. Sweene chose not to testify and no defense witnesses were called in the case.

Cpl. Mike Mattingly testified that he arrested Sweene on April 3 when he was traveling in his car northbound on U.S. 219 near the Deep Creek Lake Information Booth.

Sweene had been observed by Sgt. Charles Hinnant, who was working undercover on special assignment, as he left B.J. Whistlers, located along Glendale Road, in an apparent intoxicated condition.

Mattingly said he observed Sweene's car weaving on the road and noticed his car had no taillights.

Mattingly stopped Sweene and in the course of questioning and subjecting him to sobriety tests, the policeman discovered a bag of cocaine in Sweene's pants pocket. Sgt. Hinnant, who arrived at the scene soon after Mattingly, also discovered a bag with cocaine residue in Sweene's sweater pocket.

Police said they discovered the bags when they noticed Sweene continually reached for his pockets.

Police chemists confirmed that one bag held six grams of cocaine, valued at over $100 per gram, while the residue in the other bag was determined to be cocaine, too.

Others testifying for the state were Chemist Robert Radnoti, Sgt. John McGowan, Tfc. Larry Glenn, Jr., and Tfc. David Miller.

Sweene was represented by Daun Weiers, an Oakland attorney.

Our Turn

Ashby's Law
by Pam Ashby

Ever notice how scarce and quiet the kids are when it's time for chores but how abundant and boisterous they become when you get an important phone call?

Then, there's the cherished moment you get a nice, cold glass of juice for yourself, turn on the stereo and sit down to relax when suddenly the kids happen to hear an ice cube clink in your glass and they get an overwhelming desire for somethin' to drink.

Or, perhaps you think you finally have your checkbook balanced to the penny when you receive an overdraft in the mail and realize you subtracted wrong. Naturally, the error is in the bank's favor.

How about the classic situation of embarking on a family excursion and being five miles past the last gas station when you discover you've run out of gas. Trouble is, the next gas station is ten miles up the highway.

These perplexing mysteries continue to plague my life—like the "rotund one" always being served the smallest piece of cake that screams, "You're fat!" . . . or waiting in the express line at the market for thirty-five minutes only to find you have 11 items . . . or buying a fantastic dress at a steal at a department store located 150 miles away and discovering later, at home, a very noticeable hole in the derriere area.

Need I go on? Murphy's Law! Ha! I was born with the statement, "What can go wrong, will," blazed on my forehead. The word "Sucker" is also stamped on another part of my anatomy. This guy Murphy doesn't have anything on Ashby.

Public Hearing Speakers Oppose Proposed Rural Residential Zone

The proposal for a rural residential zone in the Deep Creek Lake Watershed was the chief target for opposition at the public hearing held last night at Garrett Community College.

Approximately 70 people attended the hearing, conducted by the Garrett County commissioners, on proposed revisions to the plan for Deep Creek Lake.

It was the second hearing the commissioners held on the plan and was held after much public sentiment was expressed to hold it to allow summer lake residents an opportunity to publicly express their views. The first hearing, held May 16, was attended by about 45 people.

"We already met legal requirements by holding the first public hearing," Commissioner Ernest Gregg commented before the hearing Tuesday, "but we responded to the wishes of people and decided on a second public hearing."

The commissioners announced at the end of the hearing they will hold the record open for written testimony until July 9.

Nine persons presented testimony during the hearing and all but two addressed the rural residential zone proposal and were in opposition to it.

The rural residential zone as a new land use category differs from the current lake residential zoning in one way: mobile homes on permanent foundations will become a permitted use in rural residential zoning and remain a special exception use in lake residential zoning.

The category is proposed for five areas, all considered fringe areas of the lake: 1) Foster Road, Bray School Road and the part of Oakland-Sang Run Road within the watershed; 2) Sand Flat Road and Pysell Cross Cut Road to Route 135; 3) All areas within the watershed east of Route 495; 4) The area along North Glade Road between its intersection with Harvey's Peninsula Road and Route 495; and 5) Rock Lodge Road northeast from Deep Creek Lake State Park.

Jim Thompson, a lake property owner, shared his concerns that the new category could speed up development in the fringe areas of the lake by residents of the Baltimore/Washington area who would install mobile homes throughout the fringe areas.

He added that he did not feel there was a groundswell of public support for the proposal and that the long range impact of rural residential zoning would have a disastrous impact on the lake.

Thompson recommended the commissioners either delete the rural residential proposal entirely or zone a small portion of the fringe area in that category on an experimental basis.

Also testifying against the proposal was Ed King, President of the Property Owners Association, who presented nine arguments against the proposal including the group's belief that the new category will increase use of the lake.

Other arguments King raised included: 1) the new category had the appearance of being proposed for a special interest group; 2) changes in zoning should be to limit development around the lake; 3) the existing zoning ordinance allows mobile homes by special exception; 4) the change would have a drastic impact on the lake area and would not benefit the county either economically or aesthetically.

King noted that the POA now opposed the concept of rural residential zoning which represented a change from its earlier position in which it advocated scaling down the size of the area proposed for that zoning.

Year-round lake resident Frances Acton told the commissioners the consensus of residents along Stockslager Road and in the Oakland-Sang Run Road area was in opposition to rural residential zoning. Acton said most of the residents at that area believed more mobile homes would adversely affect the property value of that land.

Area businesswoman Karen Spiker added that she originally thought the idea of rural residential zoning was good, but that she now opposes the scope of the proposed zoning.

"The area proposed for rural residential is far too large to change. It would change the nature of the district," she commented. She indicated she could support the idea on a smaller scale.

Irving Day, a year-round lake resident, also spoke against the proposal, but also pointed out other parts of the plan which he believed contained flaws or which he opposed.

In discussing the recommendation to extend the Thayerville town center northward to include the Trading Post, Day said he thought the Trading Post, which had plans for expansion, could be zoned town center and that the residential area between Thayerville and the business could remain town residential.

Day spoke against town center zoning along Glendale Road to Rt. 219 and against proposed changes of property at the Mayhew Inn Road intersection with Rt. 219 from commercial to town residential.

Other statements in the plan which were opposed by Day included: 1) language in the plan which he believed depicted an adversative relationship between lake property owners and less affluent county residents which in reality does not exist, 2) unlimited access of the lake buffer strip by non-property owners, and 3) proposed compensation to would-be developers of wetlands around the lake in an attempt to prevent development of such lands.

Day further commented he agreed with those who desired the commissioners to appoint a three-member board to further review the plan and proposed revisions.

GCPPC board members say Sierra Club members hope the company is required to obtain the federal permit, because during the application process a public hearing must be held which would allow the environmental group an opportunity to oppose awarding the permit. If this should happen and the permit application denied, say local officials, the company would be put out of business.

"A DELIGHTFUL MUSICAL MELANGE" is how The New York Times described Trapezoid, an Appalachian musical quartet that will perform next Wednesday, July 10, at 8 p.m. at Southern High School to kickoff the third annual Mountain Lake Park Days. "Blessed with expressive arrangements and a collective sense of wonder . . . at once progressive and traditional" was the comment by The Washington Post, while Stereo Review said the originally West Virginia based group provided "reassurance that there is still real music on this continent." The quartet, which features vocal and instrumental renditions of Appalachian folk music, Irish tunes, chamber music, swing, and jazz, utilizes guitar, violin, hammered dulcimer, mandolin, bass, mandocello, mandola, and bowed psaltery. Trapezoid has appeared at performance centers and colleges all over the nation, including the Kennedy Center and Wolf Trap in the Washington area, St. Andrew's Hall in Detroit, Fort Mason Center in San Francisco, the World Theatre in St. Paul, and South Street Seaport in New York City. The members include Lorriane Duisit, Freda Epstein, Paul Reisler, and Ralph Gordon. A highlight of the performance is Gordon's rendition of Appalachian clog dancing. Tickets for the local performance may be purchased at Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy, The Republican Newspaper Office, and at the door. The concert is sponsored jointly by the Friends of Mountain Lake Park, the Garrett County Arts Council, and the Extended Learning Office of Garrett Community College.

Mountain Lake Park Days . . .

July 10-13

Reminiscing To Be Featured In MLPD Program

Reminiscing about days gone by in Mountain Lake Park will provide the basis for a special program on Saturday, July 13, during the third annual Mountain Lake Park Days celebration.

A variety of factual, and at least semi-factual, stories about what it was like when the town was a flourishing summer resort will be shared by present and former residents of the town.

Among the speakers will be Tom Stevenson, who was reared in Mountain Lake Park and now resides in Gaithersburg, and Ruth Weirich, Westport, Conn., whose grandfather, Dr. T.D. Richards built the Chautauqua Hotel and Cottage, with the hotel later being renamed Thoburn Inn.

Also speaking will be Delbert (Deb) and Grace Bittinger, lifelong residents of the Park.

Mary I. Love, Oakland, who has done extensive research on the history of Mountain Lake Park, is the coordinator of the program.

The program will begin at 2 p.m. in the auditorium of the Mountain Lake Park Assembly Hall, located along G Street. There will be no admission charge.

Garrett County Tennis Open Set For MLP Days

Among the many activities during the third annual Mountain Lake Park Days, slated for July 10-13, will be the Garrett County Open Tennis Tournament, sponsored by the Garrett County Chapter of the Mountain Lake Park Tennis Club. The tourney will be played July 11-14 at the clay courts along Allegany Drive.

Tennis at these courts, some of the last remaining clay courts in the nation, represents one of the few remaining, con-

TOURS OF VICTORIAN HOMES will once again be among the activities of Mountain Lake Park Days, slated for July 10-13. Six houses will be opened to the public this year on Friday, July 12, from 1 to 5 p.m., according to Karen Wooddell, coordinator. The tours have drawn hundreds of participants in the past two years with the proceeds going to the Friends of Mountain Lake Park, the non profit organization which sponsors Mountain Lake Park Days. Pictured above is the residence of Dr. and Mrs. J.H. Wooddell, located along G Street, and below is the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Ewing, located along F Street. Tickets for the house tours, which are $5 each, as well as tickets and information about other Mountain Lake Park Days activities will be available beginning Friday morning at the Amphitheatre ticket house, located along G Street about 200 yards south of State Rt. 135, pictured below right. The ticket house at one time served the Mountin Lake Park Amphitheatre, a unique structure which seated 5,000 persons for a wide variety of entertainment and cultural programs of the Chautauqua era. The Amphitheatre was razed in the 1940s.

"Pres. Jefferson" Will Speak In Mtn. Lake Park

Thomas Jefferson, the third president of the United States and author of the Declaration of Independence, has "returned to life" and will be among the guests of the third annual Mountain Lake Park Days. Mr. Jefferson will be the featured speaker in a program on Saturday, July 13, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Mountain Lake Park Assembly Hall. The Hall is located along G Street.

Rob Coles, who portrays this father of our nation, is much more than just an actor. He is in fact the great-great-great-great-great grandson of the real Thomas Jefferson and shares some extraordinary similarities with his famous grandfather.

Coles, a resident of Charlottesville, Va., was born almost exactly 200 years after the birth of Jefferson and within a few miles of Jefferson's famous home, Monticello. Both were reared on sprawling Virginia farms where they both became expert outdoorsmen. Books and reading became the passion for each.

To make their physical resemblance almost haunting, Coles also has Jefferson's profile, flaming red hair, and freckles, plus he is the same six feet, two inches tall.

"Meet Thomas Jefferson" is the name of Coles' performance, which is billed as a performance that "brings to life our most interesting founding father" and offers an opportunity to "learn about the Declaration of Independence from the man who wrote it."

Coles has made television appearances on To Tell the Truth, Goodson-Todman Productions; Front Page Challenge, Canadian Broadcasting Corporation; Morning Exchange, WEWS, Cleveland; and on news specials on WTTG, Washington, and WKBS, Philadelphia. Articles about him have appeared in National Geographic, Town & Country, the New York Times, Richmond Times-Dispatch, Pravda, and the Baltimore Sun.

Tickets for Jefferson's performance may be purchased at Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy, The Republican Newspaper Office, or at the door. Prices are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12.

Ivan Miller To Speak At Park Celebration

Ivan Miller, the owner of The Casselman Inn, Grantsville, and expert on the history of the Mennonite and Amish societies, will be among the featured speakers on Saturday, July 13, during Mountain Lake Park Days. He will present his program free of charge to the public at 3 p.m. in the Mountain Lake Park Assembly Hall auditorium, located along G Street.

Miller was born in Garrett County and has spent his entire life here, with the exception of a few years' residency in Pennsylvania. He is an ordained minister and bishop of the Mennonite Church and recently wrote a church history for the Conservative Mennonite Conference. He was instrumental in the creation of the Amish and Mennonite Historical Society for the local conference. He preaches on a regular basis at his church, the Maple Glen Mennonite Church, near Grantsville.

According to a member of his family, Mr. Miller has been a history buff all his life and has spoken about the Mennonite and Amish communities on numerous occasions.

Magical Mime Offers Unique Form Of Entertainment

by Beverly J. Sincell

When the curtain opens on the Magical Mime Company's show at 8 p.m. July 12 in the Southern High School cafetorium, the audience will not see a rabbit-out-of-a-hat trick, nor the creation of an imaginary wall.

They will see a unique form of drama in which a story is told as the three members in the company portray numerous characters and use the arts of illusion and mime in a 70-minute nonstop performance.

The show, which is part of many activities offered during Mountain Lake Park Days next week, will be a magical-mime play, explains producer Ben Sincell. The play, entitled "It's About Time," takes the audience through a day in the life of three main characters, and 25 minor characters, and shows how they handle or approach time.

"The show is a clean, humorous and sensitive look at the world," Sincell stated. "I think everyone will see a little of themselves in this play."

"It is a quick-moving show," said company member Mary Ruth Sincell, who has worked in the company for about 10 years and is Ben's sister. Mary Ruth and Greg Carrico will portray nine characters while Ben will play 10 different characters.

The three performers will switch from character to character several times throughout the performance. The characters will say nothing, but the audience will know what they are thinking as unusual things occur. "No one is responsible for the magic that appears," Sincell noted. "It just happens, and the characters respond."

Mary Ruth added that the show appeals to people of all ages. "I think it will entertain everyone in a whole new way," she said.

The trio has worked together semi-professionally for over eight years and became known throughout this area for a more traditional type of illusion show. They first worked under the name of "A Night Of Magic," but, last year they changed their name and their style of performance.

"The tuxedoes have been put away," said Carrico. "The rabbit has been returned to the meadow."

The company hopes to launch a full-time performing career with this show and are contacting theatre agents to view it.

Philip Arnoult, director of the Theatre Project in Baltimore, has notified the troupe of his intentions to attend. Arnoult, who specializes in promoting new entertainers, saw the group when it performed at the International Mime and Clown Festival held in July 1984 at Elkins, W. Va.

Arnoult said he was impressed with the group. "Here you have been in my backyard all this time," he told them, "and I did not know about you."

The group was one of 15 which performed in Elkins in the showcases designed to introduce new talent. It had been one of three handpicked for the showcases by Robert Shields of Shields & Yarnell.

In discussing that experience, Ben said the company received a lot of encouragement from peers. "From the positive feedback we received," Ben noted, "We said to ourselves, Hey, we've got something good, let's go with it."

The group members do not anticipate becoming wealthy in their venture, but Greg Carrico pointed out the money is not the allure of entertaining. His feelings about performing are best captured in a quote he once heard. "First, you make them laugh, then make them cry, but most importantly, make them feel good about themselves."

None of the company members are new arrivals to the entertainment field.

Ben has been an entertainer for over 17 years, producing his "A Night of Magic" for 15 years prior to forming in the current company. He holds a bachelor's degree in theatre arts from West Virginia Wesleyan College and has had additional training in mime, jazz dance, modern dance and ballet. He has taught speech and theatre at Garrett Community College for the past five years.

Mary Ruth worked in "A Night of Magic" for approximately 10 years and helped to form the new company. She is a recent graduate of West Virginia University where she obtained a bachelor's of fine arts degree in theatre. During her senior year, a play she authored, "Red, Red Blood of the Heart," was performed in a theatre workshop at the college. She has also been involved in several WVU and local theatre performances and has additional training in ballet and modern dance.

Greg Carrico has worked with Ben for over eight years. He has been a member of several theatrical groups, both as actor and as a technician. In addition to being an accomplished juggler, he has had training in mime, jazz dance and ballet.

Helping the company with the show will be stage technicians Dawn Humberson and Dave Cottrell, both students at Garrett Community College who have worked with Ben in theatre productions there.

Tickets are now on sale for the performance at Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy and will be on sale at the door prior to the performance. Ticket prices are $3 for adults and $1 for children under 12.

IT'S ABOUT TIME!, a magical mime play, will be presented by the Magical Mime Company on July 12 as part of the Mountain Lake Park Days events. The performance will begin at 8 p.m. in the Southern High School cafetorium. The company members promise entertainment to all as they portray numerous heartwarming characters who share a clean, humorous, and sensitive look at the world. Above, troupe members Ben Sincell, left, and Greg Carrico react to a timely realization. Below, Mary Ruth Sincell, left, and Ben Sincell laugh over a small toy.

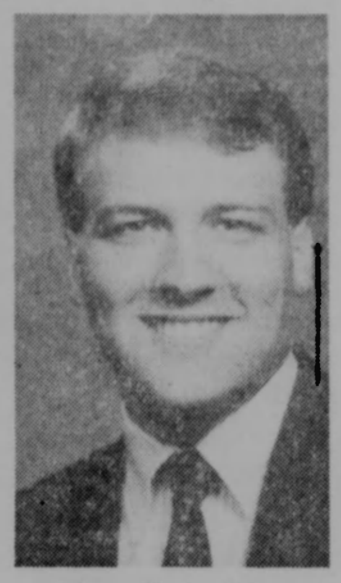
Hazlett, Elliott Begin Internships



The offices of Sullivan and Sullivan, P.A. have announced the addition of Susan Hazlett and Jack Elliott as law clerks to the firm for the summer of 1985.

Miss Hazlett is the daughter of Judith Hazlett and Robert Hazlett Jr., both of Wheeling, W. Va. She is participating in an internship program provided by the University of Baltimore School of Law, where she will be a second year student.

As an intern, Susan will earn classroom credit for practical experience. She is a 1983 graduate of West Virginia University and resides at Deep Creek Lake. She is also employed at the Silver Tree Inn Restaurant, and is a member of Sigma Delta Kappa Legal Fraternity.

Mr. Elliott is a second-year student at the University of Maryland School of Law. He is a member of the International Law Society and the Moot Court Competition, and is a Student Advisor for the incoming first year class.

A 1984 graduate of Frostburg State College, he is the son of Lois Elliott and the late John Elliott. He resides in Frostburg.

Both students are assigned tasks in legal research and writing. In addition, they will be exposed to the practical aspects of the practice of law such as client interviewing, trial preparation, court procedures, and trials. Both assisted Paul Sullivan on June 11 in a successful worker's compensation jury trial in Garrett County.

Sullivan and Sullivan, P.A. is one of the few local firms to offer both intern and clerking opportunities for the law students. The firm has been actively involved with the student programs at law schools and both local colleges for several years and one former intern, Lee A. Caplan, is now an associate attorney with the Cumberland firm.

Nautical Safety Seminar Slated At Yacht Club

Sailboat capsizing and recovery, as well as small group demonstrations of CPR techniques, will be among the safety topics to be aired Saturday, July 13, at 2:30 p.m. at the Turkey Neck Yacht Club during a special Safety Seminar, the Deep Creek Lake Sailing and Yacht Associations are co-sponsoring.

Sailors at the yacht club are eliminating a regular second Saturday race in order to offer the program to sailors and other interested sports and recreation enthusiasts.

According to Audrey MacMillan, Commodore of the Deep Creek Lake Sailing Association at Turkey Neck, the afternoon safety program, beginning about 2:30 p.m., will cover water demonstrations of capsizing a sailboat with a review of correct procedure for rescue, sailor's responsibility and power boat skipper's responsibility. CPR techniques, the use of oxygen equipment and information on how to contact local rescue squads will also be discussed.

Maryland's Department of Natural Resources is also expected to review current lake and boating regulations, particularly those pertaining to safety equipment required of both sail and power boats on Deep Creek Lake.

There is no charge for the seminar, however, those persons who wish to purchase lunch at the Turkey Neck Yacht Club prior to the event, are asked to notify the club one week in advance at 387-9809.

Summerfest

and etching; from candle-dipping and vegetable dyeing to pottery-throwing and coopering; from cross-stitch and smocking to wood-burning and basket-making. Appalachian folksongs will be sung by traditional singers to the accompaniment of rebec and dulcimer. Some of the craftsmen and artisans have won world prizes with their workmanship, and the singers have won wide acclaim.

The Annual Penn Alps Quilt Show to be held in Grantsville Fire Hall is a natural accompaniment to the Summerfest, featuring, as it does, one of the most valued traditional crafts of our mountain area. Upwards of 150 quilts are likely to be on display this year. Quilts and quilted items will be judged in 14 categories by a competent team of judges. This year's show will feature a contest of crazy quilt blocks and antique quilts, which have become very popular, will also be featured. The Schoolhouse Quilters Guild is carrying major responsibility for the Quilt Show, as in previous years.

The Summerfest and Quilt Show are a means of preserving the finest traditions of area artisans and an inspiration to new and fresh approaches to arts and crafts. They are also a means of carrying out Penn Alps' motto "to help people help themselves" through creative efforts. Both the Summerfest and Quilt Show are funded in part by the Maryland Arts Council and Garrett County Arts Council.

An open-air veal roast will be featured Saturday afternoon. This can be enjoyed at tables scattered through the spruce grove.

Renovation And Summer Projects Topics Of Accident Town Meeting

The July meeting of the Accident Mayor and Town Council focused on the renovation of the old elementary school and town buildings, development of a ballfield, grass control, street repairs, and summer employment.

Old Elementary School Renovation

The council received information through the County Community Action agency that the Grants Review Committee of the Maryland Office on Aging has approved funding from the Elderly Citizens Activities Center Improvement Loan Program. A grant in the amount of $170,900 has been recommended for approval by the State's Board of Public Works to renovate the former gymnasium area into a senior citizen center.

In connection with the renovation project, the council reviewed a request from Community Action for the town to provide snow removal from the parking lots around the old school complex. This will include the present parking lot in back of the old school building on South Street and two additional lots to be constructed on the north side of the old school building and another on the north side of the former kindergarten building. The council agreed to provide the snow removal since all of these parking lots will be open for public parking, including fire department activities.

Renovation of Town Building

The bricking of the exterior of the town building has been completed. During Monday night's meeting, the council approved the purchase of two new garage doors to replace the old ones. The town will also engage Melvin Callis of Loch Lynn to construct signs to designate the Town Hall entrance and a larger sign for mounting on the north side of the structure identifying the Accident Municipal Building.

Development of Ballfield

During the past month the town has been working with officials of the Central Garrett Little League to begin development of the baseball and softball field on the former Accident elementary school playground. Many individuals and organizations have donated the use of heavy equipment and volunteered their labor to grade, drain, and seed the playing field.

Grass Control and Street Repairs

A used tractor and mower were recently purchased for use in controlling grass on the larger land areas acquired by the Town for recreational purposes. The council has contracted with Raymond Coddington, a resident of the town, to mow the two town parks and the pond area.

Mr. Coddington has also agreed to supervise the patching and repairs to the town streets with assistance from town employees. He anticipates completing the street repair work during the month of July.

Summer Employment

Through the Garrett County Board of Education's Summer Youth Employment Program, Jimmy Soult was placed in Accident to work under the supervision of Vaughn Sweitzer, the town's full-time employee. A request for an additional two or three employees has been made to the board of education but to date the town is awaiting candidates to interview. Various projects have been identified by the mayor, town councilmen, and town employee for completion this summer. Some include landscaping around all town buildings, painting the interior and exterior of the water pumping stations, cleaning ditches and storm drains, repairing and painting playground equipment, and refurbishing the outdoor basketball court.

Re-appointment of Town Clerk

The four members of the town council, Hobert Bowser, Richard Carlson, James Smith and Charles Strauss, presented a signed petition to Mayor Wayne Fratz requesting the re-appointment of Marjorie Fratz to the position of Clerk-Treasurer for another year. Mrs. Fratz has served as the Town Clerk since 1981.

Property Taxes

The clerk reported that all real estate tax bills were mailed on July 1 for the tax year 1985-86 to property owners within the corporate limits. Tax bills for personal property will be prepared and mailed as soon as the information is available from the state assessment office. The property tax rate for this year is $.53.

Town Employee Uniforms

The town will be contracting with Mountain State Linen Service of Cumberland to provide rental uniforms for the town's one full-time employee.

Presbyterian Vesper Service Rescheduled

The Presbyterian Vesper Service which was to be held Saturday evening at the home of Mary Love in Mtn. Lake Park, has been rescheduled to be held at 7 p.m. Saturday, July 6, at the Mt. Top Seventh-Day Adventist Church, located on the west side of Route 219, five miles south of the Deep Creek Lake bridge.

The service will be conducted by Rev. Donna Shogren, pastor of the Terra Alta, W.Va., Presbyterian Church (USA). For more information, Rev. Shogren may be reached at (304) 789-6987. Locally, the Parracks will answer questions at 334-9514.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of "Dutch" Wolfe, who passed away one year ago, July 1, 1984.

We realized God wanted only the best when your body was laid to rest.

A loving touch, a sweet kind word, you'll never know how much you're missed.

With each oncoming day, it seemed unfair that anyone who gave so much and asked so little would have to leave the ones who loved him so.

But we know the pain you suffered so quietly is over for good.

Although you had to leave us and it hurts more each day, it would be unfair of us to wish you back from your heavenly home where we'll all meet again some day.

Extended Coverage
By ROB MICHAEL Agent

As soon as you buy a home, the first thing you have to do is insure it. In fact, you may have to insure it before you can buy it. Most lenders insist on coverage at closing.
Your insurer needs certain information: the name of the policy holder, as it appears on the deed, and the complete address and legal description of the property.
Other questions: Is the property inside or outside the city limits or fire district? How far is the nearest fire hydrant? Fire department?
How old is the house? What kind of construction? How big is the house? How many rooms? Is there an alarm system on the premises? Type? Manufacturer? U.L. approved?
Your insurer will also want to know the replacement and market value of the dwelling, the amount of the loan, the name and address of the lender—even the loan number.
We'll walk you through all the steps of getting the right insurance for your new home. You can depend on us at

Real Estate

CAPITAL GAINS TIME CHANGE

The latest tax law (1984 Tax Reform Act) changed the time period for holding property for the purpose of capital gains to six months—a reduction from the previous one-year holding period. In general, this is not such a vital change to real estate investors because the average investors hold their properties for about seven years. However, there are a few instances where this lowered time frame could be significant.

If you are a wizard at spotting good turn-around situations, you could turn your profit over twice as fast as before. Say you bought a property that was poorly managed and needing repairs and upgrading. If you made the quick improvements and upgraded the rental management, you could now resell the property in only six months (half the previous time period) to obtain capital gains treatment for your profits. The maximum rate on capital gains is only 20% and probably less for most people.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices.

STORING AND HANDLING FISH: Here are some tips on storing and handling fresh and frozen seafoods.

Storing Fresh Seafoods:

- •Cover dressed fish, fillets or steaks loosely with foil or plastic wrap.
- •Store wrapped product in refrigerator. Cook within 2 days.

Storing Frozen Seafoods:

- •Keep frozen seafoods frozen in original wrapper.
- •Best storage temperature: 0° F.
- •Use immediately after defrosting.
- •Do not defrost and refreeze.

Storing Cooked Seafoods:

- •Place fish in a covered container or wrap in foil. Store no longer than 3 days in the refrigerator; no longer than 3 months in the freezer.

Thawing Frozen Seafoods:

- •Thaw fish in the refrigerator, allowing 24 hours for a 1 pound package.
- •Do not thaw at room temperature. If thawing process must be speeded up, immerse fish (wrapped in a waterproof package) in cold water or under cold running water.
- •Fillets or steaks may be broiled or sauteed without thawing if they are not to be breaded or battered.
- •Frozen prebreaded fish fillets or portions should not be thawed. Follow package directions for deep frying or oven finishing.

Length of Cooking Time:

- •Measure fish fillet or steak at the thickest part.
- •Allow 10 minutes of cooking time per inch of thickness.
- •Double cooking time for frozen products.
- •Add an extra 5 minutes for fish cooking in foil or sauce.
- •Test for doneness. Fish should flake easily when tested with a fork.

Here's a fish recipe you will enjoy trying:

SPANISH-STYLE FISH

2 pounds fresh or frozen fish steaks or fillets
2 medium tomatoes, peeled and sliced
½ small cucumber or zucchini squash, sliced
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons snipped parsley
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon marjoram, crushed

Thaw fish if frozen. In an electric skillet, cook tomatoes, garlic, onion and green pepper until onion is tender. Stir in cucumber or zucchini, lemon juice and marjoram. Move vegetables to side; arrange fish in skillet and spoon vegetables over fish. Cover and cook (moderate heat) about 15 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Makes 6 servings.

Ninth Graders

Kenneth Bittinger, director of vocational education. Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, county school superintendent, made the proposal after Francis Harris, director of Chapter I, resigned this year.

"I don't see how one person can do two full-time jobs well," said Werdebaugh who pointed out Bittinger would have to divide his time between the two programs.

Phyllis Trickett, a member of the council, also spoke against the proposal, saying, "We hope you will seriously consider keeping the full-time vocational education supervisor. Don't hurt the vocational education program in our county, because you will if you approve this proposal."

Werdebaugh pointed out that 70 percent of high school students in the county are enrolled in at least one vocational education course and said, "We need a full-time supervisor for vocational education."

Les McDaniel, representing the Garrett County Association of Educational Support Personnel, told the board that the Chapter I aides are against the proposal, also. "Every year we have seen cutbacks in this program, and historically we don't get our money back. We need a full-time person to work for renewal of funding for the program."

Dr. Ryscavage explained his reasons for the proposal noting that because of the cutbacks in the program, the amount of work involved in administering it had decreased. He added that in terms of the overall budget and in anticipation of not receiving the full amount of money requested from the county commissioners, he saw this proposal as a way to cut costs by not having to pay for two administrators.

The school board tabled a decision on the proposal and requested Ryscavage present more options on how to provide administration of the Chapter I program.

Dr. Ryscavage reported to the school board that state officials are considering changes in the priority ranking for schools in the state school construction program which could place other schools ahead of Southern High School in the allotment of funds.

State officials deferred a request this year for funds to begin renovation plans for Southern High School.

The school board directed Dr. Ryscavage to write a letter to state school officials suggesting they wait to make changes in the program until after a state committee, appointed by the governor to study public school construction funding, has presented its report.

Dr. Charleen Evans-Thomas told the school board that there have been changes in the Extended Elementary Education program which will mean the program, which will no longer be called the EEEP, will not serve the same number of students it has in the past.

Dr. Evans-Thomas said the two four-year-old programs—one at Red House and one in Friendsville—will continue and that those students in kindergarten and first grade who were in the program will also receive services, but other students previously served in grades 2-5 will no longer be eligible for the program.

The program administrator's position will also be reduced to a part-time position, Evans-Thomas noted.

The school board accepted the resignation of Janet Boggess, vocational agriculture teacher at Southern High School, who has reported plans to move to Montana with her family. Others submitting resignations were Robert Crowe, an aide at Southern High School; Betty Evans, cafeteria manager at Loch Lynn Elementary School; and Charlie Teets, a teacher at Crellin Elementary School who plans to enroll in a full-time educational program.

Treatment Plant

France, the next step will be to send the redesign to the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene for review by the state and the EPA. The project then goes out for bid, and construction begins, hopefully by next spring.

The project funding is divided with the EPA paying 75 percent, the state paying 12 and one-half percent, and the other 12 and one-half percent being the local share. The town plans to pay the local share by using funds (interim sewer user fees) that have built up over the past two years. Oakland residents have been paying a 50-percent surcharge (or interim sewer user fee) on their quarterly water bill, based on each 1,000 gallons of water used. Boal explained that these fees have acted as a pre-payment, and collecting in advance has held costs down and has saved the town large sums of interest.

In addition, a large state loan toward financing the local share is available, plus an approved line of credit from local banks.

France explained that there are two means of sewage treatment; mechanical, and the lagoon system. The lagoon system was chosen for two reasons. First, although it is land intensive, the space is available and the operation and maintenance is very low compared to mechanical treatment. Second, the process is very reliable. An aerated lagoon exposes waste to the circulation of air, which consumes or actually burns up the biological load and produces nitrogen gas and carbon dioxide, which are released harmlessly into the air.

The lagoon system uses no chemicals, although it does consume some power. The equipment will run on a timed schedule with the operator determining if full power is necessary or not.

Another advantage and savings to the town stems from the fact that the town's collector system will not have to be completely replaced to filter out rain water. Rain water causes additional sewage, and with a mechanical system this causes problems; but on an average, a lagoon system holds water for 30 days balancing out peaks of high water and low water, causing no problem at all and saving a great deal of money for town citizens.

One requirement for a discharge permit is for the design to have a nitrification system, a process in which ammonia present from the decomposition of protein matter is oxidized by bacteria to form nitrites. To meet this requirement, France has designed a nitrification system that will qualify for Innovative Alternative Program funds from the EPA with no local charge to the town.

To qualify, the design had to demonstrate that it will be cost effective and save money, and it must be something that has never been done before, supplying a "window of risk". To add to the "window of risk" requirement, some people including one state official believe that France's design will not work, however, some federal officials think that it will be successful.

France himself says, "I'm as sure as I can be that it will work." He explains that the procedure, to be used in the fourth lagoon, will meet the requirements for Innovative Alternative Program money, and that Oakland will meet discharge requirements without additional expensive equipment. As insurance the EPA will guarantee to replace the system, 100 percent, if the design doesn't work.

The state generally takes five to eight months to review a plan, and the council hopes that they will review it very quickly so that the project can be put out to bid by next spring. "This treatment plant will open the town to redevelopment again after years of moratorium," said Boal. "We can see the light at the end of a long tunnel."

Thayer Hears Juvenile Cases

Garrett County Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer held hearings for three juveniles in court proceedings June 26.

A 15-year-old female from Friendsville was placed on supervised probation with the Juvenile Services Administration. She was found to be a child in need of supervision in juvenile court on April 24 because she had been illegally absent from Northern High School for 28 days.

The judge added two conditions to her probation which were that she attend school and participate in counseling through the Garrett County Health Department.

A 17-year-old male who was a resident of the Savage Mountain Youth Center was found to be delinquent for a June 11 assault and battery of another ward at the camp. The youth was committed to the Maryland Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene and was to be placed in the Maryland Training School for Boys, Baltimore.

A 16-year-old female, Deer Park, was committed to the Juvenile Services Administration for placement in the Allegany County Group Home, Cumberland, after the judge found her to be in need of supervision. The youth was charged with being disobedient and ungovernable and with running away from home.

Lawsuit Filed Against Revco

A Mountain Lake Park woman has filed suit in Garrett County Circuit Court against Revco Discount Drug Centers, Inc., for negligence in issuing a prescription drug to her.

In her suit, Virginia M. Pfeil claims that a Revco pharmacist, in the store located in the Mid-Towns Plaza, made a mistake in the directions on the drug container label by instructing her to take a drug once every two hours rather than once every 12 hours as prescribed by her physician. She claims $500,000 in damages.

Pfeil notes in her suit that on February 27 she had been discharged from Garrett County Memorial Hospital after undergoing surgery and had been given a prescription for minocin.

The effects of taking the drug too often included disorientation, dizziness, extreme headaches and loss of her ability to control her movements, Pfeil claimed.

She had to be readmitted to the hospital for analysis as to the extent of damage on March 2.

Pfeil, in her suit, says she still experiences dizziness and headaches as a result of the mistake.

The case was filed in court by Pfeil's attorney, Robert Watson, Oakland.

Now's the time to begin a home video library

By Marc Minnelli

Maurice Chevalier may have thanked heaven for little girls, but movie mavens can thank MGM/UA Home Video for reducing prices on 10 classic musicals. Until Aug. 31, film buffs who plop down $29.95 can pick up videos of Hollywood's finest fare. It's a great way to begin a home video library.

There's "On the Town," the Gene Kelly-Frank Sinatra flick, which boasts an infectious Betty Comden-Adolph Green-Leonard Bernstein score; "Gigi," Vincente Minnelli's turn-of-the-century French homage which copped a 1958 Oscar for Best Picture; "Till the Clouds Roll By," the star-studded biography of songwriter Jerome Kern; "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," in which Debbie Reynolds plays a backwards bumpkin; and "Singing in the Rain," a Hollywood takeoff that ranks as one of the best musicals ever made.

Then there's "The Band Wagon," the sophisticated backstage musical, featuring Fred Astaire's brilliant Mickey Spillane spoof; "Bells Are Ringing," the delicious ditty that marks the last film appearance of Judy Holliday; "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," Stanley Donen's rowdy, rollicking romp, featuring Michael Kidd's stupendous dance numbers; "Royal Wedding," worth the money if only to see Fred Astaire dance on the ceiling, and "High Society," a frothy remake of "The Philadelphia Story" and the movie that marked Grace Kelly's farewell film performance.

Gene Kelly

If concerts and Broadway fare are more to your liking, check out the five titles RKO Home Video has reduced: "Lena Horne: The Lady and Her Music," a permanent record of the singer's sizzling Broadway show; "Sweeney Todd," the merry but macabre musical, in which Angela Lansbury re-creates her Tony-winning Broadway role; "Hepburn and Tracy," a look at the illustrious careers of Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn; and "Judy Garland in Concert, Vols. I and II," a celebration of the legendary singer's 1964 CBS-TV show. All videos are $29.95.

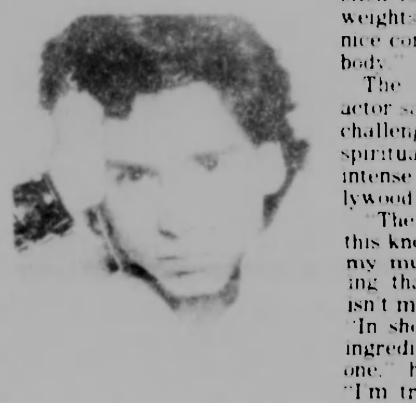
Yoga keeps Monoson on path to inner self

By Renee Ross

In "Mask," the critically acclaimed film starring Cher and Eric Stoltz, Lawrence Monoson plays the young son of a biker. Off camera, however, Monoson has chosen a less gritty, loftier lifestyle.



Lawrence Monoson

"I do a lot of yoga," says the 20-year-old actor. "I combine meditation with breathing and stretching exercises. I've looked into other spiritual practices, but yoga feels right for me.

"Yoga enters my body through my heart," adds Monoson, who's also appeared in such films as "The Last American Virgin" and "Friday the 13th — The Final Chapter."

"It automatically changes the way I feel. It also automatically changes the way I think. Before I started yoga," he says, "I was going to aerobics classes and lifting weights almost every day. I basically loved it, but too much obsession for exercise can come out of self-rejection. The attitude of 'I've got to keep going, I've got to get pure,' is too extreme. So now I stick to yoga classes and lift weights every other day. It's a nice combination of mind and body."

The 5-foot-9, 140-pound actor says he's now facing the challenge of balancing his spiritual studies with the intense materialism that Hollywood offers.

"The hardest thing is taking this knowledge, putting it into my mundane life and realizing that the everyday world isn't mundane at all," he says. "In show biz, ego is a prime ingredient — and I have a big one," he adds with a laugh. "I'm trying to get rid of my ego and deal with who I really am."

Following a path of personal growth doesn't mean he's turned to a diet of bean sprouts. "I'm not a guru sitting in a cave in India," the actor says. "I don't believe in strict macrobiotic vegetarian diets. Before I start work on a film I decide that I'm going to eat well — things like fruits, vegetables, brown rice — that way I'm not tempted when I walk on a set and see 400 donuts and 1,000 croissants."

Monoson takes his search for inner self seriously. "I've found that my spiritual growth and my career have evolved together," he says. "I'm excited that the more I learn, the more I'll be able to share with others."

Life's problems are in Judge Wapner's 'Court'

By Marta Tarbell

Judge Joseph A. Wapner takes the law seriously.

"On 'People's Court,' my aim is to demystify the court procedure," says the 65-year-old, 20-year California Superior Court veteran. "That's why I explain the law in language the layman can understand. My function is to entertain as well as educate the audience."

A point of pride for this lawyer's son, whose two adult sons are also lawyers, is the fact that his peers tune in to watch him hand down his twice-a-day verdicts. Attending a Harvard Law School forum recently, Judge Wapner was delighted when students admitted they watched "People's Court" regularly.

With his silver hair, comforting green eyes and judicious demeanor, first-time viewers might mistake Judge Wapner for an actor. But while he is Hollywood born and bred (he attended Hollywood High and briefly dated Lana Turner) and has a tinge of show biz in his background (his father was a lawyer on the TV classic "Divorce Court"), the judge — or Joe, as he asks his friends to call him — grew up wanting to be a lawyer.

"Except," he remembers ruefully, "for a brief period in high school when I wanted to be an actor. Then my drama teacher finally told me I didn't have any talent."

But he did have talent in the legal arena. In October 1945, the day after his military discharge, Judge Wapner enrolled in law school at the University of Southern California. After graduation, he practiced as an attorney for 10 years. Then he took up the gavel.

Judge Joseph Wapner

Today Judge Wapner, who retired at 60, presides over cases with names that could have been dreamed up by Erle Stanley Gardner — "This Little Piggy Went to Market," "The Case of the Red-Hot Caper," and "The Case of the Cow that Got Creamed." And regardless of the judge's decision, everyone is a winner just for appearing on the show: both the defendant and plaintiff are awarded $250.

Does he miss the days of loftier legal pursuits? "Not at all," Judge Wapner says, almost indignant at the suggestion. "On 'People's Court,' we deal with the very basics — landlord-tenant relationships, auto accidents, problems with the dry cleaner. It's the stuff of life."

WEDNESDAY

John Savage gives a memorable performance as an American who sustains 18 years of Soviet torture in "Coming Out of the Ice," airing Wednesday, July 10 on CBS. (Rebroadcast)

Inga Swenson enjoys a TV miracle — 'Benson'

By Gillian George

What would you do if, after having a successful Broadway career, you suddenly found your talents unwanted in a world that had suddenly gone youth-crazy?

Very few people would have the courage to do what "Benson" co-star Inga Swenson did. She moved to Hollywood and worked as an apartment manager while waiting to be rediscovered.

It worked. Ever since 1979, Miss Swenson has been playing German housekeeper Gretchen Kraus on the ABC series "Benson." Miss Swenson's off-screen resemblance to "my Nazi storm trooper of a character" is slight, but her soft face becomes just as determined as Miss Kraus's countenance when she describes the ordeal she went through in the early '70s.

"Every time I get fed up with my killer work schedule now," she says, "I simply say to myself, 'Wait a second, remember what it used to be like!' Getting 'Benson' was just like a miracle."

Indeed, Miss Swenson's riches-to-rags story is almost as dramatic as any of the numerous plays in which she has appeared. She met her husband, Lowell Harris, while she was in college. Upon graduation, the couple moved to New York. Harris soon landed a Broadway show, but within a few weeks he was drafted into the Army. His wife and children were forced to live on an allotment from which only $8 was left after paying the rent.

Inga Swenson

Things looked up, however, when Miss Swenson made her Broadway debut in "New Faces of 1956." She became a star in another show, "110 in the Shade." When Harris returned from the Army, he also began to work steadily, and for a decade, the family prospered.

Then, with the success of youth-oriented plays such as "Hair" and "Grease," Miss Swenson found that "rock singers were in, and there was no work for singers like Julie Andrews, Florence Henderson and me."

In 1974, Miss Swenson and her family moved to Los Angeles. It took nearly two years before her career got back in working order. Roles in the the miniseries "Testimony of Two Men" and "Soap" led to "Benson."

"We've been up and down so often that Lowell and I suffer from emotional vertigo," she says. "But things are just great now and we're enjoying life to the fullest."

SOAP OPERA WEEK

'GL' star is not related to 'Wizard of Oz' actor

By Kimberly Redmond

I see a resemblance between John Bolger, the actor who plays Phillip Spaulding on "The Guiding Light," and veteran actor Ray Bolger. Are they related? — L.B., Jamestown, N.Y.

Ray Bolger

No. John Bolger is not related to Ray Bolger, who is best known for his role as the scarecrow in the 1939 film classic "The Wizard of Oz."

I'm a little fuzzy about Laura Webber's parentage. I say Rick and Lesley Webber were Laura's real parents, but my brother disagrees. He insists Laura was adopted. — J.M., Fall River, Mass.

Your brother is half right when it comes to "General Hospital." Laura is the natural daughter of Lesley, who thought the illegitimate baby had died at birth. Actually, Laura had been given to Barbara and Jason Vining by Lesley's father, who switched the Vining's dead baby for Laura. Years later, after Rick Webber married Lesley, he adopted Laura, who had been raised by the Vinings.

Will you answer a question about a nighttime soap? My husband and I try to watch "Dynasty" as often as possible, but we missed several episodes and are wondering what you can tell us about Adam Carrington. Is he Alexis's son by a former marriage? — P.L., Chase, British Columbia.

Adam is Alexis and Blake's firstborn son. He was kidnapped as an infant, and raised by the woman who had abducted him. On her deathbed, the woman confessed to her "son" that he was Adam Carrington. Adam's birthright was proven when the woman produced a silver rattle that bore his initials. The rattle had been with Adam when he was kidnapped.

John Bolger

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

Is Elena Verdugo, the actress who played Consuelo Lopez on "Marcus Welby, M.D.," the same actress who originated the role of Penny Hughes Wade on the CBS soap "As the World Turns"? — A.F., Oshkosh, Wis.

Elena Verdugo

No, Miss Verdugo never played Penny. The role was created by Rosemary Prinz, who was succeeded by Phoebe Dorin. For your information, many top talents were seen on "World," including James Earl Jones, Martin Sheen, Swoosie Kurtz and Mark Rydell, who gave up acting for directing. Rydell's last film was "The River."

Please give me information on "Cinderella," the TV special that starred Lesley Ann Warren. Who played Prince Charming? When did the show air? — P.H., New Haven, Ky.

"Cinderella," with music and lyrics by Rodgers and Hammerstein, first aired in 1965. Prince Charming was portrayed by "General Hospital" star Stuart Damon.

Val, I need your expert advice. I am 12 years old and want to be an actress. I take drama lessons whenever I can, and practice every day after school. Can you suggest anything else? I want to be good — like my idol, Sharon Gless. — G.S., Sarasota, Fla.

You're doing the right thing by taking classes and studying whenever possible. Check into local theater companies and see if you can become an apprentice. Learning the craft is important, and the theater is a great place to start. When you feel ready, get an agent, prepare a resume, have photos taken and connect local talent agencies. See you in Hollywood!

Lesley Ann Warren

Standards Change For Assistance On Drug Prescriptions

A change in income standards as of June 28, 1985 will enable more residents of the state to become eligible for financial assistance in obtaining prescription drugs, according to the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

John W. Baker, Manager of the Maryland Pharmacy Assistance Program, says that gross annual income standards have increased for both individuals and families, therefore making more people eligible for aid.

According to Baker, if an individual's gross annual income is $5,600 or less and he is not receiving Medical Assistance (Medicaid), that person may be eligible to obtain prescription drugs at a cost of one dollar, with the state paying the remaining costs. Certain other covered items are also included.

For each additional eligible person in the family, the income limit increases by approximately $200, Mr. Baker added.

The Maryland Pharmacy Assistance Program was established in 1979 to provide assistance to those persons who have an annual gross income higher than that which would make them eligible for Medicaid, but who are in financial need for the purchase of prescription drugs.

Approximately 13,000 Marylanders are currently receiving support from the Pharmacy Assistance Program.

"It is our experience that prescription drugs are an important part of early prevention in the avoidance of health problems that could occur at a later date, and which require more costly and complicated therapy," said Dr. Eric Fine, Director of the Preventive Medicine Administration. "This program is an encouragement to avoid health problems and disease, and is, additionally, cost effective."

For more information or an application form, eligible individuals may call toll-free, 1-800-492-1974. Correspondene may be addressed to the Maryland Pharmacy Assistance Program, Post Office Box 386, Baltimore, MD 21203.

THE DO-IT-YOURSELF WILL

There is one famous dictum of the legal profession with which almost everyone is familiar: The man who defends himself has a fool for a lawyer and a fool for a client. In this light, it is curious that there are lawyers out there writing books about how you can take care of your own legal affairs.

Don't bet on it, particularly when it comes to drawing up your own will. Expert legal opinion insists that relying on these books is dangerous and causes more problems than are solved. These people see the botched-up cases everyday.

Sure, you might be able to save a hundred, or even a few hundred dollars—depending on the type of will—by drawing it up yourself, but you might be jeopardizing your whole estate. Also keep in mind that the ones who suffer are your heirs, the innocents who were not in any way responsible for your blunder. So do yourself and them a favor: have a lawyer draw up your will.

Planned Program To Benefit Needy Children Of W.Va.

"Singing for Their Support," a program that will benefit the needy children of West Virginia, has been planned by Bette L. May, program organizer. The nonprofit organization, "We'll Sing for Their Supper" is the program sponsor and has received support from the West Virginia Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, American Federation of Musicians, Local 562, the United Mine Workers of America, Sundale Nursing Home, Sweet Song Productions, Fraternal Order of Police, Local 87, and A. James Manchin, West Virginia Treasurer.

Funds for the children will be generated by the ticket sales receipts and by the sales from a record in addition to any donations. Seven cities and towns around the state, including Kingwood on July 24, will be hosting eight concerts during the month of July. Illusion, Steal The Dark, The Bobby Nicholas Band, and Arts and The Country Image, along with special guest performers from the local areas, have donated their time and talents toward this venture. Monies for musicians' travel, auditoriumns, and concert labor costs have also been donated in order to turn all concert proceeds over to the children's fund.

Friend Family Assoc. To Open Summer Festival

The official opening of the national headquarters, library, museum, and Friendship Store of the Friend Family Association of America at 11 a.m. on Saturday, August 3, will be the kick off of the Friendsville Summer Festival V.

National officers planning to be in Friendsville for the dedication include President Byron Friend, Illinois; First Vice President L. Carlos Friend, Indiana; Second Vice President Clarence Brown, Virginia; Treasurer Leonard Morrison, Georgia; Secretary Irene Kangas, California; Chaplain Benjamin Friend, Indiana; Immediate Past President Wendell Friend, Ohio; Immediate Past Treasurer Robert Kull, Michigan; and Association Printer Wilber Friend, California.

The festival parade will take place immediately following these ceremonies at noon. The theme of the 1985 Summer Festival is "Living History of the 1750's - 1770's" and will feature an encampment, enactment, and demonstrations by history buffs portraying various Revolutionary military units. This is made possible by a grant from the Maryland Arts Council and the Garrett County Arts Council.

Something new that has been added to the festivities this year is the Sunday, August 4, spiritual morning. This will feature gospel music and a Native American prayer meeting.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

COST OF LOVE
July 7, 1985

Background Scripture: Hosea 1 through 3.

Devotional Reading: Hosea 4:15 through 5:7.

"Go again, love a woman who is beloved of a paramour and is an adulteress" (Hosea 3:1). This was God's unequivocal command to Hosea. And what a difficult command it must have seemed to Hosea.

Put yourself in his place. Suppose God said something like that to you? Keep in mind that Hosea's wife, Gomer, has betrayed his love, broken their covenant, and subjected Hosea to much humiliation. His wife, whom he had rescued from harlotry in the first place and given her a decent home life, had left him and their children to go back to her deplorable life of promiscuous sex. She had degraded herself even more than when he first met her.

LOVE A WOMAN

Who among us would fail to sympathize with the prophet if he had protested that God was asking too much of him? It was too much when you view it from the perspective of the injury and pain she had caused him. She hadn't just gone home to be "with mother" for a little while. She had repaid his kindness with injury, his trust with treachery. He didn't owe her one remaining thing. She had willfully broken the relationship that lay between them.

Yet, regardless of how justified Hosea may have felt in despising this woman, nevertheless, he was more eager to satisfy God than his own wounded ego. God said, "Go again, love..." and Hosea did just that. He probably didn't feel very loving toward Gomer, but he didn't let that keep him from doing the loving thing that God commanded.

So, he ignored his pain, swallowed his pride, and sought out Gomer once again. In doing so, he paid a very high price, far more, of course, than the 15 shekels of silver and an homer and an half of barley he mentions in Hosea 3. Probably the biggest cost of obeying God was the cost to his pride and self-respect.

Gomer also had to pay a price. When she returned to Hosea, she could not expect that everything would be just as it had been before. Their relationship had been severely injured and it would take time and love to heal it once again.

THE WAY OF LOVE

That's the way it really is with love. Often, we must pay a terrific price for it. It costs us because love is very valuable. To be able to restore it without paying some price would demean it. It means we have to bear the cost of damaged egos and wounded pride. Forgiveness and reconciliation always come high.

That is what Hosea learned about the love of God for his people from the situation in his own domestic life. When he realized what God was asking of him, he also came to understand the basis of God's love for us. It is a love that seeks us, pays the price of our redemption and restores our relationships.

Love makes the world go 'round but it never comes cheaply.

What makes a patriot? How many of us today would be ready to turn out for service at a moment's notice like the "minute men" who fought at Lexington when the American Revolution began?

A national survey of high school and college students recently discovered that a majority of these young people denied that patriotism is vital and plays an important part in our lives.

What makes the difference? Why did young men nearly 200 years ago defend liberty while some of today's citizens deny that to love their country and guard its welfare is essential?

The Church was a more integral part of our forefather's lives. Today as yesterday, we have the same opportunity to learn of the love of God from our churches; here also we grow to respect home, freedom and country. Attend your church or synagogue regularly — and be sure to take your children with you.

A DANGEROUS TYPE OF COUNTERFEIT

We are not talking about phony bills and coins that are being illegally circulated but rather the potentially more explosive problem of counterfeit drugs. This is presently on the increase and it could lead to chaos marketing of new drugs as well as resulting inevitably in a serious public health hazard.

Counterfeit drugs are made illegally without any quality controls and under the poorest manufacturing conditions. The resulting drugs are substandard, more often than not without effective potency and subject to harmful contamination. A pharmacy only purchases their stocks of drugs from legal and licensed sources. You should also follow this practice.

FFA State Winner

Ken Michaels, Star Agribusinessman, An Honor For Garrett County

by Bernice Kepple

Ken Michaels is the newest State Star Agribusinessman, the highest honor a Future Farmer of America can achieve in Maryland. This honor is awarded to one FFA member each year at the Maryland State FFA Convention. To be eligible, Ken had to fill out and submit a detailed application listing his FFA activities along with information about several special requirements. Those requirements are: the FFA member must be employed by an agriculture-related business; the member must show a degree of growth during the time of employment; the member must have earned, or show a net worth of at least $500, as a result of that employment.

That application was first submitted at the Region I level. Region I includes FFA members from the Oakland Chapter, the North Garrett Chapter and the Flintstone Chapter, all in Western Maryland. Ken was named the Region I winner, which gave him the chance to compete on the state level.

Winning a state award in any area, sports, academics, FFA, or 4-H, is difficult for any Garrett County youth. The youth must be twice as qualified and still has only half a chance to win, simply because of where he or she lives. This is the result of being separated from the rest of the state, of being unknown, of being from a sparsely-populated region with a small amount of clout. That's why the awards mean so much when they are won; not only to the recipient but to the parents, the advisor, and anyone who has been involved with the youth's development.

Ken is the son of John and Kathryn Michaels, who live on Garrett Road, Loch Lynn, and they, along with a lot of other people, are very proud of what he has accomplished. "He is probably the most successful FFA member I've had, as far as working, learning job skills, and gaining experience is concerned," said FFA Advisor Janet Boggess. Ken's employer, Stanley Baker, said, "I definitely found Ken pleasant to work with, most of the time. He has a lot of interest in agriculture, and our actual relationship, and his FFA relationship was a good one."

Ken worked on Baker's dairy farm for two years and three months before winning his award. He started with a lot of interest in dairy farming, but not much actual knowledge of cows or crops. One of his first duties was to prep cows for milking, "wash, dry, and strip". Baker milks an average of 50 Holsteins, and his Class 1 milk is marketed by Milk Marketing, Inc., of Strongsville, Ohio, usually to Chico Dairy in Morgantown, W. Va. Ken was soon helping to milk and taking on other responsibilities around the farm.

"When I first started," said Ken, "all I did was help milk, then I started doing some tractor driving, never as much as I'd like though." Baker makes approximately 50 acres of hay and 50 acres of corn each year, and Ken soon was helping make hay along with other jobs, like feeding the calves, and the unpleasant job of cleaning the manure pit.

"One of Ken's strong points was spraying crops," said Baker. "He got to be very responsible with the tractor and sprayer." Ken admits that responsibility was one of the most important things he learned while working on the farm. "About a year ago," said Baker, "I was in the hospital for a while and Ken really helped a lot."

Ken's hours on the farm varied. He helped with the evening milking and sometimes the morning milking. In the summer he worked longer hours than in the winter, but he says he always learned something new. He learned to treat cows for ailments, and observe the cattle for anything out of the ordinary. He learned to use the tractors and all the different machinery. He knows what it will take to be a farmer if that is in his future.

Ken just recently changed jobs, going on to another ag-related business, but his relationship with Stanley Baker remains good. While visiting one evening to talk about his award, Ken helped with the milking and the two talked about the crops. Ken asked why the grass was growing so well in one of the fields he had sprayed. Baker explained to him while they worked that it was quack grass and that they had only used a spray that would surpress it not kill it. He went on to explain that he had intended to spray later but the fields had stayed too wet to get it done. Ken is still learning.

Ken will go on to represent the state of Maryland in the Eastern Region competition, September 13 and 14, at the Eastern States Exposition (Big E) in Springfield, Mass. This is Ken's second trip to the Big E. In 1983, Ken was a member of the Maryland horse-judging team which placed second in the Nationals with Ken placing fourth individually.

Maybe this luck will hold, and another star will be added to Ken's list of accomplishments, the biggest of which may be the recognition Ken has already gained for Garrett County.

THE EXPERIENCE GAINED AND THE SKILLS LEARNED on Stanley Baker's dairy farm qualified Ken Michaels for the FFA State Star Agribusinessman award he received recently at the Maryland State FFA Convention in Hagerstown. Above, Stanley Baker, left, and Ken examine a cow Baker has just milked. Part of Ken's responsibility was caring for the calves, which included feeding and general observation. Ken, pictured below with one of the calves, says that responsibility was one of the big things he learned while working on the farm.

Fair Directors Set Guidelines For Fair Passes

The Garrett County Fair directors have announced some guidelines for exhibitors and persons receiving passes for the 1985 fair, August 12-17.

Claude Wagner Jr., fair manager, stated that the exhibitors are the backbone of the agricultural fair, and encourages all Garrett Countians to show their livestock, fruits, vegetables, arts and crafts.

The directors realize that livestock exhibitors need to care for their animals daily, so they will receive a weekly pass. Each child who can not drive will receive a pass for one parent, so he or she can care for his or her animal. Others in the vehicle must purchase a ticket.

The directors stressed how important volunteers play in the success of the fair. They work many long hours, and receive a daily pass for those days they work. Judges will receive a one-day pass for the day they work, and the directors themselves receive a weekly pass for their yearly work.

Pass holders are able to see all the fair activities. If they wish to ride the rides they will need to pay a $2 fee at the carnival, after showing their weekly pass and having it stamped. This $2 fee, then, is good for the whole day. Weekly passes will be available from the extension office, fair office, or from any director at a cost of $9.

Exhibitors planning to camp all week cannot enter the fairgrounds before Monday evening, and must register with the fair office and pay for a sticker. The cost for campers will be $20 and tent space will cost $10. Each occupant of a camper or tent must have a weekly pass also. Those without stickers and passes will be asked to leave the grounds.

Sachs Files Suit Against USDA

Maryland Attorney General Stephen H. Sachs has filed a lawsuit in Baltimore federal court against the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), seeking to protect the right of Maryland Food Stamp recipients to $5 million a year in Food Stamp benefits.

The case, filed on behalf of the Maryland Department of Human Resources (DHR), challenges USDA's decision to include the State's July 1 energy grant increase to welfare recipients in the definition of "income" for purposes of determining the level of assistance a Food Stamp recipient will receive.

The Maryland General Assembly designated this year's 6% energy grant increase (approximately $17 million) to help pay for the unmet energy needs of Maryland's low income citizens. When the legislature enacted two similar grant increases for State fiscal years 1983 and 1985, the federal government agreed that the increases were for energy costs.

Because the aid increases were for energy costs, the money was not counted as increased income which would reduce a recipient's Food Stamp allotment. On June 12, the federal government reversed its position and said it would count this year's energy assistance grant as income.

USDA's regulations exempt energy assistance payments from the definition of icome. Maryland asks the court to find that USDA's decision violates those regulations.

In addition to DHR, today's suit is brought as a class action by a Food Stamp recipient, Linda Walter, a Baltimore mother of three children, who would be adversely affected by USDA's decision. The class of Food Stamp recipients is represented by the Legal Aid Bureau.

Jamie's 'Perfect' fit; Frank's bootlegged tape

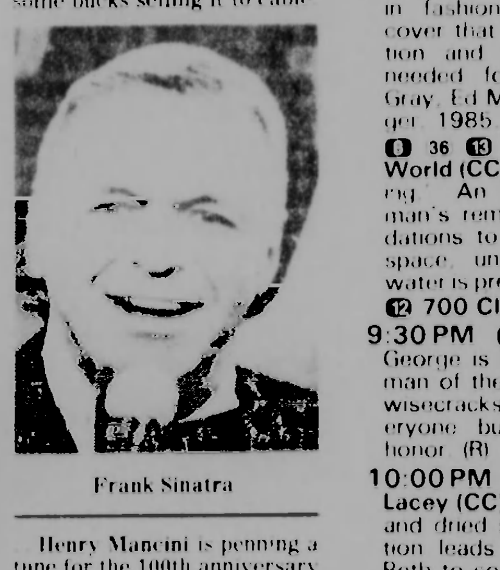
By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Mumford High School copped an audience when Eddie Murphy wore a Mumford High T-shirt in "Beverly Hills Cop." Orders for the shirt poured in from all around the world. The latest T-shirt craze? Sports Connection T's — just like the ones that make Jamie Lee Curtis look perfect in "Perfect."

Jamie Lee Curtis

Tapes of Frank Sinatra's big Brazilian concert are being bootlegged in the New York area. This comes as a surprise to Frank and his Ratpack. Word has come down that His Majesty is not pleased. Why should he be — on the $100 tapes, Frankie fluffs his lyrics. ... The Count Basie band will back Manhattan Transfer on two tunes on the group's new album.

CBS wants Jackie Gleason to star as P.T. Barnum in "Nothing in Common," a two-hour drama about the circus impresario. ... Sonny Bono paid $600,000 for the rights to the 1969 film "Chastity," which stars his former wife Cher. Sonny figures he'll make some bucks selling it to cable.



Frank Sinatra

Henry Mancini is penning a tune for the 100th anniversary of the Boston Pops. ... Amy Carter has a summer job. She's working for a Chicago stockbroker.

Elizabeth Taylor has put her Puerta Villarta shack up for sale. It's a steal at $1 million — especially since it comes complete with several Liz artifacts. Also for sale: The private Boeing jet of Ferdinand Marcos of the Philippines. The high-flyin' vehicle, currently stashed at London's Gatwick Airport, has an extravagant custom interior. President Marcos is asking 2 1/2 million pounds. That means a lot of American bucks.

Beall Elected MHA President

J. Glenn Beall, former United States Senator from Maryland and a member of the lay advisory board at Cumberland's Sacred Heart Hospital, is the new chairman of the Maryland Hospital Association board of trustees.

Beall, a Frostburg resident, was elected by unanimous vote of the nonprofit association's 64 member community acute care and special hospitals at their annual meeting in Baltimore. MHA is the only state hospital association in America with a governing body comprised of hospital trustee leaders—the citizen volunteers who serve on institutional boards. He has been involved with MHA since 1979, first as a legislation chairman and later for three terms as board vice chairman.

Other officers chosen to serve with Beall are Donald DeVries, chairman of the board of Memorial Hospital in Easton, vice chairman; Patricia Smyth, vice chairman of Baltimore's Good Samaritan Hospital, treasurer; and L. Patrick Deering, board chairman at South Baltimore General Hospital, secretary.

Beall, who now heads insurance firms in Cumberland and Washington, D.C., has been elected in the Maryland House of Delegates, the U.S. House of Representatives, and the U.S. Senate for a total of nearly 15 years of service. A Cumberland native, he is a graduate of Yale University.

Among his many business and civic activities are directorships of the Maryland Chamber of Commerce and the Allegany Region of the First National Bank of Maryland. He currently is president of the United States Association of Former Members of Congress. He has been president of both the Cumberland Fair Association and the Allegany County League for Crippled Children and served as trustee of the Maryland Historial Trust.

As chairman of MHA's board, he will head the statewide group's 15-member executive council and preside over the 64-member board, as well as work closely with the American Hospital Association. The association was founded 15 years ago as a vehicle for cooperation and communication among the state's health care institutions.

DHMH Issues Warnings On Two Serious Diseases

The Maryland State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene is warning Maryland residents that at least two serious diseases, Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever and Lyme Disease, can be traced to ticks common in Maryland. However, with early treatment in the course of the illness they can be controlled with antibiotics, according to Jack Grigor, D.V.M., M.P.H., Veterinary Epidemiologist.

Fever and rashes are the warning signals for scores of communicable diseases that may call for immediate medical attention, but when a rash and fever follows a known tick bite there may be the risk of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever (RMSF), says Dr. Grigor.

The symptoms of RMSF generally begin within three to fourteen days after a tick bite with a sudden onset of headache, and high fever and chills, which may last two weeks. A pale, pink spotted skin rash generally beginning on the palms of the hands and soles of the feet may be noted from the third day of illness onwards.

The presence of this rash aids in the diagnosis but in some cases the rash may not occur. Physicians generally require laboratory blood tests to confirm their diagnosis.

Dr. Grigor said the illness readily responds to early treatment with antibiotics, but can be serious or even fatal if not treated promptly.

Lyme Disease begins as a lesion at the point of the tick bite. The lesion is usually accompanied by a general ill feeling, fatigue, chill, fever, headache, stiff neck or backache. Sometimes there is a spreading muscular pain, nausea, vomiting and sore throat.

Usually the skin lesion fades in three weeks to four weeks and recovery is complete. In other cases within weeks, months and sometimes years the victim can be struck with acute or chronic arthritis and less common various nervous or coronary disorders.

According to Dr. Grigor, patients with Lyme Disease who are treated with appropriate antibiotics have a shorter duration of the skin lesion than untreated patients. Also, antibiotic treatment may prevent or lessen the severity of the arthritic, coronary and nervous disorder.

Fewer than one percent of ticks are disease carriers, however people who have been bitten should mark the attachment on a calendar and report that date to a doctor if any symptoms appear, said Dr. Grigor.

"For the 11 month period, wine tax revenue shows the strongest growth, with a 7.9% gain over last year," Goldstein stated, noting that cigarette tax collections are up by 1.8% in the same period.

For the fiscal year to date, distilled tax revenue declined by 1.7% and beer tax receipts are nearly 5% behind last year's figures.

Mild Weather In Spring Boosts Motor Fuel Use

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says the same good weather that helped increase sales tax revenues from business and construction activity during April 1985 also put more Marylanders on the open road.

"Motor fuel consumption in Maryland during April, 1985, totaled 184,098,207 gallons, a 5.6% increase over the 174,362,677 gallons used during the same month of 1984," Goldstein said.

The comptroller noted that increases of more than two or three percent are unusual in recent years because drivers have adopted more conservation techniques in their lifestyle and vehicles themselves are more fuel efficient.

"Today, we drive more efficiently, make fewer trips to run different errands, buy more efficient vehicles and make more use of car and vanpools," he said.

Motor fuel tax revenue for May, 1985, which is based on April sales, totalled $24,925,701, a 4.1% increase over the $23,955,863 collected during May, 1984.

For the first 11 months of Fiscal Year 1985, motor fuel tax revenue amounted to $283,719,740, up 2.7% from the $276,337,354 received during the identical period of the previous fiscal year.

Author Nita Scoggan has just had two new books published. "Alaskan Lady" and "God's Plan to Enjoy Your Children", are available locally at the Book Mark'et and The Free Spirit Christian Book Store, both in Oakland.

Mrs. Scoggan and her husband, Bill, are from Manassas, Va., but own a cabin on Backbone Mountain and vacation in Garrett County often. Over the years, she has been a speaker at the Sunnyside Chapel many times.

"Alaskan Lady" is a true story about her mother, a pioneer wife who found the courage and faith to carry her through forty years of harsh weather and adventure in America's Last Frontier, Alaska.

World War II was building up as Mrs. Scoggan's parents began their struggle to settle in Alaska, and the story tells of the Japanese soldiers' invasion of the Aleutian Islands. Other adventures include encounters with bears, wolves, whales, quicksand and the Good Friday Alaskan earthquake. The editor of "America Today" stated that "Nita captures the America that was and can be again when people dare to dream and build from inside themselves."

Her other new book, "God's Plan to Enjoy Your Children", is an inspirational book discussing ways to be an effective parent and to discover God's keys for success in rearing children.

Mrs. Scoggan's previous books were "Pillars of the Pentagon" and "Pentagon Tidbits", both dealing with people who work in the offices of the military headquarters at the nation's capital.

That subject is one that Mrs. Scoggan is well qualified to cover, as she has just recently retired, after 32 years of service with the federal government as a graphic artist for the U.S. Air Force Operations Center at the Pentagon. During that time, she led Bible classes and prayer groups in the Pentagon, and at the White House, meeting at noon and before or after work.

Her husband, Bill, also retired from government service as an Air Intelligence Officer, completing more than 32 years employment. The Scoggans have been guest speakers in many churches. They sing scripture songs and share what Jesus has done to change their lives, as well as teach Biblical principles and studies on a variety of topics to meet needs. They are telephone counselors for a Christian TV station in Manassas, and sing at a local nursing home on a regular monthly basis. In addition, they have a small ministry of supporting churches and groups, by providing tapes and graphics for their programs, through Lighthouse Ministries, part of the National Heritage Foundation.

Mrs. Scoggan is the mother of two sons and the grandmother of five. Her hobbies include fine arts, sewing and playing the harp.

State Police Gear Up For July 4 Holiday

State troopers will be out in force over the 4th of July holiday to save lives and prevent injuries on the Maryland highways, according to a release from the Maryland State Police.

In addition to increased patrols utilizing radar, VASCAR, and the "bear in the air", troopers will continue the use of rolling roadblocks throughout the holiday weekend on all 55 mile-per-hour roadways. On July 3, five to seven simultaneous rolling roadblocks will be conducted from 4 to 6 p.m. to insure that all motorists comply with the 55 mile-per-hour National Maximum Speed Limit.

More than 700 rolling roadblock operations have been conducted since the program's inception in early May of this year. There have been no reported incidents or accidents resulting from these operations and State Police believe that this approach is both effective and safe.

The State Police will also be targeting drunk drivers. This weekend, troopers will be patrolling areas that have shown high incidents of alcohol-related accidents. Sobriety checkpoints will be utilized in several areas of the state.

Citizens are reminded that they can help police by reporting drunk drivers. Persons are not required to give their names or appear in court. All that is necessary is to call by CB radio on Channel 9, or telephone, and give the location where the suspected drunk driver was last seen, the direction of travel, and the type of vehicle. Persons should make sure to give the police the make and color of the suspected vehicle and, if possible, the tag number. State Police do stress that citizens should not try to stop the suspected vehicle or drive in a manner that might create an additional hazard on the roadway.

Colonel W. T. Travers, Jr., Superintendent of the State Police, is urging all motorists to drive safely on Maryland highways and strongly recommends that travelers, as well as passengers, utilize occupant restraints. "Safety belts and child passenger safety seats are the best protection against unsafe drivers," he said. Marylanders are reminded of the state law requiring that children under the age of 3 must be properly restrained in an approved child passenger safety seat; children from the ages of 3 to 5 are to be in a child passenger safety seat or safety belts.

The Reverend Theron G. Roush, an Assemblies of God missionary to Colombia, South America, will be guest speaker for a missions service this Sunday, July 7, 11 a.m., at Glendale Assembly of God, Glendale Road, the Reverend Gail Hixon, pastor has announced.

During their past three terms of missionary service, Roush and his wife, Aldonna, have been involved in establishing new churches in the state of Santander. These churches are now branching out in opening other new churches. Roush served as superintendent of the North District of the Assemblies of God in Colombia and also director of a Bible institute. He was president of the Assemblies of God Colombian Missionary Field Council.

Prior to their missionary ministry, the Roushes pastored a church in Nicholson, Pa., and co-pastored a church in Brookville, Pa. In preparation for working with the Latin culture, the Roushes attended langauge school in Guadalajara, Mexico.

Upon return to Colombia the Roushes plan to continue their ministry of church planning.

Illinois Teenagers Spend Week Pounding Nails, Digging Ditches

by Beverly J. Sincell

A group of 24 teenagers from an affluent neighborhood in northern Illinois recently spent a week in Garrett County pounding nails, sawing boards and digging ditches to improve the living conditions of four county families.

The teens came from Lake Forest, Illinois, which is located on Lake Michigan and is north of Chicago, to participate in a work camp arranged by the Garrett County Habitat for Humanity.

The work camp was the first of three planned by Habitat for this summer and was held the week of June 9-15. The work camps are designed to improve conditions in homes already occupied by families and do not involve the construction of new homes also planned during this summer.

The idea of participating in work camps was not new to the teenagers who are members of the youth fellowship at Lake Forest Presbyterian Church, a church' which essentially founded their community and has a membership of 2,500.

Jim Cochrane, one of the adults with the group, said the church has done this sort of work for the past ten years as a part of its outreach mission. It has primarily gone to rural areas, but last year a group spent several weeks in inner city Chicago.

One might say that the Flying Scot, an internationally renowned sailboat manufactured in Garrett County, brought the group to Garrett County. The connection came through Jack Fassnacht, a member of the church and an owner of a Flying Scot, and Eric Ammann, current owner of the Gordon Douglass Boat Company in Deer Park which manufactures the sailboat.

Fassnacht said he brought the boat to the county last year for repairs and in conversation with Ammann learned of the efforts of Habitat. On his return home, his wife Abby told him their church hoped to find a place in Appalachia this year for their work camp mission. Before long, it was all arranged.

Despite rain the week they were in the county, the group worked to install plumbing in one home, to add a room to another and to put on a new roof on a third. During one day of heavy rainfall, some of the youths replaced the ceiling in a home on Broadford Road and tore out wall paneling at the Old Accident Elementary School which is planned for renovation into apartments this year.

Most of the week, the youths were assigned to three main projects: replacing a roof on a home in Stumptown along the Fingerboard Road; adding a bedroom and installing an outhouse for a home on Walnut Bottom Road and installing bathroom facilities and plumbing in a home in Gorman.

Most of the projects were completed, but those which were not will be completed by other work groups.

The youths slept each night in their sleeping bags on the floor of the Eagle's Nest at the Wisp Ski Area, a space donated by resort owner Helmuth Heise.

Each morning they were fed breakfast and provided packed lunches by St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland. Church members Jim and Ruth Chisholm, Janis Backland, Ruth Martin, Kaye Hoye, Nancy Learey, Charlotte and Chris Boch and Pastor Ray Ursin faithfully had breakfast ready by 7:30 a.m. Monday through Saturday.

Supper was provided by different churches in the area including Terra Alta Baptist

Vision Center Reps Attend Convention

Members of the staff of the Oakland Pearle Vision Center attended the annual convention of the Optician's Association of America in Las Vegas, Nev., this past week.

Susie Draper, Tracy Jones and Jean Sweitzer stayed at the MGM Grand Hotel for four days of association meetings and professional continuing education. The three attended lectures and workshops to update their knowledge of current trends in the optical field. Topics included protective eyewear to prevent sports-related injuries, ultraviolet radiation and lens protection, fitting the first-time bifocal wearer, progressive power lens update, and tinted soft contact lenses.

The Opticians' Association of America is organized to promote the highest standards of technical skill and knowledge among its members and serves as their voice in national and state affairs. Draper, Jones, and Sweitzer are the only members of the organization in the Oakland region.

Teenagers

Church on Sunday; St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House, on Monday; Oak Park Church of the Brethren on Tuesday; St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, on Thursday; and Oak Grove Church of the Brethren on Friday. Wednesday evening they held a picnic at Deep Creek Lake State Park.

Most of the youths learned carpentry skills as they worked; a few had prior training.

Before they left for home Saturday morning, some of the group members shared their impressions of the experience.

Rebecca Bryson was struck by the hospitality of the families with whom they worked. "They were so nice," she said. Others echoed her comments by describing the families as "open" and "proud."

One youth lost the chance for a summer job because he chose to participate in the work camp, another gave up a week of work.

But for most, whatever their sacrifices, they were glad for the experience. They expressed satisfaction with feeling as though they had done something to help others. Said Chris Paterson, "We feel like we accomplished something for those who are less fortunate than we are."

Rick Hughes felt good about the companionship they gave some of the families who were elderly and not able to get out to see other people often. "One of the best things we did was to give them company," he commented.

Another benefit the youths gained was they grew closer to each other and, as Dave Remington said, "We learned a lot about ourselves."

Before they departed Saturday morning, some of the local Habitat leaders expressed their thanks to the group. One of the worksite supervisors, Accident resident Charles Schreiber, told the group he believed he gained more than any from the experience.

Later he stated, "The benefits from this experience were twofold: The teenagers see the finished project and they can say 'Ah, I did that,' and then you see the looks on the faces of the people when they see the finished project and have something to enhance their lives. That's very pleasurable."

As the group left, local Habitat leaders began to think ahead of their future projects to continue the work still left to do.

TENTH: Any person, his/her heirs, executors, or administrators, may be indemnified or reimbursed by the Association for reasonable expenses actually incurred in connection with any action, suit or proceeding, civil or criminal, to which he/she or they shall be made a party by reason of his/her being or having been a director, officer, or employee of the Association or of any firm, corporation, or organization which he/she served in any such capacity at the request of the Association: Provided, however, that no person shall be so indemnified or reimbursed in relation to any matter in such action, suit, or proceeding as to which he/she shall finally be adjudged to have been guilty of or liable for gross negligence, willful misconduct or criminal acts in the performance of his/her duties to the Association: And, provided further, that no person shall be so indemnified or reimbursed in relation to any matter in such action, suit or proceeding which has been made the subject of a compromise settlement except with the approval of a court of competent jurisdiction, or the holders of record of a majority of the outstanding shares of the Association, or the Board of Directors, acting by vote of Directors not parties to the same or substantially the same action, suit, or proceeding, constituting a majority of the whole number of Directors. The Association may, upon the affirmative vote of a majority of its Board of Directors, purchase insurance for the purpose of indemnifying its directors, officers and other employees to the extent that such indemnification is allowed in the preceding paragraph. Such insurance may, but need not, be for the benefit of all directors, officers, or employees.

ELEVENTH: These Articles of Association may be amended at any regular or special meeting of the shareholders by the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the stock of the Association, unless the vote of the holders of a greater amount of stock is required by law, and in that case by the vote of the holders of such greater amount.

Maryland Arson Statistics Noted

Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele has announced the arson statistics for the first quarter of 1985 for the State of Maryland.

The statistical data compiled by the Maryland Uniform Crime Reporting Program for the State Fire Marshal's Office, based on information from law enforcement agencies throughout the State of Maryland, indicates that arson offenses rose approximately 12 percent for the first three months of 1985 as compared with this same period in 1984. In 1984, between January and March, 692 arsons were reported as compared to 776 arsons during this time in 1985.

According to the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office, the Washington Metropolitan Region of Montgomery and Prince George's Counties had the most significant rise in reported arson cases during the first quarter of 1985. During this time, 219 arsons occurred as compared with 159 for the first three months of 1984, for an increase of 38 percent.

The sharpest decline in arson occurred in the Baltimore Metropolitan Region of Baltimore City, Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Harford, and Howard Counties. This area of the state experienced a 12 percent drop in arson offenses, falling from 373 in 1984 to 327 in 1985.

The Western Region of the state including Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Frederick and Carroll Counties had the second highest increase in arson with a 10 percent increase in 1985 over 1984.

Southern Maryland, consisting of Calvert, Charles and St. Mary's Counties was the next lowest area of the state, with a reduction of arson offenses totaling 6 percent.

"The 38 percent increase in reported arson cases in the Montgomery and Prince George's County areas is significant," Gabriele said. "This same region of the state had a 40 percent reduction in arson for all of 1984. As a result of the high arson rate in the Washington Metropolitan Area, both Montgomery and Prince George's Counties have initiated aggressive programs during the past 18 months, such as operation extinguish and firehawks, which deal with the growing problem of juveniles setting fires. These special programs are expected to curb the ever increasing problem of juveniles starting fires."

Approximately $10,000,000 in property was destroyed and at least 10 lives lost as the result of arson in the State of Maryland during 1984.

FUTURE HISTORIAN — Haroula Knotts, a student at Kitzmiller Elementary School, recently received the Woodmen of the World Plaque of Recognition for proficiency in American History. The plaque was presented to the student during an awards ceremony held at the school.

Garrett Foresters Travel West To Fight Brush Fires

Four Garrett County foresters and one Allegany County forester, all with the Maryland Forest, Parks and Wildlife Service, left early Tuesday morning to fly to Boise, Idaho, one of the western states being ravaged by brush fires, to help bring those fires under control.

Rick Wakefield, forest associate for Potomac/Garrett State Forest; Kevin Moore, Louise Slabaugh, and Owen Handwerk, all forest associates for the Garrett County project; met Allegany County Forest Associate Harold McDonald Jr., at Rocky Gap, near Cumberland, to travel to Harrisburg, Pa., for their flight to Idaho.

Including the five Western Maryland foresters, a total of 20 Maryland foresters traveled west to make up crews to fight the fires which at this time continue to burn out of control.

According to Joe Mechem, manager of Potomac/Garrett State Forest, the volunteers were notified at 9:30 p.m. Monday, for their Tuesday morning flight. They were told to take

Thunderstorms Descend On County; Oakland Area Is Hardest Hit

The Oakland area was hit hardest as nearly seven inches of rain fell during the recent two-day thunderstorm activity that passed through Garrett County. Weber's weather station reported that .32 inches of rain were received on Monday, while Tuesday's storm dumped 4.16 inches on Oakland and Wednesday's storm brought another 2.21 inches of precipitation. Several roads were closed and many others experienced high water conditions. Local fire companies were kept busy on public service calls to assist with flooded basements while Potomac Edison crews struggled to keep power flowing to county residents.

A McHenry farmer reported that he lost 18 head of dairy cattle to lightning yesterday. (See separate story.)

The string of thunder and lightning storms began on Monday and continued through Wednesday morning. Although the storms ended yesterday morning, more are expected this weekend.

County roads that were closed yesterday due to flooded conditions included the Herrington Manor Road, the Oakland-Deer Park Road at the Pysell Cross Cut, the Old Wilson Road, the Crellin Mine Road, the Everly Road and the Buffalo Run Road, according to Terry Spear, Garrett County Roads traffic and safety coordinator.

Roads experiencing high water conditions included the Lower Green Glade Road, the Buser Road, the Steiding Church Road, the Oakland-Deer Park Road, the Glendale Road, the Pysell Cross Cut Road, Reeses Lane, the Mansfield Road, the North Glade Road, the Hutton-Fingerboard Road, the Gorman-Steyer Road, the White Church Road, the Rock Lodge Road and the Teets Road.

Garrett County Roads Administrator, Paul Shockey, said the water table was so high the culverts could not handle the overflow. He said, "We're fighting the natural elements and doing the best we can." He expected road crews to begin culvert repair as soon as emergency permits were obtained from the State.

It was reported this morning that water levels were receding making many roads more passable, although there is still a great deal of washout with which to contend.

Due to extensive lightning strikes, Garrett County Emergency Management was without communications Monday night and Tuesday morning, according to Brad Frantz, director. He said most of the communications were handled by phone and that cooperation by local fire companies and rescue squads allowed for continuous operations.

Emergency Management dispatcher Randy Shaffer said the Oakland Fire Department responded to over 20 public service calls, while Deer Park firemen handled approximately 10 calls. Kitzmiller, Friendsville, Gorman and Terra Alta also responded to several calls.

Young West Va. Man Victim Of Lake Drowning

A young Terra Alta, W. Va. man drowned in Deep Creek Lake last Thursday evening and his body was recovered about 12 hours later, according to Officer Gregory L. Bartles, Department of Natural Resources Police.

Michael Cory Davis, 20, was identified as the victim of the drowning. His body was reportedly found at 8:50 a.m. Friday in the lake about 250 feet northeast of Johnny's Baithouse on U. S. Route 219. Bartles said divers from the Deep Creek Lake Fire Department and the Northern and Southern Rescue Squads located the body.

The drowning occurred at approximately 7:40 p.m. when the victim and two companions jumped from the stern of a boat, according to police reports. A search began immediately and continued until sundown Thursday before resuming at 7:30 a.m. Friday.

Garrett County Emergency Management said the Medevac helicopter was called to the scene to assist in the search on Thursday along with the Deep Creek firemen, rescue squads and the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

Davis was born March 16, 1965 in Creston, Ohio, a son of Norman and Edna King Davis.

A graduate of Central Preston Sr. High School, he was a student at Glenville State College and a member of the GSC Pioneers football team. He was also a member of the Preston Country Club.

Besides his parents, he is survived by one brother, Norman E., at home, and one sister, Pam Costello, Kingwood, W. Va.

The body was removed to the Durst Funeral Home in Oakland and later transported to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland, where an autopsy was performed.

A service was held Sunday at the Browning Funeral Home in Terra Alta with the Rev. Roger Syruws officiating. Burial was in the Jack Point Cemetery in Braxton.

FORDING A RIVER? — Actually, this unidentified driver was traveling on Glendale Road Wednesday morning and suddenly came upon a wayward flood of rainwater rolling across the roadway. Undaunted, he forded his way through, as many other local residents had to do following the huge morning downpour that brought lots of thunder and lightning and over two inches of rain in about two hours. Volunteer firemen, particularly in the southern end of the county, were kept busy most of the day pumping basements, while road crews attempted to keep roads from washing away and utility crews worked to restore power. Eighteen dairy cows on a McHenry farm were killed by lightning (see separate story). Photo by Craig Phillips

Tickets Now On Sale For "The Sound Of Music"

Tickets are now sale for the production of "The Sound of Music" to be presented Saturday, July 20, at Southern High School in Oakland. The Maryland Theatre Arts Group, a Baltimore Area Company directed by Penny Knobel-Besa, has volunteered to stage it as a benefit for Garrett County's Habitat for Humanity. According to a Habitat spokesman, the popular musical is especially appropriate for the purpose for, reduced to its starkest terms, "The Sound of Music" is itself the story of people needing a home, refugees from Hitler.

Habitat is a nonprofit Christian ministry dedicated to helping low income people living in adequate housing. In Garrett County, as in other communities throughout the world where Habitat has chapters, a local fund for Humanity created from gifts and interest-free loans, serves as capital for building or rehabilitating houses. Volunteers and the specific housing recipients work together to build houses which are then sold to the families on a nonprofit, low-interest basis. As the capital is returned through the resident's monthly payments, it is used to build more houses.

Board Adopts Plan Revisions, Rejects Rural Residential Zone

Rural Residential Zoning will not be a reality as a zoning category in the revised land use plan for the Deep Creek Watershed as a result of a vote by the Garrett County Commissioners Tuesday.

The commissioners voted 2-1 to adopt the revised plan with two changes: 1) deletion of the proposal for rural residential zoning in the fringe areas of the watershed, and 2) maintaining the current commercial zoning for two parcels of land at the Mayhew Inn Road and Rt. 219 intersection and changing another parcel, where the dentist's office of Dr. Paul Boggs is located, from lake residential zoning to commercial.

Commissioner Elwood Groves, who dissented from the vote, stated he was basically in agreement with the revised plan and with maintaining the commercial zoning for the Mayhew Inn area, which will now encompass four acres. But, he explained, his support for the rural residential zone concept was the reason he did not vote with Commissioners Ernest Gregg and John Braskey.

Land uses in the Deep Creek watershed, Groves noted, need to be further defined and the rural residential zone would have helped do that.

Commissioner Gregg commended the Planning Commission for its two-year effort in revising the 10-year-old plan and said he believed the commission had appropriately made revisions according to the zoning and planning guidelines they must follow. He further pointed out that the commissioners have more latitude in making their decision because they do not have to strictly adhere to those same guidelines.

Gregg added that in making their decision on the rural residential zone, they considered the fact they have heard little public opinion in favor of the proposed zoning category.

Commissioner John Braskey stated that he and Gregg believed there was ample opportunity for erection of mobile homes in areas zoned lake residential because they are allowed in these areas as special exception uses, meaning such uses are subject to approval by the Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals.

"I believe statistics show that the majority of requests for mobile homes are granted by the zoning board," Gregg stated.

Reactions Noted

Reaction to the commissioners' decision by Ed King, president of the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners' Association, was favorable. "That is exactly in line with our request and we are very pleased," he said.

Anna McNallie, county planning administrator, commented, "It is always very discouraging to work so long and hard on a project and then have it turned down, but that is the prerogative of the commissioners. I don't think any of the three made their decisions lightly."

McNallie added that a num-

Dr. D.R. Richter Opens Oakland Medical Practice

Donald R. Richter, M.D., recently joined the Garrett Medical Group, P.A. and opened his practice in family medicine in Oakland.

Dr. Richter is a native of the Cove area and a graduate of Northern High School. He received his undergraduate degree from Johns Hopkins University then continued his medical education at the University of Maryland School of Medicine where he received his M.D. Degree. He spent three years in family practice residency at Franklin Square Hospital in Baltimore. During his residency, Dr. Richter was designated Chief Resident and published several articles in a variety of medical journals.

When asked why he chose to return to Garrett County, Richter stated, "I've always loved Garrett County; it's my home! I enjoy living and working in an area that has so much natural beauty and so many solid, hardworking citizens." He further stated, "Plus, the calibre of medicine practiced by Garrett Medical Group and all the local physicians made me want to be a part of the local medical delivery system."

Dr. Richter has admission privileges at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. He gave the hospital high marks for its high level of technical expertise and

Plans Finalized For Friendsville Fiddle Contest

The Youghiogheny River banks in Friendsville will come alive on July 20 with some foot-stomping fiddle music during the 21st Old-Time Fiddlers' Contest, sponsored by the Friendsville Rotary Club.

Amateur and semi-professional contestants from four states will be competing for cash awards and trophies. During intermission the Fisher Family from Dawson, Pa., and Pinky Shoemaker, the 1983 Pennsylvania Champion Fiddler, will entertain, as will the Mountaineer Square Dancers from Oakland, with Claude Strickler as figure caller.

The program will not be broadcast on radio as it has in years past. Therefore, those who have previously received the program on radio are invited to journey to the town park at the elementary school grounds, where the event will start at 7 p.m. on the outdoor stage.

A variety of food and beverages will be available. In the event of rain, the contest will be held the following Saturday, July 27. Admission for adults will be $3.00, for children, $1.00, and those under six years of age will be admitted free. Spectators are urged to bring their own lawn or folding chair.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Edgar Bartholomew, 301-746-5232.

Bambacus Calls For Public Hearing Concerning Recent Issues At GCC

Senator John N. Bambacus announced today that he and Delegate George Edwards are calling a public hearing to air concerns on various issues raised in recent months at Garrett Community College. Dr. James Tschechtelin, chairman of the State Board of Community Colleges, said this morning the situation at the college is "still bad."

Bambacus said the public hearing will be held Tuesday, July 30, at 7:30 p.m., in the GCC auditorium. He said Dr. Tschechtelin has been invited to attend the hearing. Dr. Tschechtelin confirmed by phone this morning that he plans to attend the meeting.

"We noted the recent no-confidence vote placed against the GCC administration and talked with President Randall Harman. No action was taken at that time," said Tschechtelin, "but we feel now the problems have gone beyond the day-to-day conflicts and we must look into the situation at the college."

He also noted that the disagreements between the Board of Trustees, the administration and the faculty "have been a continual source of concern" to the State Board. He stated that the Board has been cooperative and that he has given them some direct advice.

Regarding the public hearing, Bambacus stated in a letter to Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Pat Fischetti, "While I was hoping that these matters could be addressed at the local level, it is my judgment that the public interest would best be served at an open forum. In view of the fact that the State of Maryland provides half the college's budget, we feel that our oversight responsibility merits this response."

Bambacus further stated, "You may be assured that this meeting will address no personnel matters, which are properly reserved for the Board and the administration. Following the conclusion of the meeting, it is requested that the Board and administration address the matters brought before them at the earliest possible time."

Dr. Tschechtelin said he could make no comments on the recent faculty dismissal since he didn't know the entire situation, but that he felt the college needed to have a "defined retrenchment policy."

"When you develop such a policy, get input to it and show it to the faculty. Then the Board should make the final decisions. The problem is there are no defined policies on retrenchment or what courses get cut first when financial cuts have to be made," said Tschechtelin.

"It is best to get policies established before you need them," he added.

Others that have been invited to attend the public hearing include the Board of Garrett County Commissioners, the GCC Board of Trustees, President Randall Harman, and Dr. George Dailey, chairman of the GCC Academic Forum.

Lightning Kills 18 Dairy Cows

Tragedy hit McHenry farmer, Robert Lacy, when lightning struck and killed 18 of his Holstein dairy cows during the early morning storm which hit the county on Wednesday.

A boy had reportedly gone to bring the cows in when the storm began. Just a few minutes later he heard the lightning strike and when he reached the cattle, 18 of them were dead.

Neighbors report that the lightning struck a tree, killing the cows underneath, and that cows were killed 75 to 100 feet away from the tree also.

Lacy was not available for comment or an estimate of loss by press time.

Garrett Mine Co. To Be First At Industrial Park

Garrett Mine Service will be the first business located in the Southern Garrett County Industrial Park when all the paperwork is completed by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners, the Development Corporation, legal counsel and the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

The Commissioners unanimously approved the basic deed convenants Tuesday as they met with the owners of Garrett Mine Service, Courtland Helbig and Steve Tressler and Development Corporation Director, Tom Jones.

Helbig and Tressler told the Commissioners that their business had grown more quickly than they ever expected and a move to a building of their own was the next step.

The deed is to be prepared within the next 30 days and Garrett Mine Service should be a part of the Industrial Park by late October if proceedings go as planned.

BRILLIANCE IN THE SKY was once again provided on July 4 at Broadford Recreation Park to the delight of hundreds of spectators. Milton Proudfoot, local fireworks expert, and several others volunteered their services in setting up and setting off the display after the Oakland mayor and town council, along with local merchants, purchased the fireworks. Although there was not an organized program of activities this year at Broadford, many families spent the day at the park picnicking, swimming, and watching ball games. Hundreds of persons lined the grounds of the Southern Middle and Broad Ford Elementary schools, another comfortable spot from which to watch the fireworks. Photo by Craig Phillips

Swanton Couple Files Lawsuit Against Hunt Club

A $6 million lawsuit has been filed in the Garrett County Circuit Court by a Swanton couple against members of the Lee Hunt Club, a local hunting group.

Lee A. Caplan, an attorney with the Sullivan & Sullivan law firm in Cumberland, filed the suit July 5 for his clients Paul and Eugenie MacFarline.

In their suit, MacFarlines claim that the club members have been using a field service path across their property since 1968 without their permission and have caused damage to evergreen trees planted there. The couple states in their suit they have posted "no trespassing" signs and erected a barricade, but the hunting club has not heeded their actions.

The couple purchased the property in 1963 and have been operating a tree farm on it.

Also in the suit, the couple alleges club members cut a new path across their property, destroying many of their pine trees.

Six counts are listed in the suit: Count I charges the club members with trespassing and $1 million in damages is claimed; Count II charges the club with negligence and $1 million in damages is claimed; in Count III the complainants claim $1 million in punitive damages; in Count IV the couple claims $3 million in statutory damages; in Count V the couple requests the court to issue a temporary injunction prohibiting the defendants from trespassing across the property, and in Count VI the couple requests a permanent injunction prohibiting the defendants from trespassing on the property.

Defendants named in the suit were: William Lee, president, and Richard L. Kimble, both of Oakland: and George P. Garman, Carl Lee, John Lee, Randy Lee, Ronald Lee, Jr., John George, Tom George, Truman Paugh, and Myron Alexander, all of Swanton.

Venture Capital Loan Awarded To Oakland Firm

The Garrett County Development Corporation has awarded its first loan through its newly-created venture development fund to The Colour Company, a firm which began operation in the county on March 1 and which is located on Green Street, Oakland.

The fund is described by county development director Tom Jones as a trigger program which provides a small company enough additional money to own assets to qualify for traditional bank loans and public loan programs.

The program helps those companies which want to expand because of a growing market, but which do not have enough capital to meet loan requirements of private lending companies.

Jones estimated that venture development money will not exceed 10 percent of the total project cost.

The Colour Company, which develops film for professional photographers, received a $15,000 loan from the development fund which will be used to purchase new equipment. The company has also received bank financing and is under consideration for a loan from the Tri-County Council.

The venture development fund has been made possible through a $90,000 grant from the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Businesses which qualify for the program must either be manufacturers or be companies which have 50 percent or more of their sales out of the county.

Linthicum Woman Receives Jail Term On DWI Violation

A 34-year-old Linthicum woman was sentenced to 60 days in jail and fined $100 by District Court Judge Miller Bowen in Garrett County District Court on June 25.

Judge Bowen convicted Joyce E. Fields on a charge of driving while intoxicated or under the influence of alcohol. Fields had been arrested February 8 at 11:10 p.m. while driving her car southbound along Chestnut Ridge Road.

Judge Bowen suspended 30 days of the jail sentence. Fields is also to serve 36 months of probation after serving the jail sentence.

Fields has not yet begun to serve the jail sentence pending an appeal of the case which is to be heard in the Garrett County Circuit Court.

According to court documents, this was Fields third conviction on a DWI charge.

Bowser Competes In VICA Nat. Skill Olympics

Loren Bowser, a sophomore at Southern High School, traveled to Phoenix, Arizona, June 24-28, to participate in the VICA National Leadership Conference and United States Skill Olympics sponsored by the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA).

Loren was one of 60 to 70 students to represent Maryland at the annual VICA national meeting. The Phoenix Civic Plaza was the site of the conference events.

Loren is the son of Ed and Pat Bowser, Underwood Road, and was Maryland's representative at the national contest after winning first place in the Maryland state cabinetmaking and millwork contest.

VICA is the national organization for trade, industrial, technical and health occupations education students. Its 275,000 members are in 13,000 clubs in 50 state and territorial associations, including Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

At the Phoenix meeting, delegates elected new national officers, planned their organization's program for the year, and participated in the VICA U.S. Skill Olympics (USSO), a national-level competition in 38 occupational and leadership skill areas.

Conference activities concluded with a special awards ceremony with USSO winners receiving medallions as symbols of their achievement. Leaders from organized labor, management, education and government participated with student delegates in conference activities.

According to John Fitzwater, Loren's woodworking teacher at Southern High School who accompanied him to Phoenix, although Loren was not a national winner, he represented his state and county very well with his fine workmanship.

Zeigler Named YFC Director

The Board of Directors of Mt. Top Youth for Christ announce that, effective July 1, Jon A. Zeigler has been named as executive director of the organization. Zeigler fills the position left vacant by the earlier resignation of Mike Friend who had been director since September 1974.

Zeigler has been with Mt. Top YFC since his 1980 graduation from Messiah College. He began as a Ministry Intern, then was named Ministry Coordinator after completion of his internship. Last year he was named associate director of the organization.

Zeigler expressed confidence that "the same quality of ministry and integrity of leadership that has characterized the organization over thepast decade would be maintained." He also has a goal of reaching out to youth of the area who remain uninfluenced by the Christian gospel. "Our most pressing need right now is for volunteer staff who have a deep belief in Jesus Christ and are willing to enter the world of teens to share that belief," Zeigler said.

Mary Kanagy will continue to serve in her administrative position handling the secretarial and financial business affairs of the organization. She has served with Mt. Top YFC for the past ten years.

Mt. Top Youth for Christ is a non-denominational, non-profit, youth outreach organization, supported financially by local churches, businesses, and concerned individuals. The local YFC chapter is an affiliate of Youth for Christ/USA with headquarters in Wheaton, Illinois.

Real Estate

By ROBERT HUEBNER
Deep Creek Realty

TYPES OF OWNERSHIP

Perhaps you have heard the term "fee simple" title, or ownership, in relation to real estate. This is just one type of ownership; the scope of the various types of ownership is far from "simple."

"Fee simple" or "fee simple absolute" title means that the land owner owns everything there is to own, including mineral rights and that the land is free from easements and all other restrictions. Any ownership less than fee simple means that someone else—or a company—owns at least some of the property rights in the real estate.

So-called "time share" condominiums are a good example ownership that is less than fee simple. Although the purchaser gets a deed for the condominium, his ownership is limited to a certain time period—usually one or two specific weeks during eacn year. Although there is true ownership in this situation, there are many other people with whom ownership in the property is shared.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices.

Have Courage, Back Off

There is no question in our minds, and we believe in the minds of most Garrett County residents, that Chief Deputy Van Evans is by far the best choice for sheriff of Garrett County. However, despite this concensus of opinion, Evans may not be chosen for the job because of the politics involved.

Governor Hughes must appoint a sheriff for the county and he is anxiously awaiting the selection of a nominee from the Garrett County Democrat State Central Committee. Van Evans is a Republican, however, and it is against the by-laws of the Central Committee to support a Republican for the position, regardless of his competency. We understand that the Central Committee is still meeting, trying to select a candidate.

It is our hope that the Central Committee will simply choose not to select a nominee, thereby clearing the way for Evans' nomination. Evans' background, experience, and education make him, without question, the only person for the job of sheriff. His resume of law enforcement training and education is several pages long. He worked closely with Frank Finch, and was obviously Finch's selection for the man to take his place if anything should happen to him. He knows the ins and outs of the Sheriff's Department, he has the respect of the other deputies, the county commissioners, and the public at large. He is a true professional.

It would be outrageous if Evans were not selected because the Democrat State Central Committee chose to back someone from their party. By selecting another nominee, the members of this committee will not be acting in the best interest of the Garrett County public. They will be putting party loyalty ahead of common sense and the general welfare of our citizenry.

We know that the members of the committee are receiving pressure to select a Democrat nominee. We sincerely hope they have the courage, and good sense, to back off and allow Evans to assume the office of sheriff.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am writing to you about a matter of great concern to Garrett County citizens and myself. I strongly feel that the survival of Garrett Community College as a worthwhile institution is in our hands. I would like to know why the current administration at GCC and our Board of Trustees are not being held accountable for their actions.

So far, I have not seen a single public statement that satisfactorily explains the catastrophic results of their decisions. The drastic steps taken by the Board of Trustees have eliminated positions and careers without any stated purpose or explanation other than "it is best for the college." This might be acceptable if some direction could be seen, but the restructuring process embarked on today is eliminated tomorrow along with many of the people involved.

This approach has resulted in a state of total confusion, anxiety, apprehension and a loss of purpose by the faculty at GCC. Many of the excellent teachers have discovered that quality education doesn't seem to be of importance and cannot ascertain what is important to this administration. However, we constantly see public statements of total support for the administration by the Board of Trustees.

I think it is time for Senator Bambacus to hold his public hearing. I would appreciate an explanation from the administration of their intended direction and the expected benefit, if any, from their actions. I would also appreciate knowing why the Board of Trustees support these actions without any regard to the expressed concerns of the people directly involved. If citizens feel the democratic process is worthwhile, I feel they should request such a meeting and attend it to discover how this process has been altered at GCC.

Most Sincerely,
Paul Deal, DVM

To the Editor:

I would like to comment on Judge Fred Thayer's comments from last week's paper concerning the release time given to the convicted drug dealers.

I am glad to see Judge Thayer is concerned with saving taxpayers money by giving release time, but in the case of drug dealers, I feel my tax dollars are being well spent by putting such people in prison where they cannot harm society.

I feel their release time of from 6:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. is way too long. How many of us work those hours and are away from home that long? Also how much supervision is there of these prisoners while they are away from the jail 15 hours a day? What is to keep them from continuing their drug dealings?

I totally disagree with Judge Thayer's comments about this type of a case being a "non-violent type of crime." Just last night, ABC news had a news item stating that cocaine is very dangerous, very habit forming, and results in more deaths than heroin. How can this be said to be a non-violent crime when people will steal, murder, etc., to keep up their habit? And then we put their suppliers on a work-release program. Something seems wrong.

I feel Judge Fred Thayer does an excellent job here in Garrett County and represents us very well when he goes "down state." But I also feel he is out of touch with what the citizens are interested in when it comes to drug dealers.

To the Editor:

At its meeting last night, the Garrett County Agricultural Preservation Advisory Board consisting of Claude Wagner, Jr., George Bishoff, Carolyn Ganoe, Cecil Kight and Hoover Myers, requested that I write to you to express the Advisory Board's appreciation for the fine coverage that The Republican has given to various agricultural matters in recent months. Notable examples that come to mind include the series on no-till corn and the January front-page story on the Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation Program.

The Board feels that in a county such as Garrett in which farming has such a profound impact upon most facets of life, thorough coverage of matters relating to agriculture is essential in keeping our widely dispersed population informed. The Advisory Board hopes to see more stories of the excellent quality of those noted above in future editions of the newspaper.

Again, the members wish to express their appreciation to you and your staff for the fine reporting.

Sincerely,
Anna C. McNallie
Staff Secretary

To the Editor:

When I read the letter in your paper about the rainbow on July 1, Monday evening, I wanted to share this with your readers.

My son, Terry, was driving to the hospital to see his wife, Terri and her new baby boy that was born at 2:00 that same day. He said it was a beautiful sight and I told him that it was a sign from God letting him know that he was looking down on us and that baby was a precious gift left in their care to love and protect. To me that was a clear message to my family that God still watches over us even in troubled times.

The rainbow is his way of telling us things will all work out for the best if we truly believe.

I want to thank him for a beautiful grandson.

Sincerely,
Josephine Lambert

Local Man Cited For Negligence In Boating Mishap

A McHenry man was cited for negligent operating early Friday morning after being involved in a boating accident near the S&H Marina at Deep Creek Lake.

According to DNR Police Officer Guy Wells, George P. Gross was charged following the 12:30 a.m. mishap which occurred when the boat operated by Gross struck a boat docked at the marina.

Wells, along with four passengers in his boat, were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where they were treated and later released for minor injuries.

Garrett County Emergency Management sent DNR Police, State Police, Deep Creek firemen, and Northern and Southern Rescue Squads to the scene.

Deep Creek Lake Sewer Project In Final Stages Of Completion

The Deep Creek Lake sewer project continues to progress toward completion with only a few minor problems still to be settled, declared Wendell Beitzel, sanitary district administrator, after the Garrett County Sanitary Commission met Tuesday night, July 2.

Progress reports from the remaining two working contractors showed that contract 11 is complete. Contract 12 is complete except for final clean-up work.

The sanitary commission accepted the project as being complete and placed it into service. Property owners were sent notification and advised to connect to the system by September 30.

Greenhorne and O'Mara engineers, Henry Doyle and Jeff Gilbert, gave engineers' reports of the project status to the commission.

Potomac Edison completed the installation of electricity to all the pump stations by July 9, 10 days ahead of schedule.

The commission formally executed an acceptance of contract nine, the sewage treatment plant, as being complete. Beitzel stated that the heavy rains have been putting a large surge of water through the treatment plant, but that the plant is handling the excess very well.

It was reported to the commission that when the power is out there is an electric feedback from the generator into the Potomac Edison line. Potomac Edison is checking it out.

An odor problem has been experienced near the pump stations. The commission requested that RK&K review all alternatives and make suggestions to correct this odor problem. The commission authorized the purchase of a blower for forcing the air through the odor control system.

The pump stations are being sealed up and hydrogen peroxide is being used to add oxygen to the sewage. The pump station at the Route 219 bridge has been sealed and the odor is under control at that point. Sanitary district personnel is working on the other pump stations. The odor problems are primarily noticed at the larger pump stations that have gravity sewage lines as well as pressure sewage lines.

It was found that one flow meter, which measures inflow, was not functioning properly where it was installed. The contractor has agreed to move it to where it will function properly.

The commission discussed design related problems and deferred any action until everything is totally completed and operational. They will then discuss these problems with RK&K.

An increase in engineer inspection fees by Greenhorne and O'Mara was discussed. This request is the result of the original delay in starting the project, which was not completed within the contract time frames. The commission approved the requested increase, subject to grant eligibility by EPA and the state health department.

Kitzmiller Water System

The Kitzmiller water impoundment is complete and filled. The water filtration plant is also completed and started. The contractor is working to solve several start-up problems.

The water tank is completed with disinfection procedures taking place. The system should be fully operational in a short period of time. The commission had previously approved change orders and executed them; changing the access road to the tank, and causing an additional change in paving as a result.

Kitzmiller Sewer

A HUD Community Development Block Grant has been approved for the Kitzmiller sewer project. The sanitary commission is awaiting final word on the design review from the state health department, and will advertise for construction bids as soon as state approval is received.

Gorman and Bloomington Sewers

Projects for sewer systems in both Gorman and Bloomington are in the same situation, waiting for state design approval.

Finzel Water

The commission briefly discussed the possibility of a Finzel water system, after receiving an inquiry from the State Highway Administration asking the commission to consider becoming involved in helping solve the salt-related water problem in Finzel.

Shallmar Water

A preliminary design has been completed. The sanitary commission will review and finalize this design and submit it to the state health department for review.

Tea Time At Miss Carrie's

by Mary I. Love

Mtn. Lake Park was, in its day, the site of many conventions. Many of its residents, however, were by no means conventional. We may have had no higher percentage of oddities than other towns, but perhaps ours were more nôticeable because of the Park's small population in the mid 1940s, when it was no longer much of a resort, but not really a town. With poor radio reception and no television, we had to look to each other for entertainment.

Miss Carrie was one of the best sources of entertainment. The possessor of a master's degree, she had taught in urban school systems and private schools. For a summer home she bought an old boarding house which had been deserted for years. It had been a beautiful example of Victorian Gothic, although when she bought it, it was more Charles Addams Gothic: broken windows, sagging porches, missing stair treads, lopsided turrets. But for Miss Carrie it was her castle.

The first day my cousin and I walked past when Miss Carrie was in residence she exuberantly called us in to have tea. There was no screening in the screen door, so I stepped through the frame. My cousin was more sensitive and carefully unlatched the frame and opened it, as a door should be opened.

Miss Carrie took us through the house, twenty-some rooms, which we toured with cautious fascination, finally coming to her third-floor private parlor. She invited us to be seated on an army cot, which promptly collapsed, pinning us on the floor with an excellent view through the ceiling and a perforated turret to the oak trees above. Miss Carrie served tea from a thermos while we were thus seated. As a hostess she had no peer.

This was the summer World War II ended and everyone was in an emotional uproar, even in our quiet community. Joy, grief, horror, thanksgiving, optimism — we were all a bit crazy during the days between the bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki and the signing of the peace treaties. Rationing and wartime restrictions were still enforced, but we knew they would be lifted shortly. Miss Carrie's attitude was that of many people when she called to us one morning as we were walking to the Post Office. "I've some gas ration stamps we might as well use and go swimming this afternoon at Deep Creek," she shouted.

That sounded delightful, but as an unimaginative killjoy, I pointed out that pleasure driving was still banned and public beaches were closed.

Undaunted, Miss Carrie said, "I'll call my good friend in town and ask if we can swim from his dock."

Telephones were scarce, so she came to our house and made an eloquent appeal to her friend, a local attorney. He commented on the legal restrictions, but Miss Carrie airily assured him that that was so much nonsense and he knew it. He weakened, gave us directions to his cottage, told us which window was unlocked, wished us a pleasant swim, and mentioned casually that he was chairman of the Ration Board and there was always a chance that the police would intercept us.

We found that last comment thought-provoking. It even occurred to us that he might notify the one State Trooper in this county of our trip and route. Miss Carrie, though, was again undaunted, and resourcefully improvised on the directions. We took a maze of unmarked county roads, finally coming to what seemed to fit the description of the site of the cottage.

The cottage didn't look quite like what we expected, but the designated window was unlocked, so the others boosted me, as the smallest, onto the window sill.

From that vantage point, it was obvious that something was wrong. Why, for instance, would a good Methodist have a crucifix over each of eight beds? While I was resisting further boosting, three young men came around the house and looked as puzzled as I felt. Miss Carrie's improvisations had led us to the dormitory of the Retreat House of Holy Cross Seminary.

We weren't so very wrong, Miss Carrie always insisted. Once the explanations were made the priests directed us the short distance to the right house.

The swim was delightful, and we took a less imaginative route home.

VCS

Vacation Church School. What fun for the kids. What a challenge for the teachers. What a rewarding experience for the directors and ministers.

Preparations are begun months ahead of the week-long annual event. Dates are set. Materials are ordered. Cookies are baked. VCS begins.

The students learn and have fun. The teachers feel more confident each day with the lessons they have prepared, either weeks ago or the night before. The directors are running around like nutsies gathering craft supplies and Band-Aids and making phone calls to nervous parents who sent a shy three-year-old out for the first time. The kitchen helpers get a quick lesson on algebra as they try to determine how much Kool-aid a pre-schooler gets in relation to how much a Jr. High student gets.

Yes, it's a lot of hard work and a bunch of fun, but you know what it's really all about when an emergency teacher obtained at the last minute to teach a three-year-old class states, "Sure, I can handle it. I mean, how much trouble can a bunch of three-year-olds be? We'll just make playdough Jesuses." Amen.

Jobless Rate In County Falls Below 10 Percent

For the first time in seemingly countless months, Garrett County's unemployment rate dipped below the 10 percent level in the month of May, according to statistics released this week by the Maryland Department of Employment and Training. The county had a 13.1 percent jobless rate in April, which plummeted over three points to 9.6 percent in May. Last May's county rate was 11.6 percent.

The sharp decrease in the Garrett County rate was attributed to a jump in construction jobs and seasonal employment.

Meanwhile, the unemployment figure for the state of Maryland dropped from 4.8 percent in April to 4.4 percent in May, the lowest for a May since 1974. The state's jobless rate has fallen steadily from this January's level of 6.1 percent.

Between April and May, Maryland's civilian labor force increased by an estimated 11,445 persons to a total of 2,255,070. Employment increased by 19,353 persons for a total of 2,156,177 persons. The number of unemployed persons decreased by an estimated 7,908 persons to 98,893.

In Garrett County, the labor force decreased from 11,984 in April to 11,825 in May. There were 1,571 unemployed in April, compared to 1,131 in May.

Since last year, the state labor force has increased by an estimated 14,770 persons, absorbing previously discouraged workers, while unemployment decreased by 17,815 persons and employment rose by an estimated 32,585 persons.

Senior Citizens Meet With Deer Park Town Council

Approximately 18 senior meal site participants from the Deer Park site met with the Deer Park Mayor and Council at the July 8 town council meeting. Their purpose for attending the meeting was to discuss the utility charges they have been paying the town for the use of the community building.

Accompanying the senior participants were Community Action representatives, Margo Vandiver, director of the Office on Aging program; Pam Nelson, Community Action operations director; and Adina Brode, coordinator of the Older American Act Program which covers meal activities.

Vandiver explained that because of federal government cutbacks, all area agencies have lost thousands of dollars in funding this year, making it impossible for them to provide the same level of service.

The seniors have been meeting for meals three days a week, paying the Deer Park Town Council $215 a month for the electricity and gas used to prepare the meals. Council members explained that they can not lower the charge for utilities because they are required to meet health department standards for the kitchen, and meet maintenance costs. The utility cost is also high because the seniors meet throughout the entire winter when the building must be heated.

Community Action offered to meet two days a week instead of three, for the cost of $155 a month. This offer was accepted by the town council.

Vandiver feels that it was a "very good" meeting. "I believe the group learned what the town council is up against, and that all concerned understands what is involved," said Vandiver.

Flood Study For Bradley Run Area Requested

The continuous flooding in the Bradley Run and Leighton Drive area of Oakland this spring has prompted county officials to try to find a solution to the water problem.

Lee Thorne, county stormwater manager, explained that the area is a natural drainage-way, which was filled in and houses built before stormwater management went into effect. The water comes from the forested hillside above the development with nothing to stop or slow the flow of water.

Thorne stated that he checked with Paul Edwards, SCS area conservationest based in Frederick, to see if the SCS still build flood control dams. Edwards told him they didn't, but, they did do flood studies when they were requested to do so by the county government in the problem area.

This prompted the Garrett County Commissioners to write an official request to Ronald Hawk, acting district conservationist of the USDA Soil Conservation Service, to conduct a flood study in the Bradley Run and Leighton Drive area, as soon as possible. They asked for any recommendations on the most cost effective way to correct the situation.

Also prompting the commissioners were numerous complaints from the residents of the area. "We are aware of their grief and hope to do something as expeditiously as we can," said Commissioner Ernest Gregg.

Thorne assumes that the SCS may recommend a diversion of some sort, he stresses, though, that whatever is recommended will only be a first step to the solution of the problem.

DNR Withdraws Proposal For Flintlock Season

The Maryland FPWS announced last week that the proposed flintlock only deer season, tentatively scheduled for November 1 and 2, will not be held.

In making the announcement, FPWS Director Donald MacLauchlan said "Following a thorough review of all comments and the recommendation of the Wildlife Advisory Commission, I have, with Dr. Brown's approval, decided to withdraw the proposed two-day flintlock season from this year's regulations. This decision ranks among my most difficult since I became involved with the wildlife program. However I believe that it fairly represents the best interests of hunters, as well as private landowners and other individuals impacted by this proposal."

The Wildlife Advisory Commission, at a meeting June 20, considered justifications for and against the season before recommending to MacLauchlan that the proposed season not be approved. Several concerns about the early flintlock season were cited, including: allowing the proposed season may set a precedent for other special-interest groups to rally for earlier seasons; that administration and enforcement of such a season would prove difficult; and that the best indication of "firearms" hunter sentiment was contained in a University of Maryland deer hunter survey (1983) which clearly indicated that the majority of hunters were strongly opposed to such a season. The fact that flintlock weapons may already be used during both the regular firearms season and the muzzleloader season was also a factor.

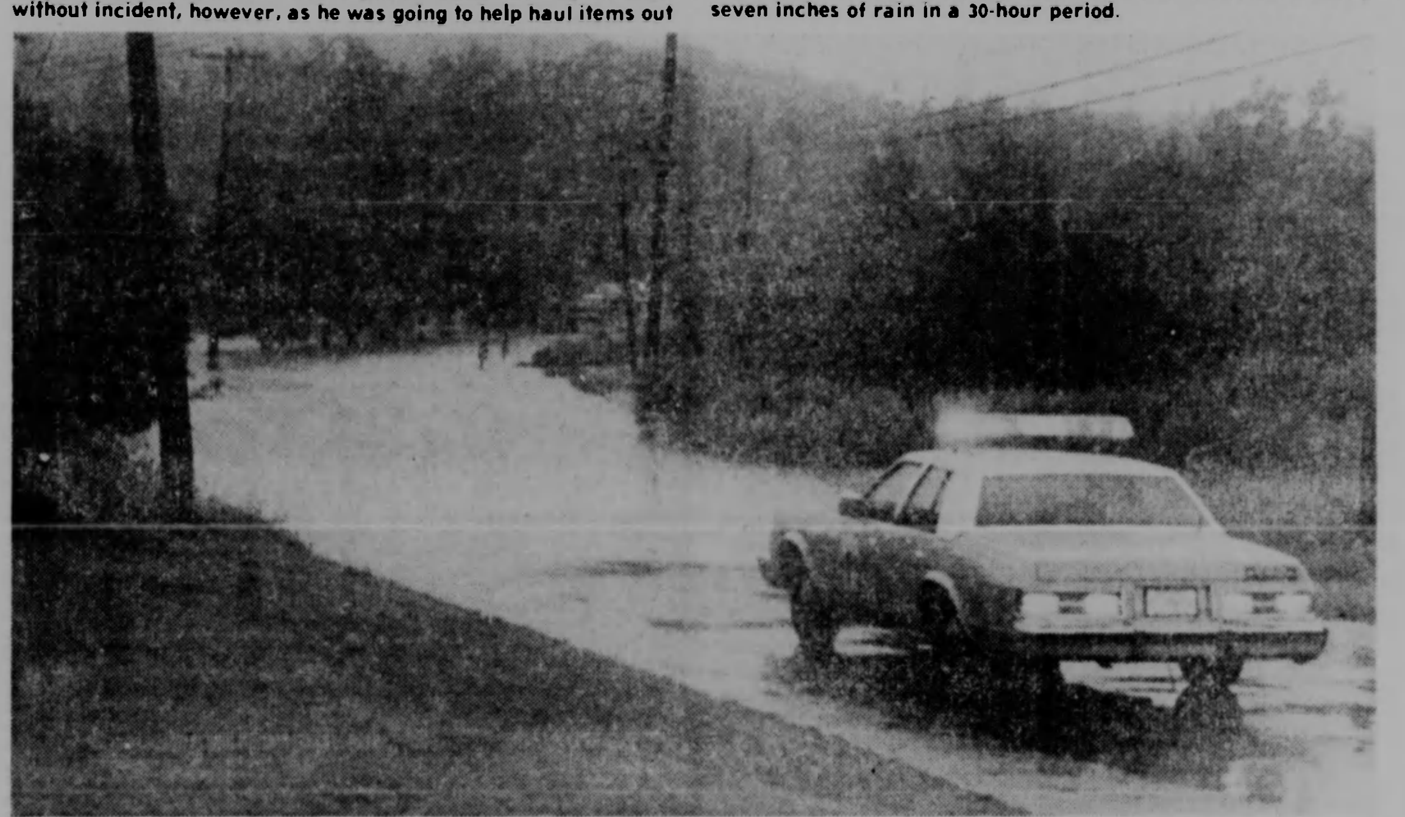
THE ARROW ON THE SIGN was the only real direction available on Woodland Drive in Oakland yesterday morning as swollen creeks completely covered the roadway. Jeff Kurilla, driving the pickup in the above photo, made his way through without incident, however, as he was going to help haul items out of the flooded basement of a nearby resident. Below is a photo of West Liberty Street about 100 yards past the entrance to Bradley Manor, which was also under about four feet of water and thereby impassable for several hours. The Oakland area received nearly seven inches of rain in a 30-hour period.



NOTICE

Any persons leaving work at John Slim Beckman's to have repaired will need to call and identify the item and make arrangements to have it picked up by July 25, 1985. Any items which have not been claimed by this date, will be sold. Anyone who has borrowed any of his tools, please return them at once.

Smith Will Spend More Time In Jail

A 20-year-old Baltimore man who was charged with attempting to escape from the Garrett County Jail will be spending more time than his original sentence there.

Daniel L. Smith was charged with attempting to escape from the jail and with malicious destruction of property by Kenneth Kenner, a correctional officer, who observed Smith chipping away at the silicone insulation surrounding a window frame in the jail on April 14.

In Garrett County District Court on July 2, Smith pled guilty to the malicious destruction of property charge and the attempted escape charge was not prosecuted.

Smith received a six-month jail term and a $25 fine from Judge Jack Turney who suspended 90 days of the sentence. The judge added an 18-month probation period to the sentence which is to run concurrently with a 12-month probation term from a previous case for which Smith had been serving the jail sentence.

Smith had been sentenced to one year in the county jail, with all but 90 days suspended, by Garrett County Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer on June 13 for escaping from the Backbone Mountain Youth Center on March 15. The judge gave him credit for time served from April 1.

Judge Turney also ordered Smith to pay $52 in restitution to the Garrett County Commissioners to be paid through the Division of Parole and Probation for the damage done to the window.

District Court Cases Noted

Garrett County District Court Judge Jack Turney, in court cases heard July 2 granted a motion to revise a sentence for a 24-year-old Friendsville man.

Lawrence Kelly, a Cumberland attorney, filed the motion for his client James L. House who was found guilty of unauthorized use of a vehicle in court on March 19.

The judge agreed to reduce House's verdict from guilty to probation before judgment. House had served 25 days in the Garrett County Jail and is to continue to serve an 18-month probationary period.

In other court cases, Judge Turney accepted a guilty plea from Michael E. Hershberger, 45, Glassport, Pa., for a disorderly conduct charge filed by Deputy Larry Gnegy, Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

The charge stemmed from a June 5 incident at 1:38 a.m. at the residence of Helen Burrell, Kitzmiller.

The judge fined Hershberger $15.

Daina R. VanMeter, 29, Mountain Lake Park, pled guilty to making a false statement to a police officer.

VanMeter was fined $80 and sentenced to six months in the Garrett County Jail. The judge suspended the jail term and placed VanMeter on 12 months of supervised probation.

The judge determined three people from Grantsville were not guilty of malicious destruction of property charges filed against them by Tfc. Larry Rosage, Maryland State Police.

The three acquitted of charges were William H. Spicher, Bonnie Spicher and Cindy M. Knox.

Twenty-Six Pound Turkey Among 676 Birds Harvested This Spring

"Boy that gobbler was big!"

And just how big was it? Ask Raymond R. Duckworth of Allegany County and he'll probably tell you that his turkey weighed 26 pounds. Lest you scoff at his reply, the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service recently confirmed that Duckworth's Allegany County gobbler, at 26 pounds, was the largest gobbler taken during Maryland's recent spring turkey season.

Second place honors go to Robert Arbogast III, who bagged a 25½ pound tom turkey in Garrett County. Close behind in third place was Jesse Winfield whose Frederick County gobbler tipped the scales at 25 pounds even.

A total of 676 turkeys, 200 in Garrett County, were bagged during the 1985 spring "gobbler" season, more than double the 1984 total of 303. A number of factors may have contributed to the record harvest, including good weather during most of the season, more hunters in the woods (possibly as a result of the two-bird bag limit), a possible increase in total turkey numbers over last year, an extra week of hunting, and a more skilled group of hunters. Results from a hunter survey conducted during the recent season are not yet available, but they may provide researchers with valuable information about hunting pressure and other factors affecting the harvest.

A total of 69 hunters took advantage of new regulations and bagged two bearded birds during the spring season. In previous years the bag limit was one bearded turkey. Again in 1986 hunters will be permitted to take two turkeys during the spring season if no turkey is harvested during the fall season. Of the 18 turkeys checked in at or above 22 pounds, eight were bagged on opening day, April 22.

The following is a list of county harvest totals for the 1984 and 1985 spring turkey seasons:

County	1985	1984
Garrett	200	82
Allegany	149	75
Washington	150	48
Frederick	103	59
Montgomery	44	17
Calvert	25	18
Harford	5	4
Total	676	303

Gobblers over 22 pounds taken in Garrett County were by Robert Arbogast III, 25½ pounds; Edward N. Carleton, 24 pounds; Tyler Cowan, 22 pounds; and Donald Mason, 22 pounds.

HOMEMADE ICE CREAM A REAL TREAT

Whether your favorite is vanilla or tutti-fruitti, you probably share an enthusiasm for frozen desserts common to millions of Americans. In fact ice cream is so popular that every man, woman and child consumes 17.5 pounds each year, according to USDA statistics.

Homemade or "old fashioned" ice cream denotes a special treat, in spite of our current lifestyles. The art of preparing your own ice cream is not easily forgotten. Everyone seems to have a favorite recipe . . . it's often attached to nostalgia . . . how it used to taste—so good!

All ice creams, of course, carry good nutritional value because their basic ingredient is milk. Homemade ice cream has the bonus of fresh flavor along with protein, calcium, vitamin A and riboflavin.

Homemade ice cream will come smooth and creamy from your freezer if a few tips are followed. Determine the right ratio of rock salt to crushed ice for uniform freezing. If the mixture freezes either too fast or too slow, a coarse texture or a spongy buttery texture results. So, it's important to know how to operate your ice cream freezer before you assemble the ingredients for your own dairy desserts.

Here are two recipes you might want to try. If your ice cream freezer is a half-gallon one that uses ice cubes and table salt, you can cut either of these recipes in half.

SPECIAL VANILLA ICE CREAM

Yield: 1 gallon
6 cups milk
4 cups whipping cream
2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon salt

Combine all ingredients in freezer can. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Chill. Churn-freeze.

MELLOW BANANA MARSHMALLOW ICE CREAM

Yield: 1 gallon
3 cups milk
1 package (10 oz.) large marshmallows
2 cups pureed ripe bananas
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
3 eggs
1½ cups sugar
3 cups whipping cream
1 tablespoon vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped maraschino cherries (optional)

Heat milk and marshmallows in a 3-quart saucepan, stirring constantly, until marshmallows are melted. Cool. Combine banana puree and lemon juice. Beat eggs until foamy in a large mixing bowl. Gradually add sugar, beat until thickened. Add cream, vanilla and salt, mix thoroughly. Blend in marshmallow mixture, bananas and maraschino cherries. Chill. Churn-freeze.

Storms

The bulk of the calls dealt with flooded basements and there was one home in the Country Club Acres area struck by lightning with minimal damage.

Potomac Edison crews worked around the clock from Monday evening to Wednesday morning due to the extensive power failures caused by lightning . A spokesman from that company said the biggest problem was lightning striking the main transformer at the Oakland substation on the Underwood Road which caused 1,375 residents in the Underwood and Pleasant Valley areas to be without power for over an hour on Monday evening and over five hours on Wednesday morning.

A total of 13 transformers were struck by lightning and had to be repaired by Potomac Edison crews. Some customers experienced partial power yesterday morning as they watched their lights go dim. The electric compnay advised when that happens it is best to unplug any appliances with a motor in the event a sudden surge of power occurs which could damage those appliances.

Neighboring West Virginia's Tucker County experienced not only severe thunderstorms, they also had two reported tornados.

One Tucker County resident said seven trees were downed on his property: two struck his house and one struck his garage. He also reported his satellite dish was "reduced to a ball of metal", and that his boat and camper top were found four miles away. He stated that all the windows were blown out of his home and that when he attempted to open his basement door to help his two children to safety, the resistance was so great it would not open. They did escape injury.

The National Weather Service says that as the air warms we can expect more storms over the weekend.

Board Adopts

ber of planners in other areas of the state and region had praised the Planning Commission members for their work on the plan and especially the rural residential zoning proposal.

The commissioners' decision drew attention of several county residents to a case pending in the Garrett County Circuit Court which would have been rendered moot had the commissioners adopted the rural residential zone.

The case involves a family who mounted a trailer on a permanent foundation on property along O'Brien Road, which is within the watershed, after the Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals denied a permit on July 6, 1984 to that family to do so.

Oakland attorney Linda Sherbin, of the law firm Stover & Sherbin, filed a suit January 2 on behalf of the county against Carolyn Fazenbaker seeking the court to either order Fazenbaker to show why she should not remove her mobile home or to issue her an order to remove the mobile home.

The case was "on hold" pending the commissioners' decision on rural residential zoning which, if approved, would have made the trailer on the permanent foundation a permitted use since the area along O'Brien Road would have been zoned rural residential. The area is currently zoned lake residential.

The case will now proceed, noted John Nelson, county zoning administrator, however, Fazenbaker does have a course of action which may allow her to keep her mobile home on the site.

Nelson noted that according to zoning regulations, an applicant who has been denied a request can re-submit a request one year after a denial. One year has passed since the zoning board denied Fazenbaker's request.

Fazenbaker filed an answer to the lawsuit in which she explains she is a widow who is working and has children to raise. "I have no other place to move," she wrote in her answer.

Fazenbaker also wrote that she purchased the 10.5-acre parcel after a fire destroyed her mobile home in 1983. She had hopes of doing some farming on the property.

She added that she believes the major reasons for the denial of her request were directed against her family and did not involve the mobile home. Zoning board members have stated that there was considerable opposition from O'Brien Road residents to the family's plans to live in a mobile home on that property.

Changes Still Intact

Despite the deletion of the rural residential zone and maintaining commercial zoning at the Mayhew Inn Road intersection, other changes in the revised plan were approved by the commissioners.

Among the major revisions left intact was the proposal to re-zone five acres at the head of Marsh Hill Road where it intersects with Sang Run Road from town residential to town center. Also re-zoned were approximately 18 acres along Marsh Hill Road, adjoining the new town center zone, from lake residential to town residential. This new zoning would not include the Wisp Ski Area, located in that vicinity.

Also adopted was an expansion of the boundaries of the zoning at Thayerville. The town center zone was expanded northward along Route 219 to include property slightly beyond The Trading Post.

The zoning south of Thayerville which was approved was to extend the town residential zone along the east side of Rt. 219 just south of the Mayhew Inn Road, but not including the section occupied by a gas station and a restaurant which remains commercially zoned. The property re-zoned was lake residential.

Man Needs Shots After Handling Rabid Raccoon

The Clyde Smith farm near Maple Grove Road was the site of another rabid raccoon discovery. According to health department official, Rodney Glotfelty, at 1 p.m. on July 2, the raccoon came out of a field and walked toward a barn where Dan Tice and Paul Lichty were working. Tice, who was operating a tractor at the time, ran over the raccoon but failed to kill it. The raccoon was then killed with a rock.

Not realizing that it was very unusual for the raccoon to have been in the open that time of day, Lichty picked it up by the tail, intending to skin it. It was then decided that the health department should be called.

The lab tests, which came back July 3, proved the raccoon positive to rabies, and Lichty began a series of shots on July 5.

Glotfelty reported that most of the county is now involved in the rabies epidemic, with the exception of the far north-western area around Friendsville, where no cases have been reported.

Judge Convicts Three Persons In DWI Cases

Garrett County District Court Judge Jack Turney convicted three persons on charges of driving while under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol and levied fines on each during traffic court cases July 3.

Receiving fines were Charles Leroy Guthrie, $1,000; Clement Bushrod Hardesty, $500, $300 suspended; and David Wayne Troshak, $500, $300 suspended.

Zion LCW Meets

The Lutheran Women of Zion, Jennings, held their monthly meeting at the church on July 2, with six members present.

Leota Baker presented the topic "Alcoholism, One Woman's Journey." The program addressed one of society's major social and medical problems and was designed to help the group recognize the nature of alcoholism and ways in which those addicted can secure help. It also examined the role of the community in the use and abuse of alcohol.

The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Nora Stahl, and Mrs. Lee Broadwater led the singing of "God of Grace and God of Glory." Each member was given a bookmark inscribed with the Serenity Prayer which was prayed in unison to conclude the devotions.

Mrs. Nellie Yommer conducted the business meeting.

An offering received in honor of Pastor and Mrs. David Rockwood as a tribute of gratitude for their ministry in the Bittinger Parish was forwarded to LCW Specific Ministries, designated for ministry with deaf persons.

A gift offering was received from Mrs. Herman C. Meyers, a former member of Zion's LCW.

The president read correspondence received from the auxiliary concerning increased stewardship of the congregational organization.

A letter from Miss Marcette Danner was shared with the group, telling of the surprise reception and worship service planned by St. Mark's Lutheran congregation in Oakland to honor her on her 40th birthday, and her 25th anniversary as a church organist.

It was noted that subscriptions to the devotional guide "Light for Today" are due next month.

The meeting adjourned with the missionary benediction and Mrs. Broadwater leading the group in singing.

Something To Think About
R. Mark Durst
DIRECTOR
THE FAMILY LOT
In preplanning a funeral, one thing you will want to settle is the matter of the cemetery lot. If your family already has one, customarily that will be your choice. On the other hand, if there is no family lot, you might consider starting one.
It's a lovely tradition, but there are a number of factors to consider before making such an investment. Will you be living around this area long enough to make this grave a real memorial? Will family members remain in the area in large enough numbers to make a group of graves together a meaningful plan? With the mobility of society today, the family lot is a custom which is not always practical.
A double lot for you and your spouse is another choice. Again, there are factors to be weighed. If you both are getting older, are settled in your area, and it appears unlikely that either of you will remarry if the other should die, then it might be a good alternative.

Farm Bureau Seeks 1985 Farm Queen Contestants

Young Garrett County farm women have the opportunity to represent agriculture by becoming the 1985 Garrett County Farm Queen. Farm Bureau is seeking contestants for the 1985 Farm Queen Contest who are age 16 to 19 as of August 25, and belong, or whose family belongs, to the Garrett County Farm Bureau.

The Garrett County Farm Queen acts as a representative for agriculture and the Farm Bureau throughout the year at the county fair, local parades, banquets and conferences, plus, participates in the Maryland Farm Queen Contest at the State Fair in Timonium.

The county contest will be held Sunday, August 11, in the grandstand at the Garrett County Fairgrounds at 8 p.m. The contest follows the inter-denominational vesper program. The public is invited to attend.

Entrants will be judged on speaking ability, community and school activities, their farm background and personality.

"The Farm Queen Contest holds the opportunity to meet new people, make many friends, share one's knowledge about farming, plus learn new ideas and abilities through the experience," explained Valerie A. Frazee of the Farm Bureau's Farm Queen committee.

For more information, or to make contest entries, those interested may call Ms. Frazee at 746-5935. The deadline for entries is July 25.

SS Reps Attend Dealer Conference

Rex Hoalcraft and Forrest Blamble, representing Southern States Oakland Coop, Mt. Lake Park, attended a Southern States Cooperative June Dealer Conference held at the Roanoke Civic Center Auditorium in Roanoke, Va., on June 18.

The session was held for training and informing Southern States retail personnel about products and service programs so they could give maximum service to local farmers this fall.

Among the merchandising programs featured at the conference were ones on feed, seed, fertilizer, farm supplies, water systems, batteries and automotive accessories.

The sessions were conducted by the cooperative's commodity specialists and supplier representatives. The conference was held in conjunction with the Southern States Cavalcade '85 Product Show, where dealers were able to view new products and place orders for supplies for the coming months.

July 15 Is Last Day To Report Corn Acres

Maryland farmers who have planted corn and other spring seeded crops still have a few days to report the acreages to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. The final reporting date is July 15, Olin S. Davis, Jr., chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said.

Program participants are required to report crops and acreages planted and the uses to be made of these crops, acreage conservation reserve and acres diverted for payment. Non-participants need to report their crops to insure future benefits and to protect acreage bases.

After farmers report their 1985 planted, diversion, conservation reserve and other program acres, ASCS will randomly check farms to verify that the acreage reports are accurate.

To be sure of planted acres, farmers can request measurement service. For a fee, ASCS will measure planted crops before farmers report acreages. "The fee covers the cost of the farm visit and acreage determination," Davis said. He said this is a valuable service not only to producers participating in the acreage reduction and land diversion programs, but to any farmer who desires an accurate acreage for any reason.

Before program participants can receive the benefits of price support, deficiency payments and land diversion payments, Davis said the entire farm must be certified correctly.

Crops may be reported at any time between 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. at county ASCS offices. Farmers who have not reported their acreages are urged by Davis to do so as soon as possible.

Soil Moisture Adequate Here, Low Elsewhere

Soil moisture supplies were further depleted during the week ending June 30, according to the Maryland Crop Reporting Service. Topsoil moisture is now in short supply over the entire state. Subsoil moisture is adequate in northern and western Maryland, but mostly short elsewhere. Farmers had an average of over 6.5 days suitable to harvest small grains, peas, snap beans, cucumbers, and hay and to finalize soybean planting.

Dry weather during the week enabled small grain farmers to make excellent progress in harvesting their crops. Wheat finished turning during the week, one week ahead of the normal completion date. Wheat harvest at 75 percent complete is two weeks ahead of last year's 25 percent and 40 percentage points ahead of the average 35 percent harvested by the end of June.

Barley harvest was virtually completed during the week, two weeks ahead of both last year and the normal completion rate. Last year 65 percent of the barley was harvested by June 30 and the average harvest rate is 80 percent by this date. Oats acreage was 30 percent harvested by June 30. This is one week in front of last year and 10 percent ahead of the average pace of 20 percent harvested.

Rye harvested was 60 percent complete at week's end. This rate is a few days ahead of last year and the normal rate of 50 percent.

First cuttings of other hay were completed during the week, equal to the progress of last year, but more than two weeks head of the normal progress for this time of year. The second cutting of other hay had been completed on 30 percent of the acreage by week's end, nearly a week and a half ahead of last year's 10 percent. Normal progress on the second cutting of other hay is about 20 percent.

Sixty percent of the alfalfa hay acreage had been cut over twice by June 30. This is eleven days ahead of last year's 25 percent and 30 percent ahead of the average progress for the second cutting.

Vegetable harvest was complete on pea acreage, 35 percent complete on snap bean acreage and 20 percent complete on cucumber acreage. Last year at this time, peas were 90 percent harvested, snap beans 25 percent harvested, and cucumbers 15 percent harvested. The average percentages harvested by June 30 for these crops are 80 percent, 25 percent and 15 percent respectively.

Stop Vine Borers

Summer squash such as Yellow Straight and Crooked Neck, Zucchini and Patty Pan are popular garden crops. These are all bush type plants that can produce many fruits during the harvest season. But, more often than not, summer squash are damaged by insects called Squash Vine Borers. They kill plants long before maximum harvest is obtained. Squash Vine Borers come to plants, not from the soil, but as eggs laid by a moth which visits plants at night. These eggs hatch and worms chew into the main stem of summer squash plants. The first noticeable symptoms are leaves which droop like umbrellas on a hot sunny day. As borers feed, the plant wilts and eventually dies. To protect against vine borers, apply Sevin as a dust or a spray to the base of the plant and along the main stem. Treatment will be needed every five days for at least five applications. Once the borer is in the stem there is no insecticide that will kill them.

Japanese Beetles on Corn

Japanese Beetles are beginning to emerge but so far have not been troublesome. In all likelihood, the largest population could occur when the corn is silking. Two types of damage can happen: (1) Cutting off the fresh green silks before pollination is completed, and (2) feeding on exposed kernels. Losses from the feeding on exposed ear tips are minor importance. However, losses from silk clipping before pollination can be serious. Silking on field corn occurs over a 5-7 day period; however, silks need to be exposed to pollen for only seven hours to secure fertilization. Thus, to reduce yields, beetles have to attack the green silks as they emerge from the ear tip and continue feeding, almost without cessation, for five to six days. For this reason, ears attacked by Japanese Beetles seldom exhibit complete reduction of kernels and more often than not, are normal because silks had a chance to pollinate. Although the justification for controlling this pest is questionable, a rule of thumb calls for control action when more than 50% of ears have fresh silks being cut off and pollen is present. Too often, growers treat corn which is mostly pollinated or has damage confined only to the border rows. Also many infested fields are treated too late—after the tassels have shed their pollen. If pollen is lacking, there is no need to treat even though beetle numbers are high.

Farm Bureau Seeks 1985 Farm Queen Contestants

Young Garrett County farm women have the opportunity to represent agriculture by becoming the 1985 Garrett County Farm Queen. Farm Bureau is seeking contestants for the 1985 Farm Queen Contest who are age 16 to 19 as of August 25, and belong, or whose family belongs, to the Garrett County Farm Bureau.

The Garrett County Farm Queen acts as a representative for agriculture and the Farm Bureau throughout the year at the county fair, local parades, banquets and conferences, plus, participates in the Maryland Farm Queen Contest at the State Fair in Timonium.

The county contest will be held Sunday, August 11, in the grandstand at the Garrett County Fairgrounds at 8 p.m. The contest follows the interdenominational vesper program. The public is invited to attend.

Entrants will be judged on speaking ability, community and school activities, their farm background and personality.

"The Farm Queen Contest holds the opportunity to meet new people, make many friends, share one's knowledge about farming, plus learn new ideas and abilities through the experience," explained Valerie A. Frazee of the Farm Bureau's Farm Queen committee.

For more information, or to make contest entries, those interested may call Ms. Frazee at 746-5935. The deadline for entries is July 25.

Pictured at right is Dove Wassell, first runner-up. Single Garrett County farm women, ages 16 to 19, as of August 25, are invited to enter the Farm Queen Contest at the Garrett County Fair. The winner will represent agriculture and the Farm Bureau throughout the year. The deadline for entries is July 25, and those interested may call Valerie A. Frazee at 746-5935.

SS Reps Attend Dealer Conference

Rex Hoalcraft and Forrest Blamble, representing Southern States Oakland Coop, Mt. Lake Park, attended a Southern States Cooperative June Dealer Conference held at the Roanoke Civic Center Auditorium in Roanoke, Va., on June 18.

The session was held for training and informing Southern States retail personnel about products and service programs so they could give maximum service to local farmers this fall.

Among the merchandising programs featured at the conference were ones on feed, seed, fertilizer, farm supplies, water systems, batteries and automotive accessories.

The sessions were conducted by the cooperative's commodity specialists and supplier representatives. The conference was held in conjunction with the Southern States Cavalcade '85 Product Show, where dealers were able to view new products and place orders for supplies for the coming months.

July 15 Is Last Day To Report Corn Acres

Maryland farmers who have planted corn and other spring seeded crops still have a few days to report the acreages to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. The final reporting date is July 15, Olin S. Davis, Jr., chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said.

Program participants are required to report crops and acreages planted and the uses to be made of these crops, acreage conservation reserve and acres diverted for payment. Nonparticipants need to report their crops to insure future benefits and to protect acreage bases.

After farmers report their 1985 planted, diversion, conservation reserve and other program acres, ASCS will randomly check farms to verify that the acreage reports are accurate.

To be sure of planted acres, farmers can request measurement service. For a fee, ASCS will measure planted crops before farmers report acreages. "The fee covers the cost of the farm visit and acreage determination," Davis said. He said this is a valuable service not only to producers participating in the acreage reduction and land diversion programs, but to any farmer who desires an accurate acreage for any reason.

Before program participants can receive the benefits of price support, deficiency payments and land diversion payments, Davis said the entire farm must be certified correctly.

Crops may be reported at any time between 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. at county ASCS offices. Farmers who have not reported their acreages are urged by Davis to do so as soon as possible.

Soil Moisture Adequate Here, Low Elsewhere

Soil moisture supplies were further depleted during the week ending June 30, according to the Maryland Crop Reporting Service. Topsoil moisture is now in short supply over the entire state. Subsoil moisture is adequate in northern and western Maryland, but mostly short elsewhere. Farmers had an average of over 6.5 days suitable to harvest small grains, peas, snap beans, cucumbers, and hay and to finalize soybean planting.

Dry weather during the week enabled small grain farmers to make excellent progress in harvesting their crops. Wheat finished turning during the week, one week ahead of the normal completion date. Wheat harvest at 75 percent complete is two weeks ahead of last year's 25 percent and 40 percentage points ahead of the average 35 percent harvested by the end of June.

Barley harvest was virtually completed during the week, two weeks ahead of both last year and the normal completion rate. Last year 65 percent of the barley was harvested by June 30 and the average harvest rate is 80 percent by this date. Oats acreage was 30 percent harvested by June 30. This is one week in front of last year and 10 percent ahead of the average pace of 20 percent harvested.

Rye harvested was 60 percent complete at week's end. This rate is a few days ahead of last year and the normal rate of 50 percent.

First cuttings of other hay were completed during the week, equal to the progress of last year, but more than two weeks head of the normal progress for this time of year. The second cutting of other hay had been completed on 30 percent of the acreage by week's end, nearly a week and a half ahead of last year's 10 percent. Normal progress on the second cutting of other hay is about 20 percent.

Sixty percent of the alfalfa hay acreage had been cut over twice by June 30. This is eleven days ahead of last year's 25 percent and 30 percent ahead of the average progress for the second cutting.

Vegetable harvest was complete on pea acreage, 35 percent complete on snap bean acreage and 20 percent complete on cucumber acreage. Last year at this time, peas were 90 percent harvested, snap beans 25 percent harvested, and cucumbers 15 percent harvested. The average percentages harvested by June 30 for these crops are 80 percent, 25 percent and 15 percent respectively.

Stop Vine Borers

Summer squash such as Yellow Straight and Crooked Neck, Zucchini and Patty Pan are popular garden crops. These are all bush type plants that can produce many fruits during the harvest season. But, more often than not, summer squash are damaged by insects called Squash Vine Borers. They kill plants long before maximum harvest is obtained. Squash Vine Borers come to plants, hot from the soil, but as eggs laid by a moth which visits plants at night. These eggs hatch and worms chew into the main stem of summer squash plants. The first noticeable symptoms are leaves which droop like umbrellas on a hot sunny day. As borers feed, the plant wilts and eventually dies. To protect against vine borers, apply Sevin as a dust or a spray to the base of the plant and along tne main stem. Treatment will be needed every five days for at least five applications. Once the borer is in the stem there is no insecticide that will kill them.

Japanese Beetles on Corn

Japanese Beetles are beginning to emerge but so far have not been troublesome. In all likelihood, the largest population could occur when the corn is silking. Two types of damage can happen: (1) Cutting off the fresh green silks before pollination is completed, and (2) feeding on exposed kernels. Losses from the feeding on exposed ear tips are minor importance. However, losses from silk clipping before pollination can be serious. Silking on field corn occurs over a 5-7 day period; however, silks need to be exposed to pollen for only seven hours to secure fertilization. Thus, to reduce yields, beetles have to attack the green silks as they emerge from the ear tip and continue feeding, almost without cessation, for five to six days. For this reason, ears attacked by Japanese Beetles seldom exhibit complete reduction of kernels and more often than not, are normal because silks had a chance to pollinate. Although the justification for controlling this pest is questionable, a rule of thumb calls for control action when more than 50% of ears have fresh silks being cut off and pollen is present. Too often, growers treat corn which is mostly pollinated or has damage confined only to the border rows. Also many infested fields are treated too late—after the tassels have shed their pollen. If pollen is lacking, there is no need to treat even though beetle numbers are high.

Although dozens of basements were filled with water, there was no report of injury related to the severe storm.

RESCUED from an agonizing death by starvation recently was this mixed Doberman-German Shepherd dog which has since been appropriately named "Lucky". Mr. and Mrs. Ed Grove, Selbysport, found the dog, took him home and began to nurse him back to health. According to Bernadine Friend, of the Garrett County Chapter of the Humane Society, the animal was so weak from hunger that he could barely stand. The Society is now seeking a home for Lucky and interested persons may call 746-5725. Sherry Couch Friend and Mary Weeks, officers in the Garrett County Chapter, stated that Article 27 of the Annotated Code of Maryland makes abandoning animals against the law. Ms. Friend said that most people do not realize that about 75 percent of abandoned animals perish because they cannot fend for themselves. She encouraged persons to contact the Society or the Garrett County Animal Shelter if they have animals that they wish to give away.

Miss Fleming Becomes Bride Of Mr. Davis During May 4 Ceremony

Lucinda J. Fleming and Steven Douglas Davis were united in marriage on May 4. The double-ring ceremony took place at the Otterbein U.M. Church in Swanton with Rev. Hal Rotruck officiating. Mrs. Kathy Rotruck was pianist with Dawn Crock and Kim and Tim Rush as vocalists.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fleming, Swanton. Mr. Davis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davis, also of Swanton.

Given in marriage by her parents, and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a formal Victorian gown of satin and lace. The fitted bodice featured a Queen Anne collar of lace on a Chantilly yoke enhanced with appliques of lace and seed pearls, with Chantilly pouf shoulders and fitted sleeves. The princess waist fell to a full skirt of flowing candlelight satin, accented with cascading appliques of lace and seed pearls, which swept to a mini-cathedral train that was also enhanced with appliques of lace and seed pearls. The matching headpiece of satin and lace was also adorned with silk flowers and seed pearls and it held the floor length veil of bridal illusion. The floor length cascading bridal white bouquet was composed of roses, mini carnations, baby's breath, and English ivy. The bride's and bridesmaids' gowns were created by "Ginger" of Barton (Mrs. Gary Duckworth, aunt of the groom).

Joni Scarpa, Winter Haven, Fla., served as her cousin's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Lawre and Lissa Fleming, sisters of the bride, and Becky Davis, sister of the groom. Addy Wilson served as junior bridesmaid and carried the family wedding Bible. Holly Wilson was flower girl. Both are cousins of the bride.

Lorena Carr attended the guest book and presented programs. Tina Fleming and Joni Wilson, cousins of the bride, distributed rice packets and thank-you ribbons to the wedding guests.

Andy Davis, Swanton, served as his cousin's best man. Ushers were Rick Tasker, cousin of the groom; Gus Davis, brother of the groom; and Randy Virts, friend. Albert Fleming II, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

A reception was held following the ceremony at Deer Park Fire Hall. A garden arbor and flowers were used to decorate the room. Ms. Christain Teets, aunt of the bride, catered the event. Ms. Wandell Rizer baked and decorated the bridal white tiered cake which featured a fountain and bridges, leading to side cakes. Mrs. Chloie Santos, cousin of the bride, served the cake. Mrs. Encie Teets and Mrs. Helen Marley, aunts of the bride and groom, served the punch.

Out-of-town guests were from Holland, Florida, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

The bride hosted a brunch at her home to honor her attendants prior to the wedding. The rehearsal dinner was prepared and served by the Otterbein United Methodist Women at the Swanton Community Center.

The bride was guest of honor at showers given by Mrs. Mary Lou Wilson, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Lenora Davis and Mrs. Linda Fleming, parents of the bride and groom.

The couple has established residence in Swanton.

DHR Head Files Suit Against Federal Govt.

Charging the federal government with requiring Maryland's poor to choose between food and heat, State Department of Human Resources Secretary Ruth Massinga, has filed suit in Federal Court in Baltimore.

The suit is seeking to overturn a decision by the United States Department of Agriculture denying Maryland's request for a waiver which would allow welfare recipients to receive the full value of the $17 million energy grant increase. The Legal Aid Bureau is joining DHR in this suit on behalf of affected recipients.

USDA's insistence on DHR implementing federal policy means that $5.1 million of the $17 million energy grant increase approved by the General Assembly in April will be saved by USDA rather than being spent on the poor people of Maryland, the suit alleges. For each dollar the state designated for energy assistance, USDA will deprive public assistance recipients of 30 cents in food stamp benefits, according to Massinga.

DHR is also seeking preliminary injunctive relief to avoid federal sanctions pending a ruling from the court on the merits of the case.

In an attempt to bring clients closer to the state standard of need, Governor Harry Hughes sought and received a six percent increase from the General Assembly for families receiving public assistance.

"Our clients stand to lose more than $5 million in food stamp benefits. This is a classic example of the federal government backing away from its obligation to the poor, by shifting its costs to the states. This action goes further because it insists that we penalize the poor directly, even after the Governor and the general assembly have made increased energy benefits available," said the Secretary.

She went on to add, "At a time when we are all alarmed at the increased numbers of children and families in poverty, this decision is not only bad fiscal policy but terrible social policy. The implication of denying the full value of food stamp benefits to Maryland families in clear: The poor are getting poorer, even when we try to help them out."

MFA/MLA To Hold Operators' Training Session

A special meeting and training session will be held for forest product operators in Garrett and Allegany Counties on July 16, at 7 p.m. at the Bittinger Fire Hall. The operators will have an opportunity to meet state training requirements.

The training session is sponsored by the Maryland Forest Association and the Maryland Lumbermen's Association and will give instruction on how to prepare a sediment control plan now required by the Department of Natural Resources. A personal certificate of training is also now required by the D.N.R. and those certificates will be issued to anyone attending the training session.

Bill Scherer of the Maryland Forest Association and John Hill of the Maryland Lumbermen's Association will be conducting the special meeting and training session.

Judge Orders Pre-Sentence Investigations

Pre-sentence investigations were ordered by District Court Judge Miller Bowen for two Rockwood, Pa. residents during criminal cases heard in the Garrett County District Court on June 25.

The judge convicted Nancy Lee Dudgeon, 39, and Robert D. Kemp, 57, on charges stemming from a May 27 fight at the Oakland Motel.

In court records, Cpl. Ronald Beeghly, of the Oakland City Police, reported that Kemp struck James Folk in the nose. When Beeghly attempted to arrest Kemp, he stated that Dudgeon interferred with the arrest.

Dudgeon was convicted of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest, but was acquitted of battery and wanton trespassing. Kemp was convicted of battery and disorderly conduct, but was acquitted of wanton trespassing and resisting arrest.

The judge convicted Arnold Miller, 19, Oakland, of wanton trespassing as charged by Viola Braham, Mountain Lake Park, after a May 24 incident. Miller was fined $100 and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. The judge suspended the fine and court costs.

Donald Ernest Walker, 21, Mountain Lake Park, pled guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct as charged by Charles E. Warfield, Oakland. The judge fined him $25.

Warfield charged Walker after an incident on Oak Street, near Cee Dee Restaurant, on May 25.

A motion to amend the order for probation for Brian Whitehouse, Fairmont, W. Va., was granted by Judge Bowen. Whitehouse had been placed on 18 months of supervised probation for the January 18 theft of a pair of skis at the Wisp Ski Resort, McHenry.

Whitehouse's probation period was reduced to one year. He was represented by John Toston, public defender.

State's Attorney James Sherbin, who represented the state during the June 25 court trials, did not prosecute a battery charge against Ronald S. Friend, 20, Oakland, because the complainant, Lori M. Friend, Frostburg, chose not to testify.

The judge found Randy W. Nazelrod, 20, Lottsburg, Va., not guilty of assault as charged by Dorothy DeWitt, Bruceton Mills, W. Va. DeWitt had also charged Nazelrod with kidnapping her on May 19 in Friendsville, but that charge was not prosecuted.

Nazelrod was represented by John Toston.

A theft charge against Wanda Bowser, 35, Friendsville, filed by Hilda Wilburn, Grantsville, was placed on the stet docket.

A case involving an assault charge against Delbert E. Friend, 48, Mountain Lake Park, was transferred to Circuit Court. Deputy Richard Kutchman, Garrett County Sheriff's Department, charged Friend with assault against Ernest Foglepole, Jr., with a rifle on June 20, 1984.

Hughes Announces Extension Of Medicare Waiver

Maryland Governor Harry Hughes announced recently that the federal government has extended it Medicare waiver for Maryland, thereby continuing the availability of health care for needy residents without increased cost to the State.

"This waiver has saved the people of Maryland $1.5 billion in health care costs since 1977," the Governor said, "and its extension serves as recognition of our successful efforts to control the rise of these costs."

A key factor in the government action was a monitoring report showing that the average Medicare cost per case rose at a rate well below the national average.

Notice of the waiver extension came in a letter to the Governor from Carolyn K. Davis, administrator of the Health Care Financing Administration of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

The waiver enables the State to continue its all-payer system under which all payers—the federal government, the State, hospital insurance plans and private patients—share the costs of treating medically indigent patients. Such costs totaled $142 million in 1984 alone.

Only three other states—Massachusetts, New York and New Jersey—have been granted the waiver.

In states without the waiver, Medicare payments to hospitals are based on the average cost per admission for a particular illness. However, this average does not include bad-debt or medically indigent cases.

By closely monitoring and controlling health-care costs through its specially created Health Services Cost Review Commission, Maryland has experienced a rise in health-care costs of only 20.27 percent from 1981-84, compared with a rise of 21.6 percent in the national average.

"We rely heavily on our all-payer system to make health care available to all citizens, regardless of their financial status," said Governor Hughes. "Medicare accounts for 39 percent of all hospital bill payments, and the waiver extension will enable us to continue this policy of health-care availability.

DAVA Announces Raffle Winners

Mt. Top Unit 29, Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary, announced the winners of its quilt raffle, held Friday, July 5, at the Radio Shack in Oakland.

Anna Stinson, Mtn. Lake Park, won the first prize, an appliqued quilt donated to the Unit by Louise Harvey, Friendsville, who is a disabled American veteran.

The second prize of a $100 certificate, donated by Ralph's Richfood and an anonymous donor, was won by Jim Weeks, Deer Park. Marian Patterson, Bethel Park, Pa., was the winner of the third prize, a $50 series EE savings bond, donated by the First United National Bank and Trust.

Drawing the winning tickets for the first, second, and third prizes, respectively, were Larry Parker, manager at Radio Shack; Melinda Wright, salesperson; and Paul Warnick, salesperson. Also present at the drawing were Roger Artice, service technician, and Charles Teets, computer consultant. The Radio Shack and its personnel assisted and supported the DAVA in this effort, according to a Unit spokesperson.

Golden Chain Club To Meet July 18

The Golden Chain Club will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, July 18, at 1 p.m. in the social room of St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland. Each person is asked to bring a white elephant gift. Games are scheduled to take place following the business meeting.

Potomac Edison Notes Start Of "Radio Watch"

The Potomac Edison Company, in cooperation with the Maryland State Police, has launched a new community service program designed to assist local law enforcement and emergency agencies in reporting suspicious events and crisis situations.

Under the auspices of Radio Watch, Potomac Edison employees who operate radio-equipped vehicles will help these agencies increase their efficiency by acting as eyes and ears throughout the community during the course of their work day.

PE employees have been trained to observe and report emergencies or suspicious activities to their base stations via their car or truck radios. The base station operators will then contact the Maryland State Police, who in turn will contact the appropriate enforcement or assistance agency.

Radio Watch decals will be displayed on Potomac Edison vehicles for easy identification by members of the public, who may ask company operators to report or relay emergency messages.

Employee participation will be limited to observing and reporting accidents, fires, safety hazards, suspicious acts and crimes.

State Income Tax Tops $3 Billion For First Time

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said that, for the first time in the history of the Maryland income tax, gross receipts topped the three billion dollar mark.

For the first 11 months of Fiscal Year 1985, gross receipts totalled $3,124,692,054. "Of course, some of that revenue goes back to the taxpayers as refunds," Goldstein said.

For the first 11 months of Fiscal Year 1985, state and local income tax net receipts (gross receipts less refunds) totaled $2,675,356,804. "This is an increase of 12.1% over the $2,386,361,027 collected during the same period last year," Goldstein said. "This kind of increase will enable us to meet the revenue estimate for the 1985 Fiscal Year."

For the month of June, 1985, net receipts from state and local income taxes amounted to $287,072,005, an increase of 14.4% over the $250,889,138 collected during the same month of last year.

The following Articles of Association of the new First United National Bank & Trust is published pursuant to a reorganization of First United, which reorganization was consummated effective at 12:01 a.m., July 1, 1985. The reorganization effected a merger of First United National Bank & Trust into the charter of First United Interim National Bank, the resulting bank, but with the name of the former. The resulting bank then became a subsidiary of the holding company, First United Corporation, with the exchange of two shares of stock of the holding company for each share of the bank.

ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION FIRST UNITED NATIONAL BANK & TRUST

For the purpose of organizing an association to carry on business of banking under the laws of the United States, the undersigned do enter into the following Articles of Association:

FIRST: The title of this Association shall be First United Interim National Bank.

SECOND: The main office of the Association shall be in Oakland, County of Garrett, State of Maryland.

The general business of the Association shall be conducted at its main office and its branches.

THIRD: The Board of Directors of the Association shall consist of not less than five nor more than twenty-five shareholders, the exact number to be fixed and determined from time to time by resolution of a majority of the full Board of Directors or by resolution of the shareholders at any annual or special meeting thereof. Each Director, during the full term of his directorship, shall own a minimum of $1,000 par value of stock of the Association or $1,000 par value, market value or equity interest in the Association's bank holding company, First United Corporation, a Maryland corporation. Any vacancy in the Board of Directors for any reason, including an increase in the number thereof, may be filled by action of the Board of Directors.

FOURTH: There shall be an annual meeting of the shareholders the purpose of which shall be the election of directors and the transaction of whatever other business may be brought before said meeting. It shall be held at the main office or other convenient place as the Board of Directors may designate, on the day of each year specified therefore in the Bylaws, but if no election is held on that day, it may be held on any subsequent day according to such lawful rules as may be prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Nominations for election to the Board of Directors may be made by the Board of Directors or by any stockholder of any outstanding class of capital stock of the Association entitled to vote for election of directors. Nominations, other than those made by or on behalf of the existing management of the Association, shall be made in writing and shall be delivered or mailed to the President of the Association and to the Comptroller of the Currency, Washington, D.C., not less than fourteen days nor more than fifty days prior to any meeting of stockholders called for the election of directors, provided, however, that if less than twenty-one days' notice of the meeting is given to shareholders, such nominations shall be mailed or delivered to the President of the Association and to the Comptroller of the Currency not later than the close of business on the seventh day following the day on which the notice of meeting was mailed. Such notification shall contain the following information to the extent known to the notifying shareholder: (a) the name and address of each proposed nominee; (b) the principal occupation of each proposed nominee; (c) the total number of shares of capital stock of the Association that will be voted for each proposed nominee; (d) the name and residence address of the notifying shareholder; and (e) the number of shares of capital stock of the Association owned by the notifying shareholder. Nominations not made in accordance herewith may, in his/her discretion, be disregarded by the Chairperson of the meeting, and upon his/her instructions, the vote tellers may disregard all votes cast for each such nominee.

FIFTH: The authorized amount of capital stock of this Association shall be 5,000 shares of common stock of the par value of Ten Dollars ($10.00) each, but said capital stock may be increased or decreased from time to time, in accordance with the provisions of the laws of the United States.

No holder of shares of the capital stock of any class of the Association shall have any preemptive or preferential right of subscription to any shares of any class of stock of the Association, whether now or hereafter authorized, or to any obligations convertible into stock of the Association, issued, or sold, nor any right of subscription to any thereof other than such, if any, as the Board of Directors, in its discretion may from time to time determine and at such price as the Board of Directors may from time to time fix.

The Association, at any time and from time to time, may authorize and issue debt obligations, whether or not subordinated, without the approval of the shareholders.

SIXTH: The Board of Directors shall appoint one of its members President of the Association, who shall be Chairperson of the Board, unless the Board appoints another director to be the Chairperson. The Board of Directors shall have the power to appoint one or more Vice Presidents, and to appoint a Cashier and such other officers and employees as may be required to transact the business of the Association.

The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and employees of the Association; to fix the salaries to be paid to them; to dismiss them; to require bonds from them and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which any increase of the capital of the Association shall be made; to manage and administer the business and affairs of the Association; to make all Bylaws that it may be lawful for them to make; and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a Board of Directors to do and perform.

SEVENTH: The Board of Directors shall have the power to change the location of the main office to any other place within the limits of Oakland, Maryland, without the approval of the shareholders but subject to the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency; and shall have the power to establish or change the location of any branch or branches of the Association to any other location, without the approval of the shareholders but subject to the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency.

EIGHTH: The corporate existence of the Association shall continue until terminated in accordance with the laws of the United States.

NINTH: The Board of Directors of the Association, or any three or more shareholders owning, in the aggregate, not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the stock of the Association, may call a special meeting of shareholders at any time. Unless otherwise provided by the laws of the United States, a notice of the time, place, and purpose of every annual and special meeting of the shareholders shall be given by first class mail, postage prepaid, mailed at least ten days prior to the date of such meeting to each shareholder of record at his address as shown upon the books of the Association.

TENTH: Any person, his/her heirs, executors, or administrators, may be indemnified or reimbursed by the Association for reasonable expenses actually incurred in connection with any action, suit or proceeding, civil or criminal, to which he/she or they shall be made a party by reason of his/her being or having been a director, officer, or employee of the Association or of any firm, corporation, or organization which he/she served in any such capacity at the request of the Association: Provided, however, that no person shall be so indemnified or reimbursed in relation to any matter in such action, suit, or proceeding as to which he/she shall finally be adjudged to have been guilty of or liable for gross negligence, willful misconduct or criminal acts in the performance of his/her duties to the Association: And, provided further, that no person shall be so indemnified or reimbursed in relation to any matter in such action, suit or proceeding which has been made the subject of a compromise settlement except with the approval of a court of competent jurisdiction, or the holders of record of a majority of the outstanding shares of the Association, or the Board of Directors, acting by vote of Directors not parties to the same or substantially the same action, suit, or proceeding, constituting a majority of the whole number of Directors. The foregoing right of indemnification or reimbursement shall not be exclusive of other rights to which such persons, his/her heirs, executors, or administrators, may be entitled as a matter of law.

The Association may, upon the affirmative vote of a majority of its Board of Directors, purchase insurance for the purpose of indemnifying its directors, officers and other employees to the extent that such indemnification is allowed in the preceding paragraph. Such insurance may, but need not, be for the benefit of all directors, officers, or employees.

ELEVENTH: These Articles of Association may be amended at any regular or special meeting of the shareholders by the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the stock of the Association, unless the vote of the holders of a greater amount of stock is required by law, and in that case by the vote of the holders of such greater amount.

Beauty queen keeps her shape with diet tricks

By Renee Ross

It's not easy being the most beautiful woman in the world. Just ask Yvonne Ryding, Miss Universe 1984.

"Even though you may be dead tired from traveling, signing autographs and making personal appearances all day, you still have to smile and look great," explains Miss Ryding, 22, who outdazzled 80 other beauties to win this year's top international title. Miss Ryding will crown her successor on Monday, July 15, when CBS airs "The 1985 Miss Universe Pageant."

Yvonne Ryding

"That's why I stick to regular exercise. I feel much better when I do it," adds the blond, blue-eyed Swede. "I carry an exercise tape so I can work out in my hotel room. But if there's a convenient spot in the city I'm visiting, I try to go running. In fact, I've found that running is more refreshing than taking a nap."

Keeping fit is a family affair for the 5-foot-8, 120-pound beauty. "My whole family jogs," she explains. "My mother and I often ran together when I was home. Jogging is just as popular in Sweden as it is in America."

Proper eating habits have given Miss Ryding the energy she needed to face the non-stop demands of her reign. "I'm the kind of person who must have food in the morning or I can't move," she laughs. "I'll often eat yogurt and a banana with a cup of tea, or else have fiber cereal and milk.

"If I know there's a big dinner scheduled for the evening, I'll snack on fruit or a salad for lunch," adds Miss Ryding, who lists fresh fish and vegetables among her favorite foods.

"Everyone has his or her own diet tricks. I believe that if you're on a diet and feel frustrated because, for example, you really want a dish of ice cream, you should go ahead and have it. Just be sure to cut something out at another meal.

"I don't believe in being frustrated all the time on a diet," adds Miss Ryding, a registered nurse who specializes in health care for the elderly. "It's best not to even think of yourself as being on a diet. To lose weight permanently, you've got to think of it as adopting a healthy new style of eating."

Hello Dolly! It's so nice to have you on TV

By Marc Minnelli

"Dolly Parton," Kenny Rogers says, "is the most electric, most awesome, most exciting person I've ever met. She walks into a room and lights it up. But I think Dolly could have been an even bigger star if they had promoted her talent, rather than her breasts."

When Miss Parton hears Rogers' comments, she giggles, a guttural giggle that reeks with charm. "Oh, Lordie!" she says in her infectious Smokey Mountain twang. "That's Kenny for you. Always stickin' up for me when they make boob jokes. Lordie, what a great guy. It's a pleasure knowin' and respectin' him. And workin' with him," Miss Parton adds, "well hon, it was like goin' to heaven."

Fans of Rogers and Miss Parton can catch a glimpse of heaven on earth when the country crooners' cable special, "Kenny Rogers and Dolly Parton Together," debuts on HBO Sunday, July 14. The musical fete, which was taped at Portland, Oregon's Memorial Coliseum earlier this year, will spotlight the stars performing their own hits, as well as six duets.

"Billin' isn't a problem with Kenny," explains Miss Parton, who, at 39, still maintains her enticing 40DD-22-36 shape. "We're on the same mental level, and we don't feel one of us is better than the other. His name comes first because he's the hottest thin' in the business today. The time I've spent workin' with Kenny," the singer-actress adds, "has been the best time I've ever spent with anybody doing anythin'."

Dolly Parton

Coming up for Miss Parton: More work on "Brass Angels," the sequel she's writing for "9 to 5," the 1980 hit in which she made her film debut. "The film's goin' to be a James Bond-type of comedy adventure," she gushes, "and it'll reunite me, Jane (Fonda) and Lily (Tomlin). I came up with the idea and the studio loved it."

Miss Parton sighs. "Every day," she says, "my career starts over because there's so much I want to do. And, little by little, this gal's gonna do it all. Except," she adds, the giggle returning, "put out a line of wigs. I thought of doin' that, but realized it's too predictable!"

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

Val, I heard that "Dynasty" is not returning next season, and that this season's final episode was the last epsiode ever. This can't be true, Val! Or is it? — D.S., Coleman, Darmouth, Canada

Robin Williams

Relax, D.S. That story is a rumor. And "Dynasty" is returning. Last season's blood-bath final episode was merely a teaser to entice people like you to tune in next season.

My dream is to wake up and find out that Bruce Springsteen has divorced his new bride, Julianne Phillips, and is walking down the aisle with me. But since that (probably) will never happen, where can I write to the Boss and wish him luck? — B.H., Perryton, Texas

Joan Collins

Thanks for acknowledging that your "dream" may never see reality. Remember that Bruce and Julianne didn't marry so that they could divorce. Why not send them a nice note? Address it c/o Premier Talent Agency, 3 East 54 St., New York, N.Y. 10022.

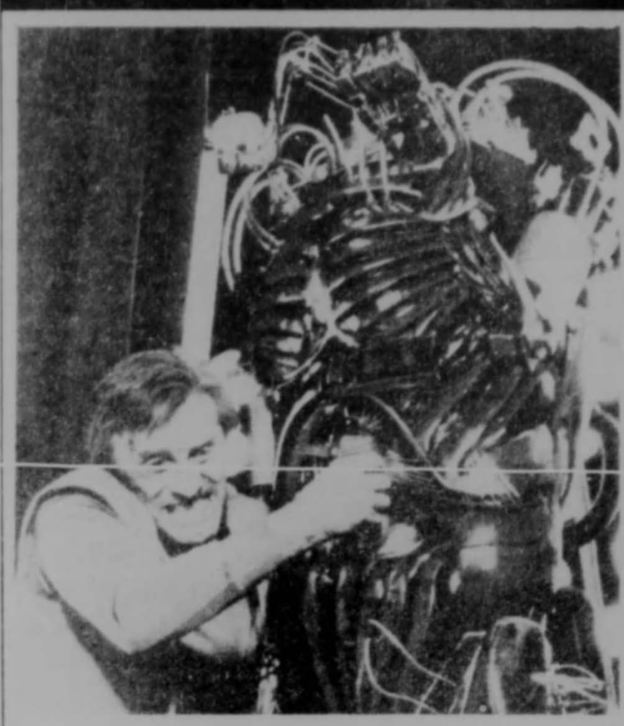
Did Robin Williams ever appear as Mork on "Happy Days"? — J.J.S., Saverton, Ore.

Yes. The characters of Mork and Mindy debuted on the popular ABC sitcom in February, 1978. Mork arrived on Earth from Ork and tried to kidnap Richie Cunningham (Ron Howard).

(Do you have a question about TV? Write Val Carew at 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Questions cannot be answered personally but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.)

There'll be magic in the air when Yvonne Ryding, Miss Universe 1984 (l.), crowns her successor during "The 1985 Miss Universe Pageant," airing Monday, July 15 on CBS. The special, which will be hosted by Bob Barker and Joan Van Ark, airs live from Florida. Among the curvaceous competition: Laura Martinez-Herring, Miss U.S.A. 1984, who'll compete for more than $175,000 in cash and prizes. The envelope, please!

FRIDAY



It's man vs. machine as Kirk Douglas fights off a surprise attack by Hector, an evil robot, in "Saturn 3." Co-star Farrah Fawcett adds little to the film, which airs Friday, July 19 on NBC. (Rebroadcast)

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

Tad Tadlock kicks her heels for Miss Universe

By Marta Tarbell

Tad Tadlock gets around. "I'm leaving for Los Angeles tonight," says the choreographer for "The Miss Universe Pageant," airing Monday, July 15 on CBS. "I'll be there for one day and then I leave for Tokyo, where I'm choreographing a show for Toyota. Then it's back to L.A. for a few days — I'll have just enough time to unpack my bags and catch my breath — before I fly to Florida for the pageant."

The Texas native, who's been dancing for nearly 30 years, was first seen by audiences on the classic TV series "Your Hit Parade." The show dates her, and she knows it. "Oh, God, I won't tell you my age," Miss Tadlock sighs, "because when you're over 30 in this business, they think you can't boogie anymore."

Miss Tadlock has proven the industry wrong. Throughout the years, she has worked as a choreographer for many Hollywood movies, including "Body Heat," "Irreconcilable Differences" and "Heaven's Gate," the 1980 flop for which she spent three months teaching Kris Kristofferson how to waltz. Miss Tadlock's work has also been seen in TV's "The Dream Merchants" and "The Women's Room." In front of the cameras, she has danced with such non-dancers as Johnny Carson and Merv Griffin.

And though Miss Tadlock considers the number she choreographed for Tommy Tune in last year's Miss U.S.A. Pageant to be her finest moment — "We're fellow Texans and he's a great Broadway talent" — she says the Miss Universe Pageant always delivers her biggest challenge.

Tad Tadlock

"Somehow, in ten days," she says, "I have to teach 85 girls who are not dancers the steps for two big dance numbers, which they'll perform live. It's like moving an army, because these girls are not dancers. I have to practically hypnotize them to make them think they can dance."

Miss Tadlock catches her breath. "Last year, only half of the girls spoke English," she adds. "The rest had translators. The first thing I told them was, 'When you hear me talking, turn around and look at me. Copy the line of my body and the step I'm doing. You don't have to understand anything — you just have to do it.' That wasn't impossible," Miss Tadlock says with a grin, "because dance is an international language."

'Rituals' star hopes to walk up the aisle soon

By Kimberly Redmond

I insist that Andrea Moar, the actress who portrayed Carrie Sanders on "All My Children," is now starring on the syndicated soap "Rituals." My friends keep telling me I'm crazy. Please help me prove that I know my soap stars. — J.B., Harrisburg, Va.

Indeed, you know your daytime queens, J.B. Miss Moar, who starred as Carrie Sanders Tyler on "All My Children," is now portraying Julia Chapin Field on "Rituals." In real life, Miss Moar is engaged to her former "AMC" co-star, Mark LaMura (Mark Dalton), and the bi-coastal couple hope to set a wedding date in the near future.

I hope you can tell me what role actress Tara Preston played on "The Guiding Light." The actress committed suicide, and I can't remember whom she portrayed on the soap. — J.G., Columbia, S.C.

In answer to the hundreds of queries about Miss Preston, I can only report that the actress didn't have a recurring role on the CBS soap. Neither the network or "GL" execs have a record of her appearance on the soap, so she evidentally had appeared in a bit role.

Whatever happened to Robert Colbert, the actor who used to portray Stuart Brooks on "The Young and the Restless"? I really miss his handsome face! — B.W., Camas, Wash.

Colbert's character quietly retired to his Malibu home, never to be heard from again on the CBS soap. Ironically, Colbert recently appeared in the "Malibu Colony" episode of the defunct nighttime series "Half Nelson."

Cleo Laine is one of the guests who performs on "Evening at Pops," the star-studded musical series that returns for its sixteenth season on Sunday, July 14 on PBS. (Check local listings.)

Ilene Graff breaks out of stereotyped role

By Gregory Garver

HOLLYWOOD — "I never really thought about it before," Ilene Graff says, "but what I'm doing on 'Mr. Belvedere' is playing straight man. Christopher Hewett, Bob Uecker and the children get the laughs, while I'm like the hub of a wheel. I hold all those crazy spokes together."

Rolling along on the recently renewed series is fine with Miss Graff. For one thing, TV is treating her differently than it has in the past. "Television sees me primarily as a bimbo," she says. "I have played a thousand and a half bimbos. Once in a while, I'll get to do a wife-mother, as I'm doing on 'Belvedere,' but mostly it's bimbo, bimbo, bimbo."

Not only does the ABC series present the actress in a positive role — she plays Marsha Owens, a full-time law student wife-mother — but the show also offers her a chance to break out of her past stereotypical roles.

"I'm not the type to get excited or go through the ceiling," she says. "If I get a part, fine. If I don't, another one will always come along. But I must admit that when Christopher Hewett (who plays Mr. Belvedere) called to say our show was picked up for next season, I was very excited and very happy."

The actress wasn't happy because she needs work. She is married to Ben Lanzarone, a very successful TV composer. "Ben makes a good living," Miss Graff says. "What I earn is for Nikka's college and medical school. I keep telling her, 'Brain surgeon! Brain surgeon!'" Obviously, the actress believes in an early start: Daughter Nikka is only 1 1/2 years old.

Miss Graff knows about early career starts. She first went on stage with her singing father — he's currently a member of the Pied Pipers — when she was 18 months old.

The actress attended New York's Ithaca College, moved to New York and landed a role in the Broadway show "Grease." She met her future husband while in the musical hit — he was the show's pianist and conductor. Eight years ago, the couple moved to California.

"This is probably our home," Miss Graff says, "although we still talk about going back to New York someday."

SAFETY INCENTIVE AWARDS for the months of May and June were recently handed out at Herrington Manor State Park. Kenneth Suski, a third-year employee at the Herrington Manor boat rental house, received a filet knife donated by Naylor's True Value Hardware. Suski suggested placing a barrier along the park lake's spillway. Phil "Buck" Jarusek, park interpretor, received two six packs of Pepsi Cola donated by the Cumberland Pepsi Coal Bottling Company. Jarusek suggested the marking of the lake near the spillway to warn boaters to stay away. John Stemple, park vehicle mechanic, received a certificate for achieving one of the two highest written driving scores among the Herrington Manor contestants and the second highest score among all Garrett County contestants. Pictured left to right are Suski, Stemple, Richard Sines, Western Area FPWS Committee representative, and Jarusek.

Twelve Killed In Roadway Mishaps

Law enforcement agencies throughout the state of Maryland reported 12 motor vehicle traffic fatalities this past week. Of these fatalities, seven were drivers (four were motorcyclists), four were passengers and one was a bicyclist. Preliminary investigation of those accidents disclosed that alcohol was a contributing factor in six deaths, speed in eight and driver error in 11.

Fatalities in Maryland through June 30 total 316, compared to 281 during the same period last year.

Census Bureau Slates Survey

The Census Bureau will visit Garrett County residents July 15-20 to collect current unemployment data, according to LaVerne Collins, director of the Bureau's Philadelphia office.

The Bureau's monthly Current Population Survey includes a national sample of some 71,000 households and is sponsored by the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) primarily to gather employment and unemployment data.

Data collected in May showed that the overall jobless rate (including the military) of 7.2 percent was the same for the fourth month in a row. The rate for civilian workers of 7.3 percent also remained the same.

The local data will contribute to July's national unemployment picture to be released August 2 by the BLS. The June data become available July 5.

Information supplied by individuals is kept confidential by law and only statistical totals are published, according to Collins.

Diabetes Group To Meet Monday

The next meeting of the Garrett County Diabetes Association will be held on Monday, July 15, at 7:30 p.m. at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland. The speaker will be Wendy Wakefield, dietitian at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, who will speak on "Summer Eating - Picnics, Vacationing, and Travel."

There will also be blood sugar testing available at the meeting. Everyone is welcome to attend.

State Recycling Sets New Record

The Maryland Energy Office announced this week that the Maryland Department of General Services purchased 232,000 reams of recycled bond paper in Fiscal Year 1985. According to Richard Keller of the Maryland Energy Office, this is the largest purchase of recycled paper in any year since the start of the recycling program. Since 1977, purchases of recycled paper have saved enough energy to heat 8,772 homes for a year. Also, with these purchases, the state has exceeded the goals mandated by the 1977 law.

The State of Maryland was the first state to mandate purchases of recycled paper for state agency use. The 1977 law required the state to increase purchases of recycled paper to 5% of the total paper use by 1978, 25% by 1981, and 40% by 1985.

RADIO WATCH
In Cooperation With The Maryland State Police
13142

We're Looking Out For You.

Smoke smudges the sky of an early morning. Quickly, two alert pairs of eyes follow the sinister trail to its source: the eaves of a row house. As if to punctuate the terror of the moment, flames suddenly burst through the windows of the second floor. Tragedy seems imminent. But on this day, happily, tragedy is averted.

For the two pairs of eyes belonged to two Potomac Edison employees, on their way to a routine service call. Acting under the guidelines of Potomac Edison's Radio Watch program, the employees used their truck radio to notify their base station operator of the emergency. The operator, in turn, notified the Fire Department which arrived in plenty of time to prevent serious property damage and--most importantly--potential injuries or deaths.

Radio Watch was created to report emergencies and hazardous situations in the areas we service as quickly as possible by using our widespread mobile communications network.

What makes us most proud, though, is that our employees are willing to get involved. So when we say we're looking out for you, we are. We all are.

Because at Potomac Edison, that's our commitment to make life a little safer today—and tomorrow.

NEW YORK — Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme recently added a new family member. They are the proud parents of a mini, female gray poodle. Her name is Muffin. While Steve and Eydie live in California, they've enrolled Muff in an obedience school in Florida. It's a two-month course, the tuition is $2,000. Guess the mutt's going for a Ph.D!

Burt Bacharach

Wait. There's more. Burt Bacharach and his singer-author wife, Carole Bayer Sager, also have a new baby — a 7-week old female pup with lots of hair. Her name's Noosey. How did she get it? Burt and Carole gave a fete for 12. Invited guest Liz Taylor suggested the name Bessie May. Neil Diamond suggested Noosey because of the dog's breed — she's a Newfoundland. Burt and Carole loved Neil's idea and named the pooch Noosey. Sorry, Liz. It's a dog's life.

Dabney Coleman was spotted in the New York City eatery Oren's eating — and eating — and eating. The menu? His appetizer was Buffalo Chicken Wings. His entree was a Mako shark steak. His dessert was a deluxe-size fudge brownie. His bill? Who knows ... NBC is talking with Christopher Plummer about doing a series.

Free And Reduced Price School Meal Guidelines Set

The Maryland State Department of Education has announced the revised Income Eligibility Guidelines for free and reduced price meals and free milk. The guidelines will be in effect from July 1 through June 30, 1986.

Household size and income determine those entitled to free and reduced price meals or free milk. A child from a family of four, for example, will be entitled to a free lunch and/or breakfast, or where available, a free milk, if the household's current income is below $13,845. Last year that figure was $13,260.

Again this coming school year students will pay 40 cents for a reduced price lunch and/or 30 cents for a reduced price breakfast. A student is entitled to a reduced price meal if, for example, the income for a household of four is between $13,845 and $19,703. Last year's figures in that category were $13,260 to $18,870. These guidelines are used by schools, institutions, and centers participating in the National School Lunch and Breakfast Programs, Special Milk Programs, and Child Care Food Programs.

Schools that participate in federally funded meal programs, such as the National School Lunch Program and School Breakfast Program, do not receive subsidy for one-half pints of milk. Separate servings of milk will only be available free to eligible students in schools that participate in the Special Milk Program and which have elected the free milk option.

Participating public school systems will be issuing public releases containing complete Income Eligibility Guidelines used in determining eligibility for free and reduced price meals and free milk.

Application forms with a letter to parents will be sent to all families with children in school at or near the beginning of the school year. The application requires the total household income to be listed by the amount received by each household member receiving income and the type of income (such as wages or child support) or the food stamp case number if the household receives food stamps; the social security numbers of all household members 21 years or older or a statement that a household member does not have one; and the signature of an adult household member certifying that the information provided is correct.

Households will be required to report increases in household income of over $50 per month, or $600 per year, and decreases in household size. Applications may be submitted any time during the year. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining and verifying eligibility. No child will be discriminated against because of race, color, sex, age, handicap, national origin, or ability to pay. If any member of a household believes they have been discriminated against, they should write to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, DC 20250.

Because of federal requirements, schools must verify income information contained on three percent of all approved applications for free and reduced price meals. Applications will not be verified until after they have been approved. The applications to be verified will be randomly selected using procedures developed by a committee made up of representatives from several of the state's school systems and other agencies.

Households selected for verification will be notified by the school and told what type of documentation they will have to submit to prove that their income has been correctly reported on the application.

A copy of the current policy will be on file and accessible to parents in each school. Parents who are dissatisfied with the ruling on benefits for their children may appeal the decision according to procedures outlined in the policy statement.

Low-Interest Mortgage Money Still Available

More than $12 million in low-interest mortgage money still is available for qualified borrowers through the State's Mortgage Purchase Program. The 30-year fixed-rate mortgages are being offered statewide through participating lenders by the Community Development Administration (CDA), an agency of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development (DECD).

"The program was reopened in April and the response has been overwhelming," said Thomas H. Maddux, DECD secretary. "Money is still available because some original applicants who obtained tentative commitments for low-interest mortgage money were unable to qualify for loans."

Two interest rates have been established to make housing more affordable for people with incomes below $20,000 per year. Borrowers with annual incomes of $20,000 or less will pay 9 5/8 percent interest; those with incomes above $20,000 will pay 10 3/8 percent interest.

Participating lenders are required to set aside 35 percent of their mortgage allocations for borrowers with incomes of $20,000 or less per year.

To qualify for the low-interest mortgages, borrowers must be first-time homebuyers, except in certain targeted areas. Family income must be less than $33,000 per year, single individuals' income cannot exceed $28,000 per year.

In most areas, the maximum purchase price for a home is $60,000. In targeted areas, however, the maximum purchase price is $66,000. The targeted areas include Baltimore City, the city of Hagerstown and Allegany, Caroline, Dorchester, Garrett, Kent and Somerset counties. In these areas, borrowers do not have to be first-time homebuyers, defined as someone who has not owned a home in the last three years.

Newly constructed or existing single-family homes, including townhouses, detached or semi-detached homes and condominiums, are eligible for financing. Modular homes qualify for financing if they carry the state seal of approval for code compliance.

Homebuyers interested in obtaining below-market-rate mortgages should apply directly to the participating lending institutions.

For further information, persons may contact CDA's Single Family Programs office at (301) 269-3524.

WHO "OWNS" YOUR PRESCRIPTION

This is a question that many people are unsure about the answer. When your doctor hands you your prescription, you then become the owner and have the choice of having it filled by any licensed pharmacist you may wish to select.

Once presented to the pharmacist you have chosen, he becomes the custodian of that prescription and it goes into his files. Sometimes, your doctor has indicated that you may within a certain specified time have that prescription again and you may ask the pharmacist to get "your" prescription out of the file and refill it for you. We carefully follow the laws, the doctor's instructions and your wishes.

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty. May we be your personal family pharmacy?"

Modern man is becoming increasingly lost. He does not understand who he is, why life is as it is, where he is going or what to do about air pollution, crab grass, noise, lawlessness and the fact he cannot sleep at night. He is constantly surrounded by machines, alluring ads, seductive movies and depressing headlines.

But the dilemma of man is that he cannot find himself. He must understand that the turmoil in the world and his personal problems are moral ones based on the truth that God exists and man has revolted against God.

Modern man will continue to be lost until he is clear that he is "out-of-joint" with his Creator and that there is only one way to restore the broken relationship. It is in Christ and His Church that man finds his way to God.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE DOOR IS ALWAYS OPEN

July 14, 1985

Background Scripture: Hosea 4 through 6.

Devotional Reading: Hosea 7:1-7.

We've seen it in a hundred or more TV, motion picture, or theatre plots: a husband comes home from a business trip bringing his wife an extravagantly expensive gift. Immediately, the wife begins to wonder what he's done that he feels a need to salve his conscience. Nothing is more transparent than a guilty feeling.

Still, we live in a day and age when the Christian concept of sin, repentance and redemption seems so out of favor with the popular mood. More than a few people have told me that they have become largely post-Christian because they were sick and tired of the church and its preachers loading them up with such a burden of guilt. So, many harmful acts today are regarded, not so much as sin, as simply the result of ignorance, a failure to achieve our innate goodness.

THE LAND MOURNS

Some years ago, the distinguished therapist, Dr. Karl Menninger of the Menninger Clinic in Topeka, Kansas, wrote a book entitled, Whatever Became of Sin? Dr. Menninger found that the loss of the concept of sin in our society has seriously injured not only our religious outlook, but the society in which we live as well. When people lose their sense of sin, says Menninger, society begins to decay.

It is this decay and its consequences that probably first awakens us to the fact that something is wrong in our lives and in the world. Often, what brings this consciousness of sin, is not so much a moral sensitivity to what we have done, but having to deal with the consequences of our actions. We don't like paying the consequences and we react by resenting what set them in motion. We are sorry, not so much for our sin, as we are for not having been able to get by without suffering anything for it. This is the way it was for the people of Israel: "Therefore the land mourns and all who dwell in it languish" (4:3).

NO SIN, NO SALVATION

The concept of sin is important, because, without it, there can be no repentance, no redemption. And the purpose of teaching people about sin is not to hit them over their heads with condemnation, but to lead them to move on beyond their sins to the newness of life which can only really come to them when they have experienced a sense of sin, of breaking the covenant relationship.

And what is required then is not simply for us to say or think, "I'm sorry." What is required is nothing less than repentance, a desire, as a conviction that calls us to say, "Come let us return to the Lord" (6:1). That "returning" means true repentance, not just a regret at getting caught or a "peace offering." "For I desire steadfast love," says the Lord, "and not sacrifice, the knowledge of God, rather than burnt offerings" (6:6).

To that kind of return, we know that the door is always open.

DHMH Gives Tips On Preventing Food Poisoning

Food poisoning is rarely fatal but may affect infants and elderly persons severely, according to the Maryland State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. Where there is severe headache, diarrhea, vomiting, abdominal cramps and fever after eating, there is a very good chance the culprit is food poisoning.

During summer months food poisoning is more prevalent, but can be prevented with certain precautions. The three key rules are:

Keep food hot: Germs that cause food poisoning are generally killed when food is boiled, broiled or roasted. However, when food stays at room temperature for longer than two hours some bacteria may start to multiply. Once food is cooked, keep it hot until served and refrigerate leftovers at once.

Keep food cold: Germs don't multiply very fast if the storage temperature is 45° or below. Meat, poultry, eggs, milk, cheese and other perishables should be stored in the refrigerator. At the supermarket always pick up meat, poultry and dairy products last. Quickly get them home and into the refrigerator. Leaving them in the car trunk on a warm day while doing other errands may give food organisms a chance to multiply to dangerous levels and food poisoning can occur.

Keep food clean: Germs are a natural part of the environment, therefore it is important to be careful to keep things clean — particularly hands. Cuts and sores should be bandaged before food is handled. When food is being prepared in the kitchen, pets should be kept out of the area. Children should be taught to wash their hands before handling food.

Attending Summer Course At Frostburg

Fifteen high school students, including one from Garrett County, are studying this summer at Frostburg State College in a unique course entitled "Astro-Computing and Space Frontiers."

The two-week, non-credit program is giving the students an in-depth look at challenges of space science, according to Dr. Robert Doyle, director of the FSC planetarium and course instructor.

Robert J. Mansfield, McHenry, is among the student participants.

Dr. Doyle said the first week of instruction covers spaceflight, from the Space Shuttle experience to spaceflight at near light speed. Computer projects using microcomputers are designed to simulate space flights and planetary motion.

During the second week, instruction will focus on areas of astronomical research, from the search for extraterrestrial life to the universe's fate.

Extended Coverage

Do you own a home computer? Then you'll want to protect it—plus the peripherals—with adequate insurance coverage.

If your computer is for personal use only, your homeowner's policy covers it on premises and off. Even for business or professional use, it is covered up to certain limits.

Your computer insurance covers such loss as is mentioned in homeowner's policies, plus other causes of loss or damage—even the effects of a cup of coffee spilled over a program.

There are certain exclusions, of course: any hardware or software that you rent to others, or errors in design or workmanship that would be the fault of the manufacturer. As usual, damage caused by insects, rodents, war, etc., is not covered.

Premiums are relatively low and, for business use, are deductible from business income.

For all kinds of insurance, see your experts at:

SHA Rep Speaks To Class

George Small, traffic engineer for the Maryland State Highway Administration in LaVale, recently spoke to Mrs. Rosanne Sherwood's fifth grade class at Accident Elementary School.

His presentation was on safety and signs—their shapes, colors, symbols, and what they mean. He explained that flashing lights are an active means of protection, while signs are a passive means of protection.

A variety of used traffic signs and a street light which had been used at an intersection aided Small's discussion. The lights were opened, and he explained how each light operated and how the mechanism knew when to change from red to yellow to green and back to red.

Small answered various questions asked by the students, including what the sign along Route 48, east of Grantsville which says "Eastern Continental Divide" means. He explained that Garrett County is unique in the state of Maryland because it is a part of the location in the eastern portion of the United States where all rivers east of the continental divide flow to the Atlantic Ocean, and those to the west of the divide flow towards the Mississippi River and the Gulf of Mexico. The two exceptions to the continental divide are the Potomac River and the Youghiogheny River.

Each student in the class wrote a thank-you note to the state highway representative for his visit and for the bulletin board material of signs and safety he presented to the classroom.

Gorman Rep On CAC Board To Be Elected

The Garrett County Community Action Committee will conduct a public meeting on July 17 in order to elect a representative from the Gorman area to serve on the C.A.C. Board of Directors. The meeting will be held at the Gorman Community Building at noon.

The person elected to serve will fill a vacancy left by Vivian Tasker, Kitzmiller, who resigned in December 1984.

One-third of the members on the board are elected by their community, explained Duane Yoder, C.A.C. executive director. The board selects which communities will be represented depending on where current C.A.C. projects are located.

A senior citizen center, operated through C.A.C., is one project located in Gorman.

C.A.C. also recently received federal community development block grant monies to assist in the Gorman sewerage system project. The money for the Gorman project will allow the installation of 28 sewer taps, the rehabilitation of plumbing facilities for seven low-income households and to assist seven low-income families in paying the initial connection fees.

Royalty plops Princess into Hollywood 'Dynasty'

By Gillian George

Catherine Oxenberg

Talented Catherine Oxenberg bears a slight resemblance to Lady Diana Spencer, whom she portrayed in the 1982 TV movie "The Royal Romance of Charles and Diana." But there's an even better reason why the "Dynasty" star was the best choice for the royal role: She is a princess in real life, although she prefers not using the title.

Miss Oxenberg's grandparents are Princess Olga of Greece and Prince Paul who was in the late '30s and early '40s, king of Yugoslavia. Her mother is Princess Elizabeth of Yugoslavia, but she also dropped her title after marrying a commoner — a Brooklyn-born clothing tycoon named Howard Oxenberg.

All her life, Miss Oxenberg has moved in royal and aristocratic circles, acquiring the poise and polish that were needed for her television debut. There was only one problem: What her mother's second cousins and his family would think of her accepting the role. After all, the cousin in question was Prince Charles, whose bride-to-be Miss Oxenberg planned to portray.

"I stewed about it," the 23-year-old actress recalls, "and finally my mother, who has always been my best friend, took it upon herself to sound out Prince Charles about the film. She sent him a copy of the script and explained the situation. Charles wrote back and said, 'They're going to make this movie even without Catherine, so at least she can bring understanding and dignity to the role.'"

Lest anyone think of her as a Brit-twit, Miss Oxenberg points out that, before she became an actress, she graduated summa cum laude from Harvard. She paid for her college tuition with the money she earned modeling — she had to, she claims, because of "personal problems with my papa." Apart from that admirable feat, Miss Oxenberg claims to have been lucky — not just because of her royal roots, but because she had the chance to meet Richard Burton, who was once briefly engaged to her mother.

"When I was 13," she remembers, "Richard coached me for a school production of 'A Midsummer Night's Dream.' He was brilliant, even though I understood the troubled nature that made him slowly destroy himself. Being around him, I kept thinking how wonderful it would be to become a great actress, without being neurotic. Now I think," she adds, "I have a good chance."

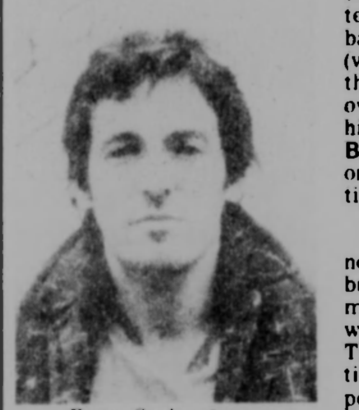
ROCK VIEW

The Boss celebrates his 'Glory Days' in Hoboken

By Marianne Meyer

THE BOSS IS BACK — Shooting "Glory Days," the new Bruce Springsteen clip, was, according to director John Sayles, no picnic. "Because of all the publicity surrounding Bruce's marriage," the lanky film maker told Rock View, "the crowds were much worse and the clip was harder to do than the other two I've done ("Born in the U.S.A." and "I'm on Fire"). Bruce is real good with small groups of fans," Sayles adds, "but when they get bigger, things can get out of hand."



Bruce Springsteen

As it was, over 300 fans and press people jammed the streets surrounding Maxwell's Bar in Hoboken, N.J., where Sayles and his crew filmed Springsteen, his wife, Julianne Phillips, and the E Street Band in a conceptual reworking of the Boss' fifth single from the "U.S.A." album.

Sayles, best known for his feature films "Baby, It's You" (which featured a number of Springsteen songs), "Return of the Secaucus Seven" and "Lianna," says that his narrative approach to the song was in keeping with Springsteen's lyric story. "His songs are sort of documentaries," explains Sayles. "I try to go with that look."

Besides an on-stage performance segment with a special guest appearance by former E Streeter "Miami" Steve Van Zandt, the "Glory Days" clip features Springsteen as a former high school baseball hero, married to (who else?) Julianne. And to thank the New Jersey homeowner who allowed the use of his house in the video, the Boss left a special autograph on a bedroom wall: "Sleep tight, Bruce Springsteen."

ROCK RELICS — A pair of new home video packages bring you musical entertainment you won't see on network television. "Rock & Roll: The Early Days" is a compilation of nearly 40 classic rock performances, including Elvis Presley's "That's All Right," Chuck Berry's "Maybelline," Big Mama Thornton's "Hound Dog" and Jerry Lee Lewis' "Great Balls of Fire."

The historic "One Night with Blue Note" concerts, held last February to celebrate the acclaimed jazz label's return to active duty, have been condensed into two one-hour home videos. Among the cool cats caught here are Herbie Hancock, Kenny Burrell, Art Blakely and Stanley Jordan.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 108 OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., THURSDAY, JULY 18, 1985 PER COPY 30c

BOY, SUMMER SURE IS GREAT! And going barefoot is just one of the fun things about this season, especially for little people. These youngsters at Broadford Park took advantage of the present warm, sunny, and finally dry summer weather by seeing just how high they could go on the swings. The Republican's staff photographer, Craig Phillips, captured these two children when their swings were both parallel to the ground. The youth in the foreground wonders what is so special about this scene as he waits for his turn. The weatherman says the present conditions will prevail at least through Saturday, so kick off your shoes and join the kiddies for some summer fun!

Truck Driver Listed "Serious" After Mishap

A truck driver from Hagerstown was transported to the Intensive Care Unit at Memorial Hospital in Cumberland yesterday afternoon after he sustained chest and arm injuries when a truck tire exploded. The accident occurred on U.S. Route 48 near Keyser's Ridge.

Robert Taylor, 39, is listed in "serious, but stable" condition, according to a hospital spokesman. Taylor was flown to the hospital by the Maryland State Police Medevac helicopter.

Tfc. Gary Resh investigated the 2:56 p.m. accident and said Taylor was westbound on Rt. 48 when the brakes on his rig overheated. Taylor reportedly stopped the truck and crawled under it to check the brakes. The heat from the brakes was so intense it caused a tire to expand and explode, striking Taylor.

Garrett County Emergency Management sent the Northern Rescue Squad and Grantsville firemen to the scene, along with the Medevac helicopter.

Demos Nominate Four Candidates For Sheriff's Job

Several members of the Democrat State Central Committee have confirmed that they have selected four nominees for the position of sheriff to be submitted to Governor Harry Hughes for his consideration. The four nominees are Deputy Russell Drenning, Richard C. Browning, Deputy Charles Nolan and Deputy David L. Crossland.

Drenning has been a deputy with the Garrett County Sheriff's Department since 1976. His previous experience includes a year as a correctional officer at the Allegheny County Jail in Pittsburgh, Pa., and a year as a clerk for the F.B.I. Identification Division in Washington, D.C.

Browning is a retired colonel having served many years with the U.S. Marines. He has been active on various committees in county and state government and is currently serving on a task force for the development of the Garrett County Airport and as a member of the Garrett Community College Board of Trustees.

Crossland has been a Garrett County deputy since 1979 and prior to that served as an officer for the Oakland City Police Department.

Nolan has been with the Sheriff's Department since 1978.

Browning has submitted a letter to Gov. Hughes requesting that his name be taken off the list because he informed the State Central Committee, prior

Garrett County Given $14,758 DECD Grant

Garrett County received a boost for its tourism promotion efforts through a grant of $14,758 from the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development (DECD).

DECD Secretary Thomas H. Maddux announced the awarding of the grant as part of the Matching Funds Grant Program of DECD's Office of Tourist Development. The funds will be used for advertising, brochures, participation in travel shows, tours and postage. Under the program, the counties are required to provide matching funds.

"Garrett County is an increasingly popular destination for tourists in Maryland," said Secretary Maddux. "This grant should help the county to promote its attractions and increase travelers' awareness of Garrett County's charms."

According to a study by the U.S. Travel Data Center, visitors to Maryland spent more than $3.4 billion in 1983, an increase of nine percent over 1982. Travel and tourism directly supported more than 75,000

Federal Warrant Issued By FBI For Swanton Man

A federal warrant has been issued for a 24-year-old Swanton man in connection with the theft of a tractor-trailer last month in Harrisburg, Pa., according to a spokesman for the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Curtis C. Hutson is wanted on a federal charge of theft of interstate shipment contained in a warrant issued the last week of June in U.S. District Court in Harrisburg.

Hutson allegedly stole a tractor-trailer full of assorted merchandise valued at approximately $90,000. The rig was stolen from a truck stop in Harrisburg on Tuesday, June 19, said the FBI source.

Just a week after the theft, police recovered the stolen tractor at Herrington Manor State Park. The trailer has not been located.

The rig was registered to R&S Leasing in Ennis, Tex., and was bound for various stops after its initial departure from New Jersey.

Hutson is described as a white male, about six feet tall and weighing approximately 180 pounds. He reportedly walks with a limp.

Anyone with any information should immediately call the local FBI office in Cumberland at 724-1960.

Md. Department Of Health Intends To File Suit Against Oakland

The Oakland mayor and town councilmen recently received notice that the State of Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene proposes to file suit against the town for its failure to comply with the terms of its discharge permit and for its failure to build a suitable sewage treatment plant.

Councilman Robert Boal said that this suit has been threatened for years, but they feel that they have finally made great gains toward meeting state requirements. The town's attorney, Robert Watson, stated that the present council has done everything that it can do, but that this problem has been going on since 1957. "This council has really moved the project," said Watson, "but the state health department looks at the situation from the possibility of losing EPA grants."

The town is facing a $10,000 negotiable penalty, and/or a consent judgment agreement with the state naming definite deadlines for phases of the project to be completed. "Generous deadlines have been proposed by the state for a consent agreement," said Watson.

Meanwhile, Senator John Bambacus wrote a letter to Adele Wilzack, secretary of the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, on behalf of the mayor and town council of Oakland, asking that every effort be made to reach a satisfactory agreement and avoid penalty and litigation.

Bambacus stated in his letter that, "Admittedly, the town has had difficulties in moving forward in this matter in the past; however, you should be aware that in recent months the town has made good faith efforts to proceed with its plans to provide adequate waste treatment facilities. In fact, it is my understanding that Robert E. Watson, town attorney, contacted Earl Quance last November regarding progress of the plans. To the best of my knowledge, Watson has received no response to his letter to date."

Bambacus went on to say that Oakland is a small town, with a population base of under 2,000 residents; and frankly, does not have the financial resources with which to bear a $10,000 penalty.

He concluded by saying that he would appreciate Wilzack's most careful review of the situation, in the hope that the department and the town of Oakland may come to a suitable settlement and resolve the matter at the earliest possible time.

Watson explained that the state has imposed these penalties on other towns in Maryland, and that so far, Oakland has been an exception, which puts the state in jeopardy of losing EPA grants as well as the town.

Watson has been negotiating with the state since the town received notification. He stresses that the suit has not been filed yet, and that negotiations are still in progress.

GCC To Launch Hotel-Restaurant Program In Fall

In response to the recent upswing in the tourism industry in Garrett County, Garrett Community College is preparing to launch a program in Hotel-Restaurant Management this fall.

"Garrett County is rapidly losing its claim to call itself 'Maryland's Best-Kept Secret' as more and more vacationers discover what we have to offer. This has led to a surge in development and the expansion of tourist-oriented businesses in our area. The need for trained, qualified employees for these facilities has real potential to expand job opportunities for county residents. This has led to the establishment of the Hotel-Restaurant Management Program at GCC," said Fred Learey, dean of academic affairs at the college.

The program will prepare the student for employment in a variety of entry-level positions in the hospitality field, such as assistant manager, manager trainee, or dining room manager. It will also provide the necessary background for eventual advancement to midde-management positions.

A certificate will be awarded for completion of the program, which can be achieved in a minimum of one year. Part-time or full-time enrollment is possible. The student may opt to pursue an associate of arts degree in business with courses in the hotel-restaurant field. Students may also choose to enroll in the courses as part of a general studies transfer program that would eventually lead to a bachelor's degree at a four-year institution.

The program will consist of classroom instruction and on-the-job work experience in actual hotels or restaurants in the area. "The practical experience students will gain during their field work should be an outstanding aspect of the program," said Dean Learey.

Required courses for the program will include Business Math, Basic Accounting, Introduction to Management, Principles of Nutrition, Hotel-Restau-

Garrett Jury Convicts Reams Of Manslaughter

A Garrett County jury after a two-day trial July 11-12 in the county circuit court convicted a 25-year-old Oakland man of manslaughter and a handgun violation.

Garrett County Judge Jack Turney, who presided over the trial, revoked bond and ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Michael R. Reams who was charged with the January 12 shooting of Timothy F. Armstrong.

State's Attorney James Sherbin presented the state's case Thursday and Friday mornings, the trial went into recess around noon Thursday and reconvened Friday morning. The six-man, six-woman jury received instructions and heard final testimony after 1 p.m. and rendered the verdict at 3 p.m.

Thirteen witnesses were called including witnesses of the incident and police.

Through testimony, the state reconstructed the incident revealing that Armstrong and Reams were at a party, which began the evening of January 11, with 14 other people at the Anita Stroebel residence along the Oakland-Sang Run Road.

Armstrong, Reams and several others were outside Stroebel's trailer shortly after midnight when Reams, who had been drinking alcohol, fired two shots into the air with his .22 calibre pistol. A short while later, a third shot was fired which struck Armstrong and caused his death.

Testimony also revealed that Ream's pistol had a defective hammer of which he was aware.

Reams testified on his behalf saying that he was trying to sell the gun and had been showing it to someone when the pistol discharged, striking Armstrong. He denied firing two shots prior to the shot that killed Armstrong.

Reams is being retained in the Garrett County Jail pending sentencing.

Attorney for Reams was Daun Weiers, Oakland.

McHenry Man Cited On Deadly Weapon Charge

A McHenry man was arrested early yesterday morning by the Maryland State Police on charges of carrying a deadly weapon with the intent to injure and disorderly conduct.

Leroy E. Friend Jr., 20, McHenry, was arrested by Tfc. D. G. Riggleman of the Maryland State Police. Riggleman said Friend reportedly went to the Topsider Restaurant in McHenry and got out of his moving pickup with a loaded 30.06 rifle. Friend allegedly threatened to harm one of the patrons of the restaurant when he was finally subdued by some other patrons of the establishment. Friend's pickup struck an unoccupied parked vehicle after he had gotten out of it.

Friend was lodged in the Garrett County Jail overnight and was released on his own recognizance at a bond hearing yesterday.

Four Family Members Perish In Weekend Head-On Collision

Four family members lost their lives Saturday in a two-car collision which occurred on the New Germany Road, approximately two and one-half miles south of the New Germany State Park entrance.

Eston D. Broadwater, 69, his wife, Ethel, 67, and his daughter, Brenda, 33, all of Creasaptown, and his daughter-in-law, Wanda Broadwater, 48, Las Vegas, Nev., were all pronounced dead at the scene of the 2:11 p.m. accident by Garrett County Medical Examiner Dr. James H. Feaster.

According to investigating officers, Cpl. Gary Berkebile and Tfc. Gary Resh of the Maryland State Police, the accident occurred when the Broadwater vehicle, a Datsun, occupied by all four victims, and operated by Brenda Broadwater, was southbound on the New Germany Road when it was struck by a 1975 Ford, operated by Dean R. Yoder, 20, Accident.

Reportedly, Yoder was northbound on the New Germany Road when he lost control of his vehicle causing it to veer across the road several times before finally colliding nearly head-on with the Broadwater vehicle. Both vehicles were demolished.

Yoder was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad where he was treated and released.

It was reported that the Broadwaters were enroute to a family reunion at Herrington Manor State Park when the mishap occurred.

Police have charged Yoder with driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, failing to keep right of center and travelling a speed greater than reasonable and prudent.

First Sgt. William Graham of the McHenry detachment, MSP, said earlier this week that Tfc. David Miller and Cpl. Donald Maiers are reconstructing the accident and the outcome of that reconstruction and a review by the State's Attorney's Office will determine whether manslaughter charges will also be filed against Yoder.

Graham noted that Yoder's car was towed to the barrack where it was checked by officials of the Automotive Safety Enforcement Division.

Born at Bond, Eston Broadwater was a son of the late Jesse Broadwater and Annabelle (Wilt) Broadwater.

He was a member of the Cresaptown United Methodist Church and a retired employee of Westvaco Corp.

A U.S. Army veteran of World War II, Mr. Broadwater was a member of the Barton Volunteer Fire Department, Westernport American Legion, Cresaptown Senior Citizens, and the Wesleyan Fellowship Bible Study at his church.

Born at Swanton, Ethel Broadwater was a daughter of the late Josephus Howell and Ada (Bowers) Howell.

She was a member of the Cresaptown United Methodist Church, Wesleyan Fellowship Bible Study, Woodmen of the World, and Cresaptown Senior Citizens.

Brenda Broadwater was a daughter of the late Eston D. Broadwater and Ethel A. (Howell) Broadwater.

She was a food stamp clerk at the Department of Social Services.

Mrs. Wanda J. Broadwater was a daughter of the late Elmer Manning and Ethel Manning.

She was a cashier at the Bon Tobles Hardware Store in Las Vegas and was a member of the First Baptist Church there.

The couple is survived by three sons, Mahlon Broad-

Beeghly Bumps Into Big Black Bear On Binge

Cpl. Ronald Beeghly of the Oakland City Police Department responded to a call this past Saturday night dealing with a black bear rummaging through the garbage at Oak-Lee Dairyland on Third Street.

Beeghly said the five foot, ten inch, big, brownish black bear fled the scene, bounding south on U.S. Route 219, probably boasting of the big binge and near bust he believed he had just escaped.

Beeghly said he believed the big, black bear just wanted a bite before blindly bounding south to broaden his brood.

PLACING SECOND this past weekend in the Crystal Light Shape Magazine National Aerobic Championship regional competition in Monroeville, Pa., was a team from Oakland called High Voltage. The local trio, which includes Brenda Brosnihan, owner of Brenda's Body Shop, Tami Tressler, and Carol Gregg, defeated 22 out of the 24 teams in the competition and may have earned a trip to the national finals in California. Ms. Brosnihan also placed second in the individual competition, an event in which there were 70 participants. They will compete again in the regional event in Chicago July 25-27. High Voltage went into the finals in Monroeville with an eight point lead and, despite what they felt was another good showing in the finals, they lost by one-half of one point when the final tallies were taken. While in Monroeville, the local women were featured on Action News, were filmed for a future segment of Evening Magazine, and were interviewed by a correspondent from the Wall Street Journal. They were awarded silver medals and a variety of gift certificates for their efforts and will probably appear in the next issue of Shape Magazine. Pictured left to right are Tami Tressler, Brenda Brosnihan, Bess Motta, who is an actress and fitness celebrity, and Carol Gregg. High Voltage will present its program free of charge to the local public on Wednesday, July 24, at 8 p.m. at th National Guard Armory in Oakland.

Sheriff's Dept. Brings Charges Against Area Man

An Oakland man has been arrested on charges of destruction of property and disorderly conduct following an incident which occurred last Thursday.

According to police reports, Edward Ray Friend, 24, allegedly sometime before 12 midnight kicked the window and paneling out of a C & P Telephone booth at Wynlyns Edge Parking lot. Mr. Friend was picked up walking on Rt. 219 around 1:20 the same night and arrested by Sheriff Deputy Charles P. Nolan and Tfc. C.R. Smith. Value of damage is unknown at this time.

Investigation continues for a theft that occurred on White Oak Drive, Beckman's Peninsula sometime between Sunday, July 7 and Friday, July 12.

According to P.K. Buckel, unknown subjects removed $900.00 worth of stereo equipment from a boat that was docked on White Oak Drive. The boat was owned by Joseph Valente, Duquesne, Pa.

A Terra Alta woman is being held in Garrett County Jail on two charges of driving while revoked, fleeing or eluding a police officer and willfully disobeying the lawful order of a police officer.

According to police records, Nancy Jean Delauder, 21, allegedly was driving a vehicle on Rt. 135. She was stopped on Oak Street by Cpl. Ronald Beeghly of the Oakland Police Department, then left the vehicle and fled on foot. Cpl. Beeghly gave chase, and she was apprehended and charged in the Oakland parking lot by Dep. Nolan and Cpl. Beeghly.

Friendsville Pair Enters Guilty Plea To Assault Charge

A Friendsville woman and her live-in boyfriend pled guilty July 11 in the Garrett County Circuit Court to assault and battery against two young boys, one five years old and the other seven years old.

Dawn M. Crosco, 26, and Raymond E. Elder, 54, each pled guilty to two counts of assault and battery. According to court records, Elder, with the encouragement of Crosco, paddled the two boys on January 28 causing extensive bruises on their buttocks.

The pair pled not guilty to two counts each of child abuse.

The judge ordered a pre-sentence investigation for both and continued their bond, which was an unsecured bond at $5,000 each.

Armand Pannone, Jr., a Cumberland attorney, represented the two.

W. Va. Woman "Satisfactory" After Accident

A West Virgina woman remains in "satisfactory" condition at Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a two-vehicle accident which occurred on Oak Street Friday afternoon.

Shirley Marie Rosier, 32, of Parsons, W. Va., a passenger in a 1977 GMC pickup operated by Rachel Marie Lambert, 32, Parsons, was transported to the hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad after sustaining lacerations and foot injuries in the 2 p.m. accident.

According to Oakland City Police Chief John Sines, the accident occurred when the Lambert vehicle failed to grant right-of-way at the intersection to a 1978 Plymouth Fury, driven by Sharon Kay Wotring of Aurora, W. Va. Wotring was headed south on Rt. 219 off of 9th Street when she came in contact with Lambert's vehicle. Lambert was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Both drivers were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Another passenger in the Lambert vehicle, Robert Lambert, 11, was also treated and released from the hospital.

Abigail L. Wotring, 7 weeks, and Robert E. Wotring, 57, both passengers in the Wotring vehicle, were also treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A two-vehicle accident occurred Monday morning on Rt. 135 East.

Michael Andrew Snyder, 25, of Mt. Lake Park was the driver of a 1985 Ford Escort which was following a 1983 G.M.C. Van, operated by Clara Alice Paugh, 56, of Baltimore. Both vehicles were traveling east from the intersection at Rt. 135 East and Rt. 219 South. Traffic was backed up from the intersection of Rt. 135 East and Weber Road, and Snyder's vehicle came into contact with Paugh's van, totaling the Ford Escort.

Chief Sines investigated the accident, charging Snyder with following too closely.

Snyder was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and Mrs. Iva M. VanMeter of Swanton, a passenger in the Paugh vehicle, was also treated and released.

Police investigated a two-vehicle accident which occurred Wednesday evening on South 3rd Street.

Randy Paul Shaffer, Oakland, was the driver of a 1967 G.M.C. Pumper that had left the Oakland fire station, completed a right hand turn on 3rd Street, and was proceeding south when a 1975 Chevrolet, driven by Matthew Philip Fike, 16, of Oakland, attempted to pass the pumper and struck the front bumper on the driver's side of the truck.

According to police reports, the fire truck had the standard flashing rear light on and working at and prior to the accident.

Charles E. Warfield investigated the accident, charging Fike with failure to give the right-of-way to an emergency vehicle.

Warfield also investigated another two-vehicle accident Friday evening on Oak Street involving the Oakland Fire Department.

Dennis Dean Murray, 27, of Mt. Lake Park, the operator of a 1975 International Pumper was responding to a fire call at Southern High School when the mishap occurred. Reportedly, the pumper was turning from Third Street onto Oak Street when a 1982 Dodge pickup, operated by Franklin Joseph Lantz, 49, of Oakland, struck the driver's side of the fire truck. Murray completed the fire call and then returned the pumper to scene of the accident. The Lantz vehicle was towed due to damage.

According to police reports, Lantz said that the light was green and he didn't see or hear the fire truck. However, the truck had the siren, air horn, and lights in use. Lantz was charged with failure to give right-of-way to an emergency vehicle.

Zoning Board Approves 2, Denies 3 Cases

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals recently conducted a public hearing to review applications. Decisions were made approving two cases, denying three, and no decision was made on two cases.

A request for a variance to allow construction on all sides of the Charles Shill residence, which had been tabled for two months, was denied by the board.

An application was made by Walter W. Jackson for a variance to the minimum land area and lot width requirements for building lots. Jackson was requesting the variance to allow construction of a residence on property located on Turkey Neck Road. This lot has a width of 100 feet, instead of the required 150 feet and a land area of 27,500 square feet, instead of the required one acre. No decision was made by the board at this time.

T. Roger Entress applied for a variance to allow construction of a residence on a lot located on Thousand Acres with a width of approximately 114 feet instead of the required 150 feet. There was much opposition to this application by neighbors and it was denied by the board of zoning appeals.

A request made by Jerry Kestner II and Karen Gaither, to allow the placement of a mobile home on the Jerry Kestner Sr. property located off the Mayhew Inn Road, was approved.

The board granted approval to an application made by John Steiner on behalf of the Cumberland Concrete Corp. for a special exception permit to allow the change in the character and extent of the existing Browning's Quarry operation. The proposed change includes facilities to prepare ready-mixed cement on the Keystone Lime Co. property located off U.S. Rt. 219 at Thayerville.

A special exception permit request made by Francis Brantner was denied. Brantner wished to place a mobile home on his property located on Harvey's Peninsula.

Ronald Rossetti made application for a front yard variance to allow construction of a garage on Lake Shore Drive. This case had been carried over from the previous meeting and the board made no decision on the request at this time, but expects to make that decision in the next few days.

Robert Robertson asked for a variance in order to construct a residence which will extend to within 24 feet of the front and rear property lines and to within nine feet of both side property lines of his property on Harvey's Peninsula Road. Robertson withdrew his application pending further housesightings on his lot.

County History Course Draws Over 50 Participants

Over 50 local residents have participated in the Garrett County history course being offered by the Extended Learning Office of Garrett Conmunity College. Titled "Rivers, Roads, and Railroads - a Living History of Garrett County," the two-credit course has met on Tuesday evenings since April at various locations throughout the county, and will continue to meet through the month of July.

Mary I. Love, instructor of the course, has involved a number of local citizens as guest lecturers and resource persons. These persons have shared their knowledge of certain regions and historical periods, as well as their photographs, slides, artifacts, and maps as they have given presentations to the class.

The course has focused on the early settlements along the routes of transportation—the Potomac and Youghiogheny rivers, the National Road and other overland trails, and finally, the railroads—and later developments in these areas. It has included the history of the towns and most of the smaller communities in the county, the history of the Mennonite and Amish settlements, and the involvement of Garrett County and its people in the Civil War.

Because of the great response to this first Garrett County history course and the interest being expressed in having an additional course, this possibility is now being discussed.

According to Joan B. Crawford, Coordinator of Extended Learning, a second course could be offered in the fall semester. Through the medium of Directed Studies, the college is able to meet an immediate need or interest in the community. If such a course is proposed and approved, information about it will be available by calling the Registrar's Office at the college, 387-6666.

"Sound Of Music" Appropriate Offering As Benefit For Habitat

by Mary I. Love

"The Sound of Music," being presented at Southern High School in Oakland, July 20 by the Maryland Theatre Arts Company under the direction of Penny Knobel-Besa, is one of the best known and best loved of Rodgers and Hammerstein musicals. Introduced on Broadway in 1959, it had a long run on Broadway and on tour, first with Mary Martin and then with Julie Andrews. When the rights were released in the mid-60s, it was produced locally under the direction of Carolyn Lambert Wilt at Southern High School.

Some of the music is familiar to almost everyone: the title number, "Do-Re-Mi," "Climb Every Mountain," "My Favorite Things," and "Edelweiss" are but a few.

To refresh your memories further, the play is based on the real-life story of Maria, a high-spirited young postulant in an Abbey in Austria. She is sent to become a governess to the many children of the widowed Captain Von Trapp, formerly an officer in the Austrian Navy. The year is 1938 and the threat of a Nazi invasion of Austria is imminent. The unfolding plot involves Maria's work with the attractive Von Trapp children, several love stories, and the eventual escape from Austria of Maria, now Madame Von Trapp, the Captain and their children.

Beyond the scope of the play, in real life, the Von Trapps, rootless, tour the United States and Europe as the Trapp Family Singers, giving their last concert at Town Hall in New York in 1955. Madame Von Trapp, Maria, died at her home in Vermont within the last year.

It is appropriate that the benefits from this production of "The Sound of Music," the story of the one-time homeless family, should go to Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, which helps the poorly housed of Garrett County.

Tickets, $5.00 for adults and $3.00 for children under 12, may be purchased at Southern High before the 8:00 performance on July 20. They are also available from Englander's Pharmacy and Community Action in Oakland and from Arrowhead at Deep Creek, Friendsville Pharmacy, and Beachy's Pharmacy in Grantsville.

Let's Hear It . . .

If ever there were a time to write to our legislators, the present is it. There are two current, critical issues that need immediate attention and, as good citizens, we should all take just a few moments to jot down our thoughts and send them to our state and national officials.

The first concerns the government and/or Sierra Club "takeover" of one of our local private businesses, the Garrett County Processing and Packaging Company in the Bittinger area. Right before our eyes we are witnessing an abuse of power by the Environmental Protection Agency, yielding under pressure from the Sierra Club, to shut down and take ownership of this company's operation. By way of arbitrary regulations, misinterpretation of the law, and blatant discrimination against this company, the EPA and Sierra Club are undoubtedly going to accomplish this goal unless something is done to help the owners of the company.

Although the number of employees who will lose their jobs after the takeover is relatively small, we believe, along with County Commissioner Ernie Gregg, that this is a matter of principle. It is a matter of outrageous government interference of private enterprise under the guise of "protecting the environment." There is absolutely no evidence of harm to or abuse of the environment by the operators of the peat company. The charges against the company have been completely fabricated by those who seek to destroy the company. They know the financial resources of the company are limited, unlike theirs, and that not only will the company eventually be forced to shut down, but also the value of the property will be drastically decreased, thereby allowing the Sierra Club or the DNR to purchase it for a song.

The other issue involves the selection of sheriff of Garrett County. The members of the Democratic State Central Committee decided that their responsibility to the Democrats of this county supercedes their concern for the general well-being of the citizens at large. Despite the fact that Van Evans is clearly the best candidate for sheriff, they have tossed several Democrat candidates into the running. Governor Hughes will no doubt appoint one of their choices. We would love to see a survey of all Democrats in this county as to their choice for sheriff. We know, beyond a shadow of a doubt, that Van Evans would be their choice. Party loyalty and a lack of guts have seriously damaged this county's chances to have the best sheriff available.

On the peat company issue, we encourage persons to write to U.S. Senators Mathias and Sarbanes and to Rep. Byron. On the sheriff issue, letters should be directed directly to Governor Hughes. A postcard will do.

Let's hear it, silent majority!

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

To the concerned "name withheld" wanting to know "why" work release, among other privileges, can be granted in what they felt were serious violations of the law. A lot of concern is involved in this and the lawmen probably didn't feel a waste of time on their part for they indeed are usually working on bigger violations. Judge Thayer stated openly that he preferred that they "earn their keep rather than to be wards of the county taxpayers" and "that also by continuing to earn wages, inmates with families can prevent their families from requiring welfare, or worse." That the program also helps reduce the costs of keeping a prisoner in jail. It was also mentioned that the granted inmate is to pay $5.00 for each day they are out on work release.

Well, on the other hand, there are quite a few other inmates with less serious charges sitting in the jail, having been denied work release with families that dearly need the help and who have jobs waiting that would gladly pay even 10 or 15 dollars daily to have this privilege which can be taken away immediately if abused.

This is a serious dilemma. However, with the Judge's closing statement he said that drug related offenders "have routinely been granted work-release programs." The main word here is "routinely." The routine that involves "who has the cash" and who doesn't for a good, smart, costly or cunningly transact lawyer.

P.S.

I am also concerned about the confusion of appointing a new Sheriff to replace the respected Sheriff Franklin G. Finch. The comments from Pam Ashby and an informed source on "Braskey gets flack from party members" are both important and should be noticed.

A smart and respected man, Commissioner John Braskey is backing the "late" sheriff's request in a serious issue. He is laying his future and job on the line for situation that must "let common sense prevail and not party affiliation" (Pam Ashby). It was also said in the other comment that "In times like this politics and parties should be forgotten and we must do what is best, not only for the Sheriff's Department of Garrett County, but for all of the people in our county."

Van Evans' qualifications, his respect for Frank Finch and especially his familiarization of this area and its people makes him a truly desirable candidate. This should not be taken lightly, for even Sheriff Frank Finch thought it to be true before he even conceived any thought of his own passing.

To the Editor:

How nice to see education and educators who are willing to work together!

Much to my amazement, I did not see the "other" teachers' union (GCFT) represented. I'm a member and am sorry to say, I don't always know what goes on within the organization. Yes, I receive letters and literature in the mail that yips propaganda for AFL-CIO and the GCFT association with big leaders, but why do they exclude themselves from the mainstream? Why don't they stop their fighting with administrators and fellow teachers?

School may be out of session for the summer months, but what kind of example does this behavior show our young students? Where's President Lipscomb when we need him?

To the Editor:

A short time ago I attended a festival in central Pennsylvania called Creation '85. It consisted of nearly 30,000 people listening to speakers, contemporary Christian music groups and generally worshipping the Creator of the universe together. I am writing this in your newspaper because this is probably the only place the public will hear about it. If this had been an anti-nuclear rally or a pro-abortion rally I suspect it would have received nationwide or at least statewide publicity. But because the event is "Christian" the media overlooks it as being insignificant. In a world where the evil gets front page, I'd like to tell you what I saw.

This festival lasted three days and most of the 30,000 people camped in the huge campgrounds surrounding the open field arena. During my stay I saw no acts of violence of any kind. People actually respected authority. They cleaned up their own litter for the most part and some even picked up litter left by others. There was a general respect for the belongings of others and blankets marking one's seat on the ground could be returned too, with all property intact.

In a society where the national media subtly makes Christianity look like it only holds people back from the true freedom of being our own "gods," I'd like to hold up the contrast of what each belief produces. In most secular rock concerts security police abound due to the destructive forces of drugs and violence that will be sure to exist. Even the neutral groups are not neutral because they subtly or outrightly carry the message of "be your own god." At the Christian event I saw thousands of young people enjoying contemporary music, but without the destructive forces. Why? Because of the message which was being presented. "Submit to the one and true God of the universe through God's Son Jesus Christ." While philosophers and humanists debate God's existence, a piece of silent evidence slips on by—30,000 people at peace in their hearts.

To the Editor:

I'm writing to express my opinion about these people who have nothing to do but dig through the garbage dumpsters at the Friendsville dump.

It's no wonder there are so many diseases going around. Climbing around in garbage doesn't sound too sanitary to me. These people really get in the dumpsters—all the way in! It's a pretty dirty trick to dig through everyone's dirty diapers, potato peelings, grease rags, papers, cans and just plain old trash and then go to a public place. These people aren't desperate—they're ignorant! With welfare, food stamps, WIC and SSI, they certainly don't need to dig around garbage to make a living. If these people would go out and look for a job as hard as they dig through the garbage, we, the taxpayers might not have to work so hard to support them! A garbage dump is no place to raise a family!

I think something should be done. They don't allow out-of-state people to dump their trash in the dumpsters, yet they let in-state fools dig through the trash and spend their days waiting for people to bring them some garbage! And supper is on us, the taxpayers!

On Friday evening I drove from Route 48 to Route 495 on New Germany Road. Three vehicles coming from the opposite direction crossed over into our lane once causing me to drive onto the shoulder. Saturday four people died in a wreck on New Germany Road in which a car crossed the center. Why is there no centerline on New Germany Road? Why no lines on the sides of the road?

To the Editor:

This is in response to "A Recovering Resident" from June 27, 1985.

You spoke of confusion due to the local law enforcement activities and asked for a reason. Very plainly—in case you are not aware of it—the possession and distribution of drugs is illegal. You imply that the individuals recently arrested have addiction problems and therefore need help. If that were the case we would agree with you. The people recently arrested, however, are not drug addicts. Most of them are alleged drug dealers, and there is a big difference. Drug addicts have a physical or emotional dependence on a drug, while drug dealers are simply greedy. They prey upon the weaknesses of their victims for their own monetary gain.

We agree that jail stays, possible prison stays, and legal fees generated from trying better than 20 cases in the local courts will be expensive. But does this minimize the seriousness of the crime? Undercover operations can also be expensive, but if they expose this vast criminal element, then it is money well spent. It is important to remember that dealing drugs is not a victimless crime.

As counselors in one of Maryland's state prisons, we come into contact daily with drug and alcohol abusers. Some are here because of drug charges, but many more are here because of drug-related crimes. In order to support their habit, the drug addict often resorts to criminal means. After all, the dealer must be paid. To stop this trickle-down effect of drug dealing we must first stop the initial sale.

Most of us will agree that society needs to be protected from criminals. Incarceration may not always be the answer, but for drug dealers it is the most viable alternative. Selling illegal drugs can be very profitable, hence the high recidivism rate. The profits offset the risks and consequences involved.

If fear of the consequences outweighed the potential profit, perhaps the drug dealers would begin giving second thoughts to what they're doing.

Just a brief comment to the ignorant idiot who recently ripped-off my minnow trap.

I have hunted and fished this county for a good long while and am proud of the many serious, dedicated and conscientious sportsmen with whom I have had the priviledge of sharing these experiences. I suppose, as in similar cases, a few shoddy individuals who have the audacity to style themselves sportsmen ruin it for those of us who take these privileges quite seriously and respect the rights and property of others.

Well, keep the trap and enjoy it—I'll buy another for about five dollars. Too bad for you that self-respect cannot be purchased so easily.

Good fishin' to the good guys!

Thank you most kindly for your consideration.

Very truly yours,
Bob Lee

To the Editor:

The recent statements by members of the local courts defending their actions reminds me of an old army saying: "If you can't convince them with your wit, logic, and charm, then confuse them with your B.S."

A teacher in the old Oakland High School in his commercial law class used to remind us that the courts were the cornerstone of our democracy. I believed it then and I still believe it, but my belief has certainly been eroded by some of the decisions of the courts over the years as to the fairness of our system.

There has been an element in this country that consider themselves as the "intelligencia". They coin new phrases, even invent new words, to describe crimes and acts to placate the American public and probably to relieve their own consciences.

No matter what you call it—chemical dependency or dope addiction, intent to dispense controlled substances or dope pushing—it is still a hienous crime and to label it as a non-violent one is ludicrous.

My question to the judge on the Vaughn Winters case is, what do you do for an encore? If Mr. Big is ever caught the court will probably erect a statute on top of the courthouse.

The Department of Correction has been under fire for years for its lenient parole system, but at least parole is granted only after satisfactorily completing a prescribed amount of their sentence in prison and showing some rehabilitation and remorse for their crimes.

Our Turn

Good Intentions?
by Susan Alvarez

Every spring I make a list, and it looks something like this:

1. Buy new tennis shoes and start a running and fitness program.
2. Get geraniums to plant in front yard.
3. Start planting the garden.
4. Clean out basement and have a garage sale.
5. Paint the white trim on the house.
6. Refinish the old wooden table.
7. Read Tolstoy's "War and Peace".

Every July I make another list, and it usually looks like this:

1. Search closet to find tennis shoes purchased in March.
2. Remove wilted geraniums from paper cups on back porch.
3. Obtain jungle pith helmet and sickle and launch an expedition to find the garden.
4. Find extra room in the basement to store all the bargains purchased at garage sales.
5. Buy new paint for house trim.
6. Scrape off the white paint the kids applied to the old wooden table.
7. Go to the library and find a book on the effective planning of time.
8. Start list for winter projects.

Loch Lynn Class Is Overcrowded: Transfers Planned

Garrett County school officials are looking for families in the Loch Lynn School District with a kindergarten-age student who are willing to transfer that child along with siblings to Dennett Road Elementary School.

The reason was explained at the county school board's meeting held July 11. "We are facing a population problem in our kindergartens," stated Al Ringer, assistant superintendent of instruction.

Although kindergarten student enrollment figures have increased throughout the county, Ringer noted that Loch Lynn and Red House are experiencing the greatest problems. Loch Lynn, which has one kindergarten teacher, registered 42 kindergarten students during its annual spring registration while Red House, which also has one teacher, enrolled 32.

The situation at Red House will be handled by employing an additional part-time aide to assist in the kindergarten class.

At Loch Lynn, officials hoped to find 15 families willing to transfer their kindergarten student and other siblings to Dennett Road which is one school which has realized a much smaller enrollment than in past years. Ringer noted that in the 1984-85 school year, Dennett Road had 80 students in three kindergarten classes. This year it has enrolled 59, but may possibly have 66 enrolled not counting transfers from Loch Lynn.

Ringer told the board that a committee analyzed a variety of options to deal with the overload at Red House and Loch Lynn, but the other options were found not to be feasible. For example, Ringer said they thought of transferring a teacher to Loch Lynn, but there was no space available in the school to accommodate an additional kindergarten class.

The committee also looked at transferring kindergarten students who were the only child or oldest sibling in their family and came up with the 15 needed to transfer. However, nine of those students were within walking distance of the school and school officials thought requesting those families to transfer their children seemed unreasonable.

Through phone calls early this week to families of the 15 children, Loch Lynn Elementary principal Herb Lambert found seven families willing to send their children to Dennett Road. Ringer stated this morning that families have been very cooperative.

Now school officials hope to find another eight families who have both kindergarten and elementary school-age children who are willing to send their children to Dennett Road. Even families who are within walking distance of the school who are willing to transfer their children are welcome to do so, Ringer noted.

The only families who the school officials do not want to transfer are those with children in third and fifth grades, because those grades are filled to the maximum, Ringer explained.

Once the students who will be transferred are identified, Ringer noted, Dennett Road officials will be informed. Then, those families will be notified about teacher assignments and bus routes. Enrollment transition is to be handled between the administrators of the two schools.

Once those students have been enrolled at Dennett Road, they and their siblings will continue their elementary school years at that school, Ringer said.

In presenting the committee's report to the school board, Ringer emphasized that the plan was a short-term solution. He indicated that because of anticipated increases in school-age students in different areas of the county, the school board will have to consider drawing new school district lines.

County Foresters Return From Fighting Fires

Four Garrett County foresters returned from fire-fighting duty in Idaho early Tuesday. Rick Wakefield, Kevin Moore, Louise Slabaugh, and Owen Handwerk, along with Harold McDonald Jr., of Allegany County, had spent a week in Idaho battling forest fires in the Arlington Creek area of the Nez Perce National Forest in northern Idaho.

Officials say that the demand for firefighters in the west has subsided and that the worst of the fires now appear under control.

These foresters, along with the other Maryland volunteers who served in Idaho, will be placed on a qualified list and should another fire emergency develop they could be called.

Officials note that the period between mid-August and mid-September often is dry and forest fires could recur.

Seven Injured In Five Weekend Auto Accidents

Seven persons were injured in five separate automobile accidents this weekend which were investigated by the Maryland State Police.

Two persons were admitted with unknown injuries to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland following an early morning mishap Saturday.

Diane O'Dell, 26, Ellicott City, the driver of a 1981 Ford Courier, and her passenger, David J. Carson, 32, Woodbine, were reportedly transported to the hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad after the 3:25 p.m. accident.

Tfc. D.K. Williams investigated and stated that the O'Dell vehicle was westbound on U.S. Route 48 when the operator lost control causing the vehicle to run off the right side of the roadway, striking a guardrail, veering back across the highway and striking a median strip. The vehicle then overturned twice before coming to rest on its wheels, facing a southeast direction in the eastbound median shoulder.

Several spokesmen at Memorial Hospital were unable to confirm if the injured were still patients at that facility. Police charged O'Dell with negligent driving.

Seven persons escaped serious injury in another Saturday accident which occurred at the intersection of Walnut Street and Second Street in Friendsville.

According to Tfc. Gary Resh, the mishap occurred when a 1985 Pontiac Firebird, operated by Sharon Pingley, 27, Bruceton Mills, W. Va., was travelling east on Walnut Street and stopped at a stop sign but then failed to yield the right-of-way to a 1984 Mercury Topaz operated by Leah Huber, 28, Addison, Pa. The Huber vehicle was southbound on Second Street when the Pingley vehicle struck the right front and side of the Huber automobile.

Police reports indicated that transports were made by the Northern Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, although a hospital spokesman could not confirm that fact.

There was one passenger in the Pingley vehicle and four passengers in the Huber car. Pingley was charged with failing to grant right-of-way.

In yet another Saturday accident, William E. Curtis, 29, Mtn Lake Park, was slightly injured and taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad where he was treated and later released.

Investigating officer Tfc. D. G. Riggleman said the accident occurred when Curtis was northbound on the King-Wildesen Road in a 1972 Ford pickup and lost control of the vehicle causing it to leave the road and strike several pine trees.

Curtis was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and negligent driving.

Tfc. Larry Rosage investigated a Sunday morning accident in which one man was transported to the local hospital where he was treated and later released.

Injured was Robert Peiffer, 46, Pittsburgh, Pa., the driver of a 1983 Ford Bronco which struck the Glendale Bridge when the operator failed to keep right of center on the Glendale Road.

A passenger in the vehicle was reportedly uninjured. Peiffer was taken to the hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad.

Charges against Peiffer included driving while under the influence of alcohol and failing to keep right of center.

A fifth weekend accident occurred late Sunday night when a 1982 Ford Escort, operated by Albert C. Paugh, 24, Swanton, was struck by a 1985 Buick Skylark, operated by Mark J. Vescovi, 19, Patton, Pa.

Tfc. D. G. Riggleman, who investigated, said the accident occurred on Rt. 560 when the Vescovi vehicle failed to stop for a stop sign, crossed the center of the highway and struck the Paugh vehicle.

Paugh was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad where he was treated and released. Two young passengers in the Paugh automobile were reportedly uninjured. Two passengers in the Vescovi vehicle, Dana Brish, 16, Patton, and Shari Thomas, 15, Ebensburg, Pa. were also take to the local hospital where they were treated and released. Two other passengers, along with the driver of the Vescovi vehicle, were reportedly uninjured.

Trustees Approve Promotions For Two Professors

Two faculty members of Garrett Community College were promoted at a meeting of the College's Board of Trustees Tuesday evening. The meeting was held at the Sitzmark Room at the Will O' The Wisp following a dinner upstairs in the Four Seasons Dining Room.

President Randall Harman recommended that Dr. Lillian Mitchell, associate professor of Psychology and Education, be promoted to full professor, and that Craig Abrahamson, assistant professor of Psychology, be advanced to associate professor.

"Dr. Mitchell has demonstrated effectiveness in the classroom. She has also guided the social science development at GCC and this past year coordinated the development of the Hotel-Restaurant Management Program. She works well with others and is regarded as a true professional," stated Harman.

"Mr. Abrahamson has consistently demonstrated his teaching effectiveness in the classroom. He has done an outstanding job at Garrett Community College and has made himself available to help students obtain their educational goals," he added.

The Board unanimously approved the President's recommendations which will become effective September 1, 1985.

Harman's Contract Renewed

The Board also approved to renew the contract of President Randall Harman and to give him a 7.1% pay increase, which translates into $43,500.

One Board member, Richard "Con" Browning, opposed the Board's approval of the pay raise.

Vice-chairman of the Board, Katharine Smith, reminded members that pay raises were now being given on an employee's merits with the institution of the College's new evaluation system for faculty and staff. Those who rated well on their evaluations will be given a 4 1/2% pay increase. Smith noted that the Board had outlined and approved such a system at a previous Board meeting.

Board Reappointment

President Harman announced Tuesday that Katharine Smith had been reappointed to a six-year term to the Garrett Community College Board of Trustees by Governor Harry Hughes.

FTE Projections

Dean of Academic Affairs, Fred Learey, told the Board that FTE's were "running about the same as this time last year." He also said it was too early to make a solid prediction for fall enrollment, due to the fact that many students do not make final commitments until fall registration.

Learey also reported that a significant number of high school seniors from Northern and Southern were enrolling in the early college admission program at GCC. He stressed that the college was "looking good academically."

Board Elections

Chairman Pat Fischetti and Vice-chairman Katharine Smith were re-elected to those seats on the Board at Tuesday's meeting.

Browning nominated William Grant for chairman, but Grant declined the nomination. There were no other nominations for vice-chairman.

Financial Report

GCC Director of Finance John Culp reported that the college had received a state advance earlier than anticipated. He said the advance enabled them to pay off a loan that had been built into the cash flow forecast.

Culp said he would have a complete financial report at the next meeting after the auditors had finalized their reports.

In other financial matters, SGA president Spencer Schlosnagle questioned the board on the feasibility of raising the student activities fee in the future if more organizations were formed.

Culp said that in the past several organizations had not used their allocations and the board agreed that no action would be taken until the situation warranted it.

Manpower Study

Katharine Smith, a member of the manpower study committee, which consists of board members William Grant, Richard Browning, and President Randall Harman, reported that letters "requesting proposals for a study of management and manpower needs" have been sent to four firms.

The form letter stated, "The scope of work will include an examination of GCC's mission, objectives, present organizations, financial resources, management, and communications network. Recommendations are sought for future needs in relation to the above scope of examination. Please include in your proposal a description of services you could provide, projected costs, three references, and principal personnel who would be working on the study, along with their vita."

Several members of the Board also suggested that a note be sent in addition to the already mailed letters requesting that those firms respond by mid-August.

Bittinger Pleads Guilty To Assault

A 49-year-old Swanton man pled guilty in the Garrett County Circuit Court Friday to a charge of assaulting Homer Wilt on June 9, 1984.

Garrett County District Judge Jack Turney, who heard the case, ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Edmund J. Bittinger whose plea in court on May 28 was not accepted by Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer.

Bittinger, who had been found to be incompetent to stand trail in December 1984, had undergone psychological treatment at the Clinton T. Perkins Hospital Center, Jessup, from December 1984 to March 1985 when he was determined by the medical staff to be competent to stand trial.

However, Judge Thayer did not believe Bittinger understood the nature of his plea in court on May 28 and, because he had heard specifics of the case and the plea, disqualified himself from hearing the case again and requested Judge Turney hear the case.

Charges against Bittinger of assault with intent to commit murder, malicious injury, unlawful shooting and carrying a weapon with intent to injure were not prosecuted.

The charges were brought against Bittinger after an incident in the Dry Run area. According to court records, Bittinger was firing a .22 gauge rifle in a field nearby where Wilt and his family and friends were picnicking.

Wilt sustained a gunshot wound when he approached Bittinger to request he refrain from shooting in the direction of the picnickers. Bittinger had apparently threatened to shoot Wilt if he came too close.

Area Democratic Club Discusses Array Of Events

The Garrett County Democratic Club met at the Hilltop Restaurant on Wednesday, July 10 at 7:30 p.m. with president Spencer Schlosnagle presiding.

Maurice Brookhart, membership chairman, reported a total membership in the club of 148.

Pat Zumpano, chairperson for the recent Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner held at the Wisp, gave her final report and thanked the committee for a job well done. President Schlosnagle commented that "working together as a club made the event a great success."

Ruth Ryan gave a report on the United Democratic Women's Club luncheon held recently at the Hilltop Restaurant in Grantsville. Approximately 100 Democratic Clubs throughout the State of Maryland belong to this organization. Mrs. Alma DeLauder of Hagerstown serves as chairperson of the Western Maryland District, with Mrs. Ryan as Garrett County representative for the Western Maryland District. The state convention of the UDWC will be held in Ocean City in September.

The second annual covered dish picnic of the club will be held on Tuesday, July 23 at the Garrett County Fairgrounds beginning at 6:00 p.m. with free hamburgers, hot dogs and drinks. Each person attending is asked to bring a covered dish of their choice.

The ticket donation is $2.00 and tickets may be obtained from co-chairwoman Ruth Ryan, 334-4758 or Alice Ann Ridder, 334-3828 after 5 p.m. or any officer or member of the club. The area band "Southpaw" will perform throughout the evening. The Honorable Louis Goldstein, Comptroller of the Treasury, is planning to attend. Other state and local officials attending will be recognized.

The Democratic Club will again sponsor a booth at the annual Garrett County Fair to be held the week of August 12-17. Bill Goldsborough and Bruce Opel were appointed co-chairmen.

The group unanimously decided to contribute to the Frank Finch Memorial Fund.

Following the meeting, Timothy P. Gallagher, chairman of the Harry S. Truman Caucus, spoke before the group making them aware of this newly-formed group which is putting emphasis on seeking out young adults between 18 and 29 years of age and encouraging Voter Registration throughout the State of Maryland.

Helicopter Used To Spray Potatoes

Wet ground conditions in the area forced Harvey Brothers Farms, Inc., to have some of their routine spraying done by helicopter this week.

According to a Harvey Brothers official, approximately 200 acres of potatoes were sprayed over the weekend with a fungicide to prevent a potato blight caused by the wet weather. This spraying is normally done with the company's ground rig, but they have been unable to get the rig into some of the low-lying, wet fields.

The helicopter was from the High-Tech Company in Elkins, W. Va. The Harvey Brothers official stated that weather conditions in the near future will decide if spraying must be done by helicopter again.

Oakland And Tri-Towns Split In Battle For Number One Position

The battle for the top position in the Western Division of the Pen-Mar Baseball League continued this past Sunday afternoon in Westernport as Oakland and Tri-Towns, the two top teams in the division, met for a doubleheader. However, little was changed in the rankings as the Oaks won the first contest, 6-2, but dropped the nightcap, 6-5, as Tri-Towns rallied for three runs in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Oakland's record now stands at 10-4, one game behind 9-3 Tri-Towns.

Lawrence Nesselrodt, head coach of Garrett Community College, opened the first game with a home run off starting pitcher Ron O'Reilly to give Oakland a 1-0 lead.

Tri-Towns came back with a pair of scores in the second frame, however, on a walk, double, and a triple.

Oakland regained the lead, which they never gave up, in the third when Phil Carr singled, Nesselrodt walked, and Phil Caruso reached on a error to load the bases. Francis Mouse then singled to left, plating Carr and Nesselrodt and giving the Oaks a 3-2 lead.

Oakland put the game away in the fifth when Mouse singled and scored on Mike Gustave's double, Matt Hixon singled to score Gustave, and Hixon came home on Dave Bender's single to right.

Stan Fitzwater, Oakland's version of Ron Guidry, upped his season record to 6-0 with a five-hit, six-strike-out performance.

Oakland once again jumped out to a 1-0 advantage in the first inning of the second game when Nesselrodt singled, moved to second on Caruso's sacrifice, and scored on an error. Oakland increased its lead to 3-0 in the third after Ed Wildesen singled and Terry Helbig rapped a home run over the right field fence.

Tri-Towns cut the lead to 3-1 on two singles and then made it 3-2 in the third on a single, walk, and another single.

The Oaks increased their advantage to 5-2 in the fifth frame when Jim Cunningham reached on a fielder's choice, Nesselrodt reached on an error, Mouse singled home Cunningham, and Nesselrodt scored on double steal with Mouse.

Mike Brady had relieved Steve Mohr in the fourth inning and was aided by some outstanding defensive play for three innings. As the Oaks took the field in the bottom of the seventh, it appeared they were headed for a sweep and sole possession of first place. However, the home team had other plans.

After a walk and an error, Gustave relieved Brady on the mound. Tri-Towns then recorded a single and two bases on balls to knot the score at 5-5.

The bases were loaded at this point and after a force out and a strike-out, it seemed that Oakland had worked its way out of trouble. However, a two-out single by Dan McGinnis provided the winning run.

All three Tri-Towns losses this season have been at the hands of Oakland, the first time the Oaks have ever won a season series over Tri-Towns.

With six games remaining in the regular season, Oakland's leading hitters are Francis Mouse at .560; Wayne Brown, .351; Lawrence Nesselrodt, .333; and Mike Gustave, .325.

Oakland is idle this weekend and will entertain Moorefield in a 2 p.m. doubleheader on Sunday, July 28. Moorefield, 9-3, is the Eastern Division leader.

All remaining Oakland games will be at home (Southern High School field).

Migratory Bird Seasons Proposed

The Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service has announced proposed dates and bag limits for the 1985-86 webless migratory bird seasons.

According to Josh Sandt, Upland Game Program Manager, the proposed bag limit of three woodcock per day is the result of more restrictive frameworks for the woodcock season from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. In recent years the daily bag limit was five woodcock. Additionally, the proposed woodcock season would open one week later than last year's season in an effort to reduce the harvest of locally-breeding woodcock. Annual studies have shown a decline in the population of woodcock in much of the Northeast, including Maryland.

Public comments on these proposals are invited. Comments must be received no later that 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday, July 24, 1985. Comments can be made by calling 269-3195 or writing to Donald E. MacLauchlan, Director, Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Maryland, 21401.

Bond Revoked For Sweene

A 53-year-old McHenry man is being held in the Garrett County Jail without bond for violating conditions of his bond.

County police transported Paul Sweene back to the county Friday from Zanesville, Ohio where he was charged and convicted on a drunken driving charge.

Sweene spent last week in the Zanesville jail after being picked up on July 4 by police. Local authorities said Sweene was sentenced to two days in jail on the charge and was given credit for time awaiting trial.

Authorities were about to release Sweene when they learned he had violated his bond in Garrett County. They then held him until local police could transport him.

Sweene was convicted on a possession of cocaine charge in the Garrett County Circuit Court on July 1 and is awaiting sentencing.

Daun Weiers, attorney for Sweene, stated there will be a hearing conducted Friday on the legality of Sweene's imprisonment in the county jail.

rant Operation, Human Relations, Public Relations, Special Topics in Hotel-Restaurant Management, and a practicum. The curriculum was designed to provide the student with an understanding of the basic principles of business and management, and to familiarize students with appropriate skills in managing, including patrons, co-workers and employees. It will develop specific job-related skills for the hospitality field, and will provide students with supervised work experience in the field.

The program was developed with the advice and assistance of leaders in the the local hospitality field. Members of the advisory committee included Martin Heise, Will O' The Wisp; Ann Elliott and William Thoman, Village Inn; Ruth Beitzel, Point View Inn; and Ruth Umbel, Red Run Inn. All members of the advisory committee have expressed an interest in providing work sites for student workers in the program.

The Maryland Department of Human Resources projects that over 11,000 job openings appropriate for graduates of the program will be available statewide next year, with 500 in Western Maryland, and at least 25 in Garrett County. "Employment of salaried hotel managers is expected to grow faster than the average for all occupations through the mid-1990's," said Bob Crone, chairman of the college's arts division. "Applicants who have college degrees in hotel administration should have a decided advantage in seeking entry-level positions and later advancement."

The program, which has been approved by the State Board of Community Colleges, is currently awaiting final approval by the State Board of Higher Education this month.

Sheriff's Job

to the nominations, that he would accept the nomination only if the committee could not arrive at another suitable nomination.

Browning said he had been contacted by the chairman of that committee, Donald Fratz, on July 8 via telephone, at which time he was told he was being considered for the nomination. He then stated in a letter to Fratz, "Please convey my thanks to the members of your committee who have shown their interest and confidence in me for this nomination. If the committee is unable to obtain a suitable democratic candidate; and, Gov. Hughes feels I am qualified for the Sheriff's position, I would be honored to be assigned this responsibility."

When Browning discovered the committee had indeed selected three other possible candidates he declined the nomination based on the fact that his initial decision to be a candidate was with the stipulation that the committee could not find other suitable candidates.

The position of Sheriff was left vacant by the sudden death of Franklin G. Finch on June 23.

Chief Deputy M. Van Evans has been serving as acting sheriff since the death of Sheriff Finch and is the Republican State Central Committee's nomination for that position.

Books Of Former Oakland Resident Being Exhibited

An exhibit of some of the books of former Oakland resident Susy Smith, as well as several of her paintings, will be held for the next several weeks at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland.

Miss Smith lived in Oakland for a number of years during the 1940s and '50s, residing with her mother, Elizabeth Anderson Smith, in the old Anderson family home on Alder Street. She was a member of St. Paul's Methodist Church. Now retired and living in Tucson, Arizona, she says, "I still feel as if my roots are in Oakland because my mother's were, and I have close ties because of my many good friends there."

Miss Smith has to her credit 28 books published by such prominent publishing houses as Putnam, Macmillan, Doubleday, Prentice Hall, Dell, and New American Library, among others.

Her work has been primarily in the psychic field in which she established a reputation as a critical and objective researcher of the scientific material available. Seven of her books have been translated into foreign languages and one was put into Braille.

In her writing, her particular talent is for taking the scientific and anecdotal material from the records of parapsychology and putting it into an entertaining form which turns facts into fascinating reading.

She has been listed in: Who's Who in American Women, Who's Who in the South and Southwest, Contemporary Authors, Foremost Women in Communications, Two Thousand Women of Achievement, and Who's Who in Parapsychology.

Miss Smith is the founder and first president of the Survival Research Foundation, established on September 7, 1971, in Tucson, Arizona. The purpose of the foundation is to conduct experiments and subsidize and assist in the procuring of scientific evidence for conscious survival of the human spirit after death and to establish the results of the researches worthy of public consideration and support.

The paintings which are on display at the library include an oil self portrait from the late 20s, a seascape of Maine from the late 50s, and a flower arrangement from the late 70s.

Tax-Aide Program Needs Volunteers

Volunteers are being sought for the Tax-Aide program, a free counseling service for low income elderly people.

The program, which has never before been available in Garrett County, is sponsored by the American Association of Retired Persons and is operated under a cooperative agreement with the Internal Revenue Service as a part of its Tax Counseling for the Elderly program.

It involves trained volunteers from a variety of backgrounds who help senior citizens to prepare federal and state income tax returns and to receive tax rebates.

During special training sessions, volunteers are prepared to help elderly persons to understand the special provisions of the tax code that affect them. They are trained to make sure that older adults, while paying their fair share of taxes, aren't overpaying and donating money to the federal government that could be used to buy necessities.

Classes are taught by IRS employees and specially trained Tax-Aide volunteer instructors. State employees are also present to explain their income tax regulations. Volunteers are required to pass an exam before becoming authorized as counselors.

A six-day training session will be provided for volunteers, and high school students who are interested in working with the elderly are especially encouraged to volunteer their services.

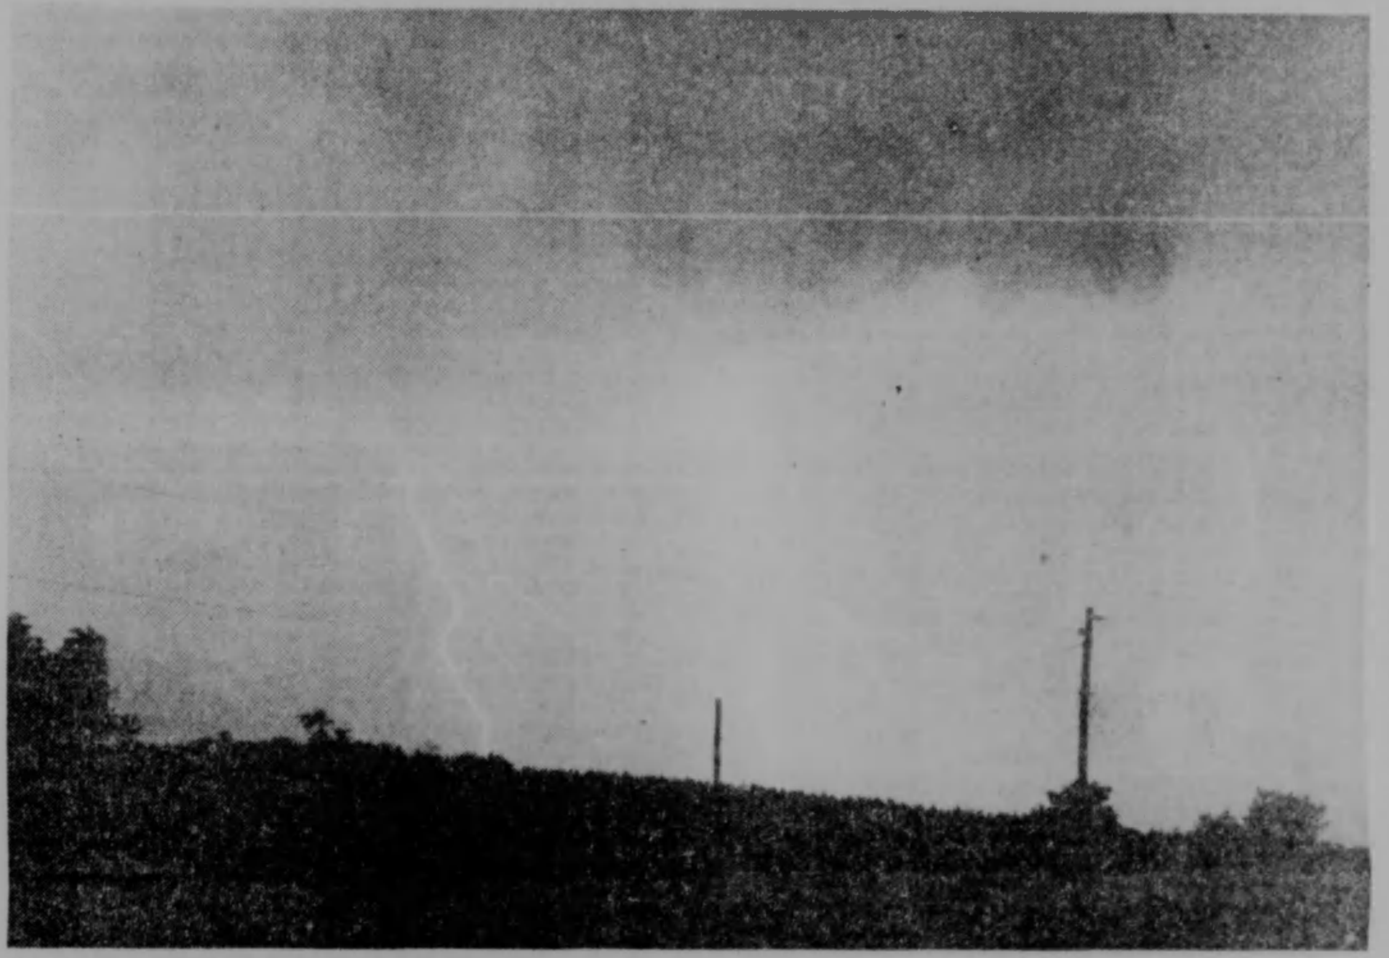
In 1984, 18,000 volunteers helped to prepare 1.3 million returns in 9,000 tax preparation centers. They also aided 11,000 shut-ins; visiting nursing homes, trailer parks, veterans hospitals, senior centers, retirement complexes, and legal service offices.

Special efforts were made to help racial minorities in the inner city, the rural elderly, and older adults who did not speak English. In various locations around the country, assistance was offered in 20 foreign languages, including tribal reservations in several states.

Community centers throughout Garrett County will be used as counseling sites, but additional space will be needed for the session, which will be held February 1, 1986 through April 15, 1986.

Anyone wishing to volunteer space or services, or wishing more information should contact the Community Action Center or call Vernon W. Oester at 814-634-5739.

BILLIONS OF VOLTS of electricity filled the skies above Garrett County last week as numerous thunderstorms wreaked havoc on the mountaintop, dumping nearly seven inches of rain and causing property damage and power outages via lightning. These particular lightning displays were captured on film by Matthew Scheffel, Oakland. This week has been a different story, however, as local residents are now enjoying the fourth straight day of warm, sunny, and dry weather.



Welcome Home Sunday Slated For Log Church

A special service will be held at Our Father's House (The Log Church), Altamont, on Sunday, August 4, beginning at 11:15 a.m.

Termed "Welcome Home Sunday" the service is an outgrowth of the anniversary service marking the founding of the building over 50 years ago.

The celebration will be divided into two parts, according to the Rev. John A. Grant, Vicar. The first part is the worship service and the second part will be a luncheon on the lawn of the church following the service. An invitation has been extended by members of the congregation to all friends and former members of the Log Church.

Our Father's House is a part of the Garrett County Episcopal Missions. The church was built in 1933 under the direction of the Rev. David C. Trimble, and is one of the most unique Episcopal Churches in the Diocese of Maryland.

Mountain Lake Park

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Landon held their family reunion Saturday, July 6 at Herrington Manor. Among the 47 who attended were there eight children from Harrodsburg and Lexington, Kentucky; Prince George W. Va.; Alliance and Salem, Ohio; and Keyser and Fairmont, W. Va. Mrs. Landon's sister, Mrs. Helen Mosser, of Cumberland, also attended.

Tips On Avoiding Diseases From Ticks Offered

The Maryland State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene urges Marylanders to minimize exposure to ticks and avoid their bite to prevent infection and the effects of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever or Lyme Disease.

Although fewer than one percent of ticks in Maryland are disease carriers, special precautions should be taken as the two diseases are serious and can be fatal.

Minimize exposure: To minimize exposure to ticks and their bite, avoid bushy, tall grass areas as much as possible. Ticks wait on brush about twelve to eighteen inches off the ground to cling to animals or man as they pass.

Dress properly: Dress to exclude ticks, wear long pants, longsleeved shirts and wear broad rimmed hats. Keep shirtsleeves and collar buttoned. Since ticks crawl upward tuck pants into socks and shirt into pants.

Use repellants: Use tick repellants on clothing where it overlaps or has an opening (socks, pant beltline, sleeve cuffs, collar,) across the shoulders and around the rim of the hat. Protect eyes when applying repellant by holding hands over the eyes.

Inspect for ticks: Inspect children and yourself for ticks every three to four hours and once at the end of the day. Look in hair, eyes, armpits, groin, under belts and wherever clothing is snug.

Treat wounds: If after inspection a tick is found attached to the body it should be carefully removed with tweezers. Grasp the tick at skin level and give it a firm steady pull. Treat the wound with an antiseptic to prevent local infections. A tissue and fingers should be used if tweezers are not available. Destroy the tick by burning it or flushing it down the toilet. Wash your hands in soap and water.

Record contact: Record each tick attachment on a calendar. If an unexplained fever occurs in the next ten days, immediately report the date of the tick attachment to a doctor.

PHYSICIAN VISITS STUDENTS — Dr. George B. Stoltzfus, Friendsville physician, visited the fifth grade class of Rosanne Sherwood at Accident Elementary School recently. He discussed the early history of drugs and their wise and unwise use today. Emphasis was placed on the fact that not all drugs are bad and that most drugs are beneficial to humans when used properly. He explained that drugs are found in many forms, such as caffiene, which is found in most soft drinks. He stated that the misuse of drugs causes problems in our world, and that, contrary to popular belief, marijuana can cause damage to lungs and may present a paramount problem to the user's health. The presentation was followed by a question and answer session, and completed the class Berkely Health unit on the Respiratory System and their study of the pamphlet "Narcotics, Intoxicants, Drugs, and Sniffers", sponsored by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department. Each student wrote and illustrated a thank you letter to Dr. Stoltzfus for taking the time to speak to them and answer their questions. Pictured from left to right are Tanya Beitzel, Deborah Stoltzfus, Dr. Stoltzfus, David Hook, Doug Brenneman, and Rebecca Leight.

Oakland Native Completes Doctoral Dissertation On Urban Indian Women

American Indian women who once had to adapt to white ways are now being asked to adapt again, this time to demands of youthful kin who look to their elders to sustain their identity as Indians.

That is one of the conclusions drawn by Marilyn Englander, of the University of California, Santa Barbara, in her doctoral dissertation comparing two generations of urban American Indian women.

Miss Englander, a native of Oakland, is a daughter of Clint Englander, Oakland, and the late Jean Englander. She was valedictorian of the class of 1969, Southern High School.

Englander, who earned a Ph.D in Native American studies at UC Santa Barbara last month, spent two years conducting interviews with 20 American Indian women in San Francisco and Santa Barbara. The older women had been born and raised on a reservation before migrating to the city and the younger women had been born and raised in the city.

When they moved from the reservation to the city, the older women said they became, for the first time in their lives, "keenly aware of their Indianness" surrounded as they were by a non-Indian population, Englander said.

"Most of them felt like outsiders for the first time in their lives—strangers in their own land," she explained.

As a result the older women took a "pragmatic approach" to their new lives, renouncing many outward signs of their culture such as their native languages, which they considered useless in a non-Indian world.

"But they also banded together socially to preserve what they feared would be lost," Englander added.

Now members of a younger generation want to learn "how to be Indian," and look to the older women as authorities on their heritage.

Englander found that most of the reservation-born women had only childhood memories of living among their own people and tended to romanticize the past.

"The more direct and sustained firsthand experience a woman had living among her own tribe's people, the more restrained was her romanticism or alternatively the more it was focused on a very distant past," she said.

Although romanticism perpetuates ideals that are extremely difficult to live up to in the present it is also a means of preserving hope for the future of Indian people.

"It is an encouraging sign of cultural survival," Englander said.

"Even as an impossible ideal, romanticized ideas of the past become a living symbol. And for urban Indian people they are certain proof that their way is alive still and that they as a unique group shall survive."

Englander credits Ines Talamantez, assistant professor of Chicano studies and religious studies at UCSB, for inspiring her to pursue her doctorate in Native American studies, an interdisciplinary program involving history, anthropology and religious studies. Campus officials believe her Ph.D. is the first in the United States to be awarded in that field.

Housing Policy Commission To Hold Meeting

Western Maryland residents will have a chance to discuss solutions for regional housing problems at an upcoming state housing meeting to be held in Hagerstown, Washington County.

The Maryland Housing Policy Commission will hold a public meeting on Thursday, September 5, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Classroom Building, C11, of Hagerstown Junior College, 751 Robinwood Drive, Hagerstown.

"Our recent report documented the serious housing problems in Maryland," said Commission Chairman Robert E. Hecht, Sr. "The public meeting in Hagerstown is part of an ongoing effort to solve these problems with the help of concerned people throughout the state. We invite innovative proposals suggesting how the state can provide more affordable housing."

Governor Harry Hughes has asked Thomas H. Maddux, Secretary of Economic and Community Development, to develop a Housing Initiative for his consideration. The Housing Policy Commission will be working in conjunction with the department to develop the recommendations for the governor's initiative. The governor will evaluate the recommendations and submit his proposal to the 1986 session of the Maryland General Assembly. The ideas discussed at the Housing Policy Commission meeting will be considered by them and the Department of Economic and Community Development as the Housing Initiative is developed.

To help guide the discussion, participants are requested to complete a questionnaire outlining their housing proposals. For additional information about the public meeting, or to obtain the questionnaire, persons may call (301) 269-2468.

The Maryland Housing Policy Commission was created in 1983 to develop a state housing plan and to recommend ways for the Department of Economic and Community Development to improve housing opportunities for low-and-moderate-income residents of Maryland.

Members of the commission include 12 representatives of the building industry, lending institutions, local officials, state legislators, civic groups and the general public. The Commission Chairman, Robert E. Hecht, Sr., is chairman of the board and president of Baltimore Federal financial F.S.A.

Attorney General Sachs Announces New Rules For Arbitration Program

Maryland Attorney General Stephen H. Sachs has announced that new rules governing his office's consumer complaint arbitration program, went into effect Monday, for the first time permitting non-lawyers to resolve consumer grievances through binding arbitration.

The Attorney General's arbitration program, the only one of its kind in the country, has grown considerably in recent years, Sachs said, and the Consumer Protection Division in his office is especially interested in recruiting a pool of volunteer arbitrators from different regions of the state, including non-lawyers along with lawyers in that pool.

"In our all-volunteer Consumer Assistance Unit, we've found that non-lawyers, especially senior citizens, are awfully good at settling disputes, and the positive experience of some other arbitration programs, such as the one operated by the Better Business Bureau, convinces us that average citizens under professional supervision can do an effective job resolving consumer complaints," Sachs said. "We'd like to get more seniors, and more volunteers, now to act as arbitrators."

"Lawyers will still be eligible to serve as arbitrators," Sachs added, "and we expect that they still will hear a substantial number of the arbitration cases. But being a lawyer will no longer be a requirement to serve as an arbitrator.

"Legal issues surely surround most consumer--merchant disputes, but arbitration decisions are grounded on principles of equity and common sense, as well as on the law, and they shouldn't be overly legalistic or technical," the Attorney General said. "That's what has made this program work so well in the past, and we want to make it even more effective in the future."

The Attorney General's Arbitration Program went into effect in 1977, according to Assistant Attorney General Steven J. Cole, chief of the Consumer Protection Division. Since then, over 1,500 arbitrations have been held on a wide variety of disputes that have involved amounts ranging from $50 to $50,000, Cole said.

In the two years, the Division has been aggressively expanding the program's operations and has more than tripled the number of Maryland businesses that have agreed in advance to submit unresolved consumer complaints to binding arbitration, Cole explained. Now over 700 businesses - ranging from bridal shops to service stations to new car dealerships - have precommitted themselves to the program, 500 of them in the last two years.

"These new regulations will maintain and enhance our commitment to the five bedrock principles which had governed the arbitration program since its inception: fairness, simplicity, convenience, speed and economy," Cole said. "The arbitration procedure doesn't cost the consumer or the business anything to use, and it's a lot quicker and simpler than going to court. It also cuts down the confrontational nature of the dispute."

The new rules also clarify the type of relief an arbitrator can grant a party in a dispute and also formalizes the use of expert advisors when the issue in the complaint require special knowledge of a product or service, Cole explained. A panel of experts now will be recruited to assist the arbitrators, he said.

The new rules also clarify existing arbitration procedures; put into regulatory form certain informal practices that have been followed in the past, and improve the organization of the program's rules.

Persons interested in becoming arbitrators or expert witnesses should contact Larry Munson, Arbitration Administrator, at the Consumer Protection Division, 7 N. Calvert Street, 3rd Floor, Baltimore, Md., 21202.

Manchin's Hat, Byrd's Book To Highlight Auction

The "Hope To Dream" auction, scheduled for the Keyser Fire Hall beginning at 1 p.m., July 20, has received a boost with the announcement that two top state politicians have sent articles to be placed on the auction block.

Mrs. Linda Booth, area coordinator for the project to raise funds for West Virginia needy children, has recently received one of the famous hats of the Treasurer of State, A. James Manchin, plus an autographed book from the Senior Senator from West Virginia, Robert Byrd.

"These two articles will definitely be the major drawing cards in our auction," stated Mrs. Booth. The event is being held in conjunction with the Keyser businesses' "Super Saturday" sales day on July 20, and features many items donated from area businesses. Also donated for auction are two art works by J.S. May of Morgantown. Several articles of young May's are on display throughout the W.V.U. Medical Center. Many of the Morgantown artists works have sold for up to $100.

As is the case with all areas of the fund raising campaign, 100% of all proceeds from the auction will go to the needy children of West Virginia.

On the Friday (July 19) prior to the auction, a display booth will be manned by volunteers in the community booth in the Country Club Mall, LaVale. The booth will be in operation from 10 a.m. until the drawing at 8 p.m. An array of items is being put together for the display, and all monies collected will go toward the "Hope To Dream" project.

MARYLAND FARMERS • PARTNERS WITH THE BAY •

This is the last in a five-part series of articles resulting from a cooperative project between the Maryland Soil Conservation Committee and the Cooperative Extension Service. The articles relate to agriculture management practices and soil conservation and are provided by Shaun Sanders, district manager of the Garrett Soil Conservation District, located in the Garrett County Courthouse, Oakland. Questions or requests for additional information may be directed to Sanders by calling 334-8339.

CONSERVATION PLANS CONTROL NUTRIENT RUNOFF

The recent heavy rains have given Garrett County residents first-hand experience of the effects of sedimentation and erosion. The effects of erosion are evident throughout the county, not only by the rills and gullies, which are visible and more noticeable, but also by the appearance of the streams and ponds which are brown and muddy. Just notice the color of the water seen flowing in a stream or roadside ditch the next time it rains. Silt and sediment once deposited in ditches and waterways, as a result of erosion from heavy rainfall, is continusouly moved downstream, even under normal flow conditions.

Nonpoint pollutants are contaminants carried in this runoff. They include sediment, fertilizers and pesticides from farmland. Fertilizers from yards and oil deicers from highways and parking lots are also factors. Nonpoint pollution is hard to see and even harder to control. So why worry about it?

Nonpoint pollution has been identified as one of the causes in the decline of plant and animal life in the Chespeake Bay. According to a study by the Environmental Protection Agency, overenrichment from excess nutrients has spawned algae blooms, which in turn deplete the oxygen supply in the bay.

"Nonpoint sources are blamed for the majority of nitrogen entering the bay, and cropland is the biggest contributor," explains Dr. William Magette, an agricultural engineer at The University of Maryland. "Most of the phosphorus delivered to the bay is coming from point (end-of-pipe) sources. However, most of the phosphorus, that makes its way to the bay from nonpoint sources, comes from cropland attached to soil particles."

Pollution from agriculture is only one of several causes of the bay's ills and some farmers are beginning to accept part of the responsibility for cleaning it up. The public is starting to feel that farmers should be just as responsive in cleaning up their act as anyone else, whether it is a steel plant or a paint factory. People are feeling more strongly that anyone who is polluting the environment is liable.

According to SCS, about 800,000 acres of the state's cropland is adquately protected against erosion. What about the rest?

"Some farmers don't understand the problem," says Whitey Secor, SCS resource conservationist. "They don't realize that statewide, we've already lost about half our topsoil. Only about six inches remain over large areas."

"Also, soil conservation isn't cheap. It often takes several years before the benefits in increased productivity are realized. Crop prices have been so low in recent years that many farmers don't feel they can afford to invest in conservation. Our job is to help farmers find the most cost effective ways to conserve soil and prevent pollution."

Cost is an important determinant of whether a farmer is willing to use conservation practices, says Secor. Even changing tillage practices, generally considered a cost-effecient way to control erosion, can have high initial start-up costs. For example, no-till planters cost about $20,000 or more. "That's a big investment, especially when crop prices have been depressed for the past several years."

"The government does offer financial incentives to practice conservation," says Secor. In addition to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service's traditional cost-share program, a number of special cost-share programs are available. Last July, the state approved a $5 million cost-share program that pays up to 87 and one-half percent of the cost of practices. More money is likely to be made available because of the concern over the Chesapeake Bay.

What can farmers do to protect water quality? Conservation officials want farmers to realize that reducing nonpoint pollution on the farm goes hand-in-hand with improving agricultural productivity. Out-of-pocket costs encountered in adopting BMP's can be at least partially offset by reduced soil loss and lower fertilizer costs.

Tenant farmers should stress the importance of best management practices to absentee landowners. Absentee landowners should in turn encourage tenants to adopt BMP's by providing financial incentives, such as offering to share BMP installation costs.

Farmers who live far from a major river or stream, still need to pay attention to pollution control. Some pollutants are transported rapidly for great distances by storm runoff and associated high streamflows. Even streams with little or no flow during dry times of the year can provide a path for pollutants from fields to the bay.

During normal farming activities, say conservationists, farmers should strive to:

a. Keep water (rainfall, snow, and process water) away from potential pollutants (animal wastes, fertilizers, pesticides) by providing proper storage of these materials.

b. Locate new animal facilities as far as possible from streams, and preferably at the top of a slope, so that runoff from surrounding areas does not have to cross the facility. Collect contaminated runoff for utilization later or divert it to a safe area away from streams. Restrict animal access to streams as much as possible.

c. Make regular use of soil test and, whenever possible, use plant and manure analyses to determine nutrient requirements. Follow agronomic recommendations closely when applying nutrients, taking into account all potential sources of fertilizer elements (soil, manures, sludge). Aim for "optimum economic yields" rather than maximum yields - profits will likely be higher and the potential for pollution lower.

d. Properly calibrate and operate equipment for applying pesticides, fertilizers and other amendments, so that correct amounts are delivered. Try to avoid steep slopes and areas directly adjacent to streams.

e. Use soil conservation techniques where applicable. Minimize bare-soil conditions by keeping crop residues or a growing crop in place as long as possible.

f. Don't farm "sensitive" areas, those with highly erodible soils, steep slope, or locations adjacent to streams.

Good planning can go a long way toward preventing sedimentation and pollution of our streams, ponds, and waterways. A farm conservation plan can be developed, free of charge, through the soil conservation office. More information is available at the Garrett County Soil Conservation District office.

Farming in Maryland

Most Farmland In Maryland Still Too Dry

Virtually all of Maryland got rain last week, but most areas received just enough precipitation to maintain their current dry condition. Counties that border along Pennsylvania received significant amounts of rainfall, and some areas actually reported a surplus of soil moisture, such as Garrett County.

On average topsoil moisture in Maryland is mostly adequate to short, according to the Maryland Crop Reporting Service, with subsoil moisture mostly short. There was an average of five days suitable for fieldwork.

Long dry periods this spring have enabled the harvest of small grains and hay to progress at a very rapid pace. On July 14, 1985 the harvest of wheat was 95 percent complete, 10 percent ahead of normal and 20 percent ahead of last year. The harvest of oats was 75 percent complete, 30 percent ahead of average and 35 percent ahead of 1984. Rye harvest is virtually complete, compared to 85 percent for normal. The second cutting of alfalfa was 90 percent complete, ahead of the average of 70 percent. The second cutting of other hay was 70 percent harvested, ahead of the average pace of 50 percent. The third cutting of alfalfa hay began.

Corn is reported to be in good condition. Thirty-five percent of the corn acreage was in the silk stage, equal to normal development but ahead of the 20 percent for 1984. A few fields of corn have entered the dough stage. Soybeans are in mostly fair condition. Ten percent of the acreage is in bloom, ahead of normal but the same as the 1984 rate of development. Low soil mositure has caused some irregular germination of late planted soybeans.

Apples are in good condition, but peaches are in poor condition. The harvest of peaches has begun. The harvest of lima beans, sweet corn, potatoes, watermelons, cantaloupes and tomatoes have all gotten underway, about equal to the normal pace. Across all crops, leaf hoppers were the most commonly reported pest.

Weather

Weather for the past week ending July 12 was seasonal, with highs in the lower 90's and lows in the upper 50's. Temperatures averaged 1 degree above normal and every station reported rain. The average precipitation for the Western counties was 2.18 inches; for North Central, 1.56 inches; for Southern, .52 inch; and for the Eastern Shore, .93 inch. The average of all stations reporting in Maryland was 1.30 inches.

Oakland reported 6.93 inches of rain, making a total of 28.16 inches since March 1. This is 8.62 inches higher than the average rainfall in this area during this period.

THE 1985 4-H/FFA BROILER PROJECT concluded with a show held at Southern Vocational Agriculture Center recently. Sam and John Wright of Swanton took top honors in the Junior and Senior divisions with champion rosettes. Their project dressed birds weighed over six pounds in the 10-week period. Reserve champion ribbons went to Bonnie Lohr and Patty Lohr of Swanton. Each participant displayed three dressed birds out of the 25 they received, courtsey of Southern States of Oakland and Grantsville. Tom Boggess, manager of Southern States Grantsville Cooperative, was the judge of the dressed fowl. Alice Hevner, extension agent of Garrett County, Janet Boggess, vo-ag instructor, and Don Wilt, FFA Alumni, assisted in the scoring and judging of record books. Ribbons and premiums were sponsored by the Maryland State Fair Association. Others placing in the Junior division are pictured above from left to right: front row Scott House, Grantsville, Layne Wassell, Bittinger and Eric House, Grantsville; back row, John Wright, Swanton, Champion; Patty Lohr, Swanton, Reserve Champion, Tom Boggess, judge; and Amy Jo Rice, Oakland. In the Senior division those placing were: front row left to right, Bonnie Lohr, Swanton, Reserve Champion; Linda Bowser, Accident, and Dove Wassell, Bittinger; back row same order: Sam Wright, Swanton, Champion, Karen Lohr, Swanton, Tom Boggess, judge; and Buddy Sisler, Oakland.

Maryland Pork Producers Favor Checkoff Program

Maryland's pork producers show an overwhelming support for a national 100 percent pork producer checkoff program according to results in a national survey.

Ninety-three percent of Maryland pork producers responding to the poll said they were in favor of the proposed program. Maryland producers responding to the survey totaled 56 respondents. The survey was mailed by the National Pork Producers Council to the 110,000 members.

"The survey was conducted to give individual producers a chance for direct input on the proposed program," states NPPC President, Ron Kahle, Kearney, NE. "We were surprised by the overwhelming response to the plan. When 12,000 producers respond to a national survey and 81 percent favor a proposal such as this, we're confident there is broad support in all states, including Maryland."

Kahle announced the formation of a pork producer task force aimed at gathering producer input into the proposed 100 percent investment program. Representatives from all 38 NPPC member states will serve on the task force, which will study the proposal and recommend any changes in the current legislated draft.

"We're pleased that William Malkus from Cambridge will be the task force representative from the Maryland Pork Producers Association," said Kahle.

"For maximum individual producer input, Maryland pork producers are encouraged to contact their task force member William Malkus or state pork producers association president Conrad Langenfelder, Clarksville," Kahle added. NPPC has also established a toll-free hotline for producers' questions and comments on the plan. After July 10 producers can call: 1-800-255-2255, code 7675.

Results of pork producers input will be considered at a NPPC special delegate meeting to be held July 24-25 at the Airport Regency in Des Moines. At that meeting, NPPC's 150 delegates will consider the 100 percent proposal and incorporate any changes before it is introduced into Congress.

The plan would support increased pork promotion and advertising, expand food service and pork merchandising programs, encourage new product development, increase research and other vital industry projects.

Milk Production Higher Than '84

The number of milk cows on Maryland farms during May, at 121,000 head, remained constant compared to a year ago. Milk per cow was up 75 pounds from a year ago to 1,175 pounds of milk per cow. Total milk production for May was 142 million pounds, down slightly compared to last month, but up seven percent compared to May 1984.

United States milk production during May 1985 totaled 12.8 billion pounds, up five percent from May 1984.

Maryland Expects Record Yields For Small Grains

If expectations are realized, Maryland farmers will have record yields for wheat, barley, and rye and a record tying yield for oats.

Wheat production at 5,850,000 bushels is expected to be three percent below 1984's production of 6,020,000. A decline of 10,000 acres harvested to 130,000 more than offset the expected record yield of 45 bushels.

Barley production as of July 1 is forecasted at a record 5,922,000 bushels, up seven percent from 1984's record production of 5,510,000 bushels. Yields are expected to average a record 63 bushels per acre, five bushels above 1984 and three bushels above the previous record of 60 bushels in 1981. Harvested acreage of barley is expected to total 94,000, down one percent from 1984.

The 1985 oats forecast at 885,000 bushels is four percent above the 1984 production of 855,000 bushels. Oats yields for 1985 are expected to average 50 bushels per acre equal to the record yield of the 1981 crop.

Rye production for 1985 is forecasted at 198,000 bushels, 12 percent below 1984's 224,000 bushel crop. Rye is expected to average a record 33 bushels per acre, one bushel above the previous record of 32 bushels set in 1984. Area expected for harvest at 6,000 acres is the lowest on the records, which date back to 1866.

Corn for grain acreage is forecasted above 1984 while potato and sweetpotato acreage are unchanged from last year. Corn for grain acreage for harvest at 650,000 acres is up 10 percent from 1984, but four percent below the record 1981 acreage of 680,000.

Farm Programs Reduce Crops, Preserve Soil

To control excess crops and bring supplies more in line with demand, farmers participating in the 1985 acreage reduction and land diversion programs removed more than 41,900 acres of Maryland's wheat and feed grain bases from production. These acres were placed in an acreage conservation reserve (ACR). "This means fewer acres of over-abundant crops and the preservation of the state's soil and water resources," Olin S. Davis, Jr., chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said.

He said conservation management is part of the farm program contract. Program participants are required to protect their ACR from soil and water erosion by installing approved conservation practices or by planting certain grasses, legumes, small grains or other cover crops on the land. These plantings are also beneficial to wildlife. The conservation protection is approved by the State ASC Committee and also by the State Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service.

Davis said, "Once farmers establish adequate conservation protection on ACR land, they are required to use normal control measures for weeds, insects and rodents. Control measures for weeds need to be sufficient to prevent the spread of weeds and be consistent with control practices normally carried out on similar cropland in the area. Keeping ACR free from weeds is a very important program requirement, and farmers who fail to do so will be out of compliance and could lose program benefits."

To qualify for full program benefits, the ASCS official said farmers must maintain ACR land through the end of the program year. "It would be unfortunate at this point for a farmer to be found out of compliance for failure to maintain his or her acreage conservation reserve," he stated.

Wet Weather - Diseases & Insects

The prolong wet weather we have had is causing disease problems in many of our crops and vegetables. The following information is just a brief report on some of the problems. If you would like more detailed information, give me a call.

Phytophthora Root Rot in Alfalfa is quite common this year. The symptoms include wilting and death of individual plants. Once the soil starts drying out, you may notice Alfalfa plants wilting because the root rot has destroyed the root sysetm. There is nothing you can do to cure the disease. Select Alfalfa that has some resistance to Phytophthora Root Rot.

Tomato Blight conditions are ideal. Continue spraying with a fungicide such as Captan, Zineb, or Maneb. The disease cannot be cured, therefore you must keep the fungicide on the plant which means you will have to spray after hard rains. Using a Spreader-sticker in your sprayer mix will help in keeping the fungicide on the plants.

Stripped Cucumber Beetles are probably at an all-time high. This beetle will attack cucumbers, squash, cantaloupes and watermelons. Spray the entire plant, particularly the main stem at ground level, with Sevin.

Earwigs are very plentiful. This insect is commonly found around the home. They are brown in color, ½" long and are characterized by a set of pinchers on the tail. They do chew on plants after dark; however they are more of a nuisance insect rather than destructive. They can be controlled with most of the common garden insecticides.

Fertilizing Corn: I am seeing a lot of corn that is showing symptoms of Nitrogen Blasting. In all likelihood the excess rainfall has leached out a lot of the nitrogen applied at planting time. It is important that you get your corn growing because time is running out. An application of nitrogen will be beneficial.

Beef - Information is available from the Garrett County Extension Office on 1985-86 West Virginia Bull Tests.

Sheep - Rocco Contracts - Mr. Dennis Miller, Coordinator of Rocco Lamb Venture for contracting feeder or fat lambs will present information on Thursday, July 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the Preston Co. Education Center in Kingwood, W. Va. All interested sheep growers are welcome to hear the discussion.

Real Estate

By ROBERT HUEBNER

Deep Creek Realty

AVOID TITLE DEFECTS

Title to real estate refers to the ownership of the land. When a real estate deed is signed, notarized, and delivered, title—or ownership—passes to the buyer. It is very important to both the buyer and seller that there be no defects in the title.

When buying land, you should always have the public land records checked to insure that title to the real estate you are buying is free from defects, such as for example, a "missing heir" who has failed to sign a deed in the chain of title, or unpaid taxes. If there are any mortgages or other liens against the property, they will also be discovered. Normally unpaid taxes and liens pose no problem because they are withheld from the purchase price and paid—often through the Realtor's escrow account—to the creditor.

The seller wants to be sure there are no title defects because he generally guarantees good title in the deed. This is called a "general warranty." If any title defects later surface—even if they are not the fault of the seller—the general warranty makes the seller legally responsible for the problem.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices.

The following Articles of Association of the new First United National Bank & Trust is published pursuant to a reorganization of First United, which reorganization was consummated effective at 12:01 a.m., July 1, 1985. The reorganization effected a merger of First United National Bank & Trust into the charter of First United Interim National Bank, the resulting bank, but with the name of the former. The resulting bank then became a subsidiary of the holding company, First United Corporation, with the exchange of two shares of stock of the holding company for each share of the bank.

ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION
FIRST UNITED NATIONAL BANK & TRUST

For the purpose of organizing an association to carry on business of banking under the laws of the United States, the undersigned do enter into the following Articles of Association:

FIRST: The title of this Association shall be First United Interim National Bank.

SECOND: The main office of the Association shall be in Oakland, County of Garrett, State of Maryland.

The general business of the Association shall be conducted at its main office and its branches.

THIRD: The Board of Directors of the Association shall consist of not less than five nor more than twenty-five shareholders, the exact number to be fixed and determined from time to time by resolution of a majority of the full Board of Directors or by resolution of the shareholders at any annual or special meeting thereof. Each Director, during the full term of his directorship, shall own a minimum of $1,000 par value of stock of the Association or $1,000 par value, market value or equity interest in the Association's bank holding company, First United Corporation, a Maryland corporation. Any vacancy in the Board of Directors for any reason, including an increase in the number thereof, may be filled by action of the Board of Directors.

FOURTH: There shall be an annual meeting of the shareholders the purpose of which shall be the election of directors and the transaction of whatever other business may be brought before said meeting. It shall be held at the main office or other convenient place as the Board of Directors may designate, on the day of each year specified therefore in the By-laws, but if no election is held on that day, it may be held on any subsequent day according to such lawful rules as may be prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Nominations for election to the Board of Directors may be made by the Board of Directors or by any stockholder of any outstanding class of capital stock of the Association entitled to vote for election of directors. Nominations, other than those made by or on behalf of the existing management of the Association, shall be made in writing and shall be delivered or mailed to the President of the Association and to the Comptroller of the Currency, Washington, D.C., not less than fourteen days nor more than fifty days prior to any meeting of stockholders called for the election of directors, provided, however, that if less than twenty one days' notice of the meeting is given to shareholders, such nominations shall be mailed or delivered to the President of the Association and to the Comptroller of the Currency not later than the close of business on the seventh day following the day on which the notice of meeting was mailed. Such notification shall contain the following information to the extent known to the notifying shareholder: (a) the name and address of each proposed nominee; (b) the principal occupation of each proposed nominee; (c) the total number of shares of capital stock of the Association that will be voted for each proposed nominee; (d) the name and residence address of the notifying shareholder; and (e) the number of shares of capital stock of the Association owned by the notifying shareholder. Nominations not made in accordance herewith may, in his/her discretion, be disregarded by the Chairperson of the meeting, and upon his/her instructions, the vote tellers may disregard all votes cast for each such nominee.

FIFTH: The authorized amount of capital stock of this Association shall be 5,000 shares of common stock of the par value of Ten Dollars ($10.00) each, but said capital stock may be increased or decreased from time to time, in accordance with the provisions of the laws of the United States.

No holder of shares of the capital stock of any class of the Association shall have any preemptive or preferential right of subscription to any shares of any class of stock of the Association, whether now or hereafter authorized, or to any obligations convertible into stock of the Association, issued, or sold, nor any right of subscription to any thereof other than such, if any, as the Board of Directors, in its discretion may from time to time determine and at such price as the Board of Directors may from time to time fix.

The Association, at any time and from time to time, may authorize and issue debt obligations, whether or not subordinated, without the approval of the shareholders.

SIXTH: The Board of Directors shall appoint one of its members President of the Association, who shall be Chairperson of the Board, unless the Board appoints another director to be the Chairperson. The Board of Directors shall have the power to appoint one or more Vice Presidents, and to appoint a Cashier and such other officers and employees as may be required to transact the business of the Association.

The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and employees of the Association; to fix the salaries to be paid to them; to dismiss them; to require bonds from them and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which any increase of the capital of the Association shall be made; to manage and administer the business and affairs of the Association; to make all Bylaws that it may be lawful for them to make; and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a Board of Directors to do and perform.

SEVENTH: The Board of Directors shall have the power to change the location of the main office to any other place within the limits of Oakland, Maryland, without the approval of the shareholders but subject to the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency; and shall have the power to establish or change the location of any branch or branches of the Association to any other location, without the approval of the shareholders but subject to the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency.

EIGHTH: The corporate existence of the Association shall continue until terminated in accordance with the laws of the United States.

NINTH: The Board of Directors of the Association, or any three or more shareholders owning, in the aggregate, not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the stock of the Association, may call a special meeting of shareholders at any time. Unless otherwise provided by the laws of the United States, a notice of the time, place, and purpose of every annual and special meeting of the shareholders shall be given by first class mail, postage prepaid, mailed at least ten days prior to the date of such meeting to each shareholder of record at his address as shown upon the books of the Association.

TENTH: Any person, his/her heirs, executors, or administrators, may be indemnified or reimbursed by the Association for reasonable expenses actually incurred in connection with any action, suit or proceeding, civil or criminal, to which he/she or they shall be made a party by reason of his/her being or having been a director, officer, or employee of the Association or of any firm, corporation, or organization which he/she served in any such capacity at the request of the Association: Provided, however, that no person shall be so indemnified or reimbursed in relation to any matter in such action, suit, or proceeding as to which he/she shall finally be adjudged to have been guilty of or liable for gross negligence, willful misconduct or criminal acts in the performance of his/her duties to the Association: And, provided further, that no person shall be so indemnified or reimbursed in relation to any matter in such action, suit or proceeding which has been made the subject of a compromise settlement except with the approval of a court of competent jurisdiction, or the holders of record of a majority of the outstanding shares of the Association, or the Board of Directors, acting by vote of Directors not parties to the same or substantially the same action, suit, or proceeding, constituting a majority of the whole number of Directors. The foregoing right of indemnification or reimbursement shall not be exclusive of other rights to which such persons, his/her heirs, executors, or administrators, may be entitled as a matter of law.

The Association may, upon the affirmative vote of a majority of its Board of Directors, purchase insurance for the purpose of indemnifying its directors, officers and other employees to the extent that such indemnification is allowed in the preceding paragraph. Such insurance may, but need not, be for the benefit of all directors, officers, or employees.

ELEVENTH: These Articles of Association may be amended at any regular or special meeting of the shareholders by the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the stock of the Association, unless the vote of the holders of a greater amount of stock is required by law, and in that case by the vote of the holders of such greater amount.

Treasurer Says Most Real Estate Tax Bills Mailed

Most Garrett County property owners now have in their possession the Fiscal Year 1986 real estate tax bills recently mailed by the Treasurer's Office, according to Garrett County Treasurer Arzella Parsons.

The treasurer said Tuesday her office has mailed 19,916 bills since July 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year. She also stated that the new system of change of address requests has enabled her staff to remail bills with the correct address deterring delays witnessed in past years.

Parsons reported that bills have been mailed to 46 states and seven foreign countries. The total assessment for Garrett County landowners amounts to $234,561,960 with the county realizing a total of $5,871,463.16 in revenue from real estate taxes. The tax rate dropped again this year making county landowners responsible for paying $2.52 per $100, with an additional $.21 going to the State of Maryland.

The treasurer noted that if any Garrett County landowners have not received a new real estate tax bill for FY 1986 they should contact the treasurer's office at 334-2261.

Presbyterian Survey Being Conducted By Mail

A survey, including a boxholder questionnaire, is being conducted by the Grafton and Baltimore Presbyteries of the Presbyterian Church (USA) to discover if there is interest in establishing a Presbyterian presence in the Garrett County area.

Rev. Donna Lee Shogren, of the First Presbyterian Church in Terra Alta, W. Va., is asking that the questionnaires be returned to her by August 1. "We recognize that many people in Garrett County are active church members, and we have no wish to compete with existing churches," said Rev. Shogren. "We are, however, interested to see whether there are unchurched people and people of Presbyterian preference who would like to form a church."

Rev. Shogren stresses that everyone is being urged to reply. "Even a reply without a name but with the inclusion of a general address (such as McHenry, Star Route) will be of value in the survey," she said.

Information requested on the questionnaire includes: name, address and phone; ages of children in the home; whether a full-time, weekend, or seasonal resident; if the person is a church member and if so, what demonination; and if the person would consider joining a Presbyterian fellowship.

Rev. Shogren can be reached for more information at (304) 789-6987.

Presbyterian Vesper Services are presently being held at the Mt. Top Seventh Day Adventist Church, on Route 219 north of Oakland, every Saturday evening at 7 p.m.

Area Teachers Attend National AFT Conference

Grant County, W. Va., teachers, Carl and Linda Booth, attended the four-day American Federation of Teachers Conference in Washington, D.C. The event, hosted by the Sheraton Washington Hotel, was held from July 10-13.

AFT Quest '85 had as its main theme, "New Visions of Teaching and Schooling." The conference opened with an address by AFT President Albert Shanker on Wednesday evening. Shanker, one of the foremost spokesmen in education in the United States, addressed the some 1,500 delegates on the subject, "Are We Making the Right Choices in Education Reform?."

The activities of each day centered around both general sessions and various workshop sessions. The general sessions were highlighted by presentations by some of the top figures in the educational reform movement in the United States. Theodore R. Sizer, author of Horace's Compromise: The Dilemma of the American High School; former U.S. Secretary of Education Terrel Bell; Harold Hodgkinson, a Senior Fellow at the Institute for Educational Leadership in Washington, D.C.; Phillip Schlecty, executive director of the Gheens Professional Development Center in Louisville, Kent.; Hillary Rodham Clinton, attorney and First Lady of Arkansas; and Linda Darling-Hammond, director of the Education and Human Resources Program for the Rand Corporation of Washington, D.C., were among the speakers during the week's general sessions.

"Making a choice of which workshop to attend was extremely difficult," Mrs. Booth stated. "Each day we were given a choice of 15 morning and afternoon workshop sessions on various current and important educational topics. Some of our West Virginia delegation found that it was advantageous to attend several of the workshops for short periods of time. We were able to purchase, at a nominal fee, audio or video tapes of those sessions which we could not attend but were interested in."

"The highlight of the conference for me," said Mr. Booth, "was the debate between Ms. Darling-Hammond and Mrs Clinton on Friday dealing with the growing problem of the testing of teachers. It looks like Arkansas has a real problem with this issue."

The two Grant County Federation of Teachers members were treated to a tour of the new, sprawling, 12-story AFT Office Building during their stay in Washington. The office complexe is located in the heart of Washington overlooking the mall.

The next AFT Quest Conference will be held during the summer of 1987. Currently plans are being made to hold the event in the Virgin Islands.

NEWS from THE MARYLAND FOREST, PARK & WILDLIFE SERVICE

According to the U.S. Forest Service, in 1976, 74 percent of land in Garrett County was forested. Garrett County Project Foresters Ernie Metz and Paul Mateer rely on the Forest Service for forest inventory data that provides reliable and accurate estimates of current forest area, timber volume, stand conditions, area changes, timber growth, mortality and removals. The survey, done every ten years, also provides information about the current ownerships of forest land in Maryland and the forest industries that use the harvested timber.

Nine two-person crews will soon begin field-plot data collection at sample locations throughout the State. A crew is expected to be inventorying forests in Garrett County this summer. Many plots are interpreted through aerial photographs, but on the ground measurements are selectively done to get additional data on the area, trees, soils, wildlife habitat and other resource conditions. These plots will provide the basic data that will be used to direct the planning, protection and use of Garrett County's forests.

Some of the ground plots were established and measured during earlier inventories. They are especially valuable for determining what has happened to the forest in the last ten years. Tree growth, mortality and harvest information can be evaluated.

Much information will be collected and analyzed during Maryland's Fourth Forest Inventory. In 1976 nearly 2.5 million acres, 40% of the land forested. This inventory will provide data that will help Garrett County citizens see the trends in the local area.

Forests are a valuable natural resource in Garrett County, stated Metz and Mateer who may be contacted at (301) 334-3296 for information about managing woodlands.

Extended Coverage

Lending your car to a friend means that you're lending your insurance coverage too. Think carefully if you want to be liable for your friend's actions.

If your friend has his own auto liability insurance, that coverage—combined with yours—should be adequate even in case of a serious accident.

But if your friend has no insurance of his own, you are responsible if claims exceed your coverage. Your insurance premiums may be raised on the basis of someone else's accident.

Two important considerations: if you let a friend drive who shouldn't, an unlicensed driver, perhaps, or one who is intoxicated, you can be held liable for negligence.

And if your friend, or even a family member, is using your car on a regular basis, that name should be added to your auto policy.

Will Bob Uecker score as a television actor?

By Gregory Garver

Bob Uecker

HOLLYWOOD — Bob Uecker is the first person to admit that he wasn't much of a major league-baseball player when, during the '60s, he was catching for the Milwaukee Braves, the Philadelphia Phillies, the St. Louis Cardinals and the Atlanta Braves.

But Uecker had enough wit and smarts to become a first-rate good sport, and now he's trying to use that same wit and those same smarts to become an actor, portraying George Owens on "Mr. Belvedere."

Being a clown is what made Uecker a sports personality. He often clowned around with Johnny Carson on "The Tonight Show," he clowned around for seven years on ABC's "Monday Night Baseball" and he clowned around while doing his own Las Vegas act. Today he still clowns around when he does the play-by-play telecasts of the Milwaukee Brewers games.

Yet being a clown has not always been easy for Uecker. "Chuck Dressen (the former manager of the Milwaukee Braves) cut me from the roster in 1961," recalls Uecker, "just a few days before opening day. The reason he gave was that there was no room on his baseball club for a clown."

So Uecker didn't participate in the major leagues until the '62 season. And though playing one less year of baseball is, perhaps, a fact of small significance, it still rankles Uecker because it could have affected his pension. (A player must be on the opening-day roster to be vested in a year for a major-league pension plan.)

"Mr. Belvedere" marks Uecker's first professional acting job, unless you count the Miller Lite commercials in which he's appeared. Is he worried about the critical reaction to his new career?

"I think I can act easily," says Uecker, who claims he's had several other acting offers before the ABC sitcom came along. So why didn't he accept any of those? "I was too busy to work them into my busy schedule," he says.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Golden age of TV drama invites welcome return

By Marc Minnelli

Everyone has a favorite classic TV comedy: "I Love Lucy," "Our Miss Brooks," "My Favorite Martian," "Pete and Gladys," "Mr. Ed," "My Mother the Car," "Gilligan's Island," "My Little Margie."

But what about the dramas — those classic shows we watched, remembered and now, alas, miss? Thanks to RKO HomeVideo, two series from the golden age of television drama — "The Dick Powell Theatre" and "The Rogues" — are back.

"The Dick Powell Theatre," originally titled "The Dick Powell Show" and renamed upon the actor's death, was one of television's finest dramatic anthologies. The Emmy-winning series, which ran on NBC from 1961-63, featured performances by some of Hollywood's finest actors. Nostalgia fans will be able to spot the familiar faces: Mickey Rooney, Inger Stevens, Peter Falk, Milton Berle, Carolyn Jones, Rosemary Clooney, Gavin MacLeod, Lee Marvin, Lloyd Bridges, Ronald Reagan and, of course, Dick Powell, who served as series host and who also appeared in several of the show's stories.

Most episodes of "The Dick Powell Theatre" were pilots for potential TV shows, and two actually became series. "Who Killed Julie Greer," the premiere "DPT" show, became "Burke's Law," the ABC series starring Gene Barry, and "Savage Sunday" became "Saints and Sinners," the ill-fated predecessor to "Lou Grant."

Dick Powell

Four episodes of "DPT," including "The Price of Tomatoes," for which Peter Falk won an Emmy, are on home video. RKO claims all episodes will eventually be available.

Though "The Rogues" ran only for one year, the series was one of television's more sophisticated dramas, similar in style to the big-screen's James Bond series. The show revolved around the Flemings and St. Clairs, two debonair con-artist families who lived by the credo "Honor Before Honesty." The series boasted a stellar cast — Gig Young, David Niven, Charles Boyer and Gladys Cooper — and frequent guest stars, including Walter Matthau and Dina Merrill. Two episodes of "The Rogues" are currently on home video, but other episodes will soon be available.

"The Dick Powell Theatre" and "The Rogues" home videos sell for $29.95.

John Getz and Kathryn Harrold star as secretly married police officers Malcolm MacGruder and Jenny Loud on the ABC series "MacGruder & Loud," airing Tuesday, July 23 on ABC.

Atkin is busy because he markets himself

By Gillian George

Whenever he steps off the set of "Cagney & Lacey" and eases out of his Sgt. Coleman characterization, Toronto native Harvey Atkin loves to discuss his craft. But unlike legions of his colleagues who sermonize about their motivation and whether "method acting" is dead, the burly actor prefers to get right to the nitty gritty.

"For one thing," he says, "I always make a point of eating lunch with the crew — and not the cast — of whatever show I'm working on. After all, these are the people who are going to make me look good."

"Another thing," he adds with a slightly sheepish grin, "I'm not afraid to sell myself. With our wealth of talent, Canadians can produce as fine a product as anyone else in the world. But we're not sophisticated at marketing ourselves. We believe that hype is embarrassing.

"Well, I never leave home without a pocketful of pens with my name, my agent's name and his phone number printed on them. I hand them out to everybody who seems interested. Believe me, it's paid off more than a few times."

That practical touch is one of the many things that have paid off for the 44-year-old actor. Even while commuting between Toronto and Los Angeles for his work on "Cagney & Lacey," Atkin remains one of Canada's busiest performers. Canadian TV viewers have seen him on nearly every series that's been produced here, and his movie credits include "Atlantic City," "Ticket to Heaven" and "Silver Streak." He can also be seen in many TV commercials, and his distinctive voice is heard many times a day in radio and TV voice-overs.

Atkin says he has no intention of slowing down. "I'm not a star," he insists, "and I don't want to be one. I just want to work. After 18 years in the business, I still find it hard to say 'no' to a job.

"But I've promised my family that I'll never be away from them for months at a time. And I'll never break my promise. I'm very much in love with my wife and two kids, and one of the hardest things is making sure that I'm Lisa and Danny's dad and not just 'Harvey Atkin, Actor.'"

Atkin also likes discussing how his desk sergeant character has developed over the years. "Coleman's getting a lot more screen time nowadays," he says, "and what's even better is that he's providing a lot of the laughs. My favorite episode was when Atkin finally revealed that his first name was Ronald. Get it? Ronald Coleman."

TUESDAY

Danny Kaye makes his television dramatic debut as a concentration-camp survivor fighting neo-Nazism in the 1981 film "Skokie." The movie, based on a true story, airs Tuesday, July 23 on CBS. (Rebroadcast)

STAR STYLE

Miss Harrold splurges but keeps her shape

By Renee Ross

Don't try to convince Kathryn Harrold that sleep is a waste of time. "I believe strongly in sleep and dreams. They help us maintain mental health," says Miss Harrold, who stars as Officer Jenny Loud in the ABC police series "MacGruder & Loud."

Kathryn Harrold

"Dreams are the most creative part of us. I write my dreams down. They're exciting to reread and sometimes," the 34-year-old actress adds, "they seem like poetry. No one could ever make up anything as good as a dream."

Like most of us, the 5-foot-4 actress admits that finding time to exercise can be a challenge. "I began exercising by working out a lot. It began to dwindle, however, because I was often working 15 hours a day on the show. Finally, it came down to doing 15 minutes of stretches when I came home. But even that helped, since my muscles get stiff during a long day."

Miss Harrold discovered hatha yoga, a series of special stretches and other body postures, as an answer to her fitness needs. "The routine I do is very intense," she explains. "I find that I can pretty much stay in shape with it. I used to take a group yoga class, but now I have a tape and often follow it at home."

The 115-pound actress says she's one of the lucky ones. She rarely needs to watch her weight. "I worked so hard on 'MacGruder & Loud' that I was actually losing weight," says the Virginia-born Miss Harrold, whom TV viewers may remember from her role as actress Lauren Bacall in the 1980 TV movie "Bogie."

You won't find Miss Harrold following the flock when it comes to fitness, either. "I can't bear running and I don't play tennis," she says. "I have always liked to stay in shape with dance or yoga because I hate the competitiveness of team sports. And in health clubs," she adds with a laugh, "there's even competition over the kind of leotard you wear."

"I do get angry with people who are obsessed with exercise or dieting," she adds. "They usually aren't following the program as completely as they claim. They're just talking about it. They're simply showing off."

"You can get just as stressed trying not to do things as you can doing them," she continues. "Once in a while, you've got to enjoy a diet splurge or a break from taking exercise too seriously. You've got to have fun sometimes."

BEHIND THE SCENES

Dano teaches mortals how to become stars

By Marta Tarbell

Sal Dano teaches actors how to find themselves.

"Everybody has a strong suit," says the 52-year-old former actor, who has coached such stellar students as Tom Selleck, Elliott Gould, Doug McKeon, Heather Locklear and Billy Moses along to stardom. "For actors, there are four basic talents: voice, intelligence, physique and emotions. I call them VIPE. And I teach my students to bring all four talents into harmony."

An example of someone whose VIPEs were once out of whack? Years ago, when Tom Selleck was studying with Dano, the actor's high-pitched voice didn't match his physique and intelligence.

"We were best friends for quite a while," Dano recalls. "Back then, Tom was trying to play a macho type and it just wasn't working. So I told him to stop trying to be Kirk Douglas, and act like Jimmy Stewart instead, who constantly sounds embarrassed. After that, things fell into place for Tom."

Dano began coaching while he was a student at New York's prestigious American Academy of Dramatic Arts. "Other students would come to my house for help on scenes," he recalls. "Finally one of them said to me, 'Why don't you start a class? Then we can pay you, and we won't have to be constantly apologizing for taking up your time.'"

Soon after, Dano's VIPE theory of acting was born. "My classes aren't too formal. They're like discussing things among buddies," he says.

Sal Dano

"We'll do scenes, and I'll tell students, 'Your voice doesn't match your gait,' or 'You look like a baritone, but you talk like an alto.'"

Dano also has very definite ideas concerning different types of acting. "Pedestal acting is what happens when you're acting because you want to be adored," he explains. "Podium acting is when you're acting because you really have something to say. It's hard to keep acting for the right reasons when you've got guys like Jay Bernstein (the agent-turned-producer of "Mike Hammer") out here, creating actors for mass adoration. He's a cynical jerk. Even actors are becoming desensitized — there's nothing left that makes them blush. And blushing is what great acting is all about. Look at Jimmy Stewart. He's over 80 and still blushing. Gary Cooper, Steve McQueen — they had that blush."

What about his old-time pal, Selleck? Dano sighs. "I'm hoping I'll live to see the day when Tom comes down off of his pedestal and does some real acting."

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

I still get amused by TV shows such as "Leave It to Beaver." How I laugh at the Beav's antics! Can you give me a little history on the show? My favorite character is the mother, June Cleaver. What can you tell me about Barbara Billingsley, the actress who portrayed her? — C.L., Bozeman, Mont.

Barbara Billingsley

"Leave It to Beaver" debuted on Oct. 4, 1957. The original cast included Jerry Mathers as Theodore "Beaver" Cleaver, Tony Dow as his brother, Wally Cleaver, Hugh Beaumont as the father, Ward Cleaver, and, of course, Miss Billingsley as June Cleaver. Other series regulars included Ken Osmond as the unctuous Eddie Haskell, Frank Bank as Clarence "Lumpy" Rutherford and Stanley Fafara as Whitey Whitney.

"Leave it to Beaver," one of the most popular series in TV history, ran on CBS until September 1958. In October 1958, the sitcom began a six-year run on ABC. In March 1983, most of the original cast reprised their roles for "Still the Beaver," a made-for-TV movie that served as the pilot for the Disney Channel's cable series of the same name.

Prior to joining the cast of "Beaver," Miss Billingsley starred as housewife Helen Wilson in the 1955 CBS comedy "Professional Father." The actress, who can be heard as one of the voices on the Saturday morning cartoon series "Muppet Babies," also appeared in major roles in several other TV series, including "Four Star Playhouse" and "Schlitz Playhouse of Stars," in which she appeared twice with Ronald Reagan.

Miss Billingsley has also played Tony Dow's mother in a Kansas City dinner-theater production of Neil Simon's "Come Blow Your Horn." The actress, who lives in Malibu, Calif., also made a memorable cameo in the 1980 film "Airplane!"

Haven't I seen Stepfanie Kramer, who stars as Sgt. Dee Dee McCall in "Hunter," in another series? — S.J.G., Trenton, N.J.

You've got keen eyes, S.J.! Miss Kramer starred as Claudia in the NBC comedy "We've Got It Made." The actress has also appeared in "Trapper John, M.D." and "Knots Landing." She was also a series regular on "Married: The First Year."

SOAP OPERA WEEK

Fan has a case against soap star Sam Behrens

By Kimberly Redmond

I have a case against Sam Behrens, the actor who portrays lawyer Jake Meyer on "General Hospital." That guy is fantastic! Please tell me about that hunk. Is he married? Do I stand a chance? — C.D., Greensboro, Pa.

Sam Behrens

Behrens is married (sorry!) to actress Dale Kristien, whom he met on a blind date. Behrens was born in Brooklyn, New York, and began his professional acting career at Pennsylvania's prestigious Bucks County Playhouse. The actor appeared in the Broadway hit "Grease" while he was portraying Dr. Adam Cohen on the ABC soap "Ryan's Hope." In his spare time, Behrens takes flying lessons and frequently works out — can't you tell by that great body?

I'm a fan of "The Young and the Restless," and I love watching Joy Garrett, the actress who portrays former prostitute Boobsie Caswell Austin. Can you tell me about her background? — E.B., Largo, Fla.

Miss Garrett became a semi-regular on the CBS soap after several months of portraying the good-hearted Boobsie on a day-player basis. The actress has appeared in several off-Broadway and Broadway productions. She has also appeared in many television series, including "Benson," "Three's Company" and "Charlie's Angels." Miss Garrett was also in the TV movie "Baby Brokers," and starred in the nighttime series "Callie & Son."

Whatever happened to Dennis Parker, who portrayed Police Chief Derek Mallory on "Edge of Night"? I didn't see him on any of the last "Edge" broadcasts. — M.W., Burlington, N.J.

Dennis Parker was too ill to appear in any of the soap's last episodes. Shortly after the show was canceled by ABC, Parker passed away after suffering a long illness.

Surveys Indicate Fewer Speeders On Md. Highways

Motorists on Maryland's 55 mile per hour highways are complying with the speed limit at an ever increasing rate. According to recent State Highway Administration surveys, during April, May and June of this year the number of motorists exceeding 55 has dropped to the lowest level in recent months. That data indicates that 10.2 percent fewer motorists were found to be in excess of 55 when that data is compared to the previous quarter ending on April 1, 1985.

State Police are encouraged by those most recent surveys and credit concerned motorist with the reversing of a dangerous trend. Colonel W.T. Travers, Jr., Superintendent of the State Police, said, "We have sought voluntary compliance with the speed laws in Maryland and it is clear that drivers on our highways are helping in our efforts."

State Police began an intensive effort in early May to reduce the percentage of motorists not complying with Maryland's 55 mile per hour limit which had risen to more than 60 percent. Rolling roadblocks, high visibility with distinctive marked tags on all unmarked patrol cars and strict enforcement were all geared at increasing the public's awareness as to the potentially dangerous situation in hopes of reversing that trend.

Even though the latest reduction in speeds is significant, the precentage of speeding motorists is still not acceptable, Travers said, and State Police are continuing their efforts to ensure that this reasonable trend continues. Colonel Travers added, "Although we are pleased with the recent trend of speed compliance, we will need the continued support of the public to reduce the needless deaths and injuries on our highways."

A NEEDED SERVICE HAS RECENTLY BEEN ADDED to downtown Oakland. Gary's Boot and Shoe Repair and Leather Shop, owned and operated by Gary Whiteman, is located on Alder Street and specializes in western boot repair, general repairs, leather items, shines, and tack and harness repair. Store hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

WHAT ARE CATARACTS?

In Latin, cataract means "water fall." To ancient medical observers this appeared to best describe the hazy film that seemed to fall over the lens. Today a cataract is defined as any clouding of the lens that alters or blocks the passage of light and thus interferes with vision. Cataracts are not growths and are not contagious. They are not caused or hastened by reading, sewing or watching movies.

Among known causes are diseases such as diabetes, hereditary influence, radiation, dietary deficiencies, and chemical damage. Early diagnosis is important. Sometimes surgery is indicated, in others just eye glasses may do the job. Occasionally drops can be prescribed to control the vision.

The Courage To Seek

From the beginning, men have sought the sea, venturing out in crafts that were sometimes pitifully small. Some have made their voyages successfully, others have been lost. All over the world there are monuments to those who had the courage to seek the sea, and yet lost their battle with her.

The sea, the sky, the stars, the gallaxies . . . they all have a vastness hard to understand. And sometimes it seems to be that way about the Church and religion, too. There are questions that can never really be answered, mysteries that can never be fully understood. We go into church and almost despite ourselves we feel an awe and a reverence, and don't quite know why.

Maybe we should just accept it . . . as we do the sea and the sky and the stars. Maybe we should give faith the chance to make its own transformation, as we voyage on through life.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHERE THERE'S LOVE, THERE'S HOPE

July 21, 1985

Background Scripture:
Hosea 11:14

Devotional Reading:
Hosea 11:5-8; 14:4-9

I can't say that I knew Bert well, but we were more than just nodding acquaintances in the hallways of the local high school. From what I saw of him, Bert seemed to be a happy, pleasant fellow, usually with a grin on his face.

After graduation, we saw no more of each other. But, several years later, while I was working as a construction laborer between my sophomore and junior years at college, I picked up the morning paper and read that Bert had committed suicide, leaving a note to his mother, asking her to forgive him, and saying he was sorry, "but I've done too many bad things."

CORDS OF COMPASSION

I didn't know — and still don't -- what "bad things" to which Bert was referring, but I wished then and many times since that I had had the opportunity to tell Bert that, no matter what he had done, the love of God is bigger and stronger than any sin or sins we can commit. So long as we have that love in him, there is no reason ever to lose hope.

Of course, it's easy to understand why people despair. Looking at it from a strictly human perspective, it would seem that it is logical for us to conclude that there are limits to God's love and redemption. After all, there are limits to just about everything in this world, why not with the love of God as well? There are some things that we do or don't do that are so "bad," as Bert put it, that it would seem no more than just and right that God would draw a line there.

The popular concept of love is a kind of "you-scratch-my-back-and-I'll-scratch-your-back" affair. So long as we are both scratching, our love remains undiminished. But let one of us be negligent in our scratching, for whatever the reason, and the other will quickly declare that the "deal is off!" and love is gone. If you fail to love me to the extent that I might rightfully expect, I have the right to break off the relationship.

A NO-CANCEL LOVE

But, fortunately for us, love on the divine level doesn't work by rules and regulations. If it did, we'd all be out of luck. God should, according to human logic, abandon us. But he doesn't, for his love is the kind that weathers all these storms and remains intact: "How can I give you up, oh Ephraim! How can I hand you over, oh Israel!" (11:8).

The key to this is to be found in the nature of God's love for us. It is not like the "love" of which so many people today speak — the quid pro quo love. That is not really love because it lacks commitment. If we must compare this love of God to anything else, it is more like the saving love of the parent, who never gives up in his or her love for us. And where there's love, there is always hope, too.

Revolutionary War Regiments To Enact Battle During Summer Fest

Four regiments will make camp on the Friendsville School grounds and enact a Revolutionary War battle during Summer Festival V on August 3 and 4, according to a release from the Town and Community Women, Inc. which is the sponsor of the Summer Fest.

The Maryland Militia was created in 1973 by a group of history buffs who research the Revolutionary War era and recreate it as accurately as possible for the educational enjoyment of themselves and the public. It consists of four units: the musicians, the musketmen, the cannon crew, and the camp followers. All clothing and equipment used by the Maryland Militia is either original or authentic reproductions of items used two hundred years ago by the common people of Maryland. Many of the items are hand made utilizing materials which were available at the time.

The Second Maryland Regiment was formed in 1974, and is one of the premier enactment units in the United States. This unit was chosen to reenact the assault on the redoubt at Yorktown.

These groups represent what was the backbone of the Continental Army. The 1st Continental Army Unit was from Garrett County.

Representing the British side will be Frazier's Highlanders 71st Regiment of Foot and Ferguson's Company 4th Battalion Royal Artillery, pictured above. Frazier's Highlanders was organized in 1973; the present unit is sponsored by St. Andrews Society of Baltimore. The Colonel in Chief is Lord Lovat, the hereditary chief of the Clan Frazier. The unit depicts a Scottish regiment of the 18th century. The original unit marched over 3,000 miles during the Revolutionary War and was in about every major engagement.

Ferguson's Company was formed in 1974. The original unit was raised for North American campaigns and was named for the company commander.

Another feature of Friendsville's 1985 Summer Festival V will be Women of the Revolution, coordinated by Margorie Steen, a member of the Annapolis Historical Society and a teacher in the Anne Arundel County schools. She will tell of the women who were spies for the Continental and British armies and Indian women involved. She will also demonstrate some of the kinds of work women had to do.

Old-time craftspeople will be on the field to demonstrate and explain their crafts; some craft items will be for sale.

Girls vying for the title of Summer Queen are Tracy Bennett, Laura Bosley, Tracy Frazee, Becky Myers, Susan Sisler, Tammy Wakefield, and Tracy Wakefield. Former queens are invited to be present: 1981 Queen, Jana Hershman; 1982 Queen, Dawn Humberson; 1983 Queen, Stacy Rodeheaver; and 1984 Queen, Autumn Frazee, who will crown the new queen. For further information persons may call 746-5798 or 746-5506.

The festival is partially funded by grants from the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland Arts Council.

Office On Aging Conference Deals With Medicare

Serious concerns about the adverse effect of new Medicare reimbursement policies on elderly hospital patients were expressed at a recent conference sponsored by the State Office on Aging.

The conference was attended by health care and aging services professionals and administrators.

The conference started with a discussion by a panel of representatives from the Health Care Financing Administration, Maryland Hospital Association, Maryland Professional Review Organization, Maryland Office on Aging, Health Services Cost Review Commission, Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland and Visiting Nurse Association of Baltimore.

In her opening remarks, Rosalie S. Abrams, director of the State Office on Aging, stated that because of a system initiated by the Federal Government in 1984 for reimbursing hospitals for the care of Medicare patients, there is a growing concern that some elderly patients are being discharged before fully recovering, and some individuals are discharged from the hospital without an adequate plan for continuing treatment," said Mrs. Abrams. "Our office is receiving an increasing number of complaints that some elderly patients are being discharged before they can be adequately cared for at home or in a nursing home. This may result in the need for these patients to be readmitted for further hospitalization."

One issue focused on during the conference was the fact that Medicare policy makers deal only with hospital costs and not overall patient cost, including the cost to the patient's spouse or family if the patient is discharged prematurely. Another issue discussed was the lack of documentation or data on the number of patients prematurely discharged and/or adversely affected by such discharges.

Procedures available to patients or their physicians to correct inequities in the application of the policies were reviewed for the conferees. The extent to which such procedures are understood and utilized, however, was questioned.

The conference concluded with the understanding of the need for further joint effort by interested parties and organizations to more fully document the adverse experience of hospital patients with the operation of the Medicare reimbursement policies and to influence Medicare officials to make what are believed to be necessary changes in these policies.

We're Looking Out For You.

Smoke smudges the sky of an early morning. Quickly, two alert pairs of eyes follow the sinister trail to its source: the eaves of a row house. As if to punctuate the terror of the moment, flames suddenly burst through the windows of the second floor. Tragedy seems imminent. But on this day, happily, tragedy is averted.

For the two pairs of eyes belonged to two Potomac Edison employees, on their way to a routine service call. Acting under the guidelines of Potomac Edison's Radio Watch program, the employees used their truck radio to notify their base station operator of the emergency. The operator, in turn, notified the Fire Department which arrived in plenty of time to prevent serious property damage and--most importantly--potential injuries or deaths.

Radio Watch was created to report emergencies and hazardous situations in the areas we service as quickly as possible by using our widespread mobile communications network.

What makes us most proud, though, is that our employees are willing to get involved. So when we say we're looking out for you, we are. We all are.

Because at Potomac Edison, that's our commitment: to make life a little safer today--and tomorrow.

Maryland AARP Legislative Group Outlines Concerns

Health care cost containment and greater rights for older workers are among the five legislative priorities outlined by AARP's Maryland State Legislative Committee (SLC) at a recent two-day organizational meeting held in preparation for the 1986 session of the Maryland General Assembly.

"Clearly, there are many issues that affect older persons in Maryland and our 1986 legislative priorities will reflect some of their major concerns," SLC Chairman John Bernhardt said as he pointed out that the AARP legislative goals in Maryland in 1986 will include:

- Promoting long term care by expanding Gateway II to all counties, providing assistance for persons with Alzheimer's Disease, and providing assistance to families caring for chronically impaired elderly relatives;
- Supporting legislative efforts to prohibit mandatory retirement for age if job performance is satisfactory;
- Monitoring and strengthening existing health cost containment laws;
- Continuing efforts to contain escalation of utility costs; and
- Encouraging property tax containment.

"The conclusions reached by the SLC were based on the results of surveys conducted by AARP chapters and Maryland Retired Teachers Association (MRTA) units. At our meeting in Annapolis, the SLC decided upon our five key concerns after considerable discussion of the most pressing issues confronting older Marylanders. AARP looks forward to being an active and responsible participant in the legislative process as we work with legislators to promote legislation beneficial not only to older persons, but to all Marylanders as well," said Bernhardt, a resident of Queenstown.

In announcing its legislative priorities for the 1986 legislative session, AARP's State Legislative Committee also disclosed that it plans to conduct regional legislative seminars in October to strengthen its Maryland legislative grass roots network. "The legislatively-oriented members of all 54 AARP Chapters and the 24 units of the Maryland Retired Teachers Association will be invited to attend these meetings as we discuss ways to organize more effective local legislative committees," Bernhardt said.

In addition to Bernhardt's election as the Maryland SLC chairman for 1985-86, Everett H.F. Felber, Silver Spring, was elected vice chairman and Sheldon B. Dawson, Salisbury, was elected secretary. Mrs. Ellen MacNaught, AARP State Director, also announced the appointment of three members to the Maryland SLC: Edward R. Umphery, Baltimore; James Nelson, Cumberland; Harvey Butt, Sr., Annapolis.

The American Association of Retired Persons, a nonprofit organization, is the nation's largest aging group with over 19 million members and nearly 400,000 members in Maryland. AARP's 35,000 volunteers across the country run numerous programs and services for older persons, represent the older population's viewpoints before legislative and governmental bodies, and organize volunteer efforts through more than 3,400 local chapters and units.

AARP, headquartered in Washington, D.C., also publishes Modern Maturity, the nation's third-largest-circulation magazine, and other periodicals for its membership, composed of persons age 50 and over.

DHR Receives Child Support Study Grant

The Maryland Department of Human Resources has been awarded a $455,944 federal grant to analyze interstate child support operations and problems and to develop and test interstate case processing improvements.

According to DHR Secretary Ruth Massinga, the one-year study will examine the child support process within the state and county offices, the processing of intercounty cases, and the processing of cases involving Maryland and a selected number of other states. Major components of the study will include: 1) a detailed management study and problem analysis; 2) an analysis of potential improvements; 3) a demonstration of a model organization and process for initiating, responding to, and processing interstate cases; and 4) an evaluation of the demonstration, examining its design and conduct, and assessing the potential significance for other states and the feasibility of implementing the demonstrated techniques on a permanent basis.

Under the Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act (URESA), a resident of one state can take action to establish paternity, and establish or enforce support orders against a parent in another state without requiring the parties to appear in court in the same state. Last year, Maryland was involved with 5,846 URESA cases — 3,193 cases were initiated by Maryland and 2,653 cases were petitioned from other states. Of those cases, a total of 3,236 new support orders were established on URESA cases.

"This grant will enable us to examine our current child support operations, and to also document and test successful interstate case processing innovations whose elements can be adopted in other states," noted Ann Helton, executive director of DHR's Child Support Enforcement Administration.

Conservation Program Led By Auto Recycling

According to the Maryland Energy Office, auto and truck recycling was the leading energy conservation program in Maryland in 1984. Auto and truck recyclers saved enough energy to heat about 96,000 homes for a year. Auto and truck recycling has saved enough energy to heat over 440,000 homes for a year since the start of the program in 1980.

Richard Keller, manager of Procurement and Waste Management for the Maryland Energy Office, notes that the savings in auto and truck recycling comes from four sources. "Auto and truck recyclers provide usable parts for vehicles, which extends the life of the vehicles, and reduces the need to manufacture new cars," he said. "By providing recycled parts, auto and truck recyclers eliminate the need to manufacture new replacement parts. Auto and truck recyclers provide recyclable metals to make new metal products; this recycling process is more energy-efficient than the virgin process. Auto and truck recyclers also replace worn out parts with quality recycled parts, thus making vehicles operate more efficiently."

The Maryland Energy Office has a toll-free number for citizens to call and obtain further information on auto and truck recycling or to find the location of nearby auto and truck recyling facilities. The number is 1-800-492-5903.

Something To Think About

Difference Dispositions

When someone dies, it is often left to the survivors to decide what shall be done with the deceased. If cost were the ONLY consideration, the most inexpensive disposal would probably be a direct cremation of the body, followed by a memorial service and either scattering or keeping the remains at home.

Of course, cost is NOT, or should not be the only consideration. There are many times when families have found much comfort and peace of mind being able to view the body. Many people derive a serene satisfaction in choosing the type of casket and burial vault that seems most appropriate to them; in selecting suitable burial clothes.

The funeral rituals we practice have a purpose. To take them too lightly would be a disservice to us all. Instead, we have to consider the options and try to make a decision which will bring some meaning and comfort to this act of final farewell.

New Horizons Notes Another Successful Year

The New Horizons Program, a displaced homemaker project sponsored by Garrett Community College and jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Vocational/Technical Education and GCC, commemorated the close of another successful year of operation in Garrett County at a recent meeting of its advisory board.

This displaced homemaker project has been serving the needs of men and women in the county since January of 1980, who, because of separation, divorce, widowhood, or economic changes in their lives, have had to enter or return to the work force after a long absence.

The Program has had another successful year, according to Barbara Frey, director, working with over 261 new and returning clients providing career advisement, career-oriented workshops, training opportunities, and job awareness. Approximately 128 of these individuals took advantage of over $5,500 tuition money made available through the program to take non-credit vocational classes to update skills which could lead to employment, she said. In addition to those taking non-credit classes, 14 individuals enrolled in credit classes at GCC, one enrolled at Alderson-Broaddus College pursuing a nursing degree, five participated in the JTPA vocational training program, two enrolled in cosmetology schools, and one enrolled at Petersburg Vocational/Technical Center.

New Horizons' Outreach/Job Awareness staff member was kept busy during the funding year with job awareness for clients. At least 91 clients became employed either full or part-time during the 1984-85 fiscal year.

"New Horizons looks forward to another year of serving Garrett County residents with a continuation and expansion of services offered for the 1985-86 funding year," Mrs. Frey said. Persons interested in learning more about the New Horizons Program should call 334-9184 weekdays from 8:30 to 4:30 p.m.

DHR Secretary Makes Appeal For Foster Homes

Secretary Ruth Massinga of the Maryland State Department of Human Resources is issuing an urgent appeal for foster homes for children in need of care.

"The shortage of foster homes exists statewide," said Secretary Massinga, "but some jurisdictions are harder hit than others. Right now, we have an acute shortfall in Baltimore City, where requests for placement of about 100 children a week are received.

"We are in desperate immediate need of at least 50 new foster homes in Baltimore City," said Secretary Massinga. "About 95 percent of these children are victims of abuse and neglect and we simply want a warm loving temporary home for these children until they can return to their families or permanent placement can be arranged," she added.

In dire situations, when foster homes are not available, children are placed with relatives or in shelter facilities until a home is found.

Statewide, there are about 5,000 children in foster care, including 2,685 in Baltimore City. Children in need of care range in age from infants to adolescents. The greatest need is care for children under the age three and over age nine.

Local Departments of Social Services provide training and board rates in the form of monthly stipends depending on the age and needs of the child.

A statewide foster care recruitment campaign in cooperation with the Foster Parent Association is currently underway. Baltimore, Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties are each in need of at least 25 new homes. Anne Arundel County is in search of 25 homes.

Prospective foster parents need only have a desire to care for children, provide a bed for the child to sleep in and have own source of income.

Interested persons should call their local department of social services for an application, Massinga said.

Diabetics May Receive Free Exams, Medication

Diabetics who require insulin could qualify for participation in a study of a new diabetes drug at The Johns Hopkins Medical Institutions. Individuals over 18 who need insulin, but have not taken the drug, may be eligible to use a new form of insulin. Volunteers will receive free medical examinations, drugs, dietary advice, blood tests and home-monitoring kits.

Diabetics between 18 and 56, with onset of their disease discovered no later than age 40, may volunteer for another study. A new medication taken with insulin has the potential to prevent or reduce the severe complications of diabetes such as damage to the eyes, the nerve endings and the kidneys. Volunteers will also receive free medical exams, blood tests and the new medication.

ACA Accepting Proposals For Grant Funding

The Alcoholism Control Administration (ACA) of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene will be accepting proposals for developing and providing Community Based Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention services during the fiscal year 1986 (July 1, 1985-June 30, 1986).

Grants will be awarded on a competitive basis to private organizations or public agencies submitting proposals for preventive alcohol and drug abuse programs. A Request for Proposal (RFP) can be obtained from the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention Unit of the ACA and the deadline for submitting proposals is 4:30 p.m., September 20, 1985.

With the passage of legislation included in the 1985 Governor's Initiatives for Children and Youth, funds are now available to provide single grants, in amounts not to exceed $10,000, for prevention of drug and alcohol abuse. The total amount of funding made available for this prevention program is $120,000. House Bill 1341 was introducted for the purpose of promoting public awareness of the need to prevent drug and alcohol abuse among the state's children.

Grant proposals for preventive programs must include a proposal narrative prepared according to specified technical requirements, not to exceed 20 pages. Additional value will be placed on proposals that are designed to:

1) Reach the largest possible number of parents, children and youth in a community;

2) Involve local government officials and other community leaders;

3) Be supplemented by local or private funding.

A request for Proposal can be obtained by calling the ACA at (301) 225-6562 or writing:

Mathias Sponsors Bill To Prohibit Steel-Jaw Traps

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) said recently that he has introduced legislation to prohibit the purchase or shipment of the steel-jaw leghold trap, a device designed to keep animals alive in order to preserve their soft pelts until the trapper returns.

Declaring that "it is difficult to imagine the pain that a trapped animal must endure," Mathias explained that the trap "shackles and cripples animals, often leaving them for days to contend with predators, the elements and starvation before the trapper returns."

He pointed out that the trap is nonselective. "There is a 75 percent chance that the animal caught in the trap would be a domestic pet, a non-furbearing animal or a hunting dog," he said.

Mathias noted that testimony before the House Subcommittee on Health and the Environment last year revealed that of the 1,1?? animals caught with the leghold trap a predator control program for coyotes, only 138 were coyotes. The rest included golden eagles, antelope, various other wild mammals and birds, 30 sheep and other domesticated livestock.

"Outrage and concern over the use of this barbaric instrument have been expressed worldwide," said Mathias, adding that 48 countries currently ban the use of the leghold trap because of its inhumane and cruel characteristics.

He pointed out that countries such as Norway, Germany and Switzerland have banned the trap without experiencing economic hardship.

"I consider this to be conclusive testimony that the fur industry's future is not contingent on the steel-jaw leghold trap," he said.

Mathias urged his colleagues to support the legislation, stressing, "It is imperative that we ban the steel-jaw leghold trap to ensure that millions of animals are spared its vicious bite."

Sachs Seeking Refunds From Oil Producers

Attorney General Stephen H. Sachs has announced the issuance of a U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) report which he said "would bring the citizens of Maryland a giant step forward to recovering hundreds of millions of dollars of oil overcharges taken from the public by oil producers during the 1970's."

The DOE report deals with the disposition of over $1 billion of the overcharge funds being held in escrow by the U.S. District Court in Kansas. The report should affect the claims of states, including Maryland, in other cases involving several billion dollars more. Maryland's potential share of the refunds in this case is over 1.87%, or over $18 million for each billion to be distributed.

Sachs also expressed pleasure at the decision of the Federal Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals in United States v. Exxon, issued July 1, 1985, affirming a lower court judgment requiring Exxon to pay $2 billion for oil overcharges (and interest).

THE COLOUR COMPANY, serving the professional and free lance photographer on a wholesale basis, opened on East Green Street in Oakland, April 1. Owned and operated by Steve Adams, with his wife, Virginia, assisting in the lab, the ten-year old company, formerly of Alexandria, Va., also provides service to National Geographic, the Air Force Association, and United Way. The Colour Company is open from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. five days a week, Monday through Friday. At present, employee Della Lewis helps the company serve its customers.

Although he acknowledged that an appeal by Exxon to the United States Supreme Court was likely, Sachs noted that, if ultimately affirmed, the decision could result in approximately $35 million coming to the State of Maryland for use in energy-related programs that benefit the citizens of the State.

In the Kansas case, oil refiners had claimed that they were the injured parties because of the overcharges on crude oil that they purchased. But after a fact-finding hearing conducted at the court's request, the Energy Department's Office of Hearings and Appeals concluded that the refiners had passed through to their customers almost the entire overcharge amount, or up to 97.3% of the extra costs they paid.

Sachs said that he was "pleased" with the DOE decision, because it removes a major roadblock to the distribution of the $1 billion in the Kansas case. "Our state's experts and attorneys played a key role in persuading the Department that the refiners case was, in DOE's words, 'fatally flawed.' "

In addition to the new fact-finding report, DOE issued a policy recommendation to the court that any possible distribution to refiners should be further reduced because of their "unclean hands" in causing the overcharges in the first place.

DOE found that because the theoretical estimate of possible injury to refiners and other individual claimants was so small, it would be impractical, time-consuming, and costly to attempt to make individual distributions, according to the report, DOE recommended that the entire escrow amount be held for the benefit of consumers as a group.

Sachs said that while DOE, as expected, had asked that the money then be turned over to the federal treasury, "no court has ever done so, and DOE's own past decisions show why the only equitable and legal course is payment to the states for use in energy-related programs benefitting consumers."

Senior Citizens Studying Home Repair At GCC

Eight senior citizens are studying to be home repair specialists at Garrett Community College. The training program, sponsored by the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging, is designed to train seniors in light home repairs to enable them to supplement their incomes and provide a viable service to other members of the community.

The instructor, Howard Countryman, is teaching the participants specialized tasks in carpentry, electrical, masonry, and plumbing. In cooperation with Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, field trips for on-site observation were taken to a house designated for repairs.

A graduation ceremony for the home repair specialists will be held at noon, July 25, at the Accident Senior Center, Town View Apartments, Accident. Area seniors are invited to attend and learn more about future training programs.

The participants are collecting class pictures and are anticipating to their 20 and 30-year reunions.

Persons interested in having home repairs done by the Home Repair Specialists may call Rich Tepper at Community Action (334-2151) for further information.

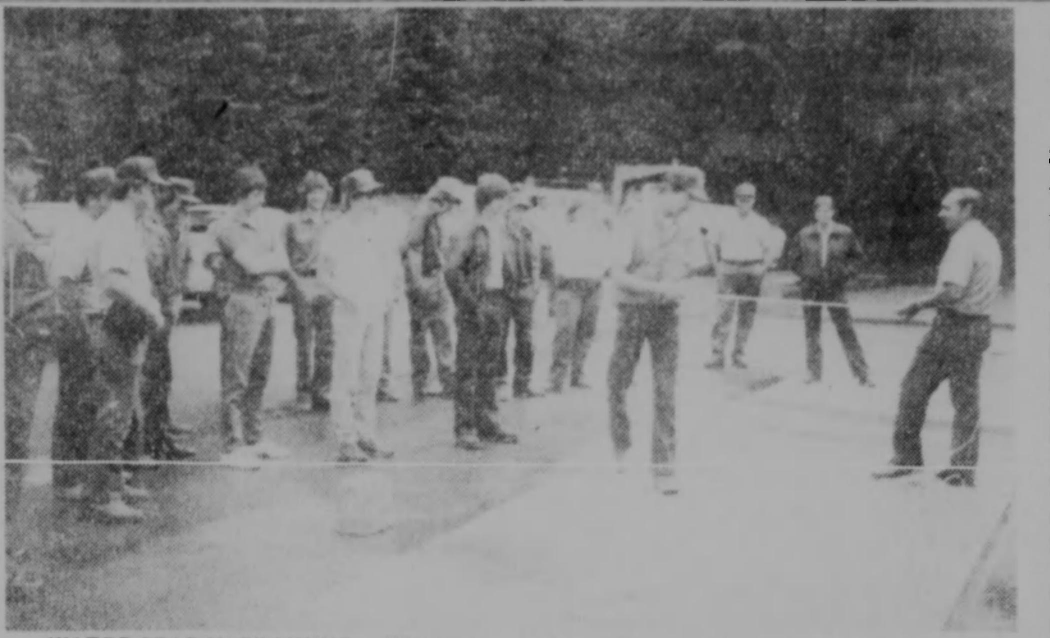
Owner Income Outpaces Wage, Salary Income

Continuing a trend that began two years ago, income of small business proprietors in Maryland increased faster during 1984 than wage and salary income, a study by the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) showed recently.

Proprietorship income in Maryland last year was 21.2% higher than in 1983, the study said. Wage and salary income in the state increased 8.8%. In 1983, sole proprietorship income in Maryland totaled 1.74 billion dollars; last year, this total rose to 2.1 billion dollars. In 1983, wage and salary income totaled 30.8 billion dollars; in 1984, the total was 33.5 billion dollars.

For the nation, the SBA study showed that proprietorship income last year rose 26.2 percent; wage and salary income rose 8.7 percent.

J. Arnold Feldman, District Director of the Baltimore SBA office, said, "During the 1972-1982 decade, wage and salary income rose faster than income enjoyed by sole proprietorships. Those 10 years were marked by three recessions, and in time of business slumps, sole proprietorship income traditionally falls more than personal income. Also, the decade saw unusually large increases in the work force, and hence a relatively sharp increase in personal income. The turnaround came in 1983, as the economic recovery widened and grew in strength. Sole proprietorship income during 1983, as compared with 1982, rose three times as much as wage and salary income."



WATER SEARCH TRAINING — With the increase in water recreation use at Herrington Manor State Park and other Maryland Forest, Park, and Wildlife Service areas in Garrett County, approximately 30 employees were recently trained in basic water search methods. John Williams, DNR Police, pictured below center, related his experiences in Garrett County while searching for and recovering drowned victims. Other speakers included Rick Wakefield, below left, Potomac Garrett State Forest safety officer, and Richard Sines, below right, Western Area FPWS Safety Committee representative. The importance of prompt searches, securing adequate qualified assistance through local rescue services, cold-water drowning, use of divers, dealing with grief and on-lookers, as well as good inter-agency communications were stressed throughout the three-hour session. The training concluded with the formation of various types of search procedures being demonstrated and practiced. Pictured above, a coil search demonstration is conducted by Richard Sines and Philip Jarusek, of Herrington State Park.

14-Year-Old Boy Victim Of Lake Drowning

A 14-year-old Deer Park boy drowned Sunday when he was fishing at Deep Creek Lake in the Turkey Neck area.

Michele Stephane (Steve) Palineau was pronounced dead at Garrett County Memorial Hospital late Sunday by Garrett County Medical Examiner Dr. James H. Feaster. The boy's body was found at 8.55 p.m. in approximately eight feet of water, just 15 feet from shore.

A spokesman from Garrett County Emergency Management said they were contacted at 7:51 p.m. by the boy's parents. They reportedly had gone to check on the boy when he hadn't returned home and found his shoes, socks, shirt, cap and fishing equipment along the edge of the lake.

The incident occurred along the Harry Deal Road off Pysell Crosscut Road in the Turkey Neck area.

The Department of Natural Resources Police investigated.

Emergency Management also sent the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, Deer Park and Deep Creek fire departments and the DNR boat unit to the scene. The Southern Rescue Squad transported the boy's body to the hospital. The Maryland State Police Medevac helicopter was alerted to aid in the search but was cancelled due to poor visibility.

Young Palineau was born April 22, 1971, in Montreal, Canada, the only child of Jean E. "Frenchie" Palineau and Edna E. (Sisler) Palineau.

He was of the Catholic faith, and would have been a ninth grade honor student this fall at

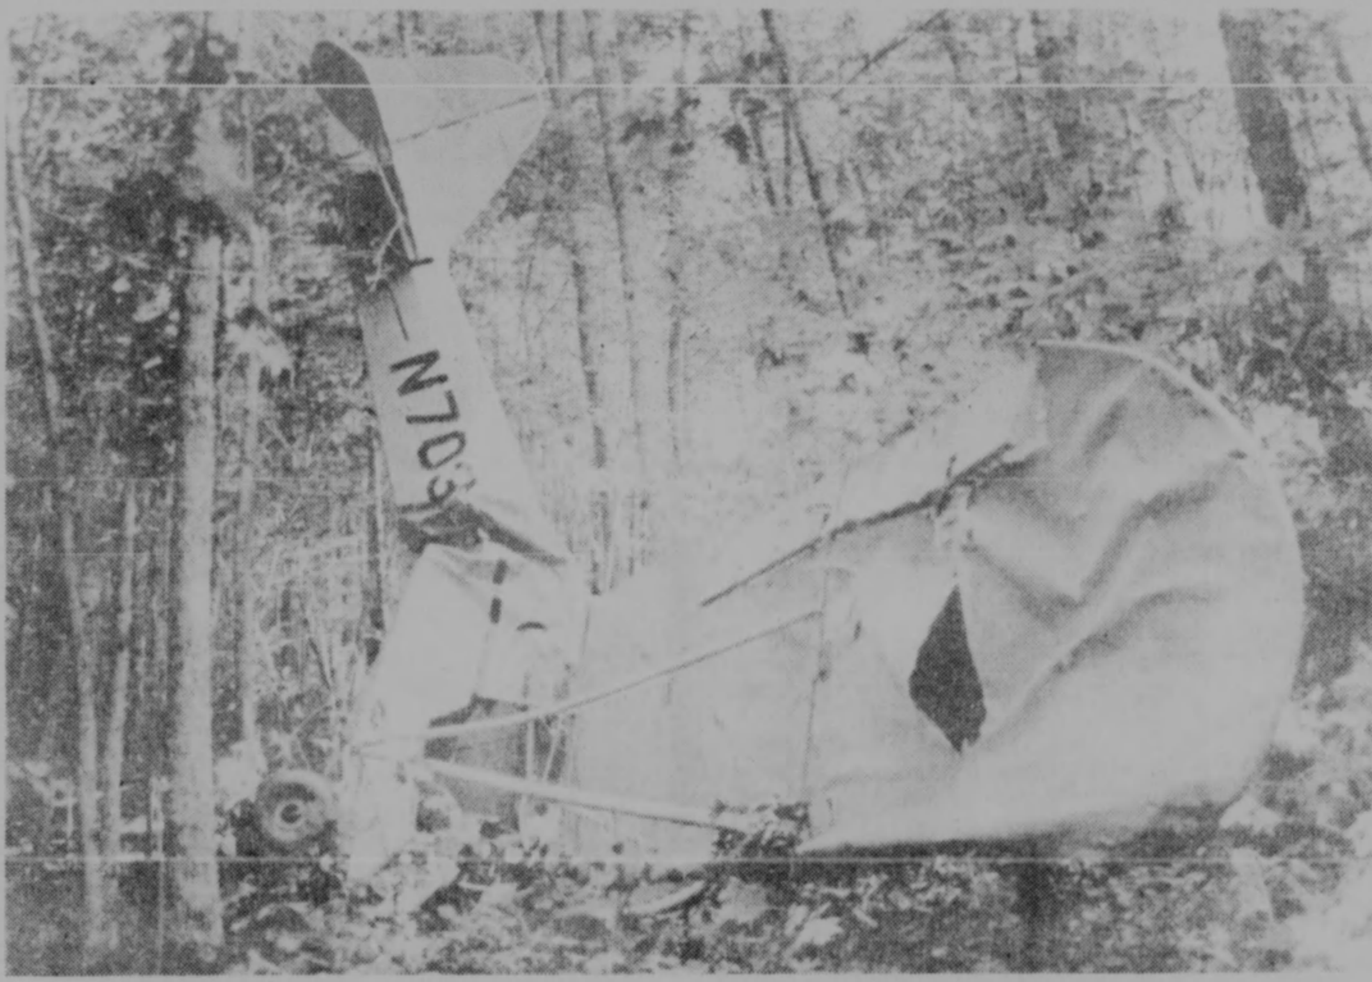
Lightning Causes Power Outage

A power outage caused by lightning left approximately 250 homes in the McHenry, Youghiogheny Mountain Resort area without electricity for two and one-half hours Monday night.

A Potomac Edison official stated that lightning hit electrical capacitors in the Bumble Bee, Mosser Road area, setting them on fire. They in turn knocked out one phase coming out of the Hoyes sub-station which serves McHenry and parts of Deep Creek Lake. The outage occurred at approximately 8:45 p.m.

A two-man Potomac Edison crew was sent to each area and power was restored shortly after 10:15 p.m. Potomac Edison Western Maryland manager Richard Roschli said that this was the first major power outage linked to the weather.



FATAL CRASH CLAIMS TWO — A Westernport couple lost their lives Tuesday evening when this single-engine Piper Cub took a nose dive into a heavily wooded area six miles south of Oakland on the Underwood Road. Herbert and Betty Martin, both 52, were pronounced dead at the scene by Garrett County Medical Examiner Dr. James H. Feaster. Trees surrounding the downed plane were barely touched as the aircraft apparently came straight down into the woods. The plane remained intact with the exception of one wheel. County Emergency Management alerted the Southern Rescue Squad. Oakland and Deer Park firemen, the Maryland State Police and the Garrett County Sheriff's Department to the scene at 8:05 p.m. The MSP Medevac helicopter also assisted in the search. State Health Dept. And Oakland Work Out A Tentative Agreement

Robert E. Watson, attorney for the town of Oakland, has announced that negotiations have produced a tentative agreement with the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene regarding their intent to file suit against the town for its failure to build a suitable sewage treatment plant.

The town will enter into a consent judgment agreement with the state, setting deadlines for phases of the project to be completed. These deadlines are as follows:

Within 120 days of the court order, the engineer's plans and specifications must be ready to submit to the state health department, reviewed, and approved so that the town may advertise for bids for the project. The plans are on the drawing board now, and should be completed by the middle of August, putting the town ahead of schedule at this point.

The town must be ready to proceed with construction within 240 days.

At the end of 600 days (two years) the construction must be completed and the plant in operation.

The judgment agreement will say that if the town does not comply with these deadlines, and could not prove that it was not the town's fault, a court decision would demand that the town pay a $100 per day fine.

Watson believes that these are "generous deadlines" and that the town should have no problem complying with them.

The town must pay an upfront penalty of $10,000, however, the

Mettiki Miner Injured In Fall

Kenneth Miller, 21, of Grantsville was admitted to the high level care unit of Memorial hospital "for observation" following an accident early Thursday afternoon at the Mettiki Mines at Table Rock.

Miller apparently was working on a ladder when he fell, sustaining abdominal injuries. He was found unconscious by another worker.

The State Police Medevac helicopter was dispatched to the mines in the southern portion of Garrett County at 12:22 p.m., said Emergency Management dispatchers. Southern Rescue Squad was sent to meet the helicopter.

Miller was released from the hospital Saturday morning.

"IF YOU'RE HAPPY and you know it, clap your hands . . ." goes the familiar Vacation Church School song and these folks are happy to give and to receive. The Ecumenical VCS in Oakland, which is sponsored annually by St. Mark's Lutheran, St. Matthew's Episcopal, St. Peter's Roman Catholic and St. Paul's United Methodist Churches, was held last week. Daily offerings of food and money were raised for Habitat for Humanity, the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and the House of Hope. Checks in the amount of $100 each were presented to Habitat and the fire department and 15 bags of groceries were donated to the House of Hope. Pictured above, left to right, are Rev. Marshall Rickert Appointed State Motor Vehicle Administrator Transportation Secretary William K. Hellmann has appointed W. Marshall Rickert as Motor Vehicle Administrator. "I am very pleased that Marshall Rickert has accepted the appointment," said Secretary Hellmann. "I'm confident he will lead MVA through the major changes they are undertaking.

"Marshall Rickert will have a major role as MVA implements a new automobile registration system and continues a program establishing permanent, modern branch offices.

"I expect him to continue the long-term manpower development program at MVA started by his predecessor," said Secretary Hellmann.

Rickert was appointed acting administrator in April, while retaining duties as director of financial planning and budget for MDOT.

The MVA has begun a major reorganization designed to increase efficiency within all units. "The way personnel are assigned needs to be evaluated to meet today's service requirements," said Rickert. "We have three million more walk-in customers per year than a decade ago due to statutory (motor vehilce law) changes. Yet, in some cases, we're still delivering services in the same manner as a decade ago," he said. He cited photo licensing as an example of a new service which brings over one million more people annually into MVA offices compared to 10 years ago.

MVA priorities include both systems and physical plant improvements. "Automated and staggered registration will be the first major systems changes," according to Rickert. "We're also planning 11 new or replacement branch offices similar to the buildings we've constructed in Largo and Baltimore City."

Rickert joined MDOT in 1979 after having served four years as Garrett County Administrator. He was appointed deputy director of the Department's Office of Financial Planning and Budget in 1980 and was named director of that office in 1984. As a key staff advisor, he was responsible for strategic financial planning as well as managing the billion-dollar transportation trust fund.

St. Police Rule Kitzmiller Man's Death Accidental

The Maryland State Police said yesterday that their investigation into the April 9 death of a Kitzmiller man determined the death to be accidental in nature.

Cpl. Gary Berkebile, who investigated, said police have determined the death of Andrew Steven Bruckey, 36, was accidental and they have closed the case.

The shooting occurred on an enclosed porch of Bruckey's home in Shallmar when Bruckey fell with a loaded .38 caliber handgun resulting in a fatal wound to the head.

The accident was reported at 9:50 a.m. and two friends were with Bruckey when the shooting occurred. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

The body was sent to the State Medical Examiner's Office in Baltimore for an autopsy immediately following the shooting. Extensive lab work and an investigation were completed by State Police before the final decision was reached.

MHT Approves $35,000 Grant To Courthouse

The Board of Trustees of the Maryland Historical Trust, an agency of the Department of Economic and Community Development, announced last week that it has approved awards in the amount of $500,000 from the State Capital Grant fund to 17 projects. The Garrett County Courthouse Renovation Project is among the recipients of the funds.

The renovation project, sponsored by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners, was awarded $35,000 toward the restoration of the exterior of the courthouse.

Ten other counties in the state were also awarded State Capital Grant monies to help fund various renovation and restoration projects of concern to the Maryland Historical Trust.

Cumberland Girl "Stabilizing" After Mishap

A nine-year-old Cumberland girl remains in "critical, but stable" condition after being seriously injured Saturday morning when she was struck by a pickup truck on Oak Street in Oakland.

Laurie Simpson was flown by the Medevac helicopter to West Virginia University Medical Center in Morgantown, W. Va and was admitted in "critical" condition with head, chest and abdominal injuries. She underwent surgery and is continuing to stabilize, according to a spokesman from the hospital.

Tfc. D.G. Riggleman of the Maryland State Police investigated and said the accident occurred at 10:40 a.m. when the girl ran from the yard of a residence on Oak Street into the path of a northbound Chevrolet truck operated by Janet Friend, 44, Oakland.

Friend and a passenger in her vehicle, Ruth Lloyd, were reportedly uninjured.

Initially, Garrett County Emergency Management sent the Southern Rescue Squad to the scene to transfer the girl to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Oakland firemen stood by later at the hospital for the helicopter.

Dennis Murray, an Oakland fireman, took the family of the Simpson girl to Morgantown by private vehicle.

BULLETIN

Just before press time The Republican received official notification that Governor Harry Hughes appointed Chief Deputy M. Van Evans to the position of sheriff of Garrett County, filling out the term left vacant by the death of Franklin G. Finch.

Oakland Youth "Satisfactory" After Mishap

Jerry L. Tasker, 14, remains hospitalized at Garrett Memorial Hospital in "satisfactory" condition following an automobile accident which occurred Sunday on Rt. 39.

Tasker was a passenger in a 1985 Ford Escort, operated by William Allen Rodeheaver, 24, of Oakland and traveling west on Rt. 39 when Dale Patrick Layton, 38, of Mountain Lake Park, traveling east, lost control of his 1980 Chevrolet Citation, crossed the center of the roadway, and struck the Rodeheaver vehicle headon.

Tfc. Riggleman investigated the accident and charged Layton with failure to keep right of center and driving while intoxicated.

Both drivers and two passengers in the Rodeheaver vehicle, Norma J. Rodeheaver, 34, and Joshua M. Rodeheaver, 3, were treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Patricia E. Shillito, 19, of Friendville, was flown to Garrett Memorial Hospital by Medevac helicopter following an accident Friday on the Accident-Bear Creek Road near the intersection at Fish Hatchery Road.

According to State Police reports, Shillito was operating a 1972 Plymouth Barracuda that was traveling east on Accident Bear Creek Road when she approached a sharp curve in the roadway. A truck operated by Arlen Alonzo Miller, 21, of Lonaconing, was traveling west and

Westernport Couple Perish Tuesday Night In Single-Engine Plane Crash

A single-engine airplane crash claimed the lives of a Westernport couple Tuesday evening. The accident occurred six miles south of Oakland near the Underwood Road in a wooded area.

Fatally injured in the crash were Herbert "Red" Allan Martin, 52, and his wife, Betty Jane Martin, 52, both of RD 1, Westernport.

Garrett County Emergency Management received the call concerning the crash at 8:05 p.m. A dispatcher from that department said the caller described the location as being approximately 100 feet north of the intersection of Graham and Underwood Roads.

Unconfirmed reports indicated that two boys, residents of the area, first spotted the crash site and alerted emergency personnel.

One resident in the area said she was working outside when she spotted the plane in trouble, saw it head for the woods and then heard the crash.

Another man said he heard the engine of the plane suddenly come to a stop.

A resident who lived just 200 yards away from the crash site said he heard a strange sound "like a truck with engine trouble" and then heard a loud crash. He said at first he thought it was an automobile accident, then he thought it may have been a large piece of machinery dropped at a nearby machine shop.

The plane was found about 250 yards up a wooded mountain area off the Underwood Road at approximately 8:30 p.m. Damage to the plane indicated that it came straight down in a nose dive, and when found was still in a perpendicular position. There was very little damage to the trees surrounding the crash. There was a heavy odor of gasoline at the site but no explosion or fire.

State Police said the aircraft was a Piper Cub, possibly owned by a Garrett County man.

Garrett County Emergency Management dispatched the Southern Rescue Squad, Oakland and Deer Park firemen, Maryland State Police and the Garrett County Sheriff's Department to the scene. The MSP Medevac helicopter also assisted in the search for the downed plane.

Garrett County Medical Examiner Dr. James H. Feaster arrived at about 9:30 p.m. and pronounced the Martins dead. The rescue squad transported the bodies to Garrett County

Mtn. Lake Park Tax Differential Settled; Co. Board Issues Statement

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners reached a final decision late last week on the tax differential sought by the Mayor and Town Council of Mtn. Lake Park.

Both the County Commissioners and the officials of the town of Mtn. Lake Park agreed upon a mutual settlement, according to Robert Fousek, county clerk. Both sides said they wished to spare the taxpayers the cost of litigation when the agreement was made.

The amount offered by the county, and agreed upon by the town, was $5,727.50, which represented $.0017 per $100 of the county's assessed value while representing $.05 of the town assessment per $100.

Following the decision, the Commissioners issued the following statement regarding the tax differential and is shown reprinted in its entirety.

"The Board of Garrett County Commissioners is required to meet annually and discuss with municipal officials whether a municipal tax credit is applicable to the municipality. The law requires the county to take into consideration 'the extent that the similar services and programs are funded through property tax revenues.' In accordance with the mandate, the Commissioners did meet with each municipality. The town of Mtn. Lake Park requested a tax credit.

"The methodology in arriving at 'the extent that similar services and programs are funded through property tax revenues' is both obscure and ambiguous and may differ as to the correct methodology and reasonable minds may differ to the applicable programs and services.

"The county has enjoyed a very good relationship with all the municipalities in Garrett County. The county has administered and serviced the sludge, erosion and sediment control, stormwater management, the dog ordinance and junkyard ordinance programs and many other programs and services for the municipalities. In addition, all the municipalities are permitted to use the landfill program.

"The county has assisted the municipalities in purchasing supplies, materials, equipment, etc.

"Unfortunately, the law does not take into consideration the property owners of each municipality who enjoy traveling on 704 miles of county maintained roads; that 45% of the county operating budget is paid to the Board of Education and the children of the property owners in each municipality receive this benefit. The county does not receive a credit for these benefits. The county recognizes an amendment has been made to the law, effective July 1, 1985, for the next tax year, wherein, the county also

Planning Board To Begin Update Of Lake Zoning

Now that the update to the land use plan for the Deep Creek Watershed has been adopted, the Garrett County Planning Commission must now begin the task of updating the zoning ordinance and land use map for the watershed.

"The work won't be as grueling as the plan update," commented Anna McNallie, planning administrator, when she discussed the procedure for the zoning update with the planning commission members at a meeting July 17.

The commission spent nearly three years on revising the watershed plan which was approved, with a few exceptions, by the Garrett County Commissioners last week.

In discussing the procedure for the map and zoning ordinance update, McNallie noted several ideas the commission may wish to consider: 1) Drawing zoning boundaries along natural boundaries rather than along property lines; 2) Requesting comments on areas needing revision from the Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals; 3) Inviting John Nelson, county zoning administrator, to attend those commission meetings when the group will be discussing the update; and 4) Conducting a public information meeting to solicit ideas from the public on needed revisions to the ordinance.

Chairman Charles "Bus" Bender directed McNallie to contact Nelson and the zoning board to request comments before the commission's next meeting scheduled on September 4.

In other business, McNallie presented a draft copy of the annual report of the Planning Commission and noted it is the second annual report ever to be completed by the commission.

She explained the report was not a commission policy statement, but was a listing of the commission's activities throughout 1984.

The group directed McNallie to study the concept of countywide subdivision regulations, particularly analyzing those areas throughout the nation which have enacted such regulations. When her study is completed, the commission will determine whether such a concept would be feasible for Garrett County.

McNallie presented a petition by Charles Mason, Oakland, to include 22.23 acres of farmland into an existing Agricultural Land Preservation District which lies adjacent to the property.

McNallie noted that due to time constraints, the petition had already been presented to the county Agricultural Land Preservation Board and a public hearing had already been conducted by the county commissioners who subsequently approved the petition.

McNallie admitted that the procedure for this petition was unusual because it had not been submitted to the commission before the public hearing, but she assured the board that the petition met all necessary requirements and that actually only one group need review it before it is submitted to the commissioners.

The commission refrained from taking action on the petition.

During discussion of the petition, Troy Gnegy, a commission member, stated his concerns that some agricultural land owners enter into the second part of the program in which they sell development rights to the state with an interest more in the financial gains rather than in preserving the agricultural land.

Gnegy further noted that an issue could develop in the county over farmers' use of manure pits. He noted that some farmers will store the manure, in a liquid fashion, for over six months allowing it to ferment and creating a horrible odor throughout the neighborhood when the substance is spread over farmland.

In a few other farming communities throughout the nation, ordinances have been enacted forcing farmers to empty their pits within a certain time after filling it and then once applied, to immediately turn the ground under or use a method to inject the matter into the soil.

Judge Turney Grants Request To Alter Verdict

Garrett County District Court Judge Jack Turney granted a motion to change a guilty verdict to probation before judgment for Leroy E. Friend, Jr., 20, McHenry, in court cases heard July 10.

Friend was convicted on a theft charge in court on April 16, and on April 25 was fined $100 and placed on 36 months of supervised probation.

The motion was submitted to the judge by Friend's attorney, Daun Weiers.

Friend was charged with the August 5, 1984 theft at Chubby's Restaurant, near Deep Creek Lake, which involved the theft of $1,185 in currency and some items such as a tool box and two six-packs of beer.

State Police Investigate Two Thefts

Maryland State Police are investigating reports of two cases of theft which occurred in the area recently.

Michael N. Turley, employee of the Chessie System of Baltimore, reported that sometime between 8:30 p.m July 16 and 10:30 a.m. July 17, an unknown person destroyed a window latch and removed a tire and a toolbox containing several tools from his vehicle which was parked behind the Casselman Motel.

The total value of the stolen and damaged items, which were owned by the Chessie System, reached $475.

Wanda Mae Bowser, of Friendsville, reported that on July 13 around 6:30 p.m. her purse, containing several personal cards and miscellaneous currency totaling $340.00 was removed from her car, which was parked in front of the Friendsville Pharmacy.

Ms. Bowser did not realize that her purse was missing until several hours later.

Tfc. R.C. Resh continues the investigation of both reports.

Mtn. Lake Park Hosts Allegany-Garrett MML

The July 17 session of the Allegany-Garrett Chapter of the Maryland Municipal League was hosted at the American Legion Home in Oakland by Mountain Lake Park and Mayor Russell Alexander.

During this session, three legislative action requests were approved by the chapter. They include: placing sanitary commissions under the county commissioners; making all utilities pay for franchises for rights-of-way through municipalities and towns; and making the Department of Economic and Community Development responsible for establishing a circuit rider on a permanent basis or program.

A municipal election laws task force, appointed by the league's board of directors, has been meeting to examine and discuss municipal election laws and to draft legislation on these subjects being considered for possible legislation. Their suggestions will be offered to the fall legislative conference to be held at the Ramada Inn, Hagerstown, October 10 and 11.

Some of the items under consideration include certified registration from local election boards so a model municipal charter provision can be established to meet all state and federal election mandates; requirements for registration by mail; access to polling places by handicapped persons; public notice of election dates; and procedures for canceling voter registration.

It was also announced at the meeting that Exxon Corporation is liable for a total of $2 billion in overcharges and Maryland will receive as much as $25 million for energy conservation programs. Exxon was found guilty of violating price and allocation controls.

The league supported legislation in 1984 which established the process for distributing oil overcharge payments. This was done through a 13-member board of trustees which directs the fund. The MML is represented on the board by Cumberland Councilman Harvey May.

The chapter's next meeting will be held in Lonaconing on September 18, during which election of officers will be conducted.

Judge Leasure Denies Motion

Circuit Court Judge Gary Leasure July 19 denied a petition which sought to have Paul Sweene, 53, McHenry, released on bond from the Garrett County Jail.

The motion, entered by Sweene's attorney Daun Weiers, maintained that Sweene's imprisonment was unfair.

Sweene had been out of jail on bond awaiting his sentence after being convicted on a possession of cocaine charge.

Officials reported he had violated conditions of his release when he went to Ohio, without permission, and was charged and convicted on a drunken driving charge there. Consequently, his bond was revoked and he was placed in the county jail.

Enrollment For Summer Term Up At Garrett

Enrollment in the summer semester at Garrett Community College this year is the second highest in the school's 14-year history, according to John Culp, comptroller at Garrett Community College.

Enrollment in the 15 courses being offered this summer amount to 129, the highest number yet, except for last summer, when 159 students enrolled.

"The summer semester was a success because we are increasingly reaching other groups besides the traditional 18 and 19-year-olds that colleges often concentrate on," said Bill Ewing, director of Admissions. "Our History of Garrett County courses brought in quite a few new local students of all ages. Also, our courses at the local nursing homes have been very successful in serving the county's senior citizen population."

Other groups that enrolled this summer included students who will be attending college full-time for the first time this fall, and regular full-time students who were already attending GCC last year.

Summer school generated 13.4 full-time equivalencies, also the second highest figure in the history of summer school at GCC. "This is an excellent start to realizing our budget projections for the upcoming year," said Culp.

Dove Serving Prison Sentence For Manslaughter

A spokesman for the Tucker County, W. Va. Circuit Court reported recently on the status of the case against Curtis Eugene Dove, 38, of Akron, Ohio, who was charged with the murder of Arnold William Cooper. Cooper's body was found in August, 1983, in an abandoned deep mine in Tucker County, a few miles from the Garrett County line.

Orginally, state officials had a difficult time identifying Cooper's body because of the extent of decomposition.

After receiving an anonymous tip, Dove was apprehended by the Tucker County State Police in May of 1984 and charged with the slaying.

On January 16, 1985, Dove entered a guilty plea of voluntary manslaughter, and was sentenced to West Virginia Penitentiary for an indefinite period of one to five years, and it was recommended by the court that he serve the entire five years.

Dove is serving the remainder of his sentence

Non-Controversial Issues At POA Meeting Cause Low Attendance

The absence of any controversial issues on the agenda is the reasoning used by the Deep Creek Property Owners' Association to explain the low attendance at the general membership meeting, Saturday, July 13, at Garrett Community College. "This is not too bad," said POA President Ed King, speaking of the reason for the low attendance, "after we worked so hard this winter to abate any problems before they arose. The people are just not upset about any big problems." He went on to explain that because the lake is so high, many of the members may have stayed home to tend to emergency problems caused by the high water.

The 70 to 80 members who did attend were joined by special guests: Delegate George Edwards; County Commissioners, John G. Braskey, Ernest J. Gregg, and Elwood L. Groves; Paul Shockey, Garrett County Roads administrator; Wendell Beitzel, Sanitary District administrator; John Nelson, Zoning administrator; Rodney Glotfelty, Environmental Health; Sergeant Robert Buckley, DNR Police; and Mike Gregory, Deep Creek Management Area administrator.

In his opening address, President Ed King reported that approximately seven inches of rain fell on the lake area in May, five inches in June, and in one 30-hour period last week, over seven inches of rain fell.

Mike Gregory later reported to The Republican that Penelec has been lowering the level of the lake, 24 hours a day, since July 9. According to Gregory, the maximum height the water can reach before going over the spillway is 2,462 feet of elevation. On Monday, July 8, water reached 2,461.8 feet of elevation, which was very close to going over. One week later, on July 16, the level was down to 2,451 feet of elevation.

"WAIT YOUR TURN!" warns Garrett County Roads Administrator Paul Shockey to Cliff DeWitt, clerk of the Garrett County Circuit Court, and Van Evans, chief deputy and acting sheriff of Garrett County, at the annual Northern and Southern Republican Women's Club family picnic. The picnicking took place at Broadford Park Tuesday, July 16, with nearly 100 in attendance. Irene Uhl, president of the Maryland Federation of Republican Women was introduced as a special guest by Sue Shockey, president of the Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club. Other Republican dignitaries introduced at the picnic included Delegate George Edwards, former Delegate DeCorsey Bolden, Carolyn Ganoe, president of the Northern Republican Women's Club, Garrett County Commissioners Elwood Groves and Ernest Gregg, State's Attorney James Sherbin, Garrett County Treasurer Arzella Parsons, County Clerk Robert Fousek, Register of Wills, Joe DiSimone, Judge of the Orphan's Court, Joe Peck, and Chairman of the State Central Committee, William Crawford. Robert Ruckert was the winner of the 50/50 drawing sponsored by the Republican Women's Club.

King also thanked the Garrett County Roads Department for keeping roads open during the two weeks of severe weather last winter.

Rodney Glotfelty, of Environmental Health, made the people aware of the rabies epidemic in the county which seems to be centering around the lake area.

Zoning Update

Director William Foster gave an update of the lake watershed zoning, stating that the commissioners decision to delete the proposal for rural residential zoning from the revised land use plan for the Deep Creek Watershed was very favorable to the Property Owners' Association.

As far as condominium development is concerned, Foster stated that the association did not oppose the Wisp Convention Center, or the Arrowhead or Lakewood condominiums because they feel that it is not practical to adopt a policy of no-growth and such a policy would not be within the letter or intent of the zoning ordinance.

Ann Smith informed those present that a total of over 400 acres of the Holy Cross Retreat property will be sold and developed. "We've had to think long and hard about what would be the best development for the upper lake," Smith said, "but the property will be sold."

Boating Safety

District 1 Director William Burke reported on boating safety and the two-day boat inspections held over the July 4 weekend. Burke thanked Mike Gregory for the use of four docks at the state park, and Spurgen Brinker and the Coast Guard Auxiliary in Pittsburgh for conducting the inspections. Between 70 and 80 boats were inspected with three-fourths of them passing.

Brinker announced that a two-day "jam session" course on boat safety is in the planning stage for next spring. He explained that 80 interested people are needed in order to conduct this course. He also offered to bring movies on boat safety to the spring POA meeting.

Brinker stated that as a member of the Coast Guard Auxiliary, he will inspect boats at his dock on Marsh Hill Road across from Walt's General Store, as a service to lake boaters.

Mike Gregory announced that there is a Boat Safety Hotline for boat owners to report to the United States Coast Guard problems they might be having with boat manufacturers, or questions they might have about potential defects on their boat. The hotline number is 1-800-368-5647.

Seasonal Naturalist, Kim Trickett, at Deep Creek Lake State Park, will be doing boat safety inspections each Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the state park docks.

Sergeant Buckley, of the DNR Police, reported that two volunteer officers have been assigned to the lake for the whole summer. This is in place of officers assigned on a two-week rotation.

A third patrol boat, to be used as a back-up boat, has been sent to Deep Creek Lake by the DNR.

Buckley said that the officers are patroling the lake later at night and until 4 a.m., trying to prevent OWI's (Operating While Intoxicated). He explained that this is the second year for the OWI law, and that it was copied after the Maryland State Police DWI (Driving While Intoxicated) law.

Buckley announced that a boating handbook has been mailed out to all dock owners, and that a basic boating course, with an open book test, is available. The test is sent to Annapolis and those passing receive a certificate and a sticker for their boat. According to Buckley, this is a good course for beginning boaters.

Operation ID

Because most equipment in a boat does not have a serial number, police do not know who to return stolen items to if they are recovered. For this reason, DNR Police will be engraving the boat owner's automobile operators number on all boat equipment. More details and dates will be announced at a later date.

Deep Creek Regulations

Gregory reported on the status of the Deep Creek Lake regulations, which have been under review since the March 30 public hearing. He listed several regulations which are under consideration and may be altered because of public comment.

The fishing restriction, requiring written permission from the adjoining property owner to fish from the buffer strip, caused much comment. Gregory said that the Bassers Association are pushing to have the restriction removed. He also stated that the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, the licensing agent for Penelec, demands that the buffer strip be open to public use.

The Maryland Pilots' Association is asking that Deep Creek lake be opened to small seaplane landings. Under the regulations, written permission must be obtained from both Penelec and the DNR. Commissioner Ernest Gregg, a member of the Deep Creek Lake Management Committee, stated that the blindest point to a pilot is what is directly under the plane, and that it would be preposterous to let planes land on Deep Creek Lake. He reported that the Lake Management Committee would like the regulations to remain as is, requiring written permission.

The Maryland State Aviation Board has been asked to provide information from a similar lake with a similar amount of boat traffic density, and to come up with some good guidelines to justify why planes should be allowed to land on Deep Creek Lake. Another problem would be a place to moor the plane while it was on the lake.

Much public imput was received concerning an owner's ability to transfer dock permits when property is sold. Gregory explained that the intent was to tie the regulations to the property owners, allowing each property owner so much dock space. The problem is that Penelec issued recreation permits in the past to property owners whose property did not adjoin the buffer strip. These permits were not transferable, but were good for the lifetime of the holder. Of the original permit holders, 28 people still hold these permits. If those permit holders' properties change hands, the permits should be invalidated, however, at the March 30 hearing, lake owners seemed to want all permits passed on to new owners. Gregory said that one option would be to put these permits under nonconforming use, with only a 15-year life.

Gregory explained that according to state law, substantial changes require the reissuing of the proposals with the Maryland Register, and to allow 45 days for public comment. Gregory said that they are shooting for reissue in August, which would mean that the regulations would become law in October or November, unless enough public comment would again require the proposals to be reissued.

Lake Cleanup, Shoreline Erosion

Gregory said that plans are being made for a lake cleanup and possibly a lake parade. He hopes to get cooperation from county officials and the state park for establishing garbage collection points. No firm dates have been established, but Gregory is hoping to hold the cleanup either early this fall or next spring.

According to Gregory, erosion control permits are available this year, and property owners can meet with him to make a plan of what repairs or controls are needed. The plan must then be submitted for review by Gregory, Penelec, the Water Resource Administration, and the Army

ADVENTUROUS COUNTIANS — Traci Martin, left, and Kim Grimm, both students at Southern High School, recently returned from a High Adventure trip to Colorado, Kansas and Missouri, sponsored through the southwestern council of the Girl Scouts of America. The venture was part of a program the youths have been involved in for several years. Highlights of their trip included climbing and rapelling in the Garden of Gods in Colorado, exploring a gold mine and a ghost town, touring the sand dunes at Mesa Verde National Park, hiking through several areas including the Continental Divide in Colorado, and participating in primitive camping in the Maroon Belles. The youths plan to go next year to either Canada or Jamaica. Ms. Martin plans to be a counselor for the program in the Summer of 1987.

An Important Meeting . . .

A public meeting will be held next Tuesday, July 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the Garrett Community College auditorium which we hope will be well attended. The meeting was called by Senator John Bambacus and Delegate George Edwards in an attempt to shed some light on the difficulties being experienced over the past several months at GCC. Planning to be present for the meeting is Dr. James Tschechtelin, chairman of the State Board of Community Colleges.

One reason we hope that many persons will attend is that the college is supported by tax money and therefore all taxpayers should have an interest in what is going on there. Secondly, Garrett Community College provides a wonderful opportunity for many local residents, especially our young people, who wish to continue their education beyond high school, but may not have the financial means to go elsewhere to college.

We have used this column to make our position clear on this situation. While we recognize GCC President Randall Harman as a fine person and competent in some areas of college administration, we still believe his stepping down as president is a necessary move. We believe that the level of morale of the faculty and staff hinges directly upon the effectiveness of the chief executive officer. No matter who is responsible for the present problems at the college, it is the job of the president to lead the effort to solve them, quickly, openly, and fairly, and we see little evidence that this is being done by President Harman.

Perhaps the chairman of the GCC board of trustees and President Harman will take advantage of this opportunity next Tuesday to respond, clearly and distinctly, to the concerns and questions raised. Such openness and a willingness to listen on their part will be a giant step toward healing the wounds at the college. We would like nothing more than to be proven dead wrong in our opinion of President Harman's performance and that of the board.

We remain confident that everyone involved — board members, faculty, and the administration — have the same goal in mind: to not only save the college, but also make it grow and prosper. With this common linkage, we believe that resolving the differences, or at least compromising, is within reach.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

On July 15, 1985 my ten-week old calf was killed by a bear. The Wildlife Administration was notified to what took place. They came out on Tuesday, the 16th. The calf was dragged off during the night, but was able to be found.

They used what was left of the meat for bait. They also set 3 snares and one tank to catch the bear. This is all fine. The only thing was that it took a week before I was told they couldn't reimburse me for the four hundred dollars I lost. This covered buying the calf, milk, hay, care etc.

My point is if they can tag and bring bear into the county, Why can't they pay for the bear's damages?

If the shoe was on the other foot, and I got caught killing wildlife illegally I would have the meat taken away, a fine and court costs, maybe lose my hunting rights, gun or both.

This was my meat for my family for winter. If the farmer or small person can't get help in a situation like this, they might feel like giving up. But I won't, I'll try again.

I have lost it all, money and meat. The only thing left is a story and the bills to show what I lost. Why can't we get help?

Maybe I won't get any help, but I hope no one else loses animals to bears, 'cause you won't get help, just the word "SORRY"!

Sincerely yours
Juanita J. Hockman

To the Editor:

The irresponsibility and lack of insight by the Garrett Community College administration continues even in the light of grave concern by the State Board for Community Colleges as well as our public representatives. Some of the reasons given for the non-renewal of contracts and the intolerable attitude to those who resigned were due to dropping enrollment and, thus, money. Yet the college carries out salary increases for a president no one has seen, is landscaping the grounds AGAIN, is tearing out a laboratory (which in itself is a story), moving walls AGAIN, and shifting faculty around AGAIN. It truly seems like insanity, but no one has a clue to who has the keys to this administrative asylum.

As has been stated, GCC has lost some of its finest faculty, however, the community has lost as well. Some of the contributions these faculty made to Garrett County included participation and activities associated with:

Zion Lutheran Church, Deep Creek Lake business area, real estate, Hospice, Forestry Board, Camp Hickory Advisory Board, Land Reclamation Committee, Nature Conservancy, the Cancer Society, Civic Club, Northern Rescue, Accident Fire Department and many others.

The fallout of student enrollment may not be felt this fall, and the community may be led to believe everything is fine. Next year is the time to watch, but by then college education in Garrett County may again be only a dream.

I encourage everyone who has an interest in GCC to make time to attend the public meeting July 30 at the GCC auditorium at 7 p.m. It is time the community heard and can be heard since the administration and Board have made it their business to avoid, threaten, not respond, or smoke screen those who are concerned.

Sincerely,
Nancy S. Trimble

To the Editor:

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County urges all concerned citizens to attend the public hearing on Garrett Community College on Tuesday, July 30, 7:30 p.m. at the McHenry campus auditorium.

Garrett Community College has been alternately a source of pride and concern to the residents of Garrett County for a number of years. It has been the means by which many people have received an introduction to higher education, and have gone on to further studies or vocations that would otherwise have been closed to them. Its continuing education courses have stimulated people's interest in a wide variety of subjects, from current events to philosophy; its vocation courses have helped people develop saleable skills.

Yet with all these positives, there have been many upheavals involving the board, the administration, and faculty. There are sudden resignations, voluntary or requested; shifts of administrative assignments, and threatened termination of popular programs. Some of this happens in any school, and there is often good reason for not making public explanations. But a relatively new and relatively small school that leaps from one unexplained crisis to another tends to shake community confidence.

Concerned people feel the community has lost interest in the college and no longer cares about it. Could it be, instead, that the community is losing faith in an institution that seems unwilling to address its problems, and that individuals are reluctant to take stands or give support without more knowledge of the facts?

The college has been an asset to the community and it is unfortunate that its reputation and effectiveness should be impaired. We hope that the public hearing called by Senator Bambacus will attract citizens who are troubled or puzzled about the college issues and will provide answers to their questions. We urge interested citizens to attend.

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County,
Barbara Flinn, Pres.

To the Editor:

Along with many other admirable qualities, Sheriff Frank Finch was a loyal, hard working, conscientious, dedicated member of the Democratic Party. He was elected to and served on the State Central Committee prior to assuming the position of Sheriff. It is inconceivable that he would want this office handed over to the opposing party.

Although he selected Van Evans as Chief Deputy, it cannot be said that he was being chosen as his successor.

The Democratic State Central Committee acted properly in submitting a list of nominees to the Governor. It was their responsibility to do so. Given the same set of circumstances, the Republican Committee probably would have done the same thing.

If Mr. Evans is the best candidate, and it's not my intention to dispute that; and if his appointment would be in the best interest of the citizens of Garrett County, then I have a simple solution to the problem.

Let him change his party affiliation from Republican to Democratic. Remember, just a few weeks ago, a prominent Maryland Democrat switched parties; allegedly to run for Governor as a Republican. If he were to do this, it would enhance his chances of receiving the appointment considerably. Since this would be in the best interest of Garrett County, it would be a very small concession to make.

By their actions, the committee members have said that it's bad enough that the Democratic Party has lost a fine, hardworking office holder. To be asked to give up the office itself, after winning it in four successive elections is unreasonable and unacceptable. I agree.

Yours truly,
Jerry Stewart

MHRPC Excess Hospital Beds Study Available

The Maryland Health Resources Planning Commission (MHPRC) recently released details of a study dealing with excess hospital beds in the state. Copies of that study will be available at two places in the county by noon today.

A full two-volume document of the study will be available at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland, while a summary of the impact study on excess bed capacity may be obtained at the Garrett County Commissioners Office at the court house.

Kari Hummel, executive director of the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland (HSAWM) said the findings in the report could have a slight impact on Garrett Memorial Hospital, while Larry Beck, GCMH administrator, said "Practically speaking, it will not have much impact at all. We are in one of the more comfortable situations in the state."

Beck said the study also ranked the state's hospitals based on cost-effectiveness and performance and Garrett Memorial scored one of the highest marks in the state.

According to the DHMH, 77 hospital beds are staffed at Garrett Memorial where 76 are licensed. Although the study would recommend the elimination of 13 staffed beds now, projections indicated that by 1990 an additional 25 would be needed.

Beck said elimination of 13 beds now would serve no useful purpose nor would it be cost-saving since the number of nursing units would not be reduced.

Statewide, the DHMH report shows that there were 15,618 licensed beds of all types by April 30 and 1,295, or 3.3 percent, were categorized as "not in use" for one reason or another.

The report also indicated that some of the licensed beds were actually "paper beds" because they aren't, in reality, available to the public.

A public hearing on the document is scheduled to be held in Hagerstown on August 5 at 7 p.m. The place of the hearing is to be announced in next week's edition of The Republican.

County Sewer, Water Projects Are Discussed

The Garrett County Sanitary Commission discussed several county water and sewer projects at their July 16 meeting. The discussion included: Deep Creek Lake sewer, Kitzmiller, Gorman, and Bloomington sewers, and the Kitzmiller water system.

Deep Creek Lake Sewer

Henry Doyle and Jeff Gilbert, Greenhorne and O'Mara engineers, gave a project status report to the Garrett County Sanitary Commission. They reported that the Deep Creek project is complete except for some clean-up items on contract 10 and 12.

There are still some unresolved claims of property owners from the construction of the sewer system on private property.

The sanitary commission is attempting to get all close-out items in order to close the contracts out completely.

The state has finally approved the sanitary commission's request to buy a backhoe for the Deep Creek project.

Kitzmiller, Gorman, and Bloomington Sewers

The sanitary commisson is still awaiting word from the state giving them permission to advertise for bids for construction of the Kitzmiller, Gorman, and Bloomington sewer projects.

Kitzmiller Water System

Doyle, Greenhorne and O'Mara, conducted a final inspection of the Kitzmiller water tank, and the water improvement and treatment plant.

The system has been started, disinfected, and flushed, and water is being put into the tank.

The contractor is working on some minor telemetry problems. As soon as these problems are solved the system will be placed in operation.

No exact date has been announced, but the sanitary commission is hopeful that it will be completed and placed in operation later this week.

Keystone Paving Awarded Bid By Mtn. Lake Park

At a recent meeting of the mayor and town council of Mt. Lake Park, paving bids were received by the town. Keystone Paving was awarded the contract for $31,623.00. Also, the town accepted the audit proposal from Riggleman, Smyth & Associates, P.A. for the years 1985 and 1986 for $2,500.00 each year. The mayor discussed the grading, draining and widening of Allegheny Drive. The town accepted the bid from Ridder Trucking to haul the fill dirt.

The franchise tax was discussed. The mayor read a letter from Robert Watson, town attorney, regarding this tax. The town is seeking a franchise agreement with Potomac Edison, C&P Telephone, and Columbia Gas. The mayor felt that utilities should not be exempt from paying a franchise tax. The town will move forward on this matter to obtain such taxes.

The new revised zoning ordinance was discussed and tabled until further date. Also, it was recommended by the council that the revised zoning ordinance be sent back to the Planning Commission for review.

The mayor informed the council that an application will be sent to the State Accident Fund for workmen's compensation. The town will realize a considerable savings by obtaining workmen's compensation with the State Accident Fund.

A letter from Morgan France regarding sewage flow test was read and discussed. Some repairs are needed in the D Street line on the playground.

A letter from Kathryn Pensinger dated June 6 regarding sewer taps was read by the mayor and discussed at length by the council. The council felt Mrs. Pensinger would be treated on an equal basis like everyone else, and when it comes her turn on the waiting list, she would be issued sewer taps.

Mayor Alexander informed the council he had met with the county clerk and county attorney and discussed the tax differential. Eleven cents is what the town is seeking. The mayor informed the council he would not accept anything less than five cents. The county has agreed to pay the tax rebate in an amount of five cents per $100 of assessed value to the town of Mt. Lake Park.

The Comprehensive Development Plan was discussed. Councilman Lane reported to the council that there had been some minor changes on the proposed plan.

The town council also approved the motion to allow sewer taps to be kept for one year from date of issuance. If not used in this period, the taps would be refused, money refunded and sold to the next person on the waiting list.

The council approved Robert Ridder Trucking for hauling abrasives for roads this year.

The mayor informed the council that Frank Arnold Construction is proceeding with sewer rehab in the town of Mt. Lake Park.

The 1985-86 budget was approved by the town council.

There was considerable discussion on 3-wheelers in Mt. Lake Park. There are many problems with riding in alleys and streets in the town. The mayor informed the council that the people in Mt. Lake Park aggravated by three and four wheelers on the street right-of-ways should call the sheriff's department and appropriate action will be taken.

The mayor asked for and received approval of council to tar and chip several alleys in town.

The mayor informed the council that Mt. Lake Park will host the Maryland Municipal League meeting on July 17, at the American Legion Post in Oakland.

Councilman Welling asked the mayor if there had been any further discussion on a full-time deputy sheriff for Mt. Lake Park/Loch Lynn. The mayor said that since the untimely death of Sheriff Finch, the town would have to wait and see.

Present at the town meeting was Vincent Schroyer of D Street. He was concerned about water running on his property. He felt that necessary precautions were not taken when grading and clearing was done at Hecks Shopping Plaza. Also, he felt holding ponds should be installed to catch this huge amount of run-off. He said that the proper state and county agencies should be notified of this matter. Mayor Alexander told Mr. Schroyer he would notify the County Commissioners, Erosion and Sediment Control and Soil Conservation about this matter immediately.

A declaration from the Board of Election Supervisors was read declaring the mayor as mayor and council as council.

A letter from Senator Bambacus was read by Mayor Alexander regarding new legislation. The mayor informed the council he would be sending proper legislation to Senator Bambacus regarding 1) a bill requiring the Garrett County Sanitary Commission to be under the full control of the county government, 2) a franchise tax bill requiring all utilities to pay franchise tax to towns, and 3) a bill to make the Circuit Rider program for municipalities in Maryland a permanent position. The mayor informed the council he would be talking to Senator Bambacus about these proposed bills.

A letter from state planning was read regarding the Upper Youghiogheny Facilities Plan. There was much discussion on this letter because the town has not approved the plan, and the nine points outlined by the town have not been approved by the sanitary commission. State planning, however, has gone ahead and approved this plan. Points in question were method of debt retirement: the town insists on an ad valorem tax for the Shady Acres development. Also the letter made reference to retro-active debt retirement of the existing debt for the Shady Acres development.

Our Turn

No Laughing Matter

By Pam Ashby

We were sitting at our computers working late . . . again, when the emergency tones signaled the local rescue squad and fire departments to the scene of a reported plane crash.

Bernice grabbed her loaded camera and me and said, "Come on! We can get some shots of this!"

Forgotten were the humming computers, the whirring fans and the overhead lights in the office. We were off — without our press passes. We had a job to do.

Following a truckload of dedicated firemen, we made our way to the alleged scene in record time, both secretly hoping it was a false alarm. We were met with the same obstacles the fire and rescue teams faced — access to a heavily wooded area where no signs of a downed plane could be spotted.

We brazenly jumped in the back of a four-wheel drive pickup and made it as far as the emergency crews. It was not far enough. Confusion ensued as the crews knew it was vital to branch out in search of the aircraft. One major problem faced them. Not enough mobile radios were available to communicate their whereabouts. There was only about one-half hour of daylight left.

Undaunted, the emergency crews worked together to devise a quick plan of action and began setting up check points. Bernice and I decided to hop back into the pickup and go back to the main road. Darkness prevailed.

The main road was lined with concerned and curious spectators, but we finally found the crash scene after trekking through very treacherous terrain. A man and his wife were dead. And you could see the feeling of hopelessness in the faces of every fireman and squad member. They had done everything they could and it appeared that even if they could have found the plane earlier, it would have been too late. But in another time and place; in different circumstances; time could have been a matter of life and death.

Bernice got pictures. I got a story to print. A story people had the right to know. It is human to be curious. It is also human to forget how every volunteer man and woman there Tuesday night gave their time and effort, without compensation, to do their best to save lives.

It is inhuman not to dig deep into our pockets to see that these volunteers have the best equipment available to do a most unpleasant job. After all, it may be our lives or the lives of our loved ones next time. Think about it.

Once again, I have stepped out of my humorous character, but this is no laughing matter.

County Fares Well In Spring Fire Season

"The worst is over," stated Garrett County Project Forester Ernie Metz, as he reviewed the worst spring fire season in 20 years. Statewide, more natural fuel fires occurred this spring than in all of 1984. More than 600 fires burned 15,000 acres across the State. In Garrett County 35 fires burned 100 acres.

What made this year such a bad fire year? Project Forester Metz noted that unusually high occurrence of fire was simply the weather. According to some reports, this spring was the worst drought in a century. Below average relative humidities, above average temperatures, and typical spring windy days created a hazardous fire situation. The results were drier than normal fuels which ignited easier, spread rapidly and burned hotter.

Within 42% of Maryland covered with forests, the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service takes its protection seriously, Metz said. The suppression of wild fire is a joint effort of the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service and the fire companies across the State.

"Without the support and assistance of the well-trained and dedicated fire fighters Maryland's woodlands would be at greater risk," he stated.

May brought the much needed rain that resulted in "green up," a condition when the vegetation increases moisture content making it more difficult for fire to start and spread. Although "green up" has occurred wild fire can still happen. Metz said "One can never be too careful with fire."

Metz extended appreciation to the following volunteer companies who helped the project keep this severe fire season "from being a total disaster:" Oakland, Deer Park, Gorman, Bittinger, Accident, Friendsville, Bloomington, Grantsville, Eastern Garrett County, Deep Creek Lake and Kitzmiller.

Cats Exposed To Rabid Raccoon Prompt Clinic

A rabid raccoon was killed Saturday during the day after wandering onto property owned by Melvin Davis, off of Route 219 and 33 near Hoop Pole Ridge. According to Rodney Glotfelty, Garrett County Health Department official, 17 cats were exposed to the raccoon and had to be destroyed.

Glotfelty stated that since the rabies epidemic began in 1981, 29 cases of cat rabies have been reported in the state of Maryland, while only one rabid dog was reported during that time. Garrett County reported one rabid cat during this period, that occurred in 1983.

Cats have a greater risk of getting rabies, explained Glotfelty, because they are hunters and may confront a raccoon without the family knowing, thus exposing family members to rabies.

For this reason, and because of a new law passed by Governor Harry Hughes requiring cats four months old or older to be vaccinated against rabies, the health department will hold a cats-only clinic on Saturday, August 3, from 1 to 2:30 p.m., at the Oakland Armory. Cat owners may bring their cats to the clinic without fear that dogs will scare the cats. No dogs will be allowed.

Agreement

tentative agreement provides an interest bearing escrow account for that money with both the state's and the town's name on the account. If the town complies with all the deadlines, at the end of the alloted time, when the treatment plant is constructed, Oakland will get $8,000 back.

If the town fails to meet its deadlines, every 100 hours of penalty accessed will cost $500 to be forfeited from the escrow account.

"I'm not afraid," says Watson, "I don't see the town paying anything except the $2,000." He went on to say that at this point the town is more interested in getting the treatment plant built than taking the issue to court to recover $2,000. "Court costs would be that much," he said.

Watson feels that this is a clear attempt on the part of the state to hold the town up and make them pay the penalty. The state feels it's necessary to get the judgment on record and get the penalty paid. The state is afraid that the EPA will pull the grant, and this action is needed to protect that grant. Both the town and the state would be in trouble if the grant is pulled, stated Watson.

The town is now waiting to see the final form of the consent judgment, and will then take action.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white organza with an empire bodice of silk Venise lace and Queen Anne neckline, bishop sleeves with schiffli embroidered inserts and pointed schiffli embroidered cuffs. They all wore identical floor-length violet gowns of matte taffeta with double ruffles at the off-shoulder neckline and hemline. Appointed to the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland were Larry Beck and James Cuppett, provider representatives, and John Parker, consumer representative.

John Adams Jr., a retiree from the Maryland Forestry Department, was reappointed to the Potomac River Commission.

The commissioners concurred with DNR Secretary Dr. Torey Brown's appointment of James Spear to the Youghiogheny Advisory Board. Spear is the mayor of Friendsville.

The commissioners also announced, along with Garrett County Roads Administrator Paul Shockey, that steel drums are now being accepted at the Round Glade Landfill.

The drums must have both ends removed, but it is no longer necessary to crush the drums as landfill employees now have the means and the state's approval to compact the drums themselves.

With the summer maintenance crews in full force at the Garrett County Roads Department, the commissioners spent a greater part of the day Tuesday conducting roads inspections.

Some county roads may soon by dropped from the county system and the commissioners also inspected those roads to determine usage and upkeep.

Real Estate
By ROBERT HUEBNER
Deep Creek Realty

WHY BUY WHEN RENTING IS SO NICE?

We have often observed that ownership has so many advantages over renting. We still believe it, yet there are some who don't.

Take the case of the young family that has rented a new apartment. They are delighted because the rental includes a lot of amenities, more than seen in customary rental units. In fact, many of these additional amenity costs are not even passed through to tenants. If it seems too good to be true, it probably is. The answer could be future condominium conversion.

The property owner may want to have all the luxury physical components in place today for conversion and sale of units some time in the future. When? Only the owner knows—but there is the possibility that, as a renter, you may be left in limbo when the conversion date arrives.

On the other hand, if you BUY your own home or condo unit, you'll never have to worry about looking for another place to live. The decision and timing will be yours and yours alone.

THE CIVIL WAR CAME ALIVE for the fifth grade students of Rosanne Sherwood at Accident Elementary School recently when Gerald Sword, manager of Herrington Manor State Park and local historian, spoke to the students on the Civil War in Garrett County. He brought with him a variety of exhibits for the students to see and handle. Included in his exhibits were a wooden, handmade crutch from Gettysburg, and a Confederate battle flag. The students felt the difference in weight between a Confederate (CS) belt buckle and the heavier Union (US) belt buckle. Passed around was a bullet that showed teeth marks; thus, illustrating the term "biting the bullet" during surgery. Pupils were also given the opportunity to write on paper with a lead bullet, allowing them to experience the difficulties soldiers had finding material with which to write letters home. Students played a game listening to a tape and identifying popular Civil War songs such as "Maryland My Maryland," "Dixie," and "When Johnny Comes Marching Home Again." Via slides, Mr. Sword brought the Civil War into Garrett County in 1863 when Confederate General William E. "Grumbles" Jones sent troops under the command of Captain McDonald through Kitzmiller, to Altamont to destroy railroad property, and then on into Oakland. Included in the presentation were many colorful anecdotes of the soldiers and their Garrett County raid. Following the presentation was a question and answer session. Each of the pupils later wrote an illustrated thank you note to Mr. Sword for coming to talk with them and bringing his many treasures to share with them. The students pictured above with Sword are: left to right, Walter McGee, Brent Hull, Sword, Melissa Miller, Melanie Artice, and Tanya DeWitt.

ATTENDS RECEPTION — Phyllis Trickett, left, Oakland, sits a while with Jeanette Rosner Wolman during a reception held at the James Brice House, Annapolis, on July 21 to induct the first five women into the Maryland Women's Hall of Fame. The event also recognized the 20th anniversary of the Maryland Commission for Women, which Wolman was instrumental in founding. Wolman, who is honorary chairwoman of th Maryland Commission for Women, was the guest of honor during the program which included remarks by Lt. Governor J. Joseph Curran, Jr., and Sally T. Grant, chairwoman of the Commission. Trickett serves as a commissioner on the Commission.

Maryland Citizens Salute First Members Of Women's Hall Of Fame

Author/ecologist Rachel Carson, Underground Railroad conductor Harriet Ross Tubman, suffragist and former acting governor Margaret Brent, Judge Rita Charmatz Davidson and Congresswoman Gladys Noon Spellman became the first members of the newly-established Maryland Women's Hall of Fame this past Sunday during ceremonies held at Brice House in Annapolis.

Some 250 state and national government leaders, representatives of prominent organizations and supportive Maryland citizens turned out for the two-hour reception, which not only honored these five women, but also celebrated the 20th anniversary of the Maryland Commission for Women and paid tribute to the Commission's first chair, Jeanette Rosner Wolman, a Maryland attorney who was instrumental to the establishment of the Commission in 1965.

The Maryland Women's Hall of Fame was created this year to recognize the contributions of women to the economic, political, cultural and social life of Maryland and the nation. The first five members were selected from a number of nominations made by individuals and organizations throughout the state.

Carson (1907-1964) is probably best known for being the catalyst behind the federal government's adoption and enforcement of strict controls on pesticides. Carson's work, SILENT SPRING, about the relationship between chemical use and the balance of nature created the controversy which led to the government's action.

Tubman (1820-1913) is famous as "the Moses of her people" for having led some 300 slaves to freedom via the Underground Railroad at great personal risk. Tubman also acted as a spy on behalf of the Union Army during the Civil War.

Margaret Brent (c.1601-1671) is considered to be the first woman in this country to claim the right to vote. The lawyer and business woman, who as Governor Leonard Calvert's executor was acting governor of Maryland, was denied her 1648 request before the Maryland General Assembly for the right to vote as a landowner and attorney for Lord Baltimore.

In more contemporary times, Judge Davidson (1928-1984) has been lauded for her many "firsts" in the Maryland judiciary and for her legacy of work for civil liberties. Congresswoman Spellman (1918-) served four terms on Capitol Hill, and is known from Prince George's County to the White House for her reforms in government standards and practices and her battles against all forms of discrimination.

The reception was sponsored by the Maryland Commission for Women, a major women's advocacy agency in Maryland, and the Women Legislators of the Maryland General Assembly.

THE APPLACHIAN MOUNTAIN SQUARE DANCERS will kick off the festivities for the circus at Cuppett and Weeks Nursing Home on Saturday, July 27 at 2:00 p.m. The circus is co-sponsored by Circus World of Orlando, Florida and Stroehman Brothers, Inc. of Cumberland. Special events planned for the day include the Shrine Clowns, Crissies's Twirlers of Westernport, and The Midnight Ramblers, a country music band. There will be concession stands, games, a hot dog and Coke stand, an animal "petting farm", and many other attractions for both residents and visitors. The public is invited to attend, and admission is free. Anyone wishing further information should contact Sheila Hauser or Lisa Frazee at 334-2319.

POA Meeting

Corps of Engineers. Gregory stressed that it will take two to three months to get these plans approved, therefore, property owners wanting to do any erosion control work this fall or next spring should contact him immediately.

Gregory was asked who is responsible for clearing trees that have fallen into the lake because of the high water. He explained that if the fallen tree is a navigational problem, he will try to get it out, however, DNR does not have the manpower to clear all fallen trees. He said that in some cases the fallen tree makes good fish habitat, and would not be moved for that reason. It was reported that the Bee Tree and Shingle Camp Hollows had the highest number of fallen trees.

The question of metal barrel disposal was brought up. The county landfill will accept the barrels now, stated Paul Shockey, if the ends are cut out of the barrels so that they can be flattened. This is necessary because of the space problem at the landfill.

Membership Report

Membership Chairman William Heid reported that the membership list is now on computer. Any labeling errors should be reported to Heid.

He also reported that the computer was able to determine that 46 percent of the members live in Maryland, one-half of those being year-round lake residents, 42 percent live in Pennsylvania, three percent live in Virginia, three percent live in West Virginia, and the rest are very small percentages from other states.

The computer also determined that 43 percent have been members over 10 years, 20 percent have been members 20 years or longer, and four percent have been members 30 years or longer. Twenty members were recognized for being members over 30 years.

Pump Station Beautification

District 3 Director Carl Rebele spoke of the beautification of the pump station at the Route 219 bridge. The POA completed this project early in May, with shrubs to add color throughout the four seasons. The landscaping was performed by Charles McCrobie. Rebele said that he would approach lake businesses and try to get them interested in beautifying some other pump stations. Other groups are invited to beautify any of the remaining pump stations, but should first talk with Wendell Beitzel at the Sanitary District office.

Sewage Project

Beitzel told the group that the sewage system, which is completed and in operation, was put to the test by the recent flooding. For a while the system, designed to handle 600,000 gallons, was efficiently handling 900,000 gallons. A power failure occurred during one of the severe electrical storms, and the emergency generator took over without any problems.

Several grinder pumps were also hit by lightning, but are now back in operation.

Beitzel reported that the odor problems are at the main pump stations nearest the treatment plant, with the pump station at the Route 219 bridge the main problem. The odor at that station has been brought temporarily under control. Beitzel stated that there are odor-control units at the pump stations, but that gasses were escaping around the lids. These lids are now being sealed.

In his report Beitzel said that the project was completed well under budget and that the sanitary commission is committed to operating the system efficiently, will take care of odors, and will work with property owners at all times.

He explained that the system has the potential for 2,300 connections, with 1,800 users currently on the system. This means that the ad valorem tax will diminish as more connections are made. It has already dropped from 21 cents last year to 16 cents this year.

Boat Count

The POA is attempting to document a lake boat count. President King explained that counts were taken at 13 places around the lake early in July with the smallest count being one boat per minute in Green Glade Cove, and the highest count being 2.2 boats per minute at the Glendale bridge area.

Plans are being made to take aerial phtographs of all sections of the lake to document the count. This boat count will go on year after year with records being kept to show any increase or decrease in numbers.

Resignation

Stormwater Management — A Helping Hand For Mother Nature

by Bernice Kepple

This spring's and summer's unusually heavy and frequent rainfalls have brought to our attention the necessity of controlling the resulting excess water. Mother Nature had no problem doing this herself for centuries, until the process of urbanization generated changes in the ability of the land surface and the environment to absorb this excess water.

Efforts by state and county governments to help Mother Nature have resulted in the development of programs such as erosion and sediment control, stormwater management, and flood plain management. What Mother Nature has not been able to control is the increased peak flow and total volume of stormwater runoff, due to all the cement parking lots and large rooftops which have taken the place of grassland, cropland, and forest; accelerated stream channel erosion, that all too often follows development; and an increase in siltation and sedimentation, water pollution, and local flooding.

In Garrett County, Lee Thorne, stormwater management engineer, and Shaun Sanders, district manager of the Garrett Soil Conservation District, have been helping Mother Nature by identifying what the problems are and what methods can be used to correct or prevent these problems.

"Individuals don't see the significance of what erosion control and stormwater management means, not just to them, but to others further down the watershed where the impact of what they do on their property is felt by others," said Thorne. Sanders explained that there is a need for individuals and developers to understand water flow, erosion, and especially the presence of a natural floodplain. "If homes are built on a natural floodplain the owners must recognize the possibility of there being water problems three or four times a year," said Sanders.

Stormwater management helps individuals and developers cope with precipitation and surface runoff, while sediment and erosion control tries to prevent the loss of topsoil and the damage caused when land is disturbed by development and industrial activities such as coal mining and logging.

A county ordinance has been in existence since 1971 to provide measures and requirements to control soil erosion and sedimentation and to establish procedures for administration and enforcement. This ordinance requires an individual, corporation, or any similar agency to obtain a grading permit prior to the start of any grading, clearing, filling, or other earth changes, including surface mining. This permit is required if the activity might introduce sediment into any natural or artificial drainageway in the county, move more than 100 cubic yards of earth, or disturb more than 5,000 square feet of surface area.

Sanders explains that there are exceptions to this requirement. Agricultural land management practices approved by the Garrett Soil Conservation District, and construction of agricultural structures and/or the construction of single-family residences and accessory buildings on lots of two acres or more do not need permits.

Permit application forms are available in the stormwater management office, and when completed, provides information to identify the applicant, the place and nature of the work to be done, the steps or procedures to be taken to control erosion and sedimentation, and the timing of these operations.

Where developments are involved, including commercial, industrial, or two or more residential units, the developer must include in the application a grading and an erosion and sediment control plan designed by an engineer or a landscape architect, and certification that all land clearing, construction and development will be done according to that plan.

This grading permit, where required, must be issued prior to the issuance of a building permit for the site. Permits are valid for one year from the date of issuance and the sites are subject to inspections, but according to Sanders and Thorne, although any violation is deemed a misdemeanor and ERODED AREAS LIKE THE ONE ABOVE can still be found throughout the county. This former log-loading area was last used in 1973 and was left without the benefit of lime, fertilizer, or replanting. Inspecting one of the large gullies on the property are Lee Thorne, left, Stormwater Management engineer, and Shaun Sanders, Garrett Soil Conservation District manager. Not as noticeable to the eye is the absence of tons of topsoil per acre which have been lost to sheet erosion over the years because of the lack of vegetation.

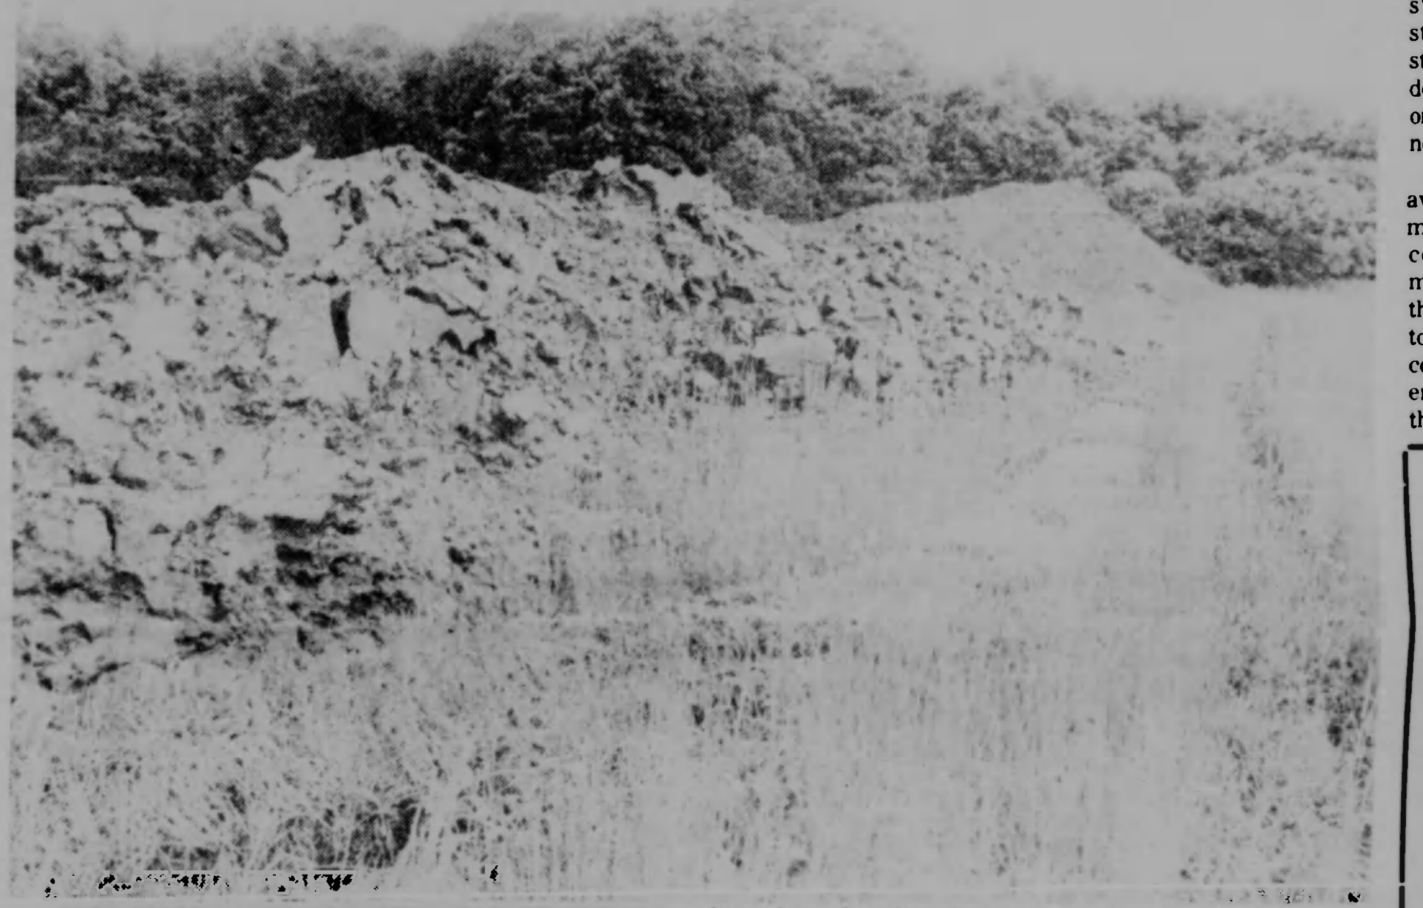
SEDIMENT PONDS, another good management practice, hold water on the construction site so that sediment drops to the bottom and stays on the site, while clean water slowly runs out. When construction on the site is finished, these ponds may be filled with stone, covered with topsoil, and replanted, making an infiltration area for any future runoff. The goal of these controls is to release water from the site at the same rate it ran off before construction started.



GOOD STORMWATER MANAGEMENT, SEDIMENT AND EROSION CONTROL PRACTICES ARE DEMONSTRATED by the use of a straw-bale dyke and an undisturbed vegetated buffer strip to keep this pile of topsoil where it should be. Without this protection, water runoff would have caused erosion, which would have formed gullies that carry sediment into ditches and waterways. The vegetation absorbs runoff and the straw bales prevent erosion. The straw bales are considered temporary. When the development is completed, the topsoil pile will be leveled and replanted, and this control will no longer be needed.

is subject to a maximim fine of $5000 or one year imprisonment, violations were extremely hard for county personnel to enforce.

This may have been one reason that the commissioners decided to turn sediment and erosion control over to the state Department of Natural Resources as of April 1 of this year. State officials now conduct inspections and provide enforcement.

According to Sanders, the erosion potential of a site is principally determined by five factors: the erodibility of the soil, vegetative cover, topography, climate and season. Sanders explains that these factors are all interrelated, but that vegetative controls are possibly the best way to protect the soil surface and limit erosion. He feels the practice of temporary seeding or mulching on areas which will be exposed for long periods of time prior to construction is important, and that permanent stabilization should be performed as soon as possible after the completion of grading.

Stormwater management, according to Thorne, is a relatively new county agency, started in September of 1984. Its main goal is to maintain after development, as nearly as possible, the pre-development water runoff characteristics of any site.

An example of what can be done to help Mother Nature control stormwater runoff, erosion, and sediment, can been seen at Meadows East in Mountain Lake Park. Developed by EHP Associates' general partners Dick Devlin and Tom Thayer, Meadows East and a new development being built, Meadow Woods, use a wide variety of sediment and erosion control and stormwater management methods.

Engineer Morgan France explains that the engineer's control plan is designed to release water at the same rate of runoff that was present before development, thus protecting downstream sites. This is done by calculating the pre-development water runoff, calculating what the runoff will be after development, and determining the amount of storage required to hold the difference, allowing it to be released at the pre-development rate.

At Meadows East this was done using several practices. Natural vegetation was preserved in the form of pine buffer strips between parking areas, and restoration of vegetation, grass and trees, was practiced. Stormwater management ponds and man-made drainage systems using perforated risers which hold water and release it slowly were also used.

At the construction site of Meadow Woods, the top soil pile is being contained by a straw-bale dyke and a large buffer strip of grass. Thayer states that all these control practices add considerably more to the cost of construction. After being told that the stormwater management ponds, which normally remain dry, were full for a short time during the last heavy rain, Thayer said, "Since I had to do it, I'm sure glad it works."

Another builder using control practices to the best advantage is Troy Gnegy at the Arrowhead Condominiums. Gnegy says that being that close to Deep Creek Lake, using all controls possible is just good insurance.

Engineers and contractors working under the required permits say they believe that stormwater management, sediment and erosion control is needed and that the state is going in the right direction, however, they do see some problems with the system. One engineer stated that he can spend many hours designing a plan, but has no assurance that the contractor will abide by specifications. Most contractors believe that the Soil Conservation District's specifications go over-board a bit, being extremely conservative, ending up with more protection and management than is needed, costing the contractors more money than necessary.

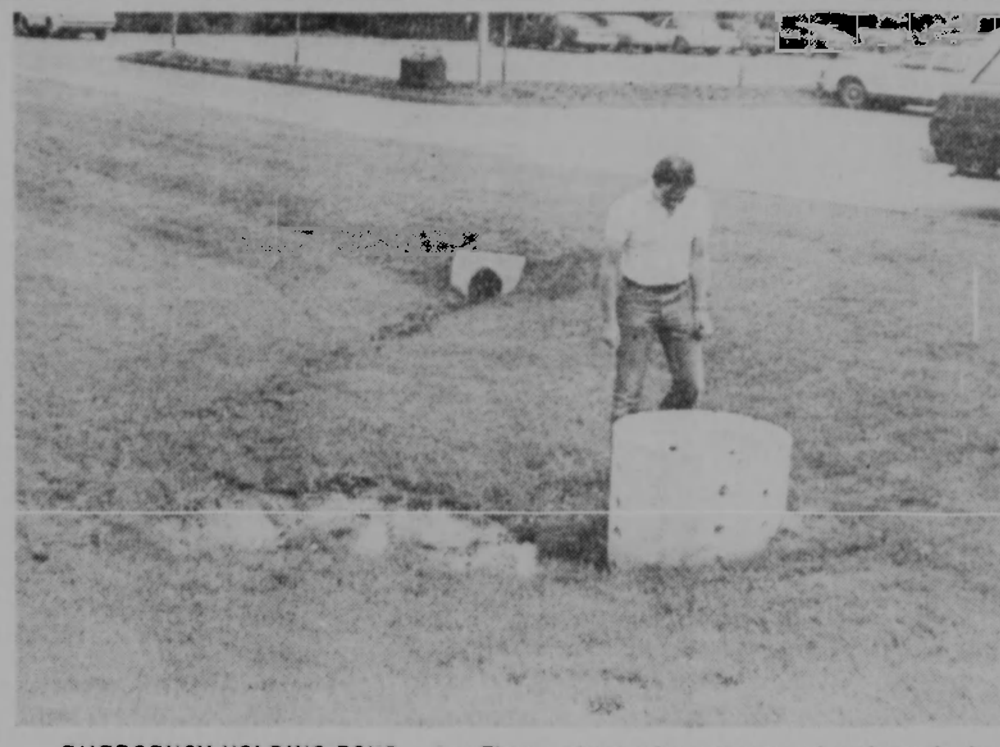
Others believe some discretion should be used by those issuing the permits. Not all construction areas are going to cause the same amount of damage downstream, therefore, they believe that sites should be individually evaluated and permits issued accordingly. Finally, some feel that since sediment and erosion control was turned over to the state, there is no clear chain of responsibility, and that the state is extremely slow about getting permits issued.

The fact remains that since development is not about to stop, we must help Mother Nature all we can.

One success story is the flood control dams built years ago by the Soil Conservation District under Bill Nace's management. Many Oakland residents remember when Wilson Run flooded the town after each heavy storm. Dams built on Wilson Run and its tributaries, (notably the one behind Garrett Memorial Hospital and the one just north of Bauer Lumber Company) have helped Mother Nature control that peak flow of water.

Stormwater management, sediment and erosion controls' intentions are to prevent floods and the resulting damage, and are giving Mother Nature the helping hand she so badly needs.

"The sky is the daily bread of the eyes." Ralph Waldo Emerson



EMERGENCY HOLDING POND — Lee Thorne, stormwater management engineer, is shown standing in a stormwater management pond which normally remains dry, but holds water after a hard storm and releases it gradually. Thorne is inspecting a perforated riser which helps control the release of excess water. The holes in the sides of the riser release the accumulation from a two through ten-year storm (any storm which drops between 2.8 inches and 4.3 inches of rain in a 24-hour period). A ten-year accumulation or over goes into the top of the riser, and the pond itself is designed to hold a 25-year storm. An emergency spillway is installed to allow accumulations over that to escape without damaging the pond.

Garrett County Youth Spend Week Being Indians At 4-H Camp Algawa

Garrett County 4-H Camp is held each year at the Bittinger 4-H Center, off Route 495, in July. The camp has been popular with both 4-H members and non-members for many years. Started as a tri-county camp for Allegany, Garrett, and Washington counties, the camp still goes by the original name, Camp Algawa.

Each year different activities are planned to go along with the old standbys like crafts, archery, riflery, swimming, and outdoor cooking just to name a few.

Garrett County Extension Agent Alice Hevner, having just completed 18 years at camp, spends a big part of each year organizing and planning all the activities. This year, in addition to Extension Agent Ted Sprangel, the volunteer staff included: Chris Donley, Chris Bock, Carol Newman, Larry Nesline, Dwight Emory, Janet Cosner, Steve Cosner, Ashley Carr, Sharon Wright, Erica Carlson, Shawn Garner, Jane Carroll, Dorinda Wolfe, Ruta Savage, Hallie Snyder, Kelley Stuart, Kim Smith, Kim Buckel, Alice Wilhelm, Don Sealing, and Steve Lichty. These volunteers serve on either a full or part-time basis, some staying for the entire week and others coming in to teach a class or help with a project.

The long-time, well-appreciated, kitchen staff is made up of Edith Lechliter, Thelma Lechliter and Ruth Georg.

The week's activities are centered around Indian tribes, which are divided into two nations, the Algonquin and the Iroquois. Each nation has an O'Chief to lead campfires and games. Joe Shaffer served as the Algonquin O'Chief, and Brett Garner as the Iroquois O'Chief this year.

This year, 96 campers attended and were divided into six tribes, each collecting points throughout the week for cabin checks, games, and skills, and at the final campfire to be the winning tribe and win the Golden Feather. The nation whose tribes have the highest points also wins. This year, the winning nation was the Algonquin Indian Nation. The winning tribe was the Cayuga with Brad King, tribe leader, and Mike Mongold and Tammy Wakefield, Sagamores.

The second place was awarded to the Shawnee Tribe with leader Gordon Savage, and Nate Emory and Jenni Morris, Sagamores.

A tie for third place was held by the Mohawk and Seneca Tribes. Mohawk's tribe leader was Lara Carlson, with Susan Ryscavage and Beth Fousek, Sagamores. Jon Garner was tribe leader for the Seneca Tribe, with Sagamores Bonnie Rustonand Robert Fousek.

Other tribes included: the Cherokee Tribe with leader Tim Kepple, Sagamores Courtney Smith and Amy Zimmerman; and the Delaware Tribe with leader Chad King, Sagamores Tina Buckel and Mike Flinn.

The Golden Feather and Winning Nation awards are announced at the end of the final campfire for parents on Friday night. Other annual awards are also presented, including: Spirit Award, Courtney Smith; Head Award, Brad King; Heart Award, Marshall Pike; Hands Award, Amy Zimmerman; and Health Award, Joe Shaffer. Honor campers, Jim Bartholomew, Damon Garner, Amy Laughton, Scott House, and Eric Sines, were also recognized.

Each year holds special memories for the campers. This year's memories will include wet clothes and shoes, damp sleeping bags, bad storms, and many indoor activities, but camp is always exciting, even in the rain. Most of the campers have stored away flashlights, sleeping bags, tribal shirts and beads, but are beginning to think about and make plans for next summer's Garrett County 4-H Camp week.

Southern States Representatives Attend Meeting

Forrest Blamble and Mike Beck, of Southern States Oakland Cooperative, have just returned from a Southern States appliance sales meeting held at the Holiday Inn in Bridgeport, W. Va. on July 16.

The session, one of nine such conferences held across the cooperative's five-state operating territory, gave Southern States retail employees training in selling new appliances.

The session was conducted by Tom Tuggle, manager of Farm Supply Merchandising for Southern States, and Mike Bailey, a representative of the Admiral Corporation.

County Forestry Board Reviews Youth Workshop

The Garrett County Forestry Board met at 7 p.m., on Friday, July 19, in the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service office at Mt. Nebo.

The Board reviewed the arrangements for the 1985 Forest Conservation Workshop which will be held at Camp Hickory, August 11-17. This program is designed to give high school students, interested in careers in conservation, some insight into the careers available, and the training necessary to qualify for these positions.

There are 47 students enrolled for the 1985 Workshop and three of these students will be from Garrett County. The costs for the Workshop are paid by obtaining sponsorships from businesses, civic groups, etc.

George Gilmore, regional forester with the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, gave an update on the status of the Federal budget for fiscal year 1986. He noted that the House Committee is currently asking for full reinstatement of funding for State and Private forestry assistance programs for 1986. If this is approved, it will return the assistance to the States to the same level as in 1985.

Cats Can Develop Heartworm Disease Warns Veterinarians

Pet owners and veterinarians have long been aware of the problems of heartworm disease in dogs, but what about cats? The Maryland Veterinary Medical Association reports that although heartworm disease is still relatively uncommon in cats, it recently has become more recognized.

"Any cat that is exposed to mosquitoes runs the risk of developing heartworm," says Ray Thompson, MVMA executive director.

Thompson noted that cats with heartworms can have sudden onset of severe signs or they can have signs of a chronic nature. The signs seen in an acute illness include collapse, convulsions, vomiting, diarrhea and blindness. It is unlikely to see all these signs in one animal.

Heartworm disease in cats can be very difficult to diagnose and treat, Thompson said. Diagnosis begins with a thorough examination and may require radiographs, electrocardiograms and other tests.

Davis Says Wheat Loans Available

Olin S. Davis, Jr., chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, said that loans are available on 1985 wheat. "All wheat farmers participating in the 1985 acreage reduction and land diversion program are eligible," he said.

The loan rate for Maryland's 1985 wheat crop is $3.31 per bushel. This rate is based on the national average loan rate for wheat, which is $3.30 per bushel. Davis said farmers can take out loans on their wheat stored in an approved warehouse or on the farm.

The ASCS commodity loan program provides immediate cash for farmers and allows them time to make marketing decisions, or to hold grain for feeding later. Although the program does not guarantee participating farmers a profit, it does guarantee a minimum price.

"By placing the grain under loan, farmers increase their marketing options and help strengthen crop prices," Davis stated. "The loans give producers an opportunity to plan their management strategy and sell when the price is right."

Davis said Maryland grain producers placed over 23,400 bushels of 1984 wheat under price support loan. Before regular price support loans for the 1985 crop reach maturity, he said the grain reserve will be reviewed and a determination will be made at that time as to whether the entry of the crop into the reserve will be permitted.

Wheat loans are available to farmers through March 31, 1986. Loans mature on demand but no later than the last day of the ninth month following the month the loan is disbursed. The commodity loan and grain reserve programs are designed to strengthen market prices, Davis concluded.

Record Yields For Small Grains

If expectations are realized, Maryland farmers will have record yields for wheat, barley and rye and a record tying yield for oats. Wheat production at 5,850,000 bushels is expected to be three percent below 1984's production of 6,020,000. A decline of 10,000 acres harvested to 130,000 more than offset the expected record yield of 45 bushels.

Barley production as of July 1 is forecasted at a record 5,922,000 bushels, up seven percent from 1984's record production. Yields are expected to average a record 63 bushels per acre, five bushels above 1984 and three bushels above the previous record of 60 bushels in 1981.

Oats yields for 1985 are expected to average 59 bushels per acre, equal to the record yield of the 1981 crop.

Rye is expected to average a record 33 bushels per acre, one bushel above the previous record of 32 bushels set in 1984. Area expected for harvest at 6,000 acres is the lowest on the records, which date back to 1866.

The acres expected to be harvested for soybeans, hay and tobacco are lower than last year. Corn for grain acreage is forecasted above 1984, while potato and sweet potato acreage are unchanged from last year. Corn for grain acreage for harvest at 650,000 acres is up 10 percent from 1984. Soybean area expected to be harvested at 400,000 acres is six percent below the record 425,000 acres harvested in 1984. Tobacco acreage to be harvested in 1985 is set at 21,000 acres.

Apple And Peach Production Down

Maryland's apple production is forecast at 80.0 million pounds, the same as 1984's production, but 10.0 million pounds below production in 1983. Nationally, 8.06 billion pounds are forecast, down three percent from 1984 and four percent below 1983.

The state's peach crop is forecast at 2.0 million pounds compared to 1984's production of 19.0 million pounds. U.S. production is estimated at 2.14 billion pounds, down one percent from the June 1 forecast and 19 percent below last year's production. In Pennsylvania, 30.0 million pounds are expected compared to 85.0 million pounds last year, while in Virginia only 2.0 million pounds are expected compared to 1984's production of 34.0 million pounds.

Md. Farm News From ASCS

Corn Loan Rate Announced

The Maryland loan rate for the 1985 corn crop has been set. The rate, $2.82 per bushel, is based on the national average loan rate of $2.55 which was announced in the fall of 1984. Loan rates vary from state-to-state to reflect regional differences in crop values, production trends, and transport costs to terminal points.

To be eligible for price support loans on corn, the farmer must be a participant in the 1985 acreage education program. This loan program provides the producer operating capital once the crop is harvested and in eligible storage and allows him to hold the crop off the market and take advantage of price increases that often come after harvest. The loan program does not guarantee a profit, but, it does guarantee the loan rate as a minimum price.

Rural Resources Guide

USDA announced publication of "The Rural Resources Guide", a catalog of assistance measures that can help rural leaders in solving rural community needs. The guide has information on over 400 sources of private and public assistance available to rural citizens. This guide is available from the U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, for $12.

Milk Price Support

On July 1, USDA reduced the support price for manufacturing grade milk from $12.10 to $11.60 per cwt. This new support price will remain effective until the Dairy and Tobacco Adjustment Act of 1983 expires at the end of September.

This lower support was deemed necessary to bring about a reduction in excessive dairy purchases by Commodity Credit Corporation. Even with this reduced price, USDA estimates net price support purchases for the next 12 months will exceed 10 billion pounds of milk equivalent.

Conservation Reserve Proposed

Secretary of Agriculture John Block recently proposed a 10-year, $11 billion conservation reserve which would take up to 10 million acres of highly erodible land out of production. This proposal is the largest single soil conservation initiative in the history of U.S. agriculture.

The reserve would reduce soil loss on land enrolled in the program by nearly 20 tons per acre per year. A successful program would also improve water quality, curb production of surplus commodities, improve crop prices and improve wildlife habitat. The proposed reserve is consistent with Block's overall thrust to the development of a long term agricultural policy and would bring about greater consistency between conservation and commodity programs.

George Bishoff Is Elected 2nd VP Of Md. Soil Conservation Districts

George Bishoff, chairman of the Garrett Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors, was elected second vice president of the Maryland Association of Soil Conservation Districts during the summer meeting held July 17 through 19 in Easton. Other officers elected were: Donald L. Spickler, president (Washington County); Richard Wright, first vice president (Wicomico County); Loring Sparks, treasurer (Baltimore County); and David Bourdon, secretary (Prince Georges County).

Other members of the Garrett Soil Conservation District board who attended the summer meeting were: Harry W. Hummel, vice chairman; Claude Wagner Jr., treasurer; Harley Brenneman, board member; and Shaun Sanders, district manager.

Guest speaker, Dr. Sarah J. Taylor, told members of the Maryland Association of Soil Conservation Districts (MASCD) that current proposals by the Chesapeake Bay Critical Area Commission (CAC) would affect farmers in three ways.

First, soil conservation and water quality plans, approved by the local soil conservation district, must be implemented on all farmland in the 1,000-foot "critical area zone" within five years. Second, a 25-foot vegetated filter strip will be required next to tidal waters and wetlands until the conservation plan is approved and implemented. Third, livestock feeding, grazing, or watering will be prohibited in the 25-foot buffer zone. "In essence," she said, "this will mean fencing."

"I know the fencing issue is an overbearing one" said Taylor. Some farmers have complained to the commission that the cost of fencing would be prohibitive and would force them out of business.

She left open the possibility that the criteria could be modified if there was enough public opposition before the final criteria are submitted August 28 for publication in the Maryland Register.

She also said that the state was aware that some individuals will have to be compensated for any unfair loss of land use rights. "The criteria are being balanced between land use and water use to improve water quality in the bay," she said.

Pearlie S. Reed, head conservationist for all 23 counties in the state, said many farmers with land in the 1,000-foot critical area zone are not waiting for the requirements to become official. He said many are going ahead and asking local soil conservation districts and SCS offices to design conservation plans now so that they will be in line with the regulations when they become final.

Although the Chesapeake Bay cleanup was the focal point of the summer meeting, other business was also discussed.

Association members departed from a nearly 50-year tradition and voted to ask the state legislature to add the work "water" to the name of the state's 24 local soil conservation districts.

District supervisors felt the name, soil and water conservation district, would better reflect their organizations' role in conserving and protecting the state's water supplies, especially because of their expanded role in the bay cleanup.

They also went on record calling for full funding under the state's agricultural cost share program for farmers who install poultry waste storage structures. The large concentration of poultry wastes, and their improper storage and application, poses a threat to both ground and surface waters, they said. The Maryland Department of Agriculture, which administers the cost share program, makes the final determination on the type and number of best management practices that receive funds.

Sharon Fenton, cost-share program administrator, announced that the initial $5 million appropriated for the program has been committed. An additional $2 million approved by the legislature will not become available until possibly next February, after the state's next bond issue. The new money will be targeted to priority areas where the potential for pollution is greatest, she added.

MASCD members also agreed to establish a state prize in the Allis-Chalmers Environmental Education awards contest. They will present first, second, and third place cash awards to teachers who successfully compete in the contest which recognizes outstanding environmental education programs in schools.

In another resolution, they voted to recommend that the Maryland Department of Agriculture survey farm woodlots for infestation of gypsy moths at the request of landowners. If the area meets MDA criteria, then these woodlots will be sprayed to control the spread of this destructive pest.

David L. Yost, soil scientist for the SCS, reported that a new study being conducted shows that soil erosion estimates on the state's farmland have been understated. Erosion from ephemeral gullies could raise overall erosion averages by one to two tons per acre per year, he said. The study also shows that no-till planting alone will not control erosion on steep slopes. Contour farming, strip-cropping, grass waterways and diversions may be needed in addition to conservation tillage on slopes greater than eight percent, he added.

Sheila Bender Is Allegany/Garrett Dairy Princess

Sheila Bender has been named Dairy Princess for Garrett and Allegany counties. An official coronation will be held later this month.

Sheila is the daughter of Oren and Fannie Bender of Cove Run Dairy Farm near Accident. She is a graduate of Northern High School and was active in FFA and school activities. She served as Vice President of the Junior North Garrett FFA Chapter and as Vice President and President of the North Garrett Chapter. While in high school, Sheila took part in FFA Dairy Judging and Parliamentary Procedure contests.

She was President of her Junior and Senior classes at Northern High School, a member of the Student Council, and was 1985 Homecoming Queen.

A member of the Milk-o-holics 4-H Club, Sheila served as both secretary and treasurer.

Milking and feeding calves are two of her duties on the family farm, and 17-year old Sheila has been showing cattle since she was 10 or 11 years old. She has four cows of her own, and has shown in Fitting and Showing Classes at the Garrett County Fair, the Black and White Show, and the Maryland State Fair.

On August 1, Sheila will travel to Frederick, along with area contest chairpersons, Nancy Savage and Carolyn Ganoe, to compete in the Maryland State Dairy Princess contest. She will be required to answer dairy related questions and perform a skit on some phaze of the dairy industry. Sheila, dressed in bib overalls as a farmer, does a skit using a stuffed cow and a toy milk pail to tell children about all the different products produced from milk.

Sheila's duties as Garrett/Allegany Dairy Princess will include attending all dairy functions such as shows, fairs, and banquets. She represented the dairy industry for the first time, officially, last week at the Garrett County Holstein Show at the McHenry Fairgrounds.

—Adv. 20-3t.

The following Articles of Association of the new First United National Bank & Trust is published pursuant to a reorganization of First United, which reorganization was consummated effective at 12:01 a.m., July 1, 1985. The reorganization effected a merger of First United National Bank & Trust into the charter of First United Interim National Bank, the resulting bank, but with the name of the former. The resulting bank then became a subsidiary of the holding company, First United Corporation, with the exchange of two shares of stock of the holding company for each share of the bank.

ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION
FIRST UNITED NATIONAL BANK & TRUST

For the purpose of organizing an association to carry on business of banking under the laws of the United States, the undersigned do enter into the following Articles of Association:

FIRST: The title of this Association shall be First United Interim National Bank.

SECOND: The main office of the Association shall be in Oakland, County of Garrett, State of Maryland.

The general business of the Association shall be conducted at its main office and its branches.

THIRD: The Board of Directors of the Association shall consist of not less than five nor more than twenty five shareholders, the exact number to be fixed and determined from time to time by resolution of a majority of the full Board of Directors or by resolution of the shareholders at any annual or special meeting thereof. Each Director, during the full term of his directorship, shall own a minimum of $1,000 par value of stock of the Association or $1,000 par value, market value or equity interest in the Association's bank holding company, First United Corporation, a Maryland corporation. Any vacancy in the Board of Directors for any reason, including an increase in the number thereof, may be filled by action of the Board of Directors.

FOURTH: There shall be an annual meeting of the shareholders the purpose of which shall be the election of directors and the transaction of whatever other business may be brought before said meeting. It shall be held at the main office or other convenient place as the Board of Directors may designate, on the day of each year specified therefore in the Bylaws, but if no election is held on that day, it may be held on any subsequent day according to such lawful rules as may be prescribed by the Board of Directors.

Nominations for election to the Board of Directors may be made by the Board of Directors or by any stockholder of any outstanding class of capital stock of the Association entitled to vote for election of directors. Nominations, other than those made by or on behalf of the existing management of the Association, shall be made in writing and shall be delivered or mailed to the President of the Association and to the Comptroller of the Currency, Washington, D.C., not less than fourteen days nor more than fifty days prior to any meeting of stockholders called for the election of directors, provided, however, that if less than twenty-one days' notice of the meeting is given to shareholders, such nominations shall be mailed or delivered to the President of the Association and to the Comptroller of the Currency not later than the close of business on the seventh day following the day on which the notice of meeting was mailed. Such notification shall contain the following information to the extent known to the notifying shareholder: (a) the name and address of each proposed nominee; (b) the principal occupation of each proposed nominee, (c) the total number of shares of capital stock of the Association that will be voted for each proposed nominee; (d) the name and residence address of the notifying shareholder; and (e) the number of shares of capital stock of the Association owned by the notifying shareholder. Nominations not made in accordance herewith may, in his/her discretion, be disregarded by the Chairperson of the meeting, and upon his/her instructions, the vote tellers may disregard all votes cast for each such nominee.

FIFTH: The authorized amount of capital stock of this Association shall be 5,000 shares of common stock of the par value of Ten Dollars ($10.00) each, but said capital stock may be increased or decreased from time to time, in accordance with the provisions of the laws of the United States.

No holder of shares of the capital stock of any class of the Association shall have any preemptive or preferential right of subscription to any shares of any class of stock of the Association, whether now or hereafter authorized, or to any obligations convertible into stock of the Association, issued, or sold, nor any right of subscription to any thereof other than such, if any, as the Board of Directors, in its discretion may from time to time determine and at such price as the Board of Directors may from time to time fix.

The Association, at any time and from time to time, may authorize and issue debt obligations, whether or not subordinated, without the approval of the shareholders.

SIXTH: The Board of Directors shall appoint one of its members President of the Association, who shall be Chairperson of the Board, unless the Board appoints another director to be the Chairperson. The Board of Directors shall have the power to appoint one or more Vice Presidents, and to appoint a Cashier and such other officers and employees as may be required to transact the business of the Association.

The Board of Directors shall have the power to define the duties of the officers and employees of the Association; to fix the salaries to be paid to them; to dismiss them; to require bonds from them and to fix the penalty thereof; to regulate the manner in which any increase of the capital of the Association shall be made; to manage and administer the business and affairs of the Association; to make all Bylaws that it may be lawful for them to make; and generally to do and perform all acts that it may be legal for a Board of Directors to do and perform.

SEVENTH: The Board of Directors shall have the power to change the location of the main office to any other place within the limits of Oakland, Maryland, without the approval of the shareholders but subject to the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency; and shall have the power to establish or change the location of any branch or branches of the Association to any other location, without the approval of the shareholders but subject to the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency.

EIGHTH: The corporate existence of the Association shall continue until terminated in accordance with the laws of the United States.

NINTH: The Board of Directors of the Association, or any three or more shareholders owning, in the aggregate, not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the stock of the Association, may call a special meeting of shareholders at any time. Unless otherwise provided by the laws of the United States, a notice of the time, place, and purpose of every annual and special meeting of the shareholders shall be given by first-class mail, postage prepaid, mailed at least ten days prior to the date of such meeting to each shareholder of record at his address as shown upon the books of the Association.

TENTH: Any person, his/her heirs, executors, or administrators, may be indemnified or reimbursed by the Association for reasonable expenses actually incurred in connection with any action, suit or proceeding, civil or criminal, to which he/she or they shall be made a party by reason of his/her being or having been a director, officer, or employee of the Association or of any firm, corporation, or organization which he/she served in any such capacity at the request of the Association: Provided, however, that no person shall be so indemnified or reimbursed in relation to any matter in such action, suit, or proceeding as to which he/she shall finally be adjudged to have been guilty of or liable for gross negligence, willful misconduct or criminal acts in the performance of his/her duties to the Association. And, provided further, that no person shall be so indemnified or reimbursed in relation to any matter in such action, suit or proceeding which has been made the subject of a compromise settlement except with the approval of a court of competent jurisdiction, or the holders of record of a majority of the outstanding shares of the Association, or the Board of Directors, acting by vote of Directors not parties to the same or substantially the same action, suit, or proceeding, constituting a majority of the whole number of Directors. The foregoing right of indemnification or reimbursement shall not be exclusive of other rights to which such persons, his/her heirs, executors, or administrators, may be entitled as a matter of law.

The Association may, upon the affirmative vote of a majority of its Board of Directors, purchase insurance for the purpose of indemnifying its directors, officers and other employees to the extent that such indemnification is allowed in the preceding paragraph. Such insurance may, but need not, be for the benefit of all directors, officers, or employees.

ELEVENTH: These Articles of Association may be amended at any regular or special meeting of the shareholders by the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the stock of the Association, unless the vote of the holders of a greater amount of stock is required by law, and in that case by the vote of the holders of such greater amount.

WIC Program Receives More Federal Monies

The WIC (Women, Infants, Children) program, which provides supplemental nutrition for high risk, limited income pregnant women, new mothers, and children, will be able to serve an additional 6,000 eligible clients in August, the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene announced last week.

Release of federal funds totaling $520,000 to Maryland will enable WIC to serve 57,000 women and their children next month and in following months instead of the 51,000 originally projected.

WIC gives weekly supplies of milk in various forms, infant formulas, unsugared fruit juices, cereals, cheese, and dried beans to high health risk mothers and their children to enrich their diets and to improve their health.

Income limit is 185 percent of the federal poverty level (see schedule below).

WIC adds new clients to its rolls according to these priorities:

1. Pregnant women and breast feeding mothers with health problems, infants—premature or full-term—at high risk of developing health problems;
2. Normal babies born to women who are on the WIC program or would have been qualified for WIC;
3. Children less than 5 years of age with medical problems;

Judge Sentences Three Community Action Thieves

Judge Paul Stakem on July 18 handed down sentences for three Garrett County men convicted of the October 26, 1984 theft at the Garrett Community Action Building, Oakland, in which over $3,000 of office equipment was taken.

Found guilty of theft in the Garrett County District Court on April 21 were Michael A. Crosby, 19, Deer Park; Gary F. Fazenbaker, 20, Swanton, and Ronald S. Friend, 20, Mountain Lake Park.

Crosby received a three-year sentence with the Division of Corrections, but the judge gave him 102 days credit for time awaiting trial and suspended 33 months of his sentence. The judge sentenced him to three years of supervised probation and ordered him to pay $543.93 in restitution.

Fazenbaker received three years with the Division of Corrections, but the judge gave him two days credit for time awaiting trial and suspended 31 months of his sentence. The judge said he would recommend that the remaining five months of the sentence be served in the Garrett County Jail.

Judge Stakem also ordered Fazenbaker to serve three years of supervised probation and to pay $543.93 in restitution.

The judge sentenced Ronald S. Friend to three years with the Division of Corrections, but gave him two days credit for time awaiting trial and suspended 32 months of the sentence. The judge is to recommend that Friend serve the remaining four months of his sentence in the Garrett County Jail.

Friend was also placed on three years of supervised probation and ordered to pay $543.93 in restitution.

Videoprinting Students

The 3M Company and Paramount Home Video have joined forces in an effort to find missing children. They have come up with the idea of a "videoprint," a live video recording of a child.

The two companies are promoting a video production called "Strong Kids Safe Kids." It features Henry "The Fonz" Winkler from Happy Days.

Winkler talks about child molestation on the tape, which has 14 minutes of blank tape for parents to use in making a video print of their own children.

Computer Projects

If you want to find out who is doing what with computers, the U.S. Department of Education has printed a computer education project catalog.

The 299-page book contains descriptions of 275 computer projects and gives the names and addresses of educators to contact for additional information. One drawback is the cost-$9.00 per copy.

Employee Rights

Recently the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that school employees have a right to a full explanation of any charges used by school officials to fire them and that employees should have a chance to rebut such charges in a hearing before being dismissed.

In ruling 8-1, the court stated that a school employee's right to continue employment out weighs a school board's interest in the immediate firing of an unsatisfactory employee.

In writing for the majority, Justice Byron White said, "Affording the employee an opportunity to respond prior to termination would impose neither a significant administrative burden nor intolerable delays."

The court suggested that the right of a hearing was important because it prevents terminations based on mistaken decisions by school officials.

The ruling will affect civil service regulations in 20 states that provide that public employees can only make their case in defense of the charges brought against them after they have been dismissed.

Oakland Man Arrested On Theft Charge

An Oakland man was arrested and charged with theft last Thursday by Tfc. C.R. Smith of the Maryland State Police and Deputy Charles P. Nolan of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

Albert C. DeWitt was arrested following an alleged breaking and entering and theft at the home of Charles M. DeWitt, Oakland.

The accused has been released on his own recognizance.

A Deer Park man was arrested on July 17 by Deputy David Crossland and Tfc. R. M. Hershberger for assault and battery on Deputy Crossland.

Richard E. Tasker, 28, Deer Park, was arrested and charged in connection with an incident that occurred at 12:45 a.m.

Local Boy Is Tiny Stars Of America Contest Finalist

David Andrew Lohr Jr., the two-year-old son of Amy and Dave Lohr of Deer Park, has been selected as a finialist for the state of Maryland in the Nationwide Tiny Stars of America Contest.

The selection, based on beauty, photogenic quality and personality, was made by a panel of judges from the professional fields of television, modeling and acting. Prior to this, David placed first in two other children's contests based on photogenic qualities.

David and his eight-month-old sister, Heather Michelle, have recently been offered the opportunity to model for a national children's apparel chain.

SHOW AND TELL

Sailing and shopping with 'Love Boat' star

By Gregory Garver

HOLLYWOOD — Jill Whelan is a lucky young woman. The 18-year-old actress has a continuing role on "The Love Boat." She has financial security and, once or twice a year, she packs her bags, leaves the Hollywood back lot and sails on luxury cruises that have become part of the ABC show's shooting schedule.

"My life," says Miss Whelan, "is just great. I'm having the best time. Everything is going well for me."

The actress's career is also showing signs of expanding. She's mulling over the idea of spending her next hiatus filming a movie. And since she sings, Miss Whelan is thinking about performing in a musical. In between the mulling and music, Miss Whelan continues to decorate her new home with furnishings she's picked up on "Love Boat" jaunts.

"I bought china in Japan, crystal in Ireland, sheepskins in Australia and porcelain statues in Spain," she says.

Miss Whelan is a dedicated shopper, and is often kidded by other "LB" cast members about her sprees. Some of the actress's favorite souvenirs are sweat shirts emblazoned with the name and trademark of whatever port she has visited. She has a collection of these sweat shirts at home.

Jill Whelan

"If it hadn't been for 'Love Boat,'" Miss Whelan confesses, "I probably would have been married with three kids. Now I can talk, with some knowledge, about almost any place in the world."

And she does. "I loved Ibiza," she adds, referring to the island off the coast of Spain, "because it reminded me of (the Grecian island) Mykonos."

Where hasn't Miss Whalen sailed? She smiles, and with slight exaggeration, claims she's never been to South Africa and Antarctica. Not to worry. The actress will get there, especially if she can go by boat. "I love cruises," she says. "They're so much fun."

Gregory Garver interviewed Miss Whelan on a "Love Boat"-sponsored cruise.

Della Reese belts out the blues when she guest stars on "Mayport and All That Jazz," the first of three jazz specials airing on public television this summer. You can catch Della on Wednesday, July 31 on PBS. (Check local listings.)

Anne Baxter (seated) portrays Victoria Cabot, the matriarch of the St. Gregory Hotel, in "Hotel," airing Wednesday, July 31 on ABC. James Brolin and Connie Sellecca also star in the Aaron Spelling production.

Top stars, small budgets make "Tales" a scary hit

By Marta Tarbell

Tom Allen spent last year reading more than 1,000 screenplays, treatments and short stories. As story editor for "Tales From the Dark Side," he was looking for the indescribable "it," the thing, he claims, that makes for perfect episodes of the syndicated horror series.

His hard work has paid off. The success of "Tales" has helped launch what industry insiders say is the next big trend in television: a return to anthology series. Next season, viewers will be thrilled by NBC's "Steven Spielberg's Amazing Stories" (each episode reportedly costs $1 million to produce), as well as the network's "Alfred Hitchcock Presents." CBS will chill us with an all-new version of its old hit "The Twilight Zone." Even cable has its frights: HBO has already debuted "Ray Bradbury Theatre."

But "Tales" is still ahead of the pack, not an unaccustomed position for its executive producer, George Romero, who reshaped horror films with his 1969 low-budget zombie classic, "Night of the Living Dead."

Yet "Tales," which is produced in four days on a cut-rate budget of $100,000, came into being almost by accident.

"George was talking with executives at New York's CBS affiliate," recalls Allen, 48. "He just mentioned the idea for the series off the top of his head and they gave him money for the pilot." The first episode of the series, "Trick or Treat," was written by Romero and aired on Halloween in 1984.

George Romero

"The word went out quickly about what we were doing," recalls Allen. Enticed by the freedom afforded by the series format and by Romero's reputation for allowing his staff to work without interference, it was easy to lure top talents to participate in various episodes.

To date, "Tales" writers have included novelists Stephen King, Harlan Ellison and Robert Bloch (on whose novel the Hitchcock classic "Psycho" was based); the performers have included Fritz Weaver, Tippi Hedren, Justin Bateman, Carol Kane and Danny Aiello. The talent, Allen quickly points out, works for scale.

"We try to make each episode as carefully as if it were an independent feature film," adds Allen. "We pinch pennies, but we make up for it by giving each director total control."

STAR STYLE

Lifting weights keeps Hufsey in top form

By Renee Ross

His dark good looks may be hereditary, but Billy Hufsey admits his well-toned body didn't get that way by chance. "I'm in good shape because I worked for it," explains Hufsey, 26, who stars as Christopher Donlon in the syndicated series "Fame."

Billy Hufsey

A former high school Golden Gloves boxer, Hufsey combined his love for music and dance with lots of patience to master the dazzling dance steps that helped him win the United States Singles Disco Championship in 1979. That award, in turn, inspired him to study for a career in show business.

"Being active is nothing new. It's always been part of my life," says Hufsey, a native of Brookpark, Ohio, who now lives near Los Angeles.

The actor says he lifts weights to stay in peak form: "It's great because in addition to toning up muscles, exercise helps me control stress and performance anxiety. It's important to keep your stamina up," adds Hufsey, who claims a typical "Fame" shooting schedule sometimes stretches into a 14-hour day.

Thanks to "Fame," Hufsey is so popular that a revealing poster of the actor — he's clad in only a towel — is popping up on fans' walls across the country. "It was fun to pose for it," Hufsey recalls with a grin. "I'm flattered that people like it."

Unlike some performers who prefer to ignore their past once when they reach stardom, Hufsey says his midwestern roots have strongly influenced his values. "There's no substitute for hard work in this — or any — business. And you've got to be true to yourself. My philosophy is to be what you are — not what other people want you to be."

Unlike some celebrities, Hufsey vows that he will never forget his fans. "They're the ones who support and encourage you," he says. And in Hufsey's case, popularity starts at home — his mother is the proud leader of the Billy Hufsey Fan Club!

SATURDAY

"Night Court" star Harry Anderson joins Karen Valentine for a nostalgic look at the trends, fads and lifestyles of the baby-boom generation in the new series "Our Time," premiering Saturday, July 27 on NBC.

ROCK VIEW

Italian singers suffer from lack of videos

By Marianne Meyer

The odd thing about watching Italy's VideoMusic, the 24-hour-a-day clip channel that reaches about 70 percent of the country, is how closely it resembles MTV. The station logo looks like that of MTV; the clips, concerts and commercials are mixed in roughly the same proportions; the veejays have the same aren't-we-cool attitude — although they appear on film and speak Italian. Perhaps the most surprising thing is how few Italian artist videos are seen on the screen.

In a typical Friday night's viewing, Rock View didn't see a single clip that was "made in Italia," although a source later told us a few are played in the less-popular morning slot. When you consider that the radio generally splits 60-40 in playing imported vs. Italian-made music, why are there so few Italian clips?

Francesco Fanti, International Director for RCA in Rome, explains: "It's very rare that the Italian music industry decides to do a video for their artists because the cost is very high and the promotion is very low." English, it's clear, is the language for international rock, and Italian-language acts cannot generate the sales that justify production costs. Adds Fanti, "We use video only in the very rare case of a very established artist or a young artist that we want to launch on the market strongly."

As an example of the latter, he shows a video by the new trio [illegible]. The clip uses smoke, slow motion and blue tints to promote a song called "Stories." The lyrics are in English, and yes, the clip could fit in quite nicely on MTV.

Besides VideoMusic, there aren't many places to see music video in Italy — on the half-hour daily "DeeJay Television" show, a kiddie program named "L'Orecchiocchio" ("Eyes and Ears"), a weekend countdown program and in assorted clubs.

Anna Oxa

According to Alberto Crippa, Group Product Manager of CBS in Milan, "Unlike those in the United States, we have no markets to sell videos in the stores," so that also means fewer productions until the home VCR market grows. Crippa sighs. At present, only two of his most popular artists — Anna Oxa and Claudio Baglioni — have been deemed worthy of new clips.

"We could produce great videos," Crippa claims. "After all, we have Fellini here. It is not a problem of lacking people or ideas. It is simply a problem of market."

SOAP OPERA WEEK

"GL" star was pregnant along with her character

By Kimberly Redmond

At the time Vanessa Lewis was pregnant in "The Guiding Light" story line, it seemed like Maeve Kinkead, the actress who portrays Vanessa, was also pregnant. Am I right or wrong? — A.T., University Park, Ill.

Maeve Kinkead

You're right. The actress was pregnant during the time that Vanessa was awaiting the birth of Billy Lewis III. Miss Kinkead, who's married to Harry Streep (Meryl Streep's brother), gave birth to a daughter, Maude Eugenia. The actress and her husband also have a son, Abraham. Miss Kinkead has hinted that she will be leaving "GL" when her contract expires this fall.

My friends are trying to make me believe that Lisa McColl (Eileen Fulton) of "As the World Turns" was once married to John Dixon (Larry Bryggman). But I'm firmly convinced that they're wrong. Please save our friendship by giving us the lowdown on Lisa's marital history. — E.N., Selbyville, Del.

Lisa McColl has been married to Bob Hughes, Michael Shea, Grant Colman and Whit McColl. She's never taken a trip down the aisle with the evil John Dixon, although come to think of it, they would make the perfect couple.

I really miss Nancy Frangione, the actress who used to portray Cecile Cory on "Another World." Can tell me what she's doing since she left the NBC soap? — J.D., Alexandria, Va.

Miss Frangione, who is married to her former "AW" cast mate Chris Rich, has been pursuing acting roles outside of the soaps. However, she recently took a two-day job portraying Tina Clayton on "One Life to Live" when series regular Andrea Evans was ill.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

Who's the most beautiful actress on television? Joan Collins? Linda Evans? Linda Gray? No! No! No! It's Jennifer Runyon from "Charles in Charge." Please, what can you tell me about this beaut? — E.L., Mannville, Alberta, Canada

Jennifer Runyon

Miss Runyon didn't always look as lovely as she does now. When she was growing up in Los Angeles, Miss Runyon weighed 165 pounds. She was also 5 feet 3 at the time. "I was gross," the actress recalls. But dieting paid off. Her drama coach sent her on an audition and Miss Runyon wound up on the NBC soap "Another World" for two years. Recently, Miss Runyon appeared in the Timothy Hutton movie "The Falcon and the Snowman." She also played James Garner's daughter in the miniseries "Space."

I'm 16 years old and have a crush on "It's Your Move" star Jason Bateman. My mother insists he has appeared on another series besides "Move" and "Silver Spoons." Is this true? — W.L., Sabattees, Maine

Your mom is right. Bateman, who turns 17 on Jan. 14, played the adopted son of Charles and Caroline Ingalls in "Little House on the Prairie."

I have a $50 bet with my mother-in-law that Kaye Ballard's name in the series "The Mothers-in-Law" was Kaye. She says it was Ethel. Who wins? — D.L.R., Yonkers, N.Y.

You do! Miss Ballard's name in the NBC series was Kaye Buell.

Justin Bateman

Anne Baxter took a risk and became a star again

By Gillian George

Anne Baxter

Many actresses have convinced themselves that their lives would make fascinating books. Most of them are mistaken. Anne Baxter isn't one of them. The well-preserved 62-year-old actress, who plays the good-natured patrician Victoria Cabot on "Hotel," has already written her life story, the 1976 best-seller "Intermission: A True Story."

"My book is a vivid chronicle of my trials and tribulations in the Australian outback," Miss Baxter says. "I really let it all hang out, including how I became so bored and frustrated with the isolation that I ended up screaming at our cows to relieve my tension."

Miss Baxter's lively and well-written autobiography is equally eloquent on the upside of her adventure Down Under. It began in 1960, when her second husband, businessman Randolph Galt, convinced her to help him run a 36,000-acre cattle station in the remote region of New South Wales.

"Of course," says Miss Baxter, "I was so in love and so struck by the bizarre idea that I dropped everything and went with him." The "everything" included a flourishing movie career that culminated, in most fans' memories, with her remarkable performance opposite Bette Davis in the 1950 film "All About Eve."

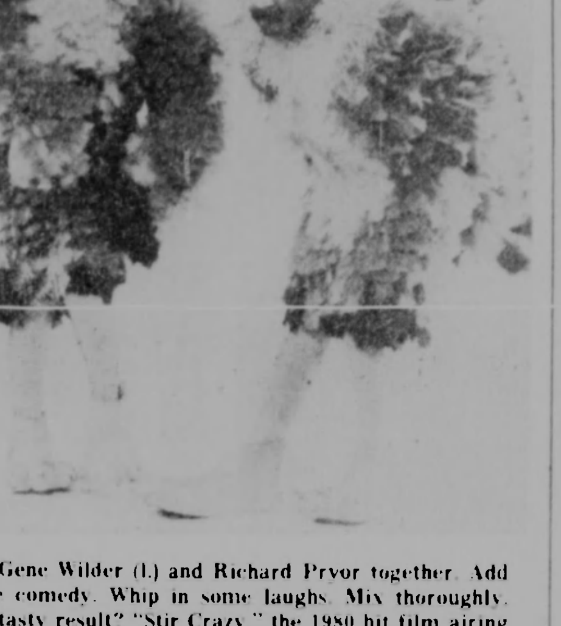
"Strangely enough, I didn't really look at it as walking out on my movie career," recalls Miss Baxter, who won a Best Supporting Actress Oscar in 1946 for her role opposite Tyrone Power in "The Razor's Edge." "But that's the way it was taken. People made things very tough when we moved back to California four years later."

With the courage and practicality that helped her endure her Australian sojourn, Miss Baxter swallowed her pride and accepted roles in B-pictures and TV series such as "Columbo." Then the actress took a risk. Despite the fact that she had never sung or danced professionally, Miss Baxter replaced Lauren Bacall in the Broadway hit "Applause." Ironically, the musical was based on "All About Eve."

The risk paid off, including the irony of working on "Hotel." Miss Baxter steals the career of Bette Davis's character in "All About Eve," and two years ago, after Miss Davis filmed the pilot for "Hotel," she suffered a stroke. With only a 72-hour notice, Miss Baxter replaced her Hollywood pal.

"Yes, it certainly was ironic," Miss Baxter recalls, "but the way I look at it, it's really only one of a long and fairly amazing string of coincidences and ironies that have made up my life."

SUNDAY



Stir Gene Wilder (l.) and Richard Pryor together. Add some comedy. Whip in some laughs. Mix thoroughly. The tasty result? "Stir Crazy," the 1980 hit film airing Sunday, July 28 on NBC. (Rebroadcast)

Hail to the Chief

MARYLAND PHYSICIAN'S COURAGE FEATURED ON MPT — Hiltgunt Zassenhaus is a Towson physician whose life has not always been trouble free. As a young woman she resisted the Nazis by leading a perilous double existence. Her true spy story is told during the Premiere of "Hiltgunt Zassenhaus: Woman Of Courage," airing on Maryland Public Television, Channel 36, Oakland, Wednesday, July 31, at 9 p.m. Outwardly, Hiltgunt worked for the Nazis as a censor. Her task was to spy on hundreds of Scandinavian prisoners jailed in Hamburg. Trusted by the Gestapo, she was, in fact, bringing aid, inspiration, and much needed medical supplies to these captives. One of the 1,200 prisoners she saved said, "I looked upon Hiltgunt Zassenhaus as a member of the Norwegian Resistance Movement, as a comrade fighting the same war we had fought and fought with all our hearts, not against the Germans, against Hitler, against the Nazis, against the system." Hiltgunt's dedicated efforts earned her a nomination for the Nobel Peace Prize in 1977.

Karen Wheaton Concert Slated For August 2

Karen Harris Wheaton, nationally-known gospel singing artist, and team will be presenting a concert at the Crellin Assembly of God Church, Rt. 39, on Friday, August 2, at 7 p.m.

The Wheaton Ministry Team is an evangelistic music ministry with a worldwide scope. Their endeavors have taken them across the United States, Honduras, Haiti, and parts of Africa. They combine their efforts with pastors, missionaries, evangelists and other ministers.

Karen Wheaton, the featured vocalist for the team, has been featured on many major television ministries including Jimmy Swaggart telecasts, Jim Backer's PTL Club and Canada's 100 Huntley Street.

De'Wayne Wheaton, Karen's husband and manager of the team, is a 15-year veteran of the music industry. He coordinates the schedule for the ministry team, singing background vocals and arranging Karen's music. He produced her current album, "Holy Spirit, Touch Through Me."

Maryland Receives MMIS Certification

Adele Wilzac, R.N., M.S., Secretary of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, announced last week the Medicaid Management Information System (MMIS) has received certification from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. This certification is the culmination of 11 years of efforts, Wilzack stated.

Each state is required by Federal Law to utilize MMIS, an integrated computer system which provides statistical and financial information on the operation of the Medical Assistance Program. The implementation of this system will save the State funds, enhance the claims processing mechanism for greater efficiencies and will assist in the detection of fraud and abuse.

"We are very pleased to have this system in place in Maryland", said Douglas H. Morgan, assistant secretary for Medical Care Programs.

"Without the dedication, diligency and enthusiasm of the State staff, the Maryland MMIS would not be certified. I am proud of all the employees who participated in the certification," Morgan added.

The MMIS was developed in the early 70s by the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) to assist states in managing their Medicaid and to provide uniform data.

SOUTHPAW TO APPEAR AT COUNTY FAIR — Southpaw, a country music band based in Oakland, will appear at the Garrett County Fair on August 13, at 7 and 9 p.m. Members of the group include: Butch Moats on lead vocals and bass guitar; Brian Shealy on harmony vocals and drums; Bill Janoske on lead guitar and Roger Ware on lead vocals and rhythm guitar. The group plays a high energy brand of music they call "Kickin Country". Their repertoire includes current country chart hits as well as country classics and original material. The band has fronted for Nashville acts, like Sonny James, and keeps a full schedule of club dates in the tri-state area.

June '85 Sales Tax Take Among Largest Ever

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said retail sales and use tax revenue for June 1985 amounted to $96,671,247, the second largest monthly sales tax total for Fiscal Year 1985 and third largest single month's collection since the sales tax was instituted in 1947.

"The June, 1985, revenue reveals good growth in nearly all categories of sales tax collections, with total revenue for the month posting an 11.2% increase over the $86,919,897 collected during June, 1984," Goldstein said.

For the first 11 months of Fiscal Year 1985, retail sales and use tax revenue totaled $996,017,347, up 11.3% over the $895,256,325 collected during the identical period of the previous fiscal year.

"With only one month of collections remaining, the construction-related categories of sales tax revenue continue to be the fastest growing," Goldstein noted. "The building and contractors category posted a 16.6% growth over the same period of Fiscal Year 1984, while the furniture, fixtures and appliances category grew by 16.4%."

The two categories which produce the most revenue, taxable food and beverage and general merchandise, yielded $200.4 million and $199.0 million, respectively for the eleven month period.

Owners Of Unclaimed Funds Sought

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced that his office is attempting to locate 4,462 individuals who are the apparent owners of $1.4 million worth of bank accounts and other financial instruments reported to the state as unclaimed.

"Newspaper ads will be appearing in 20 of Maryland's 24 subdivisions over the next two weeks", he said.

The Republican will publish the ads the weeks of July 22 and 29, 1985.

According to Goldstein, Maryland law requires financial institutions and other corporations to report savings and checking accounts, wages, security deposits and other money which has been unclaimed or inactive for the past five years to the State Comptrollers Office.

Notices advising the apparent owners of whom to contact have been sent to 2,500 individuals for whom an address was available. "But if you spot your name or the name of someone you know in the ads, contact the Abandoned Property Section of our office and we will tell you how to file your claim", the comptroller said.

Goldstein noted that Maryland's law is custodial, meaning that there is no time limit under which the item or its monetary equivalent must be claimed. The owner or legitimate heirs may claim the funds at any time.

"It's a good idea to carefully check your mail and keep an eye on the ad pages of the newspaper during the next two weeks, because you may find some good financial news coming your way", said Goldstein.

Along The Trail

Novices tend to follow the path, especially when it is straight and narrow. But even with experienced riders there can be unexpected turns, and it's possible to get lost.

In life there are very few straight paths. It is extremely easy to come upon an unexpected turn, and to encounter doubt, confusion, even despair.

Horseback riding is not compulsory. But you do have a life — and you have to live it. The way is up to you. If we get lost, we can give up, but with the help of the Church, you will find a trustworthy guide which will renew your faith and clear the way to the path of eternal fulfillment.

WE HAVE "PEOPLE CONDITIONERS"

It was only a relatively few years ago that the process was developed of cooling the air in summertime to make people feel more comfortable. But, we think it takes more than control of the environment to really put a person at ease.

In our pharmacy we have developed a process called "people conditioners." It is a combination of several ingredients—friendliness, professional service, courtesy, informed salespeople and a genuine desire to please you and every other customer. By creating this type of atmosphere we feel that you will want to rely on us for your health needs no matter what the temperature may be inside or out!

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty. May we be your personal family pharmacy?"

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

"COSA NOSTRA"

July 28, 1985

Background Scripture:
Jonah.

Devotional Reading:
Jonah 3.

"Cosa Nostra," I'm told is an Italian term meaning approximately, "our thing." It is a term that is sometimes used by the Mafia to refer to their far-flung criminal enterprises. Obviously, it is a very exclusive term, for, if something is "our thing," then there are obviously others who are not included in the "our." Not only are "they" not part of "us," but we have no intentions of ever letting them become part of "us."

Actually, no matter how much we speak of this being "one world," many of us apparently prefer to keep the walls in place that currently divide us from one another. We arrange our lives, our homes, our communities, so that there is always some "they" and "us," and always some "thing" that is distinctively "ours" and not "theirs."

"I KNEW IT, I KNEW IT!"

So, it is often with religion, too. That which is intended to unite the world, often ends up dividing it. Religion becomes just one more means whereby we separate ourselves from someone else. And the benefits of religion -- salvation, the kingdom of God, heaven -- these, all too often, we consciously or unconsciously look upon as "our thing."

That's what the story of Jonah is all about (much, much more than it is a biblical "fish story"). When God called Jonah to go and preach repentance to the people of Nineveh, Jonas was so opposed that he tried to run away. He didn't want the job of preaching to the people of Nineveh. Why? Because he was afraid they just might respond to the offer of God's redemption. Jonah didn't want that because he didn't want them to become his brothers. Instead he wants them to remain his and God's enemies.

At last, however, God catches up with Jonah, and sends him on the long-delayed mission to Nineveh. When he does, the people of Nineveh, experience a change of heart and the "enemies" are transformed into fellow children of God, or brothers.

Now Jonah is really angry and when God questions him about this anger, Jonah replies that "I knew that thou art a gracious God and merciful, slow to anger, and abounding in steadfast love, and repentest of evil." (4:2)

BETTER TO DIE

Jonah's forthrightness here is disconcerting. He is so honest about his prejudices, that it is either refreshing or embarrassing or both. Plainly, he wants the love and favor of God to remain "our thing." He doesn't want to share it with the people of Nineveh.

When God made it clear that he alone would determine these things, Jonah sulked and decided it would be better to die than to have to share his cosa nostra.

But God makes it clear that it is never "our thing" that he offers, but his...and his alone.

FAMILY CORNER

WILLS—ARE THEY REALLY NECESSARY?

Seven out of ten Americans die without a will. Many of these people believed wills were not necessary unless they had large estates. This misconception often has led to unsatisfactory distributions of property after a person's death. Far too often relatives are extremely disappointed when they discover they will not receive the heirloom that Grandma, who died intestate (without a will), had promised them. With a will, even if some relatives are upset because Grandma did not leave them anything, at least they know she desired it that way.

What Is a Will?

A will is a document written according to governing state law. In this document, a person states how he or she wants his or her property handled and distributed after his or her death. A person's property is either real property or personal property. Real property is real estate, land and anything of a permanent nature under or over the land, including houses and other structures. Personal property is any other kind of property, including money. A person's real and personal property make up his or her estate.

What Are the Advantages of a Will?

•A will allows you to select who receives your property. If you died without a will, the laws of intestate succession determine who receives your property.

•A will allows you to manage your estate. Shrewd estate planning techniques may be used in wills to avoid most taxes that otherwise would be due by the estate and your beneficiaries.

•A will allows you to name a personal representative. If you do not have a will, or in a will do not name a personal representative, the court will appoint someone.

•A will allows you to name a guardian for minors.

For more complete information on wills, call the Extension Office and ask for Fact Sheet 382, "Writing Wills in Maryland." The phone number is 334-2145.

FOOD NOTES

According to the American Meat Institute, an unexpected "bulge" in red meat supplies should mean consumers can look forward to lower beef prices this summer. There is more to buying meat than knowing the price per pound or the price per piece. The price per serving, with a serving being 2½ to 3 ounces of cooked, edible meat, is the most realistic guide to economical choices. For example, boneless meats serve 3 to 5 persons per pound; cuts with little bone serve 2 to 3; and meat with a large amount of bone serve 1 to 2 per pound.

Here's a round steak recipe I think your family will enjoy:

BARBECUED ROUND STEAK

3 to 4 lbs. round or chuck steak cut 1½ to 2 inches thick
1 tablespoon mixed Italian herbs
⅓ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon ketchup
1 tablespoon oil
3 tablespoons soy sauce
Instant meat tenderizer

Trim most of fat edge of meat, slash remaining fat at 1-inch intervals to prevent curling. Blend remaining ingredients, except tenderizer; brush on meat; place in shallow dish, cover and refrigerate overnight.

Bring meat to room temperature, 30 minutes before grilling, apply tenderizer as directed on jar. Place meat on greased grill 4 to 5 inches above hot coals; grill 10 to 15 minutes per side until desired doneness is reached—turn only once. Remove meat and carve into ¼ inch slices. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

May be oven-broiled by preheating broiler and placing steak on unheated broiler rack so top of meat is 4 to 5 inches from heat. Decrease distance for 2-inch steaks or for well-done meat. For medium done, broil 18 to 20 minutes per side.

Maryland state forests and fourteen state parks are open, by regulation, for hunting and changes have been proposed to extend the hunting season on park hunting areas at Deep Creek Lake, Greenbrier, Patuxent River, Rocky Gap, Seneca Creek and St. Mary's River State Parks. Friend Museum Committee Seeks More Artifacts

The Friend National Heritage Museum, located in Friendsville, is on the lookout for Friend family artifacts and heirlooms, according to John Hinebaugh, chairman of the Friend Museum committee.

Hinebaugh stated that the majority of the items for display in the museum, which will be formally dedicated on August 3 during the Summer Fest III celebration, have come from one Friend family estate. He said that more items are needed, however, and would be accepted on a loan or a gift basis.

The committee is especially interested in obtaining artifacts and heirlooms from any Friend family but is also seeking items that have historical significance to the town of Friendsville. Other items, whether or not they are related to Friendsville, will also be considered for display, Hinebaugh said.

Loaned items will be documented and appraised and the owners will be given a receipt which will permit them to retrieve the item any time they desire or name an heir to the item. All loaned items will also be covered by insurance, based upon the appraised value.

Persons having items to loan or donate may contact Hinebaugh at 387-4933 or 387-5738 for further information.

Also slated to be dedicated along with the museum on August 3 will be the Friend Family library. Byron Friend, president of the national Friend Family Association, a national organization, will be the speaker at the 11 a.m. ceremony. Platform guests will include local and state government officials.

Governor Hughes Eases Savings, Loan Restrictions

Governor Harry Hughes eased restrictions last week on Maryland savings and loan associations to release funds for payment of property taxes and similar obligations.

In an executive order further amending the restrictions he imposed May 14, Hughes exempted payment of such obligations from the $1,000 limit on withdrawals from these associations within a 30-consecutive-day period.

The earlier exemptions applied to payment for emergency medical services, certain payroll accounts, tuition payments, mortgage payments and settlement costs on transactions pre-dating the Governor's May 14 declaration of an emergnecy, and for other specified purposes.

Monday's amendment permits the use of expense-account funds held by savings and loan associations for payment of real estate taxes, property insurance premiums, premiums for the borrower's credit insurance, ground rents "or other expenses necessary to protect the security of a loan."

Like funds withdrawn for the earlier specified exemptions, these may be withdrawn only upon submission of a written declaration of need, subject to penalty for perjury.

The Governor's amended order applies to 27 of the 102 savings and loan associations originally insured by the Maryland Savings-Share Insurance Corporation (MSSIC).

The restrictions originally imposed by the May 14 executive order were later lifted from 11 when they obtained federal insurance and from 62 others after examinations by federal officials.

Of the remaining S&L's, two are under court-ordered conservatorship and 27 are still subject to restrictions including the $1,000-per-30-day withdrawal limit.

Deposits up to $100,000 per account in all the associations without federal insurance are protected under the Maryland Deposit Insurance Fund, which was created by the State to replace the privately operated MSSIC.

The new fund was proposed by the Governor at a special legislative session which he convened to deal with the S&L crisis resulting from runs on several Maryland associations in the wake of a similar episode in Ohio.

"Operation Weed Out" Begun By MSP/DEA

The Maryland State Police, in cooperation with the Federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) and local police agencies in Maryland, have combined forces to disrupt marijuana cultivation within the state.

"Operation Weed Out" is designed to eradicate domestically produced cannabis and the detection, apprehension and prosecution of those persons involved in the manufacture and distribution of marijuana.

During recent years, State Police have conducted several programs aimed at eliminating trafficking of illegal drugs in Maryland. Information developed resulted in numerous arrests and seizures of illicit drugs. It became readily apparent to investigators that growing and selling marijuana has become a lucrative enterprise in Maryland. Federal interdiction of smuggling activities has reduced the quality of marketable marijuana available from Columbia and other foreign countries which has forced suppliers to rely on domestic sources to meet customer demands.

In the past two years alone in Maryland 2,717 marijuana plants were seized with a value of $5,705,600. A total of 35 persons associated with those operations were arrested.

State Police are asking citizens help in reporting information concerning illicit marijuana cultivation and distribution. Much information concerning illegal drug related criminal activity has already been developed from persons calling on the State Police toll-free hotline, 1-800-492-TIPS.

Since the program's inception in August, 1984, 880 calls have been received. Many resulted in substantial drug seizures and successful investigations. The telephone line is operational seven days a week, 24 hours a day. A caller's anonymity is guaranteed, and since police investigate all calls, there is no need for the caller to leave a name or appear in court.

Citizens are cautioned, though, not to attempt any action themselves. In Maryland, as well as in many states, booby traps have been discovered at the sites of these illegal activities. These booby traps have taken many forms, from trip wires that alert intruders to elaborate devices capable of inflicting serious injury or death. A good rule to follow when observing illegally planted marijuana is not to walk haphazardly into the area, but stop and notify law enforcement officials so that proper action can be taken.

Col. W. T. Travers Jr., superintendent of the State Police, said, "So long as there are those who seek to profit from this illicit enterprise we will commit ourselves to the task of eradicating marijuana from our state."

State Issues Warning Against Designer Drugs

They may look the same, their initial effects can be the same, their price may even be the same. But the risks of using "designer drugs", are infinitely more dangerous, according to Department of Health and Mental Hygiene officials.

Produced to stimulate the effects of certain illegal drugs by changing the substance's chemical composition, "designer drug", use is often accompanied by serious side effects, such as brain damage, or even death, said Howard B. Silverman acting director of the Drug Abuse Administration.

The likelihood of complications increases because of the variance in the potency of these synthetic narcotics, he said.

According to Drug Abuse Administration sources, synthetic heroin, an analog of Fentanyl, is being sold on the streets of Baltimore under the guise of "very pure heroin" or "China White," the name of an ultra potent form of Southeast Asian heroin.

"This is a very serious concern to us, since the adverse effects of the 'designer drug' trend on the West Coast have resulted in numerous deaths and illnesses with insidious side effects," said Silverman.

"The Maryland narcotic addicted population and experimenters (chippers) must be alerted that the risks of shooting this killer dope are infinitely more dangerous than the current street heroin," he continued.

"The potency of Fentanyl Analog varies from batch to batch and can be 20-40 times stronger than heroin," Silverman added.

Symptoms of Parkinson's disease, paralysis, and brain damage have been noted in users of synthetic heroin, which has also been responsible for numerous deaths nationwide.

"The Drug Abuse Administration is warning anyone who might be exposed to these (designer drugs) of the tremendous dangers associated with them" Silverman concluded. "The synthetic heroin is already here, and it's going to be trouble."

New Horizons Program Obtains Grant Approval

The New Horizons Program of Garrett Community College has received notification of grant approval for the 1985-86 funding year from the Maryland State Department of Vocational/Technical Education, effective July 1, 1985, with funds provided to serve single parents, homemakers and displaced homemakers.

The New Horizons Program provides career counseling, career assessment, career testing, skills identification, job skills preparation in the areas of resumes, interviewing and dressing, vocational training with tuition assistance in both the non-credit and credit areas, child care and/or transportation assistance and job assistance to eligible program participants.

This funding year, $10,000 has been set aside for tuition and books assistance to eligible participants of the program, in both the credit and non-credit field of vocational training. A total of $3,000 will be used for child care and transportation expenses while program participants are enrolled in training programs.

Those served by the New Horizons Program include single parents, working or non-working, who are unmarried or legally separated from a spouse, and have a minor child or children for which the parent has either custody or joint custody; homemakers, who have worked primarily without pay to care for the home and family, and for that reason has diminished marketable skills; and displaced homemakers, who are separated, divorced or widowed, and must seek employment.

To determine eligibility for the New Horizons Program, interested persons are asked to call 334-9184 weekdays, between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. to schedule an appointment to learn more about the program and how it can provide assistance.

Alcohol, Tobacco Tax Revenues Are Distributed

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says he has mailed checks totaling $6,337,000 to Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City, representing their share of alcohol and tobacco tax collections for the final quarter of Fiscal Year 1985 (April, May and June, 1985).

"This distribution brings the total local share of distilled spirits, beer and cigarette tax revenue for Fiscal Year 1985 to $24,366,820," Mr. Goldstein said. "That's 1.8% less than the $24,810,095 the 24 subdivisions received during Fiscal Year 1984, and generally reflects consumption patterns for distilled spirits, beer and cigarettes during the period."

For Fiscal Year 1985 the subdivisions received $15.1 million in cigarette tax revenue, slightly more than the previous year. Cigarette tax revenue is shared based on a formula returning three cents of the 13¢ per pack tax to the subdivisions according to population.

Garrett County received $24,125.85 for the quarter and $92,429.09 for the year.

Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City received $4,893,580 in distilled spirits tax revenue for Fiscal Year 1985, down 5.4% from the previous year. Approximately one-third of the $1.50 per gallon distilled spirits tax is returned to the local governments, based on gallons delivered to retailers within the subdivision.

Garrett County received $7,074.19 for this quarter and $25,666.70 for the year.

The subdivisions shared $4,418,311 in beer tax receipts for Fiscal Year 1985, a 3.8% drop from the previous year. Approximately one-half of the nine cents per gallon beer tax is returned to the local governments based on gallons delivered to retailers within the subdivision. Garrett County received $8,231.24 in the fourth quarter and $27,250.81 for the year.

State Loan Funds Now Available For Housing Rehab

Officials of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development announced last week that $4.6 million is now available for low-interest loans for the renovation of single-family homes, rental housing and commercial properties.

The loans, which carry interest rates of between 4.5 and 10 percent, are being offered by the Community Development Administration, the state's housing finance agency, through its Maryland Housing Rehabilitation Program. MHRP financing is used to bring property up to applicable building codes and standards, and to finance some general improvements.

The loans will be made in conjunction with local governments. Seventy-five percent of the available funds will be allocated by local jurisdictions. The balance will be kept in reserve for use by jurisdictions which exhaust their allocation.

The Garrett County Housing Office, located in the Garrett Community Action Building, Oakland, has been allocated $38,600 for this program.

Priority will be given to loans to correct exterior and interior deficiencies, health and safety violations, and deficiencies in major systems, and to make handicapped modifications and weatherization and energy conservation improvements. Eligible individuals can borrow up to a maximum of $30,000 for a single-family unit; $30,000 for the first unit and $20,000 for each additional unit in rental properties; and $50,000 for each unit in a commercial property. The maximum loan amount is $600,000.

Income limits apply to the residential portion of the program. All single-family applicants and two-thirds of families in each rental building must fall within income limits for their county.

MHRP was created by the Maryland General Assembly in 1975 to provide reduced interest financing to upgrade existing housing owned or occupied by limited-income families. The program is funded through the sale of general obligation bonds and repayments of principal and interest on prior loans. As of June 1, MHRP had loaned nearly $34 million to improve more than 2,500 housing units.

For complete program information, including eligibility requirements, call CDA's Home Improvement Programs office at (301) 269-2795 in the Baltimore metropolitan area or toll free 1-800-492-7127.

Mothers In Prison Is Film Subject

The Mountain Lake Independent Baptist Church, Broadford Road, will be showing a motion picture release of International Prison Ministry of Dallas, Texas, entitled, "Honey, Your Mama's in Prison."

The film which will be free to the public, will be shown at the church on July 28 at 7:00 p.m.

The film is a look at the importance of the family and the tragedy of family break-up as seen through the eyes of mothers who have been imprisoned for murder, assault, trafficking in drugs, forgery, and embezzlement, noted Rev. John Schrimshire, pastor of the church.

It was filmed inside one of the largest women's correctional facilities in the United States—Florida Correctional Institution, Lowell, Florida. The entire prison population of 650 inmates were involved in the making of the 45-minute documentary as were the officers and staff of the institution. Family members of some of the inmates were also interviewed.

International Prison Ministry, the producer of the film, is a non-denominational organization whose principal work is providing free Bibles and books to prisoners in over 6,000 prisons and jails in the United States of Canada.

Something To Think About

MARKERS, MONUMENTS, AND PLAQUES

Almost all cemeteries (and in some cases civil authorities) have strict regulations and restrictions governing the placement and size of monuments and markers. Many cemeteries sell a standard size to be used for both single and double markers. Many may also have rules about the kinds of material that may be used in memorials—usually granite, bronze, and marble. Cement, artificial stone, and iron are rarely prescribed. Mausoleums, too, many require a uniform type of plaque on their crypts. Cemeteries can even regulate to some extent the wording of inscriptions on memorials.

More and more of the new memorial park cemeteries require markers set flush with the ground. Most flat markers are made of granite or bronze, with granite markers by far the more common.

Obviously, it is important to discuss these matters with cemetery management before ordering an elaborate monument with a novel sentiment inscribed on it.

Carole Peck led the topic for the evening, which was "Into All The World". During the business meeting, a report was given of the recent Bible School held at St. John's; and it was announced that eight health kits for children had been mailed to Lutheran World Relief. The group agreed to hold a short choir practice prior to the LCW meetings each month.

Attends Class Renion

Martha Glotfelty attended a reunion of class members from several classes who graduated from Redstone Township High School from 1924 to 1927. It was held Saturday at the Holiday Inn in Uniontown, Pa. For the class of 25, it was the 60th reunion. Mrs. Glotfelty graduated with honors in 1927, and her brother, Harland Casteel graduated in 1926. Mr. Casteel went on to become one of the outstanding lawyers in the city of Pittsburgh.

Piano music was furnished by a pianist who played many familiar songs of that particular era. A singing group performed, and there were remarks by many of the members. The main address was given by William Chrise of Fairchance, the school's first football and basketball coach. He remarked that athletics in those days always took second place to learning.

A memorial service was held for deceased members, including Harland Casteel, who died several years ago in Pittsburgh.

The High School was located in Republic, Pa. and one member gave a history of how Redstone Township received its name. The group voted on whether or not they are in favor of having joint reunions in the future.

Mrs. Melda Georg accompanied Mrs. Glotfelty to the reunion.

Tax Differential Statement Issued By Mtn. Lake Park Mayor/Council

The controversial tax differential sought by the Mayor and Town Council of Mtn. Lake Park from Garrett County was reportedly resolved last week by both parties when a final rebate of $5,727.50 was issued in the form of a check to that municipality. Both the Garrett County Commissioners and the Mtn. Lake Park officials agreed that a settlement would prevent court litigations that could prove to be very costly.

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners then issued a statement outlining their position on tax differentials in this rural county. The statement was printed in its entirety.

This week, the Mtn. Lake Park Mayor and Town Council issued a rebuttal statement and it is printed in its entirety as follows:

"As the elected representative of the taxpayers of Mtn. Lake Park, I wish to provide a clarification and elucidation on the statement issued by the county commissioners, which was published in its entirety.

"The first of my concerns is the county's use of the term 'tax credit' in reference to the settlement. The financial settlement of $5,727.50 is not a credit but a rebate for the double taxation of certain services paid for by the residents of Mtn. Lake Park. The express purpose of the Double Taxation Bill is to eliminate the double payment for a service and to relieve citizens of this inequitable tax burden.

"Secondly, the county article states that the county administers such services as sludge, erosion and sediment control, stormwater management and dog and junkyard ordinances. None of these items was requested in the Mtn. Lake Park tax differential request. These services are offered county-wide, are not duplicated by the town of Mtn. Lake Park, and consequently, our residents should pay their fair share. The town's case was based on four major items which, in our opinion, are duplicated at the county level, resulting in tax dollars from Mtn. Lake Park being spent twice for the same services. (The four items negotiated include street expenses, planning, solid waste and legal.)

"Thirdly, the county article mentions that 45% of the county budget is for the Board of Education, implying that the county should receive consideration for this service, which is provided county-wide. The tax differential law applies to these

Yoder Charged On Four Counts Of Manslaughter

An Accident man has been charged with four counts of manslaughter by auto by the Maryland State Police. According to police, the charges were filed last Thursday.

Dean Yoder, 20, was charged with the four counts in conjunction with a motor vehicle accident that occurred on July 13 at 2:11 p.m.

According to police reports, District Court Commissioner William Martin issued the summonses last Wednesday morning and they were served against Yoder on Thursday by the State Police.

The multiple counts of manslaughter resulted from the deaths of four family members killed in a headon collision on the New Germany Road near the New Germany State Park.

Pronounced dead at the scene by the Garrett County Medical Examiner were Brenda Sue Broadwater, 34, Eston Broadwater, 70, Ethel Broadwater, 67, all of Cresaptown; and Wanda (Manning) Broadwater, 48, Las Vegas, Nev., who was visiting in the area.

Yoder has also been charged with driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, failing to keep right of center, and traveling at a speed greater than reasonable and prudent.

Garrett County State's Attorney James Sherbin said he met with the investigating officers and reviewed the evidence in the case before the final decision was made.

Martin said a preliminary trial date of September 3 before District Court Judge Jack Turney has been set.

Board Schedules Public Meetings On Split Shifts

The Garrett County Board of Education has scheduled two meetings to inform the public about the specifics of split shifting high school and middle school students at Northern Middle School during the upcoming academic year while Northern High School undergoes extensive renovation.

The first of the two will be held Thursday, August 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the Northern Middle School cafetorium and the second will be held Monday, August 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the NMS cafetorium.

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, county school superintendent, explained that during the meeting school officials will explain how the middle school and high school programs will operate, arrangements for extra-curricular activities, logistics of housing the student bodies, food service program plans, as well as transportation schedules.

Dr. Ryscavage noted that information on bus routes such as approximate times for student pick up will be available at the meeting and a time will be allowed for questions and answers. In addition, school officials have arranged to run

Fowler Named New Principal At Broad Ford Elementary

The Garrett County Board of Education has named Northern Middle School Principal Thomas Fowler to the post of principal of Broad Ford Elementary School to succeed Wayne Johnson who resigned the post this spring.

The decision was reported to be a hard one for the board in light of the plans to split shift high school and middle school students at NMS this school year. Fowler was involved in the planning for the split shift arrangement, but now a successor at that school will implement those plans.

Fowler noted that although he had hoped the position at Broad Ford would not open up quite as soon as it did and he had mixed feelings about leaving his current position for the new, he has been interested in serving at the elementary school for several years and is excited at the prospect of working with the elementary students.

Fowler added that although he enjoyed working with the middle school students, he believed the time had come for new challenges.

The school board is expected to appoint a successor to Fowler at NMS.

Fowler has served in Garrett County schools since 1969, but has worked in public schools since 1966.

He received his bachelor's degree in elementary education from California State University, California, Pa., in January 1966 and obtained his master's degree in elementary education and administration and supervision from Frostburg State College.

Fowler first taught in 1966-67 as a sixth grade teacher in Central Elementary School, Elizabeth, Pa. Moving to Kingsville in 1967, he taught sixth grade in the Kingsville Elementary School for two years.

Fowler came to Garrett County in 1969 when he taught fifth grade at Dennett Road Elementary School for one year before serving as a teaching principal from 1970 to 1976 at Loch Lynn Elementary School. He served as assistant principal at Southern Middle School for two years before being appointed as principal at NMS in 1978.

Recently, Fowler was involved in developing a program for severely emotionally handicapped students in the county as well as helped develop a school-within-a-school concept for middle schools.

Fowler resides in Swanton with his wife, Helen, and two sons.

Young Swanton Woman Fatally Injured Sunday

A young Swanton woman was fatally injured in a Jeep accident Sunday evening which occurred in Tucker County, W. Va.

Anne E. Lohr, 18, died of injuries sustained in the 5:30 p.m. mishap which occurred on State Route 32, just south of Davis, W. Va., according to Tfc. Steve Cogar of the West Virginia State Police of Parsons. She was taken to Tucker County Hospital following the accident where she was later pronounced dead.

Three other persons were also injured in the accident. The driver of the Jeep, Steve A. Burns, 18, Mtn. Lake Park and a passenger in the rear of the vehicle, Lois Mousch, 18, Mtn. Lake Park, were treated at Garrett County Memorial Hospital and later released, said Cogar. Patrick Atkinson, 18, Frostburg, a passenger in the right front, was treated at Tucker County Hospital and released.

According to Cogar, the accident occurred when the 1977 CJ7 Jeep, which was northbound on Route 32, was apparently forced off the road by another vehicle. The driver of the Jeep reportedly swerved to the right causing it to leave the road, said Cogar. The vehicle then ran onto the berm, reentered the highway where the driver lost control of the vehicle causing it to overturn. The Jeep then came to rest on its wheels. Miss Lohr was reportedly thrown from the vehicle.

An autopsy was later done on the deceased at West Virginia University Medical Center, Morgantown, W. Va.

Born September 22, 1966, Miss Lohr was the daughter of Mrs.

Reply On Salt Problem Received By Bambacus

Senator John N. Bambacus received a reply this week to a letter he submitted early in July to Hal Kassoff, administrator of the State Highway Administration, asking for a report from the consultant hired to study the impact of salt infiltrating the groundwater supplies in Garrett County.

In his letter, Bambacus told Kassoff that the problem has not abated, and that he continues to hear from area residents concerned about the public health matter.

Kassoff explained in his reply to Bambacus that in this same study, the consultants determined responsibility of the state relating to household plumbing and appliances being affected by the chemicals introduced by the state into the ground water. According to Kassoff, the consultant was hired primarily for the study of the Keysers Ridge area, however, it was extended into the Grantsville and Finzel areas because problems there were

Byron Calls Meeting For Federal Officials And Local Peat Producers

Concerned that an unfair burden has been imposed on the little guy, Congresswoman Beverly Byron called a meeting Tuesday in her office of top officials and attorneys from the federal Environmental Protection Agency and Army Corps of Engineers as well as from Garrett County Processing and Packaging Corporation.

The meeting which focused on the recent order by EPA against GCP&P has beget another meeting to be held in the next two weeks at the district office of the Army Corps of Engineers.

Congresswoman Byron called the meeting to hear the positions of the groups involved in the EPA order against GCP&P to halt all harrowing activities at its peat harvesting operation at a bog in the Glades until the company obtains a federal grading and filling permit.

The harrowing process essentially rakes the peat to allow it to dry before removal from the area it is produced.

EPA officials say the peat company must apply for the federal permit because the harrowing process constitutes filling a wetland. The officials reportedly interpret harrowing as filling because the peat is lifted off the ground and falls back onto the ground.

Involved in the one-hour meeting were officials and attorneys from the district offices of EPA, Army Corps of Engineers, and GCP&P, an aide from Senator Paul Sarbanes' office, and Byron and an aide. The Sierra Club, which has two suits attempting to stop the peat harvesting operation in a U.S. District Court and Garrett County Circuit Court, was not included in this meeting, but will probably become involved in subsequent meetings, a spokesperson in the office of Congresswoman Byron said Wednesday.

The Tuesday meeting, said the spokesperson, essentially allowed all parties involved in the affair an opportunity to air their positions before the Congresswoman. Byron's concerns with the EPA action was that the peat company was being singled out, that its operation was being hampered during the peak of its harvesting season and whether all the groups were openly discussing the matter.

Specific comments on the meeting's discussion were declined by Byron's aide as well as by William Walsh, one of two attorneys representing GCP&P. The firm is also being represented by Warren Rich, a Baltimore attorney who specializes in environmental affairs.

Walsh explained that in the Tuesday meeting, all groups essentially stated their positions, but no concessions were made.

Walsh stated that his clients hope that in the next meeting, the agencies and his clients can agree on a way the company can continue to operate within the restrictions of the order, but with as little interruption in its harvesting procedure as possible.

GCP&P is able to continue

Exterminators To Spread Poison At Bradley Manor

Exterminators will be spreading poison around buildings at Bradley Manor next week in an attempt to rid the vacant housing complex of rats which have been spied by neighbors, a spokesman for the Oakland Mayor and Town Council has reported.

The extermination, to be done by Garrett Pest Control, is in response to an order by the Garrett County Health Department to Beltway Associates, Baltimore, which is currently managing the firm under a contract with the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The firm has cut the grass to help alleviate the problem.

Neighbors and residents near Bradley Manor have been asked to confine their pets to prevent them from roaming near the complex and ingesting some of the poison during the next two weeks.

Neighbors have reported seeing both sewer and field rats around the buildings at Bradley Manor.

The housing complex has been vacant since the end of May when the last family moved.

In response to the question on what will happen to the land and buildings, various county officials state that proposals are still under consideration.

GCC Public Information Meeting Well Attended; New Issues Raised

Approximately 275 persons attended a public information meeting Tuesday evening at Garrett Community College which dealt with recent controversial issues surrounding the college.

The meeting was conducted by District One State Senator John N. Bambacus and District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards, who stated they were holding such a meeting because of increased communications by mail, by phone and by personal contacts from county residents "who were concerned about receiving additional information on the present situation at GCC."

Attending the three-hour meeting were Dr. James Tschechtelin, executive director for the State Board of Community Colleges, along with several members of his staff; the Board of Garrett County Commissioners and the County Clerk; GCC Board of Trustees Chairman Pat Fischetti and board members, Richard Browning, Charles Bender and William Goldsborough (Katharine Smith attended the last half-hour of the meeting); GCC President O. Randall Harman; GCC Dean of Academic Affairs Fred K. Learey; GCC Comptroller John Culp; many past and present GCC faculty members and staff; and over 200 county citizens.

Senator Bambacus and Delegate Edwards reminded those present that the meeting was to gather information and ask questions which would be presented to the Board of Trustees for their consideration in addressing the college's problems.

Board of Trustees Chairman Pat Fischetti made an opening statement calling for the support of the community and for all citizens to "join in a new spirit of cooperation."

He noted that GCC has had to cut certain programs and courses that were no longer cost-effective and that other new programs have been added "to better serve" the citizens of the county.

He stated emphatically that "academic standards have not been jeopardized at the college in the past and will not be in the future."

Fischetti asked the faculty of GCC to be sensitive to the needs of the students. He also stated that there have been "procedural and communication problems that are now being addressed."

The board chairman then stated that "at the suggestion of the executive director of the State Board for Community Colleges," the GCC Board of Trustees has directed the administration to set a retrenchment policy. He also said the board is now in the process of obtaining an outside consulting firm to do a manpower study within the college administration, faculty and staff and to assess communications and management practices at the college.

The meeting was then opened to comments and questions by those present.

Next to speak was Dr. George Dailey, chairman of the college's academic forum, who outlined the forum's rationale for voting no confidence in President Randall Harman and Dean Fred Learey. He also reviewed the problems and lack of communication the faculty and staff had experienced with the administration.

Dailey explained that repeated attempts to meet with the administration and the board were "continually met with resistance" and that the faculty was treated as "second-class citizens."

He also spoke of retrenchment methods at the college and felt the administration and

Sherbin Places Hewitt Cases On Stet Docket

Two cases involving theft and forgery charges against a 31-year-old Oakland man were placed on the stet docket in Garrett County Circuit Court July 25.

State's Attorney James Sherbin told Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer the cases against Lynn Hewitt would be placed on the stet docket because the victims in the cases, Mr. and Mrs. Guy L. Tuel, Jr., were the stepfather and mother of Hewitt and that they did not wish to prosecute the cases.

The couple, Sherbin noted, agreed to assist in the prosecution of the cases in the future if Hewitt further violated the law.

Sherbin added that because of the seriousness of the charges, the state needed the cooperation of the victims in order to properly prosecute the case.

A case placed on the stet docket, although not immediately prosecuted, can be brought to trial within a specific period of time if the state so desires.

Hewitt was charged with the theft of approximately $3,155.25 worth of items which were the property of the Tuels with whom Hewitt was residing. In a second case, Hewitt was charged with forgery, uttering and theft for allegedly writing and cashing a $1,475 check drawn on the Tuel's account.

Recorded in court documents were several motions by Hewitt to have the charges dismissed, all denied. In one petition, Hewitt noted that the Tuels had given him permission to use the items and to write a check when he needed money.

Among the items taken from the Tuel home were four rifles, two shotguns, ammunition, a gold pocket watch and chain and two social security checks which were cashed.

Also contained in court records were the results of a psychological evaluation, ordered by Chief Judge Thayer, by Clifton T. Perkins Hospital staff who found Hewitt to be able to comprehend the nature of proceedings against him and to have been able to understand the nature of his actions between the Aug. 31-Sept. 4, 1984 period.

Hewitt's attorney was Daun Weiers, Oakland.

Hewitt is scheduled to go to Florida soon to face a charge of violation of parole. He is on parole from that state for robbery and escape.

County Senior Citizen Programs Face Reductions

Senior citizen programs in Garrett County will be subject to reductions beginning October 1, reported Margo VanDiver, director of the Area Agency on Aging.

The area most heavily hit will be the personal health care program which will lose $11,400 when the new federal fiscal year begins and will force the layoff of two aides who each serve 15 clients, VanDiver explained.

The 30 senior citizens who will be affected by the cutback include some with Alzheimers Disease, some diabetics and others who are bedridden, VanDiver stated.

The cutback in funds is the result of a redistribution of federal funds by state officials who are attempting to allocate the money to counties based on their senior citizen populations, explained Duane Yoder, executive director of Garrett Community Action, the parent agency for the senior citizen program.

Yoder explained that Garrett County has been losing money for the past five years for its senior citizen programs because of the state's attempt to phase in a new funding formula which calculated the county to receive far less than it was.

VanDiver indicated the loss of the two aides would hamper, but not end the program which still has three aides, none of whom are paid directly from the home health care program. One of the aides is funded through the Green Thumb program while the two others receive stipends from the Maryland Service Corps.

VanDiver said she is still working to regain the lost funds to continue the service to the 30 senior citizens who do not qualify for county health department and social services department programs because their incomes are slightly above mandated guidelines.

She added that most of the senior citizens served through the program are barely above the income guidelines for the other two agencies, but have been helped through this program. The aim of the program has been to prevent these senior citizens from being institutionalized, VanDiver noted.

Other programs which will be cut back due to the loss of funds will be the hot meals program and home-delivered meals program. VanDiver stated that $17,000 has been cut for the congregated meals program. Consequently, meals will be served one less day a week at the Oakland and Deer Park senior citizen centers.

VanDiver pointed out that the hot meals program did receive [illegible] more last year than expected, because of money channeled by the state throughout the year which had been allocated to other counties, but not completely used.

According to reports, Kisner broke a leg off a bunk bed in the jail and used it to chip away at a cement block in the maximum security area of the jail. Kisner would have gained access to Third Street.

Sheldon Whitacre and Luther Bowman, both Oakland reported that damage had been done to their mailboxes on the night of July 27. Deputy Larry Gnegy is investigating the incident that occurred on the Oakland Sang Run Road.

Dixon, Accident, was removed from the town parking lot in Friendsville sometime during the night of July 24. The van had no registration or plates, and was apparently removed by hot wiring the vehicle.

An unknown person or persons ran a vehicle or vehicles through the corn field of Ernest L. Ganoe, Frostburg, late Saturday night or early Sunday morning, creating a path approximately four feet wide and 300 feet long. The field was located on the Pocohontas Road, just south of the Pennsylvania state line.

Tfc. R.C. George investigated the incident, and about $100 damage was reported.

A $1,000 reward is being offered by Crime Solvers for information leading to the arrest of a person or persons who entered Nu Way Dry Cleaners late Friday night or early Saturday morning. According to reports, unkown persons entered the building through the front window, went to the rear of the building, and removed approximately $6,310.00 worth of band equipment which was stored there. The equipment belonged to a newly formed band, the Monte Vistas, including the members Tim Sisler, Mark Rodeheaver, Jeff Orr, Jimmy Hagman, and Mark Cornish.

Chief J.K. Sines investigated the incident.

A wallet was stolen from the office of Rita Jean Durst, Bayard, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital on July 30 between 11:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. According to reports, the wallet contained several personal cards, credit cards, less than $20 currency, and approximately $200 in personal checks.

Chief J.K. Sines investigated the incident.

A gun case containing two rifles was removed from the bed of a truck belonging to Donald Ray Martin, Westernport, last Monday. Reportedly, the truck was parked in the lane of an unoccupied farm one mile east of Rt. 219 when the merchandise, totaling $870, was removed.

Tfc. G.R. Chaney investigated the 12:07 p.m. incident.

Unknown persons siphoned 15 gallons of regular gasoline, valued at $18.00, from a truck parked at Oester Brothers Agway, Grantsville, early Monday morning.

Tfc. R.J. Resh investigated the incident.

A chain saw was removed from a wooden chest on the back porch of a summer cottage belonging to Wilber Reynolds Theis, LaVale, sometime between July 10 and July 17. The cottage is located on the Brant Road, and the saw was valued at $100.

Tfc. R.J. Resh investigated the incident.

Two double bedspreads, two double bed blankets, and six bath towels were reportedly stolen from Walker's Sky View Motel, Frostburg, last Tuesday at 11:30 a.m., valued at $94.00.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Virginia Catherine Bowser, who passed away July 29, 1984.

There's not a day that passes that we do not think of you.
In our hearts a memory is kept of one we love and will never forget.
God watched you as you suffered and a cure was not to be.
He saw that you were tired and weary and knew you'd had your share.
So he put his arms around you and whispered "come to me".
You didn't deserve what you went through so God gently closed your weary eyes and took you in His care.
Your memory is a heart keepsake with which we'll never part.
God has you in His keeping but we have you in our hearts.

Sadly missed by Son, Vernon, his Wife, Helen
And Grandchildren,
Mary Catherine, Richard & Scott

Importance Of Rabies Clinic For Cats Stressed By Health Department

Garrett County Health Officer Dr. William W. Pope announced recently that the Garrett County Health Department will be conducting a low-cost rabies clinic for the vaccination of cats only on Saturday, August 3, from 1 to 3:30 p.m., at the National Guard Armory in Oakland.

The purpose of the clinic, according to Pope, is to allow cat owners to have the chance to bring their animals to a clinic without the fear of disturbances caused by dogs. The clinic also emphasizes the importance the health department places on the vaccination of cats in preventing the spread of rabies to humans.

Since the beginning of the current rabies epidemic in 1981, twenty-nine cases of rabies in cats have been confirmed in Maryland. One case of cat rabies was also reported in Garrett County in 1983. During the same period, only one case of dog rabies has been confirmed in Maryland.

In order to reduce the number of cats acquiring this disease, Governor Harry Hughes recently signed legislation into law which requires all cats four months and older to be vaccinated for rabies. Owners who fail to comply with the law could be subject to a $500 fine.

According to the Maryland Division of Veterinary Medicine, the clinical picture of rabies in cats is similar in most aspects to that of dogs, except that violence & aggression are more commonly observed in the cat. This characteristic makes rabid cats particularly dangerous for humans. Human exposure occurred in almost every positive case of rabies reported thus far in Maryland.

By virtue of their smaller size and innate hunting ability, cats are probably at greater risk of acquiring rabies from a rabid raccoon than a dog. Cats often go on hunting forays which cover sizable territories. A cat is more likely to have an altercation with a rabid raccoon with neither animal being seriously injured and the event going unrecognized by the animal owner.

Such a cat, if unvaccinated, has a good chance of developing rabies one to two months later. In the case of a raccoon-dog encounter, it is likely that the dog will kill the raccoon or the dog creates enough commotion by its barking that the dog owner observes the event and destroys the raccoon.

In this case, the raccoon can be tested and appropriate control measures applied. This appropriate response cannot occur in the event of the unobserved cat-raccoon encounter.

"It is hoped that area residents will utilize the upcoming clinic to protect their cats and their families from the threat of rabies," said Pope. The cost of vaccination will be $3 per animal. Cats should be placed in wire cages, properly secured boxes with air holes, or in the case of particularly wild cats, pillow cases or burlap bags.

No dogs will be vaccinated at this clinic.

BAND CAMP SLATED — In preparation for another award winning season of marching competition, the Southern Garrett Band of Southern High School will hold its annual band camp next week at the school. Members of band and color guard have been meeting about once each week this summer, and will now convene for a full week of rehearsal. Richard Clever, director, stated that five positions remain open in the band and any student interested in filling one of those slots is welcome to attend the camp. Registration for the color guard unit will begin at 2 p.m., at the band room this Sunday. Registration for the band will be held at 4 p.m. Above, the drum majors lead several members of the band in a selection from their 1986 field show.

Ranger Crew To Fight Western Fires Is Recalled

Three of the five-ranger crew from Western Maryland, who recently returned from fighting brush fires in Idaho, Louise Slabaugh and Owen Hardwork from Garrett County and Harold McDonald Jr. from Allegany County, have been recalled to assist in fighting brush fires in the Oregon area. They were accompanied by two additional rangers from Garrett County, Richard Lewis and Chuck Thomas.

The rangers left Monday evening from the Harrisburg, Pa., airport to fly to Boise, Idaho. From there, the five rangers will probably be dispatched to fight fires in Oregon, stated Regional Forester George Gilmore.

Gilmore said that they were told the crew of area foresters was needed out west and that they were also alerted to be looking for a second call in the near future.

If another alert is received, the local office has been told to be prepared to put a second crew together of volunteers who recently qualified. Those who qualified were told to be alert for possible notice. They will have 24 hours to prepare to leave once the notice is received.

The normal fire season in the western states usually begins in mid August. Fire fighters from all over the United States have been fighting western fires since July 1 of this year.

Winners of the 21st Annual Fiddlers' Contest, which was held July 20th at the outdoor stage of Friendsville Elementary School, were announced by Eddie Bartholomew, Contest Chairman of the Friendsville Rotary Club.

Winners for the 59 and under group were: Michele Blizzard, Azeysburg, Pa., first place; Philip Birkby, Greensburg, Pa., second place; and Duke Charlton, Burlington, W. Va., third place.

Winners for the 60 and over group were: Smokey Emerick, first place; Grover Broadwater, LaVale, second place; and Lester Hare, Belle Vernon, Pa., third place.

First, second and third place winners in both groups received prizes of $75, $50, and $25, respectively. All winners also received a trophy.

Contestants were judged on Old Time Tunes and Style, worth 25 points; Rhythm & Timing, worth 25 points; Clarity, worth 25 points; and Intonation, worth 25 points, for a total of 100 points per tune.

Also entertaining during the contest were the Fiddlin' Fisher Family, of Dawson, Pa. and the Mountaineer Square Dancers of Oakland, with Claude Strickler as figure caller.

The first Old Time Fiddlers' Contest was held in conjunction with the bicentennial of the town of Friendsville in 1965. The number estimated attending the first contest was 5,000, and the Friendsville Rotary Club has sponsored the event since that time.

Habitat Receives Over $3,000 From Production

Garrett County Habitat For Humanity received over $3,000 from the July 20 performance of "Sound of Music" by the Maryland Theatre Arts Company, reported Richard Peake, a Habitat fund-raising committee member.

Peake said that over 400 tickets were sold for the performance which was presented as a benefit by the theatre company, however slightly less than 400 actually attended the performance at Southern High School.

The total amount raised exceeded $3,800 through the sale of tickets, program advertisements and refreshments, Peake noted. He added that Habitat cleared over $3,000 after royalties for the performance and an honorarium to the theatre company were paid.

The performance was well received by those attending, Peake commented, and the theatre group has expressed an interest in returning to Garrett County in the future with different productions.

Commissioners Invited To Aid MVA Site Study

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will be traveling to Cumberland today to meet with Marshall Rickert, newly appointed administrator for the Maryland Motor Vehicle Department, to discuss finding a suitable site for a full service Motor Vehicle Administration branch office to serve Western Maryland.

David Wagner, deputy secretary for the MVA, stated in a letter to the commissioners, "As you are aware, the temporary leased facility in LaVale has been less than adequate to properly serve the public. A number of potential sites have been identified and evaluated by our staff. I would like to discuss these alternatives with you and other elected officials from your area."

Wagner requested that the commissioners submit, in writing, any comments or ideas within 30 days of the meeting today.

While in Cumberland, the commissioners are also attending a meeting of the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland.

Three-Wheeler Accident Sends Two To Hospital

One Swanton boy was admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital and another was treated and released Tuesday following a three-wheel vehicle accident near Swanton.

Barry A. Durst, 12, was admitted to the hospital for observation where he has since been released, said a hospital spokesman.

Mark H. Rexrode, 13, was treated and released. Both were taken to the hospital by private vehicle.

The Maryland State Police investigated the accident on Pine Hill Road, one-half mile off Spring Lick Road. According to police, Durst was the driver and Rexrode, the passenger.

The 1985 Yamaha was northbound on Pine Hill Road when a silver Subaru ran them off the road, the boys told police, causing them to hit an embankment.

Police located the owner of the 1980 Subaru who said he saw the three-wheel vehicle but did not cause its accident.

Police said their investigation revealed the three-wheel vehicle was traveling at a high rate of speed when it hit the embankment.

Programs Planned At New Germany Park

Special programs are continuing to be offered at New Germany State Park this week. Guest speakers will give talks at the campfire programs on August 7 and 10.

Guest speaker Jeff Griffith, a local naturalist, will present a program entitled "Wildflowers of Western Maryland," on Wednesday, August 7. He will discuss the various flowering flora of the area.

Liz Griffith of the Savage River State Forest Outward Bound Program will give a talk entitled "Bats—Misunderstood Mammals," on Saturday, August 10. She will discuss the various myths about bats and their economic value.

Both programs begin at 8:30 p.m. at the School House Nature Center Amphitheatre and are open to the public. In the event of rain, campfire programs will be moved to the Rec. Hall near Parking Lot #4.

Other programs are offered during the week and are open to the public as well. For more information persons may call 895-5453.

Area Teen Center Changes Location

The Garrett County Teen Center is changing its location from Whitacre's Dance Hall to the Oakland fire hall beginning August 3. This is the first major change noted for the Teen Center since its beginnings last November.

The Teen Center committee said they felt the move would enable more teens to attend because the Oakland fire hall is easier to find and is more centrally located. They cited a bigger parking lot as another advantage.

The first event scheduled at the Oakland fire hall, "Hot August Night", will be held August 3, from 8 p.m. to midnight, with entertainment being provided by a local disc jockey.

Dave Terlizzi, coordinator stated that three important rules still apply at the Teen Center and are strongly enforced. 1. No alcohol, 2. No drugs, and 3. No readmittance. All teens between the ages of 13 and 19 are welcome to join the Teen Center. Registration cards may be obtained at the door or from any committee member.

Upcoming events at the Teen Center include a "New Year Party" on August 31, and a live band, "Majority" from Gaithersburg is slated for September 14.

Persons desiring more information or wishing to volunteer may call Dave Terlizzi at 334-9398.

Dangerous Craze . . .

Crazes come and go all the time, but there is one current craze that we hope either goes away soon or is at least better controlled than it is now. It is the three-wheeler craze that is claiming young victims almost weekly, resulting in injury and even death.

Once again this newspaper includes coverage of a three-wheeler mishap in which two young men were injured. A 12-year-old youth was killed and his companion injured in a mishap Saturday afternoon in nearby Reedsville, W.Va. We wonder who it will be next week.

Few persons would disagree with the notion that three-wheelers are a lot of fun. Unfortunately, there are many things in this life that are fun, but extremely dangerous, especially when there is carelessness exercised by the participants. Because there are currently no laws regulating the age of the operators, we see even toddlers driving these three-wheelers. We know of one three-year-old who "drives" his own three-wheeler. We also know of one young teenager who continued to operate her three-wheeler, despite the fact that she had two broken legs at the time. We know of several who violate the law by riding on county and/or state roadways. We know of dozens who never wear helmets. We know of several incidents of more than one person riding a three-wheeler at the same time, which is also a violation of the law.

We suggest that three groups of people must act upon this situation immediately before the number of mishaps can be reduced. First, our legislators must pass stricter laws concerning three-wheelers. Secondly, our law enforcement personnel must keep a closer eye on the situation and make arrests whenever possible. Finally, and most importantly, parents must become far more responsible than they apparently are now for the welfare of their children. Youngsters often do not know what is good for them and what can injure them. Certainly three-year-olds do not have this capability. Laws, and the enforcement of them, are a help, but can certainly never replace sound parental judgment when it comes to the safety of our children.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I attended the meeting Tuesday night at Garrett Community College, not because I will be a student there this fall, but because I am a concerned citizen. I was quite frankly appalled at what I heard.

Having recently graduated from high school, I was faced with decisions about which college to attend. Of course Garrett was on my list, but there is no way I would even consider going there with all the recent problems.

It seems there have been quite a few problems with president Harman, Dean Learey and the Board of Trustees. For one thing, there have been reports that students were not permitted to speak at certain meetings. Have they forgotten that the students' tuition and their parents' tax money pays their salary? I think it's pretty inconsiderate that they wouldn't even listen.

The college is supposed to be concerned with the students' education. Is this any example? The students have every right to voice their opinions. After all, they are paying for it.

There were also reported threats of resignation from President Harman unless Dean Learey was hired. What kind of power play is he trying to pull?

And the reported name calling? What kind of professional businessmen carry on that way?

I would like to thank Senator Bambacus and Delegate Edwards for conducting such an orderly meeting.

I do think there better be some adequate answers given to everyone's questions. I don't feel that everyone can be wrong about their facts. I'm not usually one to pass judgments, but after the meeting, Dean Learey was asked if he had any comments or answers. His response was "No, nothing." What does that indicate to you?

Lori L. Cooley
Mt. Lake Park

To the Editor:

Tuesday evening's informational meeting concerning the serious problems at Garrett Community College certainly served as an eye opener.

Not only should Senator John Bambacus and Delegate George Edwards be commended for providing such a forum, but so should the more than 300 persons who jammed the meeting site for the express purpose of showing determination in saving that institution from its pending doom.

Because it was an information meeting and not a kangaroo court, time has now been given to the board of trustees, president O. Randall Harman and Dean of Academic affairs Fred Learey to disprove the dozens of serious accusations leveled against them. This is as it should be. However, it was made exceedingly clear that the public, and especially the legislators and the press, do not intend to wait long. And the answers must now be satisfactory, since those faculty and student body members finally got someone to listen.

Harman, Learey, and board members: your work is cut out for you. We're waiting for our answers!

Sincerely,
Carol Fox
Mt. Lake Park

To the Editor:

I would personally like to thank Senator Bambacus and Delegate Edwards for their extremely swift actions following Tuesday night's public meeting at Garrett County Community College. Since Dr. Donald Ruhl's untimely resignation, I have anxiously awaited the answers finally compiled and presented to the Board of Trustees.

Constance E. Margison

To the Editor:

I have waited a month since first reading the article that informed us that a judicial decision has allowed a drug peddler to continue working his construction business and return to jail in the evening.

The exclamation given, if not taken out of context, would lead me to believe that those in high positions in Garrett County have a tendency to underestimate the intelligence of the people in this county.

For those of you who are not aware of the misuse of drugs in this county, let me inform you that the problem exists and it will not go away. It must be faced by responsible citizens. It's a fight that you have to get involved in for the welfare of your children and their children.

I can tell you how it starts but, for the lack of space, let me tell you what this drug peddling "non-heinous" crime does to your innocent children.

Picture if you will someone, the peddler, placing a noose around your child's throat, without that child being able to resist. Visualize this leach returning everyday to cinch the noose a little tighter until six months down the road you notice your child's eyes begin to bulge, the veins in the temple about to explode and the mind you thought would make him a doctor or lawyer suddenly goes blank. Think then of the torment you and he will endure when he is sent to prison for stealing to support the habit that started because his friends told him "everybody's doing it; don't be different." Or perhaps he will be a lucky addict and have it all end quickly. At any rate, unless we band together and stop the use of illegal drugs, that child will surely die in mind, body and spirit.

Let there be no doubt in your mind that a dope peddler is a killer of the worst kind. He peddles for profit and your children are the victims.

The only way it can be stopped is by the consolidation of the vote. I know what has to be done, but although one voice in the wilderness can be heard by the Almighty, it takes a multitude of votes to be heard by human representatives.

Anyone interested in forming an organization of "Citizens Against Drugs," contact me.

And may God have mercy on those who believe that drug peddling is anything less than the rape of humanity.

To the Editor:

Some of the recent happenings in this area remind me of an old saying: "Don't look now, but I think the inmates have escaped and are now running the asylem."

For the last couple of years the rumblings have grown louder: "It's not what you know, but who you know, that counts."

Another example of this absurdity is the following: Last year about this same time it began. One living in the vicinity of North Fourth Street could be awakened at any time, two or three a.m., by a very powerful engine with no muffler being fire-walled to its maximum. Upon investigation I found some nut drag racing a giant, souped-up tractor, with no lights, in an alley some time after midnight. "Where were the police?" was my first thought. The next morning some of my neighbors advised me to forget it. Nothing could be done. They had tried.

Well, it started all over again recently. Monday night I called the sheriff's office about 11:45 p.m. I tried to explain to the female dispatcher the problem. She said the noise was probably at the Oak-Mar Restaurant and that they had had a complaint the night before, but it was just the clean-up crew and they would probably soon be finished. I told her she was wrong, but she didn't want to hear this.

About 1:45 a.m. Tuesday morning I was awakened again. I called the dispatcher again and, after about a five-minute conversation, she said, "Oh, you mean that tractor. Well, the deputy is down there and they are trying to get it back to the garage."

At about 3 a.m., I could still hear it start up periodically.

GCC Meeting

board assumed the faculty and staff should have no voice in college policies and procedures. "Is the board saying, 'Who do these people (faculty) think they are, challenging such God-given authority?,' " Dailey questioned.

Dailey later stated, "In good conscience, many of us are compelled to resist the attempt of a few individuals to remake this institution in their own image."

During the course of the meeting, few positive comments were made by the 34 persons who were asked to be heard.

Richard Browning, the only other member of the Board of Trustees to speak at the meeting, said, "This board has accomplished a few things . . . a mission statement, goals and objectives, job descriptions, an evaluation system and an administrative organizational chart, and I'm not sure I have an up-to-date one yet."

He also said he had submitted a five-page report to the Board and stated, "Let's get on with my recommendations."

Questions To Be Addressed

Following the two hours of public comments and questions, Delegate Edwards and Senator Bambacus compiled a list of issues, concerns and questions that was sent to the Board of Trustees yesterday.

The letter stated, "We ask that you make every effort to respond to these concerns by August 15. It is time to move forward with the business of educating our students and to restore public confidence in this institution. It will be the responsibility of the Trustees to take whatever steps they deem necessary to maintain the public trust with which they have been endowed."

Earlier the letter stated, "Quite frankly, as officials who have sat through innumerable hours of public meetings over the years, we were troubled to no small degree that no one from the public came forward to speak as proponents for the Board and Administration."

No county or state officials have the authority to make changes or set policies, except for the governor, who appoints the Board of Trustees, who, in turn, have power over the administration.

A sampling of issues, concerns and questions from the speakers at the meeting included: lack of communication, board and administration refusing to hear or meet with faculty and students, steps being taken to restore public confidence in the college, leadership standards and expectations, retrenchment plans, checks and balances, trustee removal, contract renewals, search and recruitment policies, residency officer, transfer counselor, affirmative action/EEO plan, adjunct faculty policies, procedure for faculty termination and notification, termination of the Vet Tech program, college accreditation, consequences for Garrett County Animal Shelter, redesign plan for the Health and Physical Education program, science lab plans, residency audits and resulting debt to the state, past declaration of finacial exigency and end-of-year surplus, dismantling and relocation of offices, new landscaping, new furnishings, payment of Rotary Club fees for Dean of Academic Affairs, dissolution of the Business Affairs Committee, freeze of scholarship funds, etc.

During the meeting, Dr. Tschechtelin said that his board is well aware of the situation at GCC and that he was asked to report back to the Governor the findings at the meeting and the Trustees' response.

Following the meeting, Board Trustee William Goldsborough approached Dr. Tschechtelin and accused him of being a bureaucrat who was looking out for his own job. Goldsborough also said he could also make "a few phone calls to the governor."

Tschechtelin seemed surprised at the statement made by Goldsborough.

Both Bambacus and Edwards have stated that they are committed to "doing everything in their power to ensure a positive attitude at the college once again."

The Board of Garrett County Commissoners echoed the sentiments of the state officials and sent a letter to Dr. Tschechtelin stating, "We have verbally expressed some of our concerns to you previously. There were a number of allegations and questions raised at the meeting, many of which we consider quite serious and defaming . . . they have been festering for almost a year. We believe the attendance at the meeting reflected the concern, not only in the academic community, but also the community at large."

The commissioners went on to explain that although they are a funding mechanism for the college, they, too, have no authority for intervention of affairs at the college.

In his reply, Kassoff stated, "The consultant concluded that the State Highway Administration deicing operations did have an effect on the ground water." He went on to say, "However, they have also advised that there have been no effects to the plumbing and appliances on these properties due to the changes in the water quality."

He explained that the consultant went on to indicate that while there are some deposits of film on copper joints and other water lines, no corrosion of metal was evidenced by wall thickness measurements and that problems experienced with specific appliances appeared to be related to a poor natural water quality, especially with regard to low pH and high manganese content; general and electrolytic corrosion, and normal wear associated with age.

Bambacus stated that he is not entirely satisfied with the consultant's findings. "If the state is responsible for the cause of this corrosion, I think the state should live up to their end of the bargain," he said. "I hope if citizens have continued problems that they will call to inform me of them," said Bambacus.

Commissioners Hear County Staffer Reports

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners heard reports from various heads of Garrett County offices and agencies Tuesday morning.

First to speak was Gary Mullich, administrator for Courthouse operations, who announced that the Maryland Historical Trust had recently granted the county $35,000 for the renovation of the exterior of the Garrett County Courthouse.

The commissioners of the county have reapplied for such a grant for the past six years and said they were glad to have finally received such funding. The initial request of the commissioners was in the amount of $175,000.

Zoning Board

Garrett County Zoning Administrator John Nelson told the commissioners there would be a zoning hearing tonight at 7:30 p.m.

He said a total of three cases are expected to be heard at the meeting.

Sheriff's Department

Board Chairman Elwood Groves welcomed newly appointed Garrett County Sheriff, M. Van Evans to the staff meeting.

Sheriff Evans stated that since he had just been appointed last week he had no formal report to make but said he was looking forward to serving the county and working with county officials.

He also thanked the commissioners for their support in the form of letters sent to Governor Harry Hughes concerning his appointment.

Development Corporation

Garrett County Development Corporation Director, Tom Jones gave an update on the progress at the Southern Industrial Park and Trout Run Treatment Facility projects. He announced that bids had been open for street and sewer components simultaneously, which was recently approved by the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

He noted that all four portions of the project would be under contract by the end of this fiscal year.

Sanitary Commission

Sanitary Commission Administrator Wendell Beitzel outlined for the commissioners the progress on the water and sewer projects throughout the county.

He said that the expanded hook-up system for the Deep Creek Lake Sewer Project had recently been completed and said that claims had been resolved with all contractors.

He also reported that there are still some outstanding delay claims filed by several property owners which have been filed in Federal District Court because a settlement could not be negotiated.

An odor control problem at the treatment facility is being studied and the Commission has developed two alternatives, said Beitzel. One alternative is to install a fan on the pumping stations and the second is to add chemicals that will dispense oxygen into the system. Beitzel said the second alternative was the more desirable route to take.

Planning Commission

Anna McNallie, acting Planning Commission director, introduced Peggy Jamison to the county officials as the new Planning Technician/Assistant Block Grant Administrator.

McNallie reported that Garrett County had been selected as one of the counties to participate in the Census Tracting Program for 1990.

The commisson will have a year to complete the project. (See next week's paper for complete story.)

Health Department

Edgar Harman, director of environmental health, said the Garrett County Health Department will be conducting a "Cats Only Rabies Clinic" on Saturday at the National Guard Armory.

Harman stated that having cats immunized against rabies is now mandatory in the state of Maryland.

Community Action

Garrett County Community Action Director, Duane Yoder, told the commissioners that HUD Block Grant monies have been "loosened up" for the rehabilitation and expansion of rental property for the Gorman area.

He said the grant will provide funding for the upgrading of some of the homes, i.e. plumbing, and will offset costs of the sewer connection fees for qualified individuals.

Yoder also announced that 50 additional low-interest mortgage bonds had been issued this year. He stated that was three times as many as in the past.

The director also told the county board the success rate for training projects for senior citizens has been very encouraging.

Garrett Community College

John Culp, comptroller at GCC announced that final approval from the State Board of Education had been granted for the Hotel-Restaurant Management Program. He said 1,500 letters have been sent in recruitment efforts and that five or six persons had already registered for the program for the fall semester.

Culp also outlined plans for the computerization of the Financial Aid Department of the college which that institution plans to put into effect by early spring.

Board of Education

Superintendent of Schools, Jerome Ryscavage gave a report on the summer activities of the Board of Education including eight summer training workshops being conducted for instructors.

He said the workshops included citizenship education, English writing arts, Berkely writing project, Berkely health program, penmanship, computers, values education and an administrative workshop.

Dr. Ryscavage reported that Northern High School has been cleaned out in preparation for the renovation which is scheduled to begin soon. He said an auction will be held Saturday to dispose of some of the old materials at the school. He also noted that some of the old lockers had been given to the Garrett County Roads Department for their use.

Other summer activities discussed by the superintendent included maintenance work done at various county schools, the Summer Youth Program, a pre-bid conference on August 15, and a meeting scheduled for next Thursday for the parents of the Northern and Northern Middle School students to discuss, in detail, the schedules for split-shifting.

Dr. Ryscavage also reported that the track at Southern High School is being used by the public as was intended in the Open Space Program. He did stress the importance, though, of keeping wheeled vehicles off the track. Those would include motorcycles, bicycles, tricycles, baby strollers, and any wheeled vehicles that can do damage to the track. He also noted that some people have been wearing track shoes on the track and said that the track was not intended for that purpose. He requested the cooperation of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department to see that those rules are not broken. Sheriff Evans assured him that his department would step up security at the track.

Stormwater Management

Stormwater Management Engineer, Lee Thorne, complimented The Republican newspaper reporter Bernice Kepple for her "indepth and accurate" feature story in the local paper concerning stormwater management and soil erosion control.

Thorne also reported on the three-day conference on that same subject that he and Shaun Sanders, soil conservation district manager, attended last week at Salisbury State College.

He also mentioned the possibility of a central clearing house for permits needed for projects from the state.

Thorne noted that a study is presently being done on the Bradley Run flooding problem.

Soil Conservation

Shaun Sanders, district manager, told the commissioners that a recent study showed that Maryland leads the nation in water infiltration practices.

He also complimented Kepple's article.

Sanders also asked for the cooperation of the County Sheriff's Department in preventing three-wheelers from travelling on watershed impoundments. He said the vehicles were causing gullies, which, in turn, cause washouts.

The commissioners said they would see that "no trespassing" signs were placed at those impoundments if easements from landowners had been given.

Sheriff Evans also promised his assistance and said that the signs would greatly aid his officers in apprehending offenders.

Ruth Enlow Library

Edith Brock, library director, stated that the Garrett County Library had realized an additional 20,000 in circulation this past year.

Our Turn

Road Tripitis
by Susan Alvarez

Have you recently been travelling in a car with the family in tow? If so, you may be suffering from a common malady know as "Road Tripitis". Since this is the time of year for most families to head for the sun and sand, it is advisable to watch for the following symptoms:

Waxy fingers - A result of picking melted crayons off the dashboard, waxy fingers (usually of different colors) are a common symptom of Road Tripitis.

Semi-hypnotic state - This is a result of listening to the repeated droning sounds, "When will we be there?" interspersed with the phrase, "I hafta go."

Squinty eyes - This comes from constantly watching for restaurants that sell Smurf glasses or motels with a pool.

All-over scratchies - This is an expected symptom; a result of the two and one-half pounds of loose sand entrenched in the car's interior.

Hoarseness, sore throat - This symptom is a result of singing "One Hundred Bottles Of Beer" or playing "Alphabet Sign" or "I See A Truck" games for hours at a time.

Neck cramps - This comes from turning around to monitor such complaints as "He's kicking me with his big dirty shoe" or "She's poking me with her straw" or "He just poured juice in the ashtray."

Even though there is a cure for Road Tripitis - called Going Home - most parents tend to forget these symptoms from year to year and thus suffer this disease annually. Thankfully, it is not terminal.

Virginian, Charged With Kidnapping, Slain At Home

A Falls Church, Va. man who would have faced a child abduction charge in the Garrett County District Court July 24 was slain in mid-July at his home.

Emery C. Buckman, 28, reportedly was at his home when a group of people arrived there and were harassing his brother. When he went outside to investigate a disturbance, a man in a car fired a .38 calibre handgun shooting Buckman in the chest and killing him.

Buckman had been charged with child abduction by Garrett County Deputy Richard Kutchman for the January 31 abduction of a child under 12 from its home here.

In Garrett County District Court on July 24, Assistant State's Attorney Richard Green informed Judge Miller Bowen, who was presiding over criminal proceedings that day, that the charge would be declared nolle prosequi.

In another District Court case, Judge Bowen granted Matthew M. Plevyak, 33, Accident, probation before judgment on a charge of malicious destruction of property.

Plevyak had been charged by Garrett County Deputy Philip Buckel for painting county road signs along Rock Lodge Road on May 25.

The judge ordered Plevyak to pay $100 in restitution to Garrett County authorities.

He said, "The State of Maryland now has to review the document and be able to determine if the opinions and concensus of the consultants is the best method or if other objectives could be determined."

Hummel stated that concerned citizens and health care personnel will be given the opportunity to give input to the study at a public information hearing being conducted by MHRPC in conjunction with the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland. The hearing is scheduled for Monday, August 5, in Hagerstown at Washington County Hospital auditorium, located on the sixth floor, and is slated to begin at 7 p.m.

An overview of the study will be given by MHRPC representatives to help identify a future process for translating the document into a state plan, according to Hummel.

The public will be invited to comment on the study and written comments will be received at HSAWM offices until 4:30 p.m. on August 7. The address for written comments is: HSAWM, Algonquin, Suite 301, Baltimore and Greene Streets, Cumberland, Md. 21502.

A full two-document copy of the study is available to the public at the Ruth Enlow Library, while an executive summary of the study is available at the Garrett County Commissioners' office at the courthouse.

Larry Beck, administrator at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, said the hospital board is sending a letter to MHRPC stating their position and opinions of the study.

Beck noted that the consultants priorities for cost-effectiveness meant full closure or partial closure of services at hospitals and closing entire nursing units or partial nursing units. He said the study, which would initially recommend removing 13 licensed hospital beds from Garrett Memorial, would be insignificant because it would not translate into a reduction of services at the local hospital. "In other words, losing 13 beds would not accomplish anything at Garrett Memorial in terms of cost- effectiveness," he said.

Projections show that an additional 29 beds would be needed at Garrett Memorial by 1990 "which would make it pointless to remove 13 beds at this time from the hospital," said Beck.

MHRPC Executive Director James R. Stanton said, "The study identifies options and alternatives which will enable the commission to provide a way for the community to look at the effects of certain specific actions which could take place and focus on the situations to encourage voluntary local planning rather than state mandates."

He said, "No hospital should expect to close simply because of this study."

SUNGLASSES DONATED — Bausch & Lomb, Inc., recently donated sunglasses to be used as prizes in two Garrett County special events. Pictured above is Jack King, from Bausch & Lomb, presenting a pair of Ray-Ban sunglasses, which are produced at the local Bausch & Lomb plant in Mountain Lake Park, to Pearl Daniels and Sue Pagenhardt. The sunglasses were awarded at the 3rd Annual Western Maryland Women's Amateur Golf Championships which were held recently at the Oakland Country Club. Glasses were also donated for use as a prize at the recent Grantsville Days celebration. They were won by Harry Bowers, Grantsville.

Split Shifts

bus schedules in county newspapers next week.

A third meeting will be scheduled if necessary, Ryscavage explained.

Michael Sines, county transportation director, has spent most of the spring and summer in planning and running the bus routes, Ryscavage noted.

The Board of Education will be adding $350,000 to its transportation budget to cover the cost of transporting students in three different shifts in the northern part of the county: one for NMS students, one for elementary school students and one for NHS students.

Ryscavage stated that the Board has saved all the needed money in anticipation of this expense and will not need to ask for additional state funding. Also, he noted that officials expected the costs to be more than what they now estimate and the decrease in the planned expense was due to Sines' ability to efficiently route buses as well as to shorten riding time for many youngsters.

The school board voted in December to split shift the students this academic year, but the specifics of the plan were not worked out immediately because of the uncertainty of funding for the NHS renovation. When money was allocated by the Maryland General Assembly for the project in April, school officials began working out the details.

The school board voted at its April 11 meeting to approve a recommendation which clarified a little more the way the students would share the middle school by assigning the middle school students to the early morning shift and the high school students to the afternoon shift. The morning shift will run from 7:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and the afternoon shift will be from 12:35 to 5:30 p.m.

Sheriff

the former Mary Lynn Sweitzer and they are the parents of two children, Robert, 11, and Amy, 3.

Evans said he received a great deal of support from many county and state officials who wrote letters to the governor including State Senator John N. Bambacus, Maryland Delegate George Edwards, and the Board of Garrett County Commissioners. He also admitted that he was somewhat surprised that he had received the appointment since he is a registered Republican and the late sheriff was a Democrat.

"I think the governor made the right decision based upon professional merit," said Senator Bambacus.

Delegate Edwards stated, "I think it shows the governor did his homework and made a solid decision based on an individual's performance."

Evans said he has been very nervous waiting for the decision and was relieved when it was final. "I'm committed to doing the job as well as my predecessor and very close friend did," he concluded.

The new sheriff is expected to be officially sworn in as soon as all the paperwork is completed. Evans is also expected to select his chief deputy in the next few weeks.

Fulk reportedly ran his 1979 Jeep CJ-5 up an embankment and into a ditch. When he attempted to back the vehicle from the ditch, he struck a 1978 Cadillac operated by Rayetta E. The mishap occurred when Thomas lost control of his vehicle, ran off the road and struck a guardrail.

Tfc. D.W. Broadwater investigated the 3:00 a.m. accident.

Richard E. Reall, 28, Mtn. Lake Park, operator of a 1979 GLC Mazda, was charged Sunday with negligent driving and leaving the scene of a property damage accident following an incident that occurred July 18.

According to reports, Reall was traveling east on Oakland Drive when he attempted to turn south onto G Street. He failed to negotiate the right turn, crossed the center line and struck an embankment on the left side of the road. The vehicle traveled on striking a mailbox belonging to Donald Sincell. The operator then fled the scene.

Tfc. C.R. Smith investigated the accident.

Oakland Sweeps Idamay In Pen-Mar Action As Fitzwater Wins Seventh

Oakland remained just one game behind Western Division leader Tri-Towns this past weekend in Pen-Mar Baseball League standings by sweeping a doubleheader from Idamay, W.Va., Sunday afternoon in Oakland, 10-1 and 10-6. The Oaks' record is now 12-4, while Tri-Towns improved to 13-3 with a sweep over Elkins.

Stan Fitzwater, who will likely be drafted by a professional organization this year, stretched his unbeaten record on the mound for Oakland to 7-0 as he went five innings, struck out five, did not allow a walk or a run. He was relieved by Mike Gustave in the sixth inning.

Lawrence Nesselrodt led the hitting for Oakland in the opener as he finished with two doubles and a single. He also scored three runs, stole a base and added an RBI. Phil Caruso recorded three RBIs on two hits, as did Gustave. Phil Carr rapped two hits, scored two runs, and had one steal, while Wayne Brown and Ed Wildesen each had a double.

Idamay scored its lone run on a wild pitch.

Oakland opened the nightcap with a five-run first inning, highlighted with a two-run homer by Gustave. Francis Mouse finished the contest with three hits, including a two-run round-tripper in the fourth. He also scored three runs, recorded three RBIs, and stole a base. Jim Cunningham and Terry Helbig each contributed two hits and two RBIs.

Tom Myers paced the West Virginians with two hits, while Todd Ice smacked a two-run double and Terry Ice hit an RBI single.

Mike Brady picked up the win on the mound for Oakland as he went six innings, struck out three, walked three, and allowed just one earned run. Mike Uram pitched the final inning.

Oakland will host Moorefield, the first place team in the Eastern Division, this Sunday at 2 p.m., at Garrett Community College and will wrap up its regular season play on August 11 against Elkins at Southern High School.

Oakland's Steve Mohr was invited to Three Rivers Stadium on Monday for a closed try-out and, according to a team spokesman, may be drafted along with Fitzwater. "This is Oakland's strongest ever in its 13 years in the League," the spokesman said. "If Mohr and Fitzwater are drafted, it will be difficult to put together a pitching staff as strong as this year's."

Card Of Thanks . . .

To all the friends & relatives of the late Red & Betty Martin

We would like to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to all who have helped us through this troubling time.

The loss of our mother and father has left a large emptiness in our lives. The kind gifts, flowers and especially your friendship and support have helped us through.

Our mother and father had a long and happy life. We know now, much of that happiness was due to the fine family and friends they had. If our lives can be blessed half as much, we will be very lucky.

Again, thank you for everything.

God bless you all,
Bill, Donna & Doug
